SECTION II – RISK FACTORS

An investment in NCDs involves a certain degree of risk. The risk factors set forth below do not purport to be complete or comprehensive in terms of all the risk factors that may arise in connection with our business or any decision to purchase, own or dispose of the NCDs. Prospective investors should carefully consider the risks and uncertainties described below, in addition to other information contained in this Draft Shelf Prospectus including "Our Business" and "Financial Information" on pages 158 and 239, respectively, before making any investment decision relating to the NCDs. If any of the following risks or other risks that are not currently known or are now deemed immaterial, actually occur, our business, financial condition, cash flows and result of operation could suffer, the trading price of the NCDs could decline, and you may lose all or part of your interest and/or redemption amounts. The risks and uncertainties described in this section are not the only risks that we currently face. The following risk factors are determined on the basis of their materiality. In determining the materiality of risk factors, we have considered risks which may not be material individually but may be material when considered collectively, which may have a qualitative impact, though not quantitative, which may not be material at present but may have a material impact in the future. Additional risks and uncertainties not known to us or that we currently believe to be immaterial may also have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition. The market prices of the NCDs could decline due to such risks and you may lose all or part of your investment including interest thereon. Further, the risk factors set forth below do not purport to be complete or comprehensive in terms of all the risk factors that may arise in connection with our business or any decision to purchase, own or dispose of, the NCDs.

Unless specified or quantified in the relevant risk factors below, we are not in a position to specify or to quantify the financial or other implication of any of the risks described in this section. However, there are certain risk factors where the effect is not quantifiable and hence has not been disclosed in the below risk factors. More than one risk factor may have simultaneous effect with regard to the NCDs such that the effect of a particular risk factor may not be predictable. In addition, the risk factors may have a compounding effect, no prediction can be made as to the effect that any combination of risk factors may have on the value of the NCDs and/or our Company's ability to meet its obligations in respect of the NCDs.

This Draft Shelf Prospectus contains forward looking statements that involve risk and uncertainties. Our Company's actual results could differ materially from those anticipated in these forward looking statements as a result of several factors, including the considerations described below and elsewhere in this Draft Shelf Prospectus. Certain information in this section includes data extracted from reports available in public domain. Neither our Company, the Lead Managers and the Debenture Trustee, nor any other person connected with the Issue has independently verified such industry and third-party information. For further details, please see "Industry Overview" on page 107.

In this section, unless the context otherwise requires, a reference to "the Company" or "we", "us" or "our Company" is a reference to Power Finance Corporation Limited and unless the context otherwise requires, a reference to "the PFC Group" refers to Power Finance Corporation Limited and its subsidiaries, as applicable in the relevant Fiscal or stub period, on a consolidated basis. Further, the risks highlighted may not necessarily be relevant to all members of the PFC Group and should be read and evaluated as appropriate.

Unless stated otherwise, or unless context requires otherwise, the financial data of our Company in this section for the half year ended September 30, 2025 and Fiscals 2025, 2024 and 2023 has been derived from the HY 2026 Unaudited Special Purpose Interim Condensed Financial Statements and the Audited Standalone Financial Statements, respectively.

A. RISKS IN RELATION TO OUR BUSINESS

1. We have a significant concentration of outstanding loans to certain borrowers, particularly public sector power utilities, many of which are historically loss-making, and if these loans become non- performing, the quality of our asset portfolio may be adversely affected.

We are a public financial institution focused on financing of the power sector in India, which has a limited number and type of borrowers, primarily comprising of state power utilities ("SPUs"), many of which have been historically loss making. Our past exposure has been towards SPUs and state electricity boards, and future exposure is expected to be, concentrated towards SPUs. As of September 30, 2025, our government sector (including SPUs) and private sector borrowers accounted for 75.83% and 24.17%, respectively, of our total outstanding loans. As of March 31, 2025, our government sector (including SPUs) and private sector borrowers accounted for 77.43% and 22.57%, respectively, of our total outstanding loans. Historically, SPUs have had a relatively weak financial position and have in the past delayed on their indebtedness. Consequently, we have had to reschedule some of the loans sanctioned to certain SPUs. In addition, many of our public sector borrowers, particularly SPUs, are susceptible to various operational risks including low metering at the distribution transformer level, high revenue gap, high receivables, low plant load factors and high AT&C losses, which may lead to further deterioration in the financial condition of such entities.

As of September 30, 2025, our total outstanding loans were ₹ 5,61,208.71 crores, of which, our single largest borrower accounted for 6.34% (₹ 35,605.23 crores) of our total outstanding loans, and our top five and top 10 borrowers accounted for, in the aggregate, 22.54% (₹ 1,26,488.39 crores) and 35.46% (₹ 1,99,028.30 crores), respectively, of our total outstanding loans. As of March 31, 2025, our total outstanding loans were ₹ 5,43,120.41 crores, of which, our single largest borrower accounted for 6.18% (₹ 33,583.49 crores) of our total outstanding loans, and our top five and top 10 borrowers accounted for, in the aggregate, 21.68% (₹ 1,17,762.49 crores) and 35.32% (₹ 1,91,841.73 crores), respectively, of our total outstanding loans. In addition, we have additional exposure to these borrowers in the form of non-fund based assistance. Our most significant borrowers are primarily public sector power utilities. Any negative trends, or financial difficulties, or inability on the part of such borrowers to manage operational, industry, and other risks applicable to such borrowers, could result in an increase in our non-performing assets (the "NPAs") and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations. For further details of our NPAs, see "– If the level of non-performing assets in our loan portfolio were to increase, our financial condition would be adversely affected."

2. We may not be able to recover, or there may be a delay in recovering, the expected value from security and collaterals for our loans, which may affect our financial condition.

Although we endeavour to obtain adequate security or implement quasi-security arrangements in connection with our loans, we have not obtained such security or collateral for all our loans. In addition, in connection with certain of our loans, we have been able to obtain only partial security or have made disbursements prior to adequate security being created or perfected in accordance with the policy of the Company. There can be no assurance that any security or collateral that we have obtained will be adequate to cover repayment of our loans or interest payments thereon or that we will be able to recover the expected value of such security or collateral in a timely manner or recover at all. As of September 30, 2025, 37.20% of our outstanding loans were secured, 34.18% were unsecured (but guaranteed by banks or governments), and 28.62% were unsecured. As of March 31, 2025, 38.83% of our outstanding loans were secured, 34.84% were unsecured (but guaranteed by banks or governments), and 26.33% were unsecured.

Our loans are typically secured by various State Government and/or movable and immovable assets and/or other collaterals. We generally seek a first ranking pari passu charge on the relevant project assets for loans extended on a senior basis, while for loans extended on a subordinated basis we generally seek to have a second pari passu charge on the relevant project assets. In addition, some of our loans may relate to imperfect security packages or negative liens provided by our borrowers. The value of certain kinds of assets may decline due to operational risks that are inherent to power sector projects, the nature of the asset secured in our favour, and any adverse market or economic conditions in India or globally. The value of the security or collateral obtained may also decline due to an imperfection in the title or difficulty in locating movable assets. Although some parts of legislations in India provide for various rights of creditors for the effective realization of collateral in the event of default, there can be no assurance that we will be able to enforce such rights in a timely manner or enforce them at all. There could be delays in implementing bankruptcy or foreclosure proceedings. Further, inadequate security documentation or imperfection in title to security or collateral, requirement of regulatory approvals for enforcement of security or collateral, or fraudulent transfers by borrowers may cause delays in enforcing such securities. Furthermore, in the event that any specialised regulatory agency assumes jurisdiction over a defaulting borrower, actions on behalf of creditors may be further delayed.

Certain of our loans have been granted as part of a syndicate, and joint recovery action implemented by a consortium of lenders may be susceptible to delay or not favourable to us. Further, the RBI has issued Master Circular – Reserve Bank of India (Non-Banking Financial Company – Registrations, Exemption and Framework for Scale Based Regulation) Directions, 2025, as updated, Reserve Bank of India (Non-Banking Financial Company – Resolution of Stressed Assets) Directions, 2025, and Reserve Bank of India (Non-Banking Financial Companies – Income Recognition, Asset Classification and Provisioning) Directions, 2025. In the event the RBI directions/ guidelines on gross stage 3 assets become more stringent, the Company may or may not be able to maintain historic gross stage 3 assets positions, and if our gross stage 3 assets position significantly increase, it may in turn have a material adverse effect on our cash flows, profits, results of operations and financial condition. Please also see "Regulations and Policies" on page 220.

In circumstances where other lenders with such exposure/ loan account by value and number and are entitled to determine corrective action plan for any of our borrowers, we may be required by such other lenders to agree to such corrective action plan, irrespective of our preferred mode of settlement of our loan to such borrower or subject our loan account to accelerated provisioning. Furthermore, with respect to any loans made as part of a consortium arrangement and multiple banking arrangement, a majority of the relevant lenders may elect to pursue a course of action that may not be favourable to us. Any such corrective action plan/ accelerated provisioning could lead to an unexpected loss that could adversely affect our business, financial condition or results of operations.

3. We are subject to restrictive covenants under our credit facilities that could limit our flexibility in managing our business.

As of September 30, 2025, our total borrowings were ₹ 4,74,433.53 crores (excluding interest accrued but not due and unamortised transaction cost). We are required to comply with various financial and other covenants under the loan agreements that we are a party to, including but not limited to, amongst other things, obtaining, wherever applicable, prior consents from our existing lenders for further borrowings, including undertaking this Issue, maintenance of financial ratios and for creation of encumbrances over certain of our assets.

There are restrictive covenants in the agreements we have entered into with certain banks and financial institutions for our short-term borrowing, medium-term borrowing, long-term borrowing, and bonds trust deeds. These restrictive covenants require us to maintain certain financial ratios and seek the prior permission/ consents of these banks/ financial institutions for various activities, including, amongst others, selling, leasing, transferring or otherwise disposing of any part of our business or revenues, effecting any scheme of amalgamation or reconstitution, implementing a new scheme of expansion or taking up an allied line of business. Such restrictive covenants in our loan and bond documents may restrict our operations or ability to expand and may adversely affect our business. As of the date of this Draft Shelf Prospectus, our Company has obtained consents/ permissions required for creation of further charge on assets, from all the existing charge holders.

In addition, if our Company fails to meet its debt service obligations or if a default otherwise occurs, its lenders could declare our Company in default under the terms of its borrowing and accelerate the maturity of its obligations, or in some cases, could exercise step-in rights, or could enforce the security underlining their secured lending, such as security created on the secured long-term Rupee-denominated infrastructure bonds. Any acceleration of the maturity of our Company's obligations could have a material adverse effect on our Company's cash flows, business and results of operations. Furthermore, our Company's lenders may recall certain short-term demand loans availed of by our Company at any time. While there have not been any defaults in compliance with any material covenants, such as creation of security, default in payment of interest, default in redemption or repayment, non-creation of debenture redemption reserve, default in payment of penal interest in the past, we cannot assure you that our Company will be able to comply with these financial or other covenants or that our Company will be able to obtain the consents necessary to take the actions our Company believes are required to operate and grow its business in the future. For more details on our borrowings and certain restrictive covenants in our loan documents, please see "Financial Indebtedness" on page 241.

4. With power sector financing industry becoming increasingly competitive, our growth will depend on our ability to maintain a low effective cost of funds; inability to do so could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Our ability to compete effectively is dependent on our timely access to capital, the costs associated with raising capital and our ability to maintain a low effective cost of funds in the future that is comparable or lower than that of our competitors. Many of our competitors may have greater and cheaper resources than us. Competition in our industry depends on, among other things, the ongoing evolution of Government policies relating to the industry, the entry of new participants into the industry and the extent to which there is consolidation among banks and financial institutions in India. Our primary competitors are public sector infrastructure finance companies, public sector banks, private banks (including foreign banks), financial institutions and other NBFCs. In respect of private sector entities, the Company has been following RBI's credit concentration norms. Further, in line with the directions of RBI vide its letter dated August 24, 2022, PFC is applying RBI's credit concentration norms for the Central/ State Government entities.]

As per the Master Circular – Reserve Bank of India (Non-Banking Financial Company – Registrations, Exemption and Framework for Scale Based Regulation) Directions, 2025, as updated, the credit concentration limits need to be calculated based on Tier I Capital as against owned funds. As on September 30, 2025 and March 31, 2025, the exposure of the Company to Private/ Government Sector entities are within the RBI's prescribed credit concentration limits.

Further, our classification as an IFC enables us, among other things, to diversify our borrowing through the issuance of Rupee-denominated infrastructure bonds to bondholders, as and when notified by the GoI, and to raise ECBs under the automatic route, subject to certain specified limits. Adverse developments in economic and financial markets or the lack of liquidity in financial markets could make it difficult for us to access funds at competitive rates.

Our interest rate margins are determined by the cost of our funding relative to the pricing of our loan products. The cost of our funding and the pricing of our loan products are determined by a number of factors, many of which are beyond our control. Our cost of funds (ratio of finance costs to average borrowings, without foreign exchange fluctuation gain/loss amortized) raised as on September 30, 2025 and March 31, 2025 are 7.43% and 7.44%, respectively. However, we may not be able to maintain the same during subsequent periods without raising funds from debt market through various concessional debt issues. While we have generally been able to pass on the increased cost of funds to our customers over this period, we may not be able to continue to do so in future. In the event we were to suffer a decline in interest rate margins, we would be required to increase our lending activity in order to maintain our then prevailing profit level. However, there can be no assurance that we will be able to do so and we may suffer reduced profitability or losses. In the event our interest rate margins decrease, the same may adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Following a general decrease in the level of direct and indirect financial support by the GoI to us in recent years, we are fundamentally dependent upon funding from the equity and debt markets and commercial borrowing and are particularly vulnerable in this regard given the growth of our business. The market for such funds is competitive and there can be no assurance that we will be able to obtain funds on acceptable terms or obtain funds at all. Many of our competitors have or may have access to greater and cheaper sources of funding. Furthermore, many of our competitors may have larger resources or greater balance sheet strength than us and may have considerable financing resources. In addition, since we are a non-deposit taking NBFC, we may have restricted access to funds in comparison to banks and deposit taking NBFCs. While we have generally been able to pass any increased cost of funds onto our customers, we may not be able to do so in the future. If our financial products are not competitively priced, there is a risk of our borrowers raising loans from other lenders and in the case of financially stronger SPUs and private sector borrowers, there is a risk of their raising funds directly from the market. Our ability to raise capital also depends on our ability to maintain our credit ratings in order to access various cost competitive funding options.

If we are not able to maintain a low effective cost of funds, we may not be able to implement our growth strategy, competitively price our loans and, consequently, we may not be able to maintain the profitability or growth of our business, which could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

5. Inability to develop or implement effective risk management policies and procedures could expose our Company to unidentified risks or unanticipated levels of risk.

Our Company has put in place an integrated risk management framework that guides risk management at our Company by articulating risk management principles, defining risks, measuring, monitoring and setting the risk appetite for the organization. It also outlines the processes through which PFC identifies, assesses, and prioritizes its risks. A Risk Management Committee has also been constituted for monitoring the risks and their mitigation policies and procedures that list all risks we face, which may have an impact on profitability and business of our Company, their root causes, existing mitigations factors and action plans for further mitigations, where required. The risks have been prioritized and key performance indicators identified for measuring and monitoring. A Risk Management Committee of the Board is constituted for monitoring the risks, mitigations and implementation of action plans. Our Company has 'Currency Risk Management Policy' and has appointed a consultant to manage risks associated with foreign currency borrowing. Our Company has also put in place an effective 'Asset Liability Management System', constituted an Asset Liability Management Committee to monitor and mitigate risks related to liquidity and interest rate.

Although our Company follows various risk management policies and procedures to identify, monitor and manage risks, there can be no assurance that such policies and procedures will be effective in addressing all risks that our Company encounters in its business and operations or that such policies and procedures are as comprehensive as those implemented by banks and other financial institutions. Our Company's risk management policies and procedures are based, among other considerations, on historical market behaviour, information regarding borrowers and market knowledge. Consequently, these policies and procedures may not predict future risk exposures that could vary from or be greater than those indicated by historical measures. In addition, information available to our Company may not be accurate, complete, up-to-date or properly evaluated. Unexpectedly large or rapid movements or disruptions in one or more financial markets or other unforeseen developments could have a material adverse effect on our Company's results of operations and financial condition. Our Company's risk management policies and procedures are also influenced by applicable GoI policies and regulations and may prove inadequate or ineffective in addressing risks that arise as a consequence of any development in GoI policies and consequently can have an adverse effect on our Company's business and operations. In addition, our Company intends to continue to diversify its borrower portfolio and extend fund based and non-fund based financial and other assistance and services to projects that represent forward and backward linkages to the core power sector projects. These business initiatives may involve operational and other risks that are different from those our Company currently encounters or anticipates, and there can be no assurance that our Company will be able to effectively identify and address any additional risks that apply to such business initiatives. Inability to develop, modify and implement effective and dynamic risk management policies and procedures may adversely affect our Company's growth strategy. Management of operational, legal and regulatory risk requires, among others, policies and procedures to accurately record and verify transactions and events. There can be no assurance that our Company's policies and procedures will effectively and accurately record and verify such information. Failure of our Company's risk management policies and procedures or exposure to unanticipated risks could lead to losses and adversely affect our Company's business, financial condition and results of operations.

6. Risks inherent to power sector projects, particularly power generation projects, could adversely affect our Company's business, financial condition and results of operations.

Our Company is a financial institution focused on providing financial and other assistance and related services to power sector projects. Power sector projects, particularly power generation projects, typically involve long gestation periods before they become operational and involve various project-specific risks as well as risks that are generally applicable to the power sector in India. Many of these risks applicable to power sector projects that our Company finances are beyond our control and include:

- political, regulatory, fiscal, monetary and legal actions and policies that may adversely affect the viability of power sector projects, including changes in any tariff regulations applicable to power plants;
- delays in the implementation of GoI policies and initiatives;
- changes in Government and regulatory policies relating to the power sector;
- environmental concerns and regulations applicable to power sector projects that, including, for example, relevant coal mining areas being classified as "no-go" areas;
- delays in obtaining environmental clearances or land for the projects;
- extent and reliability of power sector infrastructure in India;
- strikes, work stoppages or increased wage demands by employees or any other disputes with employees that affect the project implementation schedule or operations of the projects;
- adverse changes in demand for, or the price of, power generated or distributed by the projects;
- disruption of projects due to explosions, fires, earthquakes and other natural disasters, breakdown, failure or substandard performance of equipment, improper installations or operation of equipment, accidents, operational problems, transportation interruptions, other environmental risks and labour disputes;
- the willingness and ability of consumers to pay for the power produced by the projects;
- shortages of, or adverse price fluctuations in, fuel and other raw materials and key inputs involved in power generation, including coal, oil and natural gas;
- increase in project development costs due to environmental challenges and changes in environmental regulations;
- changes in credit ratings of our Company's borrowers affecting their ability to finance projects;
- interruption or disruption in domestic or international financial markets, whether for equity or debt funds;
- delays in the construction and operation of projects;
- domestic power companies face significant project execution and construction delay risks i.e. longer than expected construction periods due to delays in obtaining environmental permits and infrastructure related delays in connecting to the grid, accessing offtake and finalising fuel supply agreements could cause further delays;
- potential defaults under financing arrangements of project companies and their equity investors;
- failure of co-lenders (with our Company under consortium lending arrangements) to perform their contractual obligations;
- failure of third parties such as contractors, fuel suppliers, sub-contractors and others to perform their contractual obligations in respect of the power projects;
- adverse developments in the overall economic environment in India;
- the provisions of the Electricity Act, 2003 have significantly increased competition in the power generation industry which may negatively impact individual power generation companies;
- failure to supply power to the market due to unplanned outages of any projects, failure in transmission systems or inter-regional transmission or distribution systems;
- adverse fluctuations in liquidity, interest rates or currency exchange rates;
- changes in technology may negatively impact power generation companies by making their equipment or power projects less competitive or obsolete;
- fluctuating fuel costs; and
- economic, political and social instability or occurrences such as armed conflict and terrorist attacks, particularly where projects are located in the markets they are intended to serve.

The long-term profitability of power sector projects, when commissioned, is partly dependent on the efficiency of their operation and maintenance of their assets. Delayed implementation, initial complications, inefficient operations, inadequate maintenance and similar factors may reduce the profitability of such projects, adversely affecting the ability of our Company's borrowers to repay its loans or service interest payments thereon. Furthermore, power sector projects may be exposed to unplanned interruptions caused by catastrophic events such as floods, earthquakes, fires, major plant breakdowns, pipeline or electricity line ruptures or other disasters. Operational disruption as well as supply disruption could adversely affect the cash flows available from these projects. Furthermore, the cost of repairing or replacing damaged assets could be considerable. Repeated or prolonged interruption may result in a permanent loss of customers, substantial litigation or penalties and/or regulatory or contractual non-compliance. To the extent the risks mentioned above or other risks relating to the power sector projects that our Company finances materialise, the quality of our Company's asset portfolio and our Company's results of operations may be adversely affected. Furthermore, as our Company continues to expand its operations and its loans to individual projects increase, its exposure with respect to individual projects and the potential for adverse effects increases on our Company's business, financial condition and results of operations in the event these risks were to materialise.

Further, any negative trend or financial difficulty in the Indian power sector could adversely affect our business and financial performance.

We believe that further development of India's power sector is dependent on regulatory framework, policies and procedures that facilitate and encourage private and public sector investment in the power sector. Many of these policies are evolving and their success will depend on whether they properly address the issues faced and are effectively implemented.

Additionally, these policies will need continued support from stable and experienced regulatory regimes throughout India that not only stimulate and encourage the continued investment of capital into power development, but also lead to increased competition, appropriate allocation of risk, transparency and more efficient power supply and demand management to the end consumer.

If the Central and state Governments' initiatives and regulations in the power sector do not proceed to improve the power sector as intended or if there is any downturn in the macroeconomic environment in India or in the power sector, our business and financial performance could be adversely affected.

7. We had incurred negative cash flows in the past. We cannot assure you that our net cash will be positive in the future which could adversely affect our ability to, among others, fund our operations or pay debts in a timely manner

The following table sets forth information with respect to our historical cash flows (on standalone basis), including certain negative cash flows for Fiscals 2025, 2024 and 2023:

Particulars	Fiscal 2025	Fiscal 2024	Fiscal 2023
Net cash from operating activities	(50,364.81)	(38,680.43)	(35,740,75)
Net cash from investing activities	(934.96)	(1,472.81)	(713.97)

Our cash outflows relating to loans and advances disbursed by our Company (net of any repayments we receive) are reflected in our cash flow from operating activities whereas the cash inflows from external funding we procure (net of any repayments of such funding) to disburse these loans and advances are reflected in our cash flows from financing activities. The net cash flows from investing activities primarily represent sale and purchase of fixed assets, other investments and interest received.

However, after taking into account all the cash flows, there is positive cash and cash equivalents balance at the end of Fiscals 2025, 2024 and 2023 as below:

(₹ in crore)

Particulars	Amount
Fiscal 2025	22.03
Fiscal 2024	21.76
Fiscal 2023	22.14

While presently our overall cash flows are positive, there is no assurance that negative cash flows from operations will not occur in the future.

These legal proceedings are pending at different levels of adjudication before various courts, tribunals, statutory and regulatory authorities/ other judicial authorities, and if determined against our Company, Subsidiaries, Directors or our Group Companies, these could have an adverse impact on the business, financial condition and results of operations of our Company. No assurances can be given as to whether these legal proceedings will be decided in our favour or have no adverse outcome, nor can any assurance be given that no further liability will arise out of these claims.

For further details, please see "Outstanding Litigations and other Confirmations" on page 295.

9. We may fail to obtain certain regulatory approvals in the ordinary course of our business in a timely manner or at all, or to comply with the terms and conditions of our existing regulatory approvals and licences, which may have a material adverse effect on the continuity of our business and may impede our effective operations in the future.

We require certain regulatory approvals, sanctions, licences, registrations and permissions for operating our businesses. We may not receive or be able to renew such approvals in the time frames anticipated by us or at all, which could adversely affect our business. If we do not receive, renew or maintain such regulatory approvals required to operate our business, the same may have a material adverse effect on the continuity of our business and may impede our effective operations in the future. Additionally, any historical or future failure to comply with the terms and conditions of our existing regulatory or statutory approvals may cause us to lose or become unable to renew such approvals.

In addition to the numerous conditions required for the registration as a NBFC with the RBI, we are required to maintain certain statutory and regulatory permits and approvals for our business. In the future, we will be required to renew such permits and approvals and obtain new permits and approvals for any proposed operations. There can be no assurance that the relevant authorities will issue any of such permits or approvals in the time-frame anticipated by us or at all. Failure by us to renew, maintain or obtain the required permits or approvals may result in the interruption of our operations and may have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

We are also subject to periodic inspection by RBI under Section 45N of the RBI Act, pursuant to which RBI inspects our books of accounts and other records for the purpose of verifying the correctness or completeness of any statement, information or particulars furnished to the RBI. For Fiscal 2025, RBI has issued a final inspection and risk assessment report whereunder it has directed our Company to undertake certain actions with respect to inter alia the ECL policy, loan pricing methodology and credit appraisal policy. Further, pursuant to a letter dated February 6, 2024, a penalty of ₹ 0.09 crore was imposed by RBI for failing to comply with the RBI Master Circular – Reserve Bank of India (Non-Banking Financial Company – Registrations, Exemption and Framework for Scale Based Regulation) Directions, 2025, as updated, and our Company has paid this penalty amount. We cannot assure you that RBI will not find any further deficiencies on future inspections or make similar or other observations in the future. Imposition of any penalty or adverse findings by RBI during the ongoing or any future inspections may have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations, financial condition and reputation.

Further, the RBI has not provided for any ceiling on interest rates that can be charged by non-deposit taking NBFCs. There may be future changes in the regulatory system or in the enforcement of the laws and regulations, including policies or regulations or legal interpretations of existing regulations, relating to or affecting interest rates, taxation, inflation or exchange controls, that could have an adverse effect on non-deposit taking NBFCs.

We are required to make various filings with RBI, the RoC and other relevant authorities pursuant to the provisions of RBI regulations, Companies Act, 2013 and other regulations. If we fail to comply with these requirements, or a regulator claims we have not complied with such requirements, we may be subject to penalties. Moreover, these laws and regulations can be amended, supplemented or changed at any time such that we may be required to restructure our activities and incur additional expenses in complying with such laws and regulations, which could materially and adversely affect our business. In addition, any historical or future failure to comply with the terms and conditions of our existing regulatory or statutory approvals may cause us to lose or become unable to renew such approvals.

10. We currently fund our business in significant part through use of borrowing that have shorter maturities than the maturities of substantially all of our new loan assets and we may be required to obtain additional financing in order to repay our indebtedness and grow our business.

We may face potential liquidity risks due to mismatches in our funding requirements and the financing we provide to our borrowers. In particular, a significant part of our business is funded through borrowing that have shorter maturities than the maturities of substantially all of our new loan assets. Our Company's financial products also have maturities that exceed the maturities of its borrowing.

To the extent our Company funds its business through the use of borrowing that have shorter maturities than the loan assets our Company disburses, our Company's loan assets will not generate sufficient liquidity to enable it to repay its borrowing as they become due, and our Company will be required to obtain new borrowing to repay its existing indebtedness. There can be no assurance that new borrowing will be available on favourable terms, or available at all. In particular, our Company is increasingly reliant on funding from the debt capital markets. The market for such funds is competitive and our Company's ability to obtain funds on acceptable terms will depend on various factors including, in particular, our Company's ability to maintain its credit ratings. Furthermore, our financial position may also be aggravated if our Company's borrowers pre-pay or are unable to repay any of the financing facilities our Company grants to them.

Our company has put in place an 'Asset Liability Management System' and constituted an Asset Liability Management Committee ("ALCO") headed by Director (Finance). ALCO monitors risks related to liquidity and interest rate and also monitors implementation of decisions taken in the ALCO meetings. The asset liability management framework includes periodic analysis of long-term liquidity profile of asset receipts and debt service obligations. While the liquidity risk is being monitored with the help of asset liability gap analysis, the interest rate risk is managed by analysis of interest rate sensitive gap statements. Such analysis is made on periodic basis in various time buckets and is being used for critical decisions regarding the time, volume and maturity profile of the borrowings and creation of mix of assets and liabilities in terms of time period (short, medium and long-term) and in terms of fixed and floating interest rates.

However, our inability to effectively manage our funding requirements and the financing we provide may also be aggravated if our borrowers pre-pay or are unable to repay any amount due under the financing facilities granted by our Company. Our asset-liability management framework categorizes all interest rate sensitive assets and liabilities into various time period categories according to contracted residual maturities or anticipated re-pricing dates, as may be relevant in each case. The difference between the value of assets and liabilities maturing, or being re-priced, in any time period category provides a measure of our exposure to the risk of potential changes in the margins on new or re-priced assets and liabilities.

Any inability to obtain new borrowings, on favourable terms or otherwise, may negatively impact the profitability and growth of our business, which could have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

To ensure that we always have sufficient funds to meet our commitments, our Company maintains sufficient liquidity to meet immediate disbursements and other obligations. At present surplus funds are invested as per the policy in financial instruments which includes short-term deposits with banks and debt oriented liquid mutual funds, etc.

Further, as per RBI Liquidity Risk Management Framework, a liquidity buffer is required to be maintained in terms of liquidity coverage ratio ("LCR") by ensuring that they have sufficient 'High Quality Liquid Asset' ("HQLA") to survive any acute liquidity stress scenario lasting for next 30 days. The HQLA is being maintained by our Company as balance with banks in current account and eligible securities. As of September 30, 2025 and March 31, 2025, our Company has maintained LCR of 100% and 100%, respectively, and have sufficient HQLA.

Despite the existence of such measures, our Company's liquidity position could be adversely affected by the development of an asset-liability mismatch, which could have a material adverse effect on our Company's business, prospects, results of operations and financial condition.

11. We may be in non-compliance with certain corporate governance requirements mentioned under the SEBI Listing Regulations and Companies Act, 2013.

Our Company, being a CPSE, our directors are appointed by the President of India as per the Articles of Association. As on the date of this Draft Shelf Prospectus, our Company's Board comprises ten Directors which includes four Executive Directors, one Government-Nominee Director and five Independent Directors.

We have, in the past, received notices of penalty from NSE and BSE for non-compliance with the requirement of certain provisions of the SEBI Listing Regulations. In this regard, the Stock Exchanges levied a fine of ₹ 2.93 crores as per the correspondence received from the Stock Exchanges, for such non-compliance between 2018 and 2025. Subsequently, considering PFC's application, NSE and BSE have waived fines for certain non-compliances. However, certain fines waived by NSE have not been considered by BSE and vice-versa. In line with exchange circular bearing reference number 20250826-47 dated August 26, 2025, pursuant to which the decision taken by one stock exchange on waiver requests will be applicable to the same waiver requests received by other stock exchanges to maintain the uniformity in decision at both Stock Exchanges, our Company has requested BSE and NSE to consider waiver of the fines imposed, in alignment with the fines that have been waived by the other stock exchange. Our Board composition and our committees are in compliance with the SEBI Listing Regulations as on the date of this Draft Shelf Prospectus. In this regard, pursuant to an application sent to SEBI dated December 4, 2025, our Company had requested for an exemption for the compliance with the provisions of Regulation 5(1)(f) of the SEBI NCS Regulations. However, SEBI vide its letter dated December 19, 2025 has not acceded to our request for exempting us from non-payment of penalties levied by BSE and NSE. Accordingly, our Company has paid the fines/ penalties for which waiver has not been granted till date by BSE and NSE. As on the date of this Draft Shelf Prospectus, there are no fines/ penalties levied by the Stock Exchanges which is pending to be paid by us.

Further, being a listed company, we are required to comply with the provisions of the SEBI Listing Regulations, Regulation 6 (1) requires the compliance officer of a listed entity (who is also qualified as a company secretary) to be in a position of one level below the board of directors. The said provision was inserted vide SEBI (Listing Obligations and and Disclosure requirement) (Third Amendment Regulations), 2024 dated December 12, 2024. our Company has received from SEBI a letter dated April 1, 2025 seeking clarification on the position of compliance officer in terms of Regulation 6 (1) of the SEBI Listing Regulations. In terms of the scale based regulatory framework implemented by the Reserve Bank of India with effect from October 1, 2022, our Company, being a non – banking financial institution, has appointed chief compliance officer which is one level below the Board but is not qualified as a company secretary. Currently, the position of our company secretary and compliance officer is held by Executive (E8 – General Manager) who is two levels below the Board. Our Company Secretary & Compliance Officer reports to Board of Directors and Chairman & Managing Director (CMD) and our Chief Compliance Officer reports to CMD. Our Company has replied to SEBI in this regard vide its letter dated July 9, 2025.

In addition, the Companies Act, 2013 also prescribes a penalty for non-compliance with regard to appointment of requisite minimum number of independent directors, ranging from ₹ 50,000 to ₹ 5,00,000 respectively. This non-compliance with regard to appointment of requisite minimum number of independent directors was beyond the control of our Company, and our Company had requested the GoI from time to time to expedite the process of such appointment(s). Further, there can be no assurance that we may not be subjected to similar penalties in the future.

Further, the RoC issued a show cause notice dated June 18, 2015 under Section 172 of the Companies Act, 2013 to PFCGEL (our erstwhile Subsidiary) and its directors, who were also our Company's the-then functional directors, i.e., Mukesh Kumar Goel, Radhakrishnan Nagarajan and Anil Kumar Agarwal, for not appointing a woman director on its board of directors, in terms of provisions of Section 149 of the Companies Act, 2013 read with Rule 3 of the Companies (Appointment and Qualification of Directors) Rules, 2014, as amended. On July 1, 2015, PFCGEL and its directors filed a reply to RoC. Subsequently, PFCGEL merged with our Company vide MCA order dated February 7, 2019. While no further communication has been received from RoC as on the date of this Draft Shelf Prospectus, our Company cannot assure you that no further action will be taken or no fine or penalty will be imposed by the RoC in this regard.

12. Our Promoter has majority control in the Company, which enables the Promoter to influence the outcome of matters submitted to shareholders for approval.

As on September 30, 2025, our Promoter held 55.99% stake in the equity share capital of our Company. As a result, the President of India, acting through the MoP, will continue to exercise significant control over our Company. The President also controls the composition of the Board and determines matters requiring shareholders' approval or approval by the Board. Our Promoter may take or block actions with respect to our Company's business, which may conflict with our Company's interests or the interests of our Company's minority shareholders. By exercising its control, our Promoter could delay, defer or cause a change of our Company's control or a change in our Company's capital structure, or a merger, consolidation, takeover or other business combination involving our Company, or discourage or encourage a potential acquirer from making a tender offer or otherwise attempting to obtain control of our Company. In addition, as long as our Promoter continues to exercise control over our Company, it may influence the material policies of our Company in a manner that could conflict with the interest of our Company's other shareholders and may take positions with which our Company or our Company's other shareholders may not agree. In addition, our Promoter significantly influences our Company's operations both directly and indirectly through its various departments and policies in relation to the power industry generally. In particular, given the importance of the power industry to the economy, our Promoter could require our Company to take action designed to serve the public interest in India and not necessarily to maximise our Company's profits.

13. The shareholding of the Government may come below 51% in our Company that may result in a change in control of our Company.

Whilst the Government's shareholding in our Company equals or exceeds 51%, our Company will continue to be classified as a Government company and will be subject to various regulations, regulatory exemptions and benefits generally applicable to public sector companies in India. As of the date of this Draft Shelf Prospectus, there is no legislation that places a mandatory requirement on the Government to hold a minimum 51% shareholding in our Company or a merged entity (subsequent to any merger, including any potential merger with REC, our Subsidiary).

The Cabinet Committee on Economic Affairs has given in-principle approval on November 20, 2019 for reduction of GoI's paid-up share capital below 51% in select CPSEs in India while retaining management control on a case to case basis, taking into account the GoI's shareholding and the shareholding of GoI controlled institutions. The Department of Investment and Public Asset Management is in the process of deciding the CPSEs for this purpose. Therefore, the Government may sell all or part of its shares in our Company, which may result in a change in control of our Company and which may, in turn, disqualify our Company from benefiting from certain regulatory exemptions and other benefits that may be applicable to our Company due to it being a public sector company. If a change of control were to occur, our Company cannot assure investors that it will have sufficient funds available at such time to pay the purchase price of such outstanding NCDs or repay such loan, which are required to be purchased/ repaid as per their respective finance covenants, as the source of funds for any such purchase/ repayment will be the available cash or third party financing which our Company may not be able to obtain at that time.

14. Our Company is subject to credit, market and liquidity risks and, if any such risk were to materialize, our Company's credit ratings and its cost of funds may be adversely affected.

Our Company has put in place an asset liability management system and constituted the Asset Liability Management Committee (the "ALCO") headed by Director (Finance), which monitors risks related to liquidity and interest rate and also monitors implementation of decisions taken in the ALCO meetings. The asset liability management framework includes periodic analysis of long-term liquidity profile of asset receipts and debt service obligations. While the liquidity risk is being monitored with the help of asset liability gap analysis, the interest rate risk is managed by analysis of interest rate sensitive gap statements. Such analysis is made on quarterly basis in various time buckets and is being used for critical decisions regarding the time, volume and maturity profile of the borrowings and creation of mix of assets and liabilities in terms of time period (short, medium and long-term) and in terms of fixed and floating interest rates. Our Company maintains sufficient liquidity to meet immediate disbursements and other obligations. At present surplus funds are invested in financial instruments as per the policy which includes short-term deposits with banks and debt-oriented overnight/ liquid mutual funds etc.

We review our lending rates periodically based on prevailing market conditions, borrowing cost, yield, spread, competitors' rates, sanctions and disbursements. Our rupee lending interest rates is mainly made with one year/ three year re-set clause.

The interest rate risk is managed by analysis of interest rate sensitivity gap statements, evaluation of earning at risk ("EaR") on change of interest and creation of assets and liabilities with the mix of fixed and floating interest rates. In addition, our standard loan sanction documents specifically give us the right to vary interest rate on the un-disbursed portion of any loan.

We follow a systematic institutional and project appraisal process to assess and mitigate credit risk. These processes include a detailed appraisal methodology, identification of risks and suitable structuring and credit risk mitigation measures. We use a range of quantitative as well as qualitative parameters as a part of the appraisal process to make an assessment of the underlying credit risk in a project. We evaluate the credit quality of the borrowers by assigning risk weights on the basis of the various financial and non-financial parameters. We evaluate borrowers' eligibility criteria with an emphasis on financial and operational strength, capability and competence.

Although we encourage certain schemes through differential lending rates, the eligibility criteria and our funding decision is guided by the merit of the project and no funds are pre-allocated. In addition, we follow applicable provisions of RBI prudential norms for "Systemically Important Non-Banking Financial (Non-Deposit Accepting or Holding) Companies", as notified and modified from time to time. For details on applicable concentration of credit/ investment norms, please see "Regulations and Policies" on page 220.

Although our Company follows various risk management policies and procedures, our Company may not be able to effectively mitigate its risk exposures in particular market environments or against particular types of risks. The Company's revenues and interest rate risk are dependent upon its ability to properly identify, and mark-to-market, changes in the value of financial instruments caused by changes in market prices or rates. Our Company's earnings are dependent upon its effectiveness in managing credit quality and risk concentrations, the accuracy of its valuation models and its critical accounting estimates and the adequacy of its allowances for loan losses. To the extent its assessments, assumptions or estimates prove inaccurate or are not predictive of actual results, our Company could incur higher than anticipated losses. The successful management of credit, market and operational risk is an important consideration in managing our Company's liquidity risk because it affects the evaluation of our Company's credit ratings by rating agencies. Our primary sources of funds include equity capital, internal resources, and domestic and foreign currency borrowings. Domestic credit rating agencies have given our Company the following ratings, in relation to our borrowing programmes – (i) Crisil Ratings has granted us (a) "Crisil AAA/Stable" rating in relation to our long term borrowing programme, for a limit of ₹ 1,15,000.00 crores, (b) "Crisil A1+" rating in relation to our short term borrowing programme,

The international credit rating agencies Moody's, and Fitch have granted our Company, the following ratings, (i) Moody's has granted us an issuer rating of "Baa3 Stable", (ii) Fitch has granted us long-term issuer rating of "BBB-/ Stable".

Since our sources enable us to raise funds at a competitive cost, we believe we are able to price our financial products competitively. However, rating agencies may reduce or indicate their intention to reduce the ratings at any time and there can be no assurance that our Company may not experience such downgrade in the future. The rating agencies can also decide to withdraw their ratings altogether, which may have the same effect as a reduction in our Company's ratings. Any reduction in the rating by the domestic rating agencies below the level of "A" (adequate safety) or equivalent or withdrawal of our Company's ratings by domestic rating agencies may make our Company ineligible to remain classified as an IFC, increase our Company's borrowing costs, limit our Company's access to capital markets and adversely affect our Company's ability to sell or market its products, engage in business transactions, particularly longer- term and derivatives transactions, or retain its customers. This, in turn, could reduce our Company's liquidity and negatively impact our Company's financial condition and results of operations.

15. If inflation increases, our Company's results of operations and financial condition may be adversely affected.

There have been periods of slowdown in the economic growth of India. India's economic growth is affected by various factors, including domestic consumption and savings, balance of trade movements, namely export demand and movements in key imports, global economic uncertainty and liquidity crisis, volatility in exchange currency rates and annual rainfall. Any persisted or future slowdown in the Indian economy or a further increase in inflation could have a material adverse effect on the price of raw materials involved in power generation and demand for our products and, as a result, on our business and financial results. In the event that domestic inflation or global inflation increases, certain of our Company's costs, such as salaries, which are typically linked to general price levels, may increase. Furthermore, if interest rates in India remain high, or if the RBI continues to retain high interest rates, our Company may face increased costs of funding. To the extent our Company cannot pass these increases in interest rates to its borrowers, its results of operations could be adversely affected.

16. Our Company may in the future conduct additional business through joint venture(s) and strategic partnerships, exposing our Company to certain regulatory and operating risks.

Our Company intends to continue to pursue suitable joint venture and strategic partnership opportunities in India, in particular with companies/firms whose resources, capabilities and strategies are likely to enhance and diversify our Company's business operations in the power sector. Our Company may not be able to identify suitable joint venture or strategic partners or our Company may not complete transactions on terms commercially acceptable to our Company, or may not complete transactions at all. Our Company may not be able to successfully form such alliances and ventures or realise the anticipated benefits of such alliance and joint ventures. Furthermore, such partnerships may be subject to regulatory approvals, which may not be received in a timely manner, or may not be received at all. In addition, our Company's expected strategic benefits or synergies of any future partnerships may not be realised. Furthermore, such investments in strategic partnerships may be long-term in nature and may not yield returns in the short to medium term. Such initiatives will place significant strains on our Company's management, financial and other resources and any unforeseen costs or losses could adversely affect its business, profitability and financial condition.

17. Some of our agreements with our lenders and our borrowers are not executed on stamp paper.

Some of our loan documents with our lenders and our borrowers are not executed on stamp paper. As per Section 35 of Indian Stamp Act, 1899, such agreement cannot be admitted as evidence or be acted upon by any person having by law or consent of parties, the authority to receive evidence. Upon payment of stamp duty, such agreement can be admitted as evidence on payment of duty, which it is chargeable together with penalty of up to 10 times of such duty. In case of any dispute, unless these agreements are adequately stamped, they are not admissible-in-evidence in the court of law. If any dispute occurs with these lenders or clients/ borrowers with whom we have entered into unstamped agreement, then such agreement will not be admissible-in-evidence (unless adequate stamp duty together with penalty, if any, is paid) and this may have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial position.

18. Our Statutory Auditors and previous statutory auditors of our Company have highlighted certain qualification(s), emphasis of matter(s), key audit matters and other matters to their audit reports relating to their audited financial statements and review reports relating to their unaudited financial results, which may affect our future financial results.

The auditor's report on the audited standalone and/or consolidated financial statements issued by respective statutory auditors for the Fiscals 2025, 2024 and 2023, as the case may be, of our Company and the limited review report issued by our Joint Statutory Auditors for the half year ended September 30, 2025 included the following qualification(s), emphasis of matter(s), key audit matters and other matters:

Particulars	Qualification(s), emphasis of matter(s) and other matters	Impact on the financial statements and financial position of our Company	Corrective steps taken and proposed to be taken by our Company
On standalone basis
As on September 30, 2025	Other Matters: To measure the fair value of loan assets and undisbursed letter of comfort, Expected Credit Loss (ECL) has been calculated as per requirement of Ind AS 109 by an outside agency appointed by the Company. The assumptions (i.e. credit rating/risk score/probability of default etc. with respect to the borrowers) considered in the calculation of ECL are technical in nature, hence, we have relied upon the same. Our opinion is not modified in respect of the above matter.	Nil	Nil
As on March 31, 2025	Other Matters: The comparative data for the year ended 31st March, 2024 included in the Standalone Financial Statements have been audited by the other joint statutory auditors; whose audit report dated 15th May, 2024 expressed unmodified opinion on the comparative Standalone Financial Statements. Our opinion is not modified in respect of this matter. Key Audit Matters: (a) Impairment of financial instruments - Loan Assets and Undisbursed letter of comfort In this regard, the Company follows a Board approved methodology wherein assessment for allowance is carried out by an External Agency for Impairment based on certain guidelines and procedures in respect of criterion/framework classifying the assets into various stages depending upon credit risk and level of evidence of Impairment. Impairment loss measurement requires use of statistical models to estimate the Probabilities of Default (PD), Loss Given Default (LGD) and Exposure at Default (EAD). These models are key driver to measure Impairment loss. The key indicators underlying for assessment of impairment allowance are appraised on the ongoing basis by the management. The most significant areas where we identified greater levels of management Judgments are: Significant Increase in Credit Risk (SICR) – Company has classified SICR based on the indicator defined in Ind AS, estimate the Probabilities of Default (PD), Loss Given Default (LGD) and Individually assessed Stage 3 carrying value. The carrying value of loans and advances to borrowers may be materially misstated if individual impairments are not appropriately estimated based upon certain assumptions, future cash flow and asset valuations. Considering the effect of these matters, as part of our risk assessment, we determined that the value of Expected Credit Loss (ECL) has a high degree of	Nil	Nil estimation & uncertainty. In view of the significance of the amount of loan assets out of total assets in the Standalone Financial Statements, impairments of loan assets have been considered as key audit matter in our audit. (b) Fair Valuation of Derivative financial instruments The Company enters into derivative contracts in accordance with RBI guidelines to mitigate its currency and interest rate risk in accordance with currency risk management policy approved by the Board of Directors of the Company. Derivative contracts are either categorized at Fair Value through P&L (FVTPL) or under cash flow hedge (Hedge Accounting). Mark to market gain/loss on derivatives categorized at FVTPL is recognized in Statement of Profit and Loss and that of Hedge Accounting is recognized in the Other Comprehensive Income. We consider the valuation of the derivative financial instruments and hedge accounting as a key audit matter due to material exposure and the fact that the inappropriate application of these requirements /assumptions / estimate by contracting bank could lead to a material effect on the income statement. Companies (Auditor's Report) Order, 2020: In respect of fraud during the year As per the information & explanations given to us by the management, no fraud by the Company or any fraud on the Company has been noticed or reported during the year. However, as per information & explanations given to us, one of the borrower is suspected to have committed fraud on the Company which is under investigation. The Company has downgraded the borrower loan account to Stage-III as per Ind AS and provided adequately against the outstanding loan amount.

As on March 31, 2024	Other Matters: (a) As per past practice, in respect of loan assets and undisbursed letter of comfort, the Company has provided expected credit loss (ECL) as required under Ind AS 109 based on the ECL report submitted by an independent expert appointed by the Company, which inter-alia includes assumptions based on technical parameters/certain aspects. (b) The Standalone Financial Information of the Company for the year ended 31.03.2023 included in the Standalone Financial Statements, were audited by the then Joint Statutory Auditors of the Company, one of whom was predecessor audit firm, and they had expressed an unmodified opinion on Standalone Financial Statements vide their audit report dated 27.05.2023. The most significant areas where we identified greater levels of management judgement are: Significant Increase in Credit Risk (SICR) – Company has classified SICR based on the indicator defined in Ind AS, estimate the Probabilities of Default (PD), Loss Given Default (LGD) and Individually assessed Stage 3 carrying value. The carrying value of loans and advances to borrowers may be materially misstated if individual impairments are not appropriately estimated based upon certain estimates, future cash flow and asset valuations. In view of the significance of the amount of loan assets out of total assets in the Standalone Financial Statements, impairment of loan assets has been considered as Key Audit Matter in our audit. (b) Fair Valuation of Derivative financial instruments The Company enters into derivative contracts in accordance with RBI guidelines to mitigate its currency and interest rate risk in accordance with Company's board approved currency risk management policy. As on March 31, 2023	Emphasis of Matter: i. We draw attention to Note 40.1.2 (iii) of the Standalone Financial Statements regarding the provision of impairment allowance in respect of loan assets, undisbursed letter of comfort and guarantee. The Company has recognized expected credit loss in respect of loan assets, undisbursed letter of comfort and guarantee as required under Ind AS 109, on the basis of documents provided by independent expert agency appointed by the Company. Since the calculation parameters require certain technical and professional expertise, we have relied upon the basis of determination of impairment allowance in so far as it relates to technical aspects/parameters considered by the said independent expert agency and management's judgment on the same. Our opinion is not modified in respect of the above said matter. Key Audit Matters (a) Credit impairment of financial instruments- Loan Assets The Company follows a Board approved methodology wherein assessment for allowance is carried out by an external agency for impairment based on certain guidelines and procedures in respect of criterion/framework classifying the assets into various stages depending upon credit risk and level of evidence of impairment. Impairment loss measurement requires use of statistical models to estimate the Probabilities of Default (PD), Loss Given Default (LGD) and Exposure at Default (EAD). The most significant areas where we identified greater levels of management judgement are: Significant Increase in Credit Risk (SICR) – Company has classified SICR based on the indicator defined in Ind AS, estimate the Probabilities of Default (PD), Loss Given Default (LGD) and Individually assessed Stage 3 carrying value. The carrying value of loans and advances to borrowers may be materially misstated if individual impairments are not appropriately estimated based upon certain estimates, future cash flow and asset valuations. The effect of these matters is that, as part of our risk assessment, we determined that the value of ECL has a high degree of estimation & uncertainty. In view of the significance of the amount of loan assets out of total assets in the Consolidated Financial Statements, impairment of loan assets has been considered as Key Audit Matter in our audit. (b) Fair Valuation of Derivative financial instruments The Holding Company enters into derivative contracts in accordance with RBI guidelines to mitigate its currency and interest rate risk in accordance with

	Holding Company's board approved currency risk management policy. Derivative contracts are either categorized at Fair Value through P&L (FVTPL) or under cash flow hedge (Hedge Accounting). Mark to market gain/loss on derivatives categorized at FVTPL is recognized in Statement of Profit and Loss and that of Hedge Accounting is recognized in the other comprehensive income. We consider the valuation of the derivative financial instruments and hedge accounting as a key audit matter due to material exposure and the fact that the inappropriate application of these requirements/assumptions/estimate by contracting bank could lead to a material effect on the income statement. The following key audit matters with respect to audit opinion on the financial statements of Company's subsidiary REC Limited has been reported by the component auditors vide their report dated 30.04.2024 on and has been reproduced by us as under: (a) Impairment allowance of Loan Assets – The Company follows a Board approved methodology wherein assessment for allowance is carried out by an external agency for impairment based on certain criterion/framework classifying the assets into various stages depending upon credit risk and level of evidence of impairment. Impairment allowance is measured as product of the Probability of Default, Exposure at Default and Loss Given Default being the key parameters for assessing the impairment allowance. The key indicators underlying for assessment of impairment allowance are appraised on an ongoing basis by the management. Further the management has adopted a methodology which in addition to the model adopted as above is further analyzed on case-to-case basis and wherever impairment impact needs to be changed the same is considered in the financial statements. Companies (Auditor's Report) Order, 2020: With respect to the matters specified in paragraphs 3(xxi) and 4 of the Companies (Auditor's Report) Order, 2020 ("the Order"), issued by the Central Government in terms of sub-section (11) of section 143 of the Companies Act, 2013, to be included in the Auditor's report, on the basis of examination of the available CARO report of one of the four subsidiaries included in the Consolidated Financial Statements, the auditor has included adverse remarks as per the details given below: Holding Company/ Subsidiary/ Associate 1 REC Limited L40101DL1969G01005095 Subsidiary Clause report no. of which CARO is qualified or adverse xi Subsidiary auditors remarks: No fraud by the Company or on the Company has been noticed during the year. 	Impairment loss measurement requires use of statistical models to estimate the Probabilities of Default (PD), Loss Given Default (LGD) and Exposure at Default (EAD). 19. Our Directors may have interests in companies/ entities similar to ours, which may result in a conflict of interest that may adversely affect future financing opportunity referrals.

Some of our Directors have interests in other companies, which are in businesses similar to ours, which may result in potential conflicts of interest. Potential conflicts of interest may arise out of common business objectives shared by us and our Directors and there can be no assurance that these or other conflicts of interest will be resolved in an impartial manner or at all. For further details, please see "Our Management" beginning on page 204.

20. Setting up and operating power projects in India requires a number of approvals and permits, and the failure to obtain or renew them in a timely manner may adversely affect the operations of our Company's borrowers and in turn adversely affect the quality of our Company's loans.

Setting up and operating power projects requires a number of approvals, licenses, registrations and permissions. Some of these approvals are subject to certain conditions, the non-fulfillment of which may result in revocation of such approvals. Moreover, some of the conditions may be onerous and may require our Company's customers to incur substantial expenditure, specifically with respect to compliance with environmental laws. Furthermore, certain of our Company's borrowers' contractors and other counterparties are required to obtain approvals, licenses, registrations and permits with respect to the services they provide to our Company's borrowers. Our Company's borrowers, their contractors or any other party may not be able to obtain or comply with all necessary licenses, permits and approvals required for the power projects in a timely manner to allow for the uninterrupted construction or operation of the power plants, or may not comply at all. Any failure to renew the approvals that have expired or apply for and obtain the required approvals, licenses, registrations or permits, or any suspension or revocation of any of the approvals, licenses, registrations and permits that have been or may be issued to our Company's borrowers may adversely affect its operations. This in turn could adversely affect the quality of our Company's loans, may put our Company's customers in financial difficulties (which could increase the level of non-performing assets in our Company's portfolio) and adversely affect our Company's business and financial condition.

21. Our Company's business and activities are regulated by the Competition Act, 2002 (the "Competition Act") and any application of the Competition Act to our Company may be unfavourable or have an adverse effect on our Company's business, financial condition and results of operations.

The Indian Parliament has enacted the Competition Act to prevent business practices that have an appreciable adverse effect on competition in India. Under the Competition Act, any arrangement, understanding or action in concert between enterprises, whether formal or informal, which causes or is likely to cause an appreciable adverse effect on competition in India is void and attracts substantial monetary penalties. Any agreement which directly or indirectly determines purchase or sale prices, limits or controls production, shares the market by way of geographical area, market or number of customers in the market is presumed to have an appreciable adverse effect on competition. Furthermore, if it is proved that the contravention committed by a company took place with the consent or involvement or is attributable to any neglect on the part of, any director, manager, secretary or other officer of such company, that person shall be guilty of a contravention and liable to be punished.

If our Company is affected, directly or indirectly, by any provision of the Competition Act or its application or interpretation, including any enforcement proceedings initiated by the Competition Commission of India ("Competition Commission"), and any adverse publicity that may be generated due to scrutiny or prosecution by the Competition Commission, it may have a material adverse effect on our Company's business, financial condition and results of operations.

22. Changes in legislation, including tax legislation, or policies applicable to our Company could adversely affect our Company's results of operations.

Our business and operations are governed by various laws and regulations. Our business and financial performance could be materially adversely affected by any change in laws or interpretations of existing laws, or the promulgation of new laws, rules and regulations applicable to our business. Unfavorable changes in or interpretations of existing, or the promulgation of new, laws, rules and regulations including foreign investment laws governing our Company's business, operations and group structure may result in our Company being deemed to be in contravention of such laws. The Government or state governments could implement new regulations and policies, which could require us to obtain approvals and licences from the Government and other regulatory bodies or impose onerous requirements and conditions on our operations. Our Company may incur increased costs and other burdens relating to compliance with such new requirements, which may also require significant management time and other resources. Any such changes and the related uncertainties with respect to the implementation of the new regulations as well as any failure to comply may have a material adverse effect on our business, prospects, financial condition and results of operations. Uncertainty in the applicability, interpretation or implementation of any amendment to, or change in, governing law, regulation or policy, including by reason of an absence, or a limited body of administrative or judicial precedent may be time consuming as well as costly for our Company to resolve and may impact the viability of its current business or restrict its ability to grow its business in the future.

Tax and other levies imposed by the central and state governments in India that affect our Company's tax liability include central and state taxes and other levies, income tax, stamp duty and other special taxes and surcharges which are introduced on a temporary or permanent basis from time to time. Moreover, the central and state tax scheme in India is extensive and subject to change from time to time. Any tax amendments from time to time may affect the overall tax efficiency of companies operating in India and may result in significant additional taxes becoming payable. Additional tax exposure could adversely affect our Company's business and results of operations.

As the taxation system undergoes changes, the effect of such changes on the financial system may not be determined and there can be no assurance that such effects would not adversely affect our business, prospects, financial condition and results of operations. At present, our Company has the benefit of the deductions under Sections 36(1) (viia) (c) and 36(1) (viii) of the Income Tax Act.

23. We have granted loans to private sector borrowers on a non-recourse or limited recourse basis, which increases the risk of non-recovery and may adversely affect our financial condition.

As of September 30, 2025, ₹ 1,35,640.27 crores or 24.17% of our total outstanding loans were to private sector borrowers. Under the terms of our loans to private sector borrowers, our loans are secured by project assets, and in certain cases, we also obtain additional collateral in the form of a pledge of shares by the relevant promoter, or sponsor guarantee. We intend to increase our exposure to private sector borrowers in the future. The ability of such borrowers to perform their obligations under our loans will depend primarily on the financial condition and results of the relevant projects, which may be affected by many factors beyond the borrowers' control, including competition, operating costs, regulatory issues and other risks. If borrowers with non-recourse or limited recourse loans were to be adversely affected by these or other factors and were unable to meet their obligations, the value of the underlying assets available to repay the loans may become insufficient to pay the full principal and interest on the loans, which could expose us to significant losses.

24. The escrow account mechanism and the trust and retention account arrangements implemented by us as a quasi-security mechanism in connection with the payment obligations of our borrowers may not be effective, which could adversely affect our financial condition and results of operations.

Our Company uses escrow accounts as a credit enhancement mechanism for certain of its public sector borrowers that do not meet certain of its credit risk criteria. As of September 30, 2025, 73.52% of our outstanding loans to state and Central sector borrowers involved escrow account mechanism. Similarly, in the case of private sector borrowers, security is typically obtained through a first priority pari passu charge on the relevant project assets, and through a trust and retention account mechanism.

The escrow account mechanism and the trust and retention account arrangements are effective in the event that revenue from the end users or other receipts, as applicable, is received by our borrowers and deposited in the relevant escrow accounts or trust and retention accounts. Although we monitor the flow into the escrow accounts and trust and retention accounts, we do not have any arrangement in place to ensure that such revenue is actually received or deposited in such accounts and the effectiveness of the escrow account mechanism and the trust and retention account arrangements is limited to that extent. In the event that end users do not make payments to our borrowers, the escrow account mechanism and the trust and retention account arrangements will not be effective in ensuring the timely repayment of our loans, which may adversely affect our financial condition and results of operations. In addition, as we diversify our loan portfolio and enter into new business opportunities, we may not be able to implement such or similar quasi-security mechanisms or arrangements and there can be no assurance that even if such mechanisms and arrangements are implemented, they will be effective.

25. Our borrowers' insurance of assets may not be adequate to protect them against all potential losses to which they may be subject, which could affect our ability to recover the loan amounts due to us.

Under our loan agreements, where loans are extended on the basis of charge on assets, our borrowers are required to create a charge on their assets in our favour in the form of hypothecation or mortgage or both. In addition, terms and conditions of the loan agreements require our borrowers to maintain insurance against damage caused by any disasters including floods, fires, earthquakes or theft on their charged assets as collateral against the loan granted by us. However, in most cases our borrowers do not have the required insurance coverage, or they have not renewed the insurance policies or the amount of insurance coverage may be less than the replacement costs of all covered property and is therefore insufficient to cover all financial losses that our borrowers may suffer. In the event the assets charged in our favour are damaged, it may affect our ability to recover the loan amounts due to us.

26. Volatility in interest rates affects our Company's lending operations and may result in a decline in our Company's net interest income and net interest margin and adversely affect our Company's return on assets and profitability.

The Company's business is primarily dependent on interest income from its lending operations, which contributed approximately 95.37%, 93.87%, 94.80% and 94.91% of its total income in the half year ended September 30, 2025, Fiscal 2025, Fiscal 2024 and Fiscal 2023, respectively. In addition, as of September 30, 2025 and March 31, 2025, 64.14% and 64.87%, respectively, of our Company's borrowing were at fixed rates while the remaining were at floating rates (i.e., linked to the MCLR/ RBI Repo rate and other market benchmarks), compared to 86.91% and 84.30%, respectively, of our Company's loan assets which carry interest rates with one year/ three year reset clause. The primary interest rate-related risks our Company faces are from timing differences in the pricing of our Company's assets and liabilities, for example, in an increasing interest rate environment, our Company's liabilities are priced prior to its assets being priced, our Company may incur additional liabilities at a higher interest rate and incur a repricing risk, or in the event that there is an adverse mismatch between the repricing terms of our Company's loan assets and its loan liabilities. Interest rates are highly sensitive to many factors beyond our Company's control, including the monetary policies of the RBI, deregulation of the financial sector in India, domestic and international economic and political conditions and other factors. When interest rates decline, our Company is subject to greater re-pricing and pre-payment risks as borrowers may take advantage of the attractive interest rate environment. If our Company re-prices loans, our Company's results may be adversely affected in the period in which the re-pricing occurs. If borrowers prepay loans, the return on our Company's capital may be impaired as any prepayment premium our Company receives may not fully compensate our Company for the redeployment of such funds elsewhere. In addition, while our Company sets the interest rate under its loans and also typically has the option to reset the rate to our Company's prevailing lending rates in accordance with the terms of the relevant loans, mainly yearly or every three years, this flexibility is also subject to the borrower's ability to prepay the loan and refinance with another lender. When interest rates rise, it results in an increase of interest rates for our Company's borrowing and given that a majority of our Company's loans are subject to one/three year re-set clauses, our Company may not be able to re-price the loans or increase the interest rates with respect to such loans during such period, which could have a material adverse effect on our Company's results of operations and financial condition. In addition, as a non-deposit taking NBFC, our Company may be more susceptible to such increases in interest rates than some of our Company's competitors such as commercial banks or deposit taking NBFCs that have access to lower cost funds. The Company's results of operations are therefore dependent on various factors that are indirectly affected by the prevailing interest rate and lending environment, including disbursement and repayment schedules for our Company's loans, the terms of such loans including interest rate reset terms as well as the currency of such loans and any exchange gains or losses relating thereto. In addition, the value of any interest rate hedging instruments our Company may enter into in the future may be affected by changes in interest rates. There can be no assurance that our Company will be able to adequately manage its interest rate risk and be able to effectively balance the proportion and maturity of its interest earning assets and interest bearing liabilities in the future. Although, our net interest margin has been at 3.62% in the half year ended September 30, 2025, 3.64% in Fiscal 2025, 3.46% in Fiscal 2024 and 3.36% in Fiscal 2023, however, a decline in our net interest margin in the future can have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

27. As an NBFC and an IFC, we are required to adhere to certain individual and borrower group exposure limits prescribed by the RBI. Any change in the regulatory regime may adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

We are a systemically important non-deposit taking NBFC and are subject to various regulations by the RBI as an NBFC. With effect from July 28, 2010, our Company has been classified as an IFC by the RBI. This classification is subject to certain conditions including (i) a minimum of 75% of the total assets of such IFC should be deployed in infrastructure lending (as defined under the RBI Master Circular – Reserve Bank of India (Non-Banking Financial Company – Registrations, Exemption and Framework for Scale Based Regulation) Directions, 2025, as updated (the "Scale Based Regulation")), (ii) net owned funds of ₹ 300 crore or more, (iii) a minimum credit rating of "A" or an equivalent credit rating of CRISIL, ICRA, CARE, Fitch, Brickwork Rating India Private Limited or equivalent rating by any other credit rating agency accredited by RBI, and (iv) CRAR of 15% with a minimum tier I capital of 10%. Tier I capital for such purposes means owned funds as reduced by investment in shares of other NBFCs and in shares, debentures, bonds, outstanding loans and advances including hire purchase and lease finance made to and deposits with subsidiaries and companies in the same group exceeding, in aggregate, 10% of the owned fund and perpetual debt instruments issued by a non-deposit taking NBFC in each year to the extent it does not exceed 15% of the aggregate tier I capital of such company as of March 31 of the previous accounting year.

As per the Scale Based Regulation, the credit concentration limits need to be calculated based on Tier I Capital as against owned funds. RBI vide its letter dated March 20, 2023 has inter alia directed our Company to reckon Tier I Capital as on March 31st (based on annual results) while computing exposure. As of September 30, 2025 and March 31, 2025, the exposure of the Company to private/ Government sector entities are within the RBI's prescribed credit concentration limits.

As prescribed under RBI's SBR Framework, following credit concentrations limits are being followed by our Company:

Concentration of credit/ investment norms limit (as a percentage of Tier I Capital)
- Single borrower/ party	25%
- Single group of borrowers/ parties	40%

In addition to above:

- An NBFC may exceed the concentration of credit/ investment norms, by 5% for any single party and by 10% for a single group of parties, if the additional exposure is on account of infrastructure loan and/or investment.

As of September 30, 2025 and March 31, 2025, the CRAR of our Company was 21.62% and 22.08%, respectively. The exposure limits as prescribed by RBI are being followed by our Company in case of private sector borrowers. Any inability to continue being classified as an IFC may impact our growth plans by affecting our competitiveness. As an IFC, we will have to constantly monitor our compliance with the necessary conditions, which may hinder our future plans to diversify into new business lines. In the event we are unable to comply with the eligibility condition(s), we may be subject to regulatory actions by the RBI and/ or cancellation of our registration as an IFC. Any levy or fines/ penalties or the cancellation of our registration as IFC may adversely affect our business prospects, results of operations and financial condition.

In addition, our ability to borrow from various banks may be restricted under guidelines issued by RBI imposing restrictions on banks in relation to their exposure to NBFCs. According to the RBI, a bank's exposure to a single NBFC will be restricted to 20 percent of their Tier-I capital. However, based on the risk perception, more stringent exposure limits in respect of certain categories of NBFCs may be considered. Banks's exposure to a group of connected NBFCs or group of connected counterparties having NBFCs in the group will be restricted to 25 percent of their Tier I capital. The above exposure limits are subject to all other instructions in relation to bank's exposures to NBFCs. Banks may also consider fixing internal limits for their aggregate exposure to the power sector put together. Although we do not believe such exposure limits have had any adverse effects on our own liquidity, however, any change in regulatory regime may result in a situation where individual lenders from whom we currently borrow may not be able to continue to provide us funds.

As we grow our business and increase our borrowing, we may face similar limitations with other lenders, which could impair our growth and interest margins and could therefore have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

29. If our contingent liabilities and commitments materialize, they could adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

As of September 30, 2025, we had contingent liabilities and commitments amounting to ₹ 3,027.13 crores, including ₹ 2,792.72 crores in the form of letters of comfort issued to borrowers' banks in connection with letters of credit, and other contingent liabilities and commitments of ₹ 234.41 crores. As of March 31, 2025, we had contingent liabilities and commitments amounting to ₹1,696.00 crores, including ₹ 1,600.87 crores in the form of letters of comfort issued to customers, bank guarantees amounting to ₹1.19 crores, taxation demands raised by the Income Tax Department and Service Tax Department amounting to ₹91.97 crores and penalties imposed by NSE & BSE amounting to ₹1.97 crores. If any or all of these contingent liabilities materialize, our financial condition could be adversely affected.

30. If the level of non-performing assets in our loan portfolio were to increase, our financial condition would be adversely affected.

In the past, our gross stage III assets (under Ind AS) have been as indicated below:

Particulars as of	Gross Stage III Assets (₹ in crore)	As a % of total loan assets
September 30, 2025	10,487.01	1.87
March 31, 2025	10,516.85	1.94
March 31, 2024	16,073.22	3.34
March 31, 2023	16,501.65	3.91

The Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Rules, 2015, as amended, has with effect from April 1, 2018 introduced classification of previously termed non-performing assets or NPAs as Stage III Assets as per IND AS principals. We have made provisioning for Stage III assets or non-performing assets accordingly. In addition, we may, from time to time, amend our policies regarding asset classification of our loans which may increase our Stage III assets. Further, in terms of the Stressed Asset Framework, failure to resolve stressed assets in a timely manner may lead to higher provisioning being made for such stressed assets. This in turn may adversely affect our Stage III assets. There can be no assurances that the classification norms for our loans would not be subject to further change in the future, including on account of changes to accounting policies. Any further changes in classification or provisioning parameters may require additional provisions to be made in our accounts and additional actions to be taken by us, which we may not be able to in a timely manner or at all. Additionally, if we are not able to prevent increases in our level of Stage III assets, our business and our future financial condition could be adversely affected.

31. The power sector in India is regulated by GoI, and our business and operations are directly or indirectly dependent on GoI policies and support, which make us susceptible to any adverse developments in such GoI policies and support.

We are a Government company operating in a regulated industry, and the GoI (being a principal shareholder holding 55.99%, as on September 30, 2025, of our paid up equity share capital), acting through the MoP, exercises significant influence on key decisions relating to our operations, including with respect to the appointment and removal of members of our Board, and can determine various corporate actions that require the approval of our Board or majority shareholders, including proposed budgets, transactions with other Government companies or GoI entities and agencies, and the assertion of any claim against such entities. The GoI has also issued directions in connection with the payment of dividends by Government companies.

The power sector in India and our business and operations are regulated by, and are directly or indirectly dependent on, the GoI policies and support for the power sector. The GoI has implemented various financing schemes and incentives for the development of power sector projects, and we, like other Government companies, are responsible for the implementation of, and providing support to, such GoI schemes and initiatives. We may therefore be required to follow public policy directives of the GoI by providing financing for specific projects or sub-sectors in the public interest which may not be consistent with our commercial interests. In addition, we may be required to provide financial or other assistance and services to public sector borrowers and GoI and other Government agencies in connection with the implementation of such GoI initiatives, resulting in diversion of management focus and resources from our core business interests. Any developments in GoI policies or in the level of direct or indirect support provided to us or our borrowers by the GoI in these or other areas could adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

32. Volatility in foreign exchange and un-hedged foreign currency could adversely affect our Company's financial conditions and results of operations.

As of September 30, 2025, we had foreign currency borrowing outstanding of USD 7,062.77 million, JPY 2,85,151.90 million and EUR 1,013.50 million, the total of which was equivalent to ₹ 91,966.05 crores or 19.38% of our total borrowing. As of March 31, 2025, we had foreign currency borrowing outstanding of USD 7,238.43 million, JPY 2,86,367.42 million, GBP 134.71 million and EUR 1,022.61 million, the total of which was equivalent to ₹ 89,131.83 crores or 19.14% of our total borrowing. We may continue to be involved in foreign currency borrowing and lending in the future, which will further expose us to fluctuations in foreign currency rates. Our Company has put in place a policy for management of risks on foreign currency borrowings, to manage risks associated with foreign currency borrowing. However, there is no assurance that it will remain effective over a period of time. Our Company enters into hedging transactions to cover exchange rate and interest rate risk through various instruments like currency forward, option, principal swap, interest rate swap and forward rate agreements. As of September 30, 2025 and March 31, 2025, we had entered into hedging transaction to cover 95.06% and 94.78%, respectively, of our foreign currency principal exposure having residual maturity period of up to five years. Volatility in foreign exchange rates could adversely affect our business and financial performance. We are also affected by adverse movements in foreign exchange rates to the extent they impact our borrowers negatively, which may in turn impact the quality of our exposure to these borrowers. Foreign lenders may also impose conditions more onerous than domestic lenders.

In addition, although our Company engages in hedging transactions to manage interest rate and foreign exchange currency rate risks, our Company's hedging strategy may not be successful in minimising its exposure to these fluctuations. Our Company faces the risk that the counterparties to its hedging activities may fail to honour their contractual obligations to our Company. This may result in our Company not being able to net off its positions and hence reduce the effectiveness of our Company's hedges. Non- performance of contracts by counterparties may lead to our Company in turn not being able to honour its contractual obligations to third parties. This may subject our Company to, among others, legal claims and penalties.

33. Certain addendums to the existing loan agreement is pending execution for restructuring arrangements provided by us to state utilities of the erstwhile unified state of Jammu and Kashmir, which are required to be bifurcated between the Union Territories of Jammu and Kashmir and Ladakh. Failure to service loans or enforce rights under the existing loan agreement may affect our ability to recover such loans and affect our financial condition.

Following the bifurcation of the State of Jammu and Kashmir into two Union territories, Jammu and Kashmir and Ladakh, the existing entities pertaining to the erstwhile state of Jammu and Kashmir have been restructured vide unbundling order dated October 23, 2019. The addendums to the agreements with new restructured departments are yet to be executed. Pending the execution of such documents, the existing loans are being serviced/ repaid in line with the existing loan agreement. Any such failure to perform obligations under the existing loan agreement or failure to enforce rights thereunder may affect our ability to recovery amounts lent under such facility and such failure to recover amounts may adversely affect our financial condition.

34. If we are unable to manage our growth effectively, our business and financial results could be adversely affected.

Our principal outstanding assets increased from ₹ 4,22,497.73 crore as of March 31, 2023 to ₹ 5,43,120.41 crores and ₹ 5,61,208.71 crores as of March 31, 2025 and September 30, 2025, respectively. We intend to continue to grow our business, which could place significant demands on our operational, credit, financial and other internal risk controls. It may also exert pressure on the adequacy of our capitalization, making management of asset quality increasingly important.

We intend to fund our asset growth primarily by the issuance of new debt. We may have difficulty in obtaining funding on attractive terms. Adverse developments in the Indian credit markets, such as increase in interest rates, may significantly increase our debt service costs and the overall cost of our funds.

Any inability to manage our growth effectively on favourable terms could have a material adverse effect on our business and financial performance. Because of our growth and the long gestation period for power sector investments, our historical financial statements may not be an accurate indicator of our future financial performance.

As part of its growth strategy, our Company has expanded its focus areas to include renewable energy projects, and projects that represent forward and backward linkages to core power sector projects, including capital equipment for the power sector, fuel sources for power generation projects and related infrastructure development, as well as power trading initiatives. In addition, our Company intends to expand its business and service offerings in consultancy and other fee-based services, debt syndication and equity investments. Our Company also intends to continue to develop strategic partnerships and alliances, and evaluate new business opportunities related to the power sector in India. Pursuing any strategic business opportunities may require capital resources and additional regulatory approvals. Our Company has limited knowledge and experience with respect to financing and other opportunities in these business expansion areas, and competition, applicable regulatory regimes and business practices applicable to these areas and opportunities may differ significantly from those faced by our Company in its current operations. In addition, if our Company decides to expand inorganically in these strategic areas, it may not be able to achieve expected synergies from, or achieve the strategic purpose of, any such acquisition, or achieve operational integration or the expected return on its investment. There can be no assurance that our Company will be able to implement, manage or execute its growth strategy efficiently or in a timely manner or at all, which could adversely affect its business, prospects, financial condition and results of operations. Our Company's Board has approved a plan to set up a private equity fund to invest in power projects and forward and backward linkages to the core power sector projects. Our Company has limited experience in private equity, and competition and applicable regulatory regimes and business practices applicable to this area may differ significantly from those faced by our Company in its current operations. This venture may not be successful, which could adversely affect our Company's business, prospects, financial condition and results of operations.

Our Company has forayed into the financing to logistic and infrastructure sectors. Since this is a relatively new area of financing and our Company has inadequate experience of financing in these sectors, we may not be able to generate sufficient level of income/ profitability in such business or achieve desired growth. This may adversely affect our financial condition, and result of operations.

35. We might not be able to develop or recover costs incurred on our Ultra Mega Power Projects, and our failure to do so may have an adverse effect on our profitability.

We have been appointed as the nodal agency for the development of UMPPs, each with a contracted capacity of approximately 4,000 MW. As of the date of this Draft Shelf Prospectus, a total of 19 special purpose vehicles (SPVs) have been incorporated as wholly-owned subsidiaries for 17 UMPPs. Out of these, 4 UMPPs were transferred to the successful bidders and 7 UMPPs are closed. On the directions of MoP, remaining 6 UMPPs are being closed as the country is making transition from fossil fuel to non-fossil fuel, as of the date of this Draft Shelf Prospectus. These SPVs have been established to undertake preliminary site investigation activities necessary for conducting the bidding process for these projects and also to undertake preliminary studies and obtain necessary linkages, clearances, land and approvals, including for water, land and power sale arrangements, prior to transfer of the projects to successful bidders. The objective is to transfer these SPVs to successful bidders, through a tariff based international competitive bidding process, who will then implement these projects, on payment of development costs incurred by each SPV. Our Company has and is likely to continue to incur expenses in connection with these SPVs. There may be delays in the development of such UMPPs or we may be unable to transfer these UMPPs due to various factors, including environmental issues, resistance by local residents, changes in related laws or regulatory frameworks, or our inability to find a developer for such projects. In addition, we may not be able to fully recover our expenses from the successful bidder, which may result in financial loss to us, which could adversely affect our financial condition and results of operations.

36. Our agreements regarding investments in other companies contain restrictive covenants, which limit our ability to transfer our shareholding in such ventures.

Our Company has entered into certain share subscription and shareholders agreements, in respect of certain entities promoted by us or in which we have invested. As we hold minority interests in each of these companies, our partners will have control over such companies (except to the extent agreed under the respective agreements). These partnerships are dependent on cooperation of our partners and subject to risk of non-performance by our partners of their obligations. Any disputes that may also arise between our partners and us may cause delays in completion or the suspension or abandonment of the venture. Further, though our agreements confer rights on us, our partners have certain decision-making rights that may limit our flexibility to make decisions relating to such business, and may cause delays or losses. Under the terms of the relevant agreements our Company is not permitted to transfer its shareholding in the joint venture(s) to a third party for a specified lock-in period, and such agreements also contain "Right of First Refusal" provisions, by virtue of which our Company is required, post-expiry of the relevant lock-in periods, to offer its shareholding in such joint ventures to the other parties to these agreements in proportion to their shareholding in these ventures, prior to offering its shareholding for sale to third parties. Such covenants limit our ability to make optimum use of our investments or exit these joint ventures and thereby liquidating our investments at our discretion, which may have an adverse impact on our financial condition.

37. We benefit from certain tax benefits available to us as a lending institution. If these tax benefits are no longer available to us it would adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

We have received and currently receive tax benefits by virtue of our status as a lending institution, including our lending within the infrastructure sector, which have enabled us to reduce our effective tax rate. In the half year ended September 30, 2025, our effective tax liability, calculated on the basis of our tax liability (excluding deferred taxes) as a percentage of taxable profit before the above-mentioned deductions, was 19.49%. For Fiscals 2025, 2024 and 2023, our effective tax liability, calculated on the basis of our tax liability (excluding deferred taxes) as a percentage of taxable profit before the above-mentioned deductions, was 19.44%, 19.38% and 19.16%, respectively, compared to statutory corporate tax rates (including surcharge and cess) of 25.168% for each of such periods. The availability of such tax benefits is subject to the policies of the GoI, and there can be no assurance as to any or all of these tax benefits that we will receive or continue to receive in the future. If the laws or regulations regarding these tax benefits are amended, our taxable income and tax liability may increase/ decrease, which may have an impact on our financial condition and results of operations.

38. We may make equity investments in the power sector in the future, and such investments may erode/ depreciate.

We may make equity investments in the power sector either directly or indirectly. As of September 30, 2025 and March 31, 2025, our investments in equity and equity linked instruments were valued at ₹ 17,740.63 crores and ₹ 17,720.80 crores, respectively. For example, on March 28, 2019, we acquired a 52.63% equity stake in REC Limited from the GoI. Besides, we make equity investments in project SPVs, however, we have limited/no control over the activities of these project SPVs. The value of these investments depends on the success and continued viability of these businesses. In addition to the project-specific risks described in the above risk factors, we have limited control over the operations or management of these businesses. Therefore, our ability to realize expected gains as a result of our equity interest in a business is highly dependent on factors outside our control. Write-offs or write-downs in respect of our equity investments may adversely affect our financial performance.

Our Company may also be unable to realise any value if the company in which our Company invests does not have a liquidity event, such as a sale of the business, recapitalization or public offering, which would allow our Company to sell the underlying equity interest. In addition, the ability of these investee companies to make dividend payments is subject to applicable laws and regulations in India relating to payment of dividends. Furthermore, equity investments in power sector projects may be less liquid and involve a longer holding period than traditional private equity investments. Such investments may not have any readily ascertainable market value, and the value of investments reflected in our Company's financial statements may be higher than the values obtained by our Company upon the sale of such investments.

39. Any default in repayment of our borrowing would trigger payment to some or all of the other borrowing obtained by our Company, which would have a material adverse effect on the liquidity position, cash flows, business and results of operation of our Company

Our Company has given cross default covenants in few of its borrowings which means that if our Company defaults in any of its obligations under a loan, the loan which has the cross default clause will also become payable even if there is no breach of covenant or default of payment on such loan. Any default on some of our Company's loans may also trigger cross-defaults under some of our Company's other loans, which would have a material adverse effect on our Company's liquidity, cash flows, business and results of operations.

40. Our success depends in large part upon our management team and skilled personnel and our ability to attract and retain such persons. The loss of key personnel may have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations, financial condition and ability to grow.

Our future performance depends on the continued service of our management team and skilled personnel. We also face a continuous challenge to recruit and retain a sufficient number of suitably skilled personnel, particularly as we continue to grow. There is significant competition for management and other skilled personnel in our industry, and it may be difficult to attract and retain the personnel we need in the future. While, we have employee friendly policies, including an incentive scheme to encourage employee retention, the loss of key personnel may have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations, financial condition and ability to grow.

41. We have entered and may enter into certain transactions with related parties, which may not be on an arm's length basis or may lead to conflicts of interest.

We have entered, and may enter, into transactions with related parties, including our Directors. Commercial transactions in the future between us and related parties may result in conflicting interests which could have an adverse effect on our operations. There can be no assurance that we could not have achieved more favourable terms on such transactions had they not been entered into with related parties. Furthermore, it is likely that we will enter into related party transactions in the future. There can be no assurance that such transactions, individually or in the aggregate, will not have an adverse effect on our financial condition and results of operations. The transactions we have entered into and any future transactions with related parties have involved or could potentially involve conflicts of interest. For details of related party transactions in the last three financial years and the current financial year, please see "Financial Information" beginning on page 239.

Our subsidiary, PFCCL, is engaged in the consultancy services business, and our own constitutional documents permit us to engage in similar business, and there is no relationship agreement or similar arrangement currently in place between PFCCL and us, which may result in potential conflicts of interest.

42. Certain of our Directors, Key Management Personnels and Senior Management Personnels may have interests in us other than reimbursement of expenses incurred and normal remuneration or benefits.

Certain of our Directors, Key Management Personnels and Senior Management Personnels have an interest in our Company, other than reimbursement of expenses incurred and normal remuneration or benefits. Certain Directors, Key Management Personnels and Senior Management Personnels may be deemed to be interested to the extent of Equity Shares held by them or their relatives as well as to the extent of any benefits arising out of such shareholding. We cannot assure you that our Directors and Senior Management Personnels will exercise their rights as shareholders to the benefit and best interest of our Company. For further details, see "Capital Structure" and "Our Management" on pages 75 and 204, respectively.

43. We have received an order from the RoC in relation to non-compliance with certain provisions of the Companies Act, which if determined against us, could adversely impact our business and financial condition.

Under Section 234 (1) of the Companies Act, 1956, the RoC issued an order on July 24, 2013 to our Company requiring us to furnish information and/or explanation on certain issues pertaining to our financial statements for Fiscal 2008 to Fiscal 2012, where the RoC had observed that our Company had prima facie contravened certain provisions of the Companies Act, 1956 read with Accounting Standards which include, inter alia, the accounts of our Company not being prepared on an accrual basis, incomplete disclosures in the balance sheet, overstatement of profit, classification of doubtful debts as good, not reflecting true and fair view, non-compliance with ICAI suggestions on creation of deferred tax liability on special reserve for the period 2001-02 to 2003-04 by charging the profit and loss account and crediting the reserve.

In addition, the RoC had asked our Company to furnish certain documents and details including details of the issue on infrastructure bonds including the objects of raising such funds, utilization of funds raised through the issue, unutilized amount and where such utilized amounts been invested, among others. Our Company gave a detailed response on August 30, 2013 to the RoC order, explaining with reasons and documents inter alia that there were no contraventions of the provisions of Companies Act, 1956 or Accounting Standards, nor are there was any wilful misstatement, the classification of the assets as standard was in accordance with the prudential norms of our Company, non-creation of deferred tax liability on special reserve was in line with the letter dated June 2, 2009 of the Accounting Standard Board of the ICAI. Further, the details of issues of infrastructure bonds were also furnished in our letter dated August 30, 2013. RoC, vide letter dated October 10, 2014 forwarded their comments to MoP on our response and clarification, who in turn had asked for the comments of our Company, vide MoP letter dated October 31, 2014. Our Company had furnished reply to MoP on December 12, 2014. The MoP, vide letter dated April 27, 2015 asked our Company to place the observations of the RoC before the Board of our Company. The Board had considered and ratified our Company's reply dated August 30, 2013 to the RoC order. This was informed to MoP vide our letter dated June 2, 2015. Thereafter, there was no further query or communication from RoC. For further details, please see "Outstanding Litigations and other Confirmations" on page 295.

If the alleged contraventions are determined against us, our Company and its officers in default may be subjected to fines and penalties and our officers in default may be subjected to imprisonment, in accordance with the Companies Act, 1956, which may have a material adverse impact on the business and financial condition of our Company.

While presently no penalties have been levied on us nor any adverse action has been taken by RoC with respect to the alleged contraventions, we cannot assure you that such action will not be taken in the future.

44. Our inability to protect or use our intellectual property may have a material adverse effect on our business and reputation.

Our trademark "  " is duly registered with the Registrar of Trademarks in India vide certificate dated February 11, 2011 and revalidated pursuant to the letter dated March 26, 2018, in accordance with the Trade Marks Act, 1999. The registration of our trademark is valid for a period of 10 years from November 27, 2018.

Any use of "  " or similar trade names by third parties may result in loss of our business to such third parties and any potential negative publicity relating to such third parties may adversely affect our reputation, the goodwill of our brand and business prospects. Any unauthorized or inappropriate use of our brand, trademarks and domain names by others in their corporate names or product brands or otherwise could harm our brand image, competitive advantages and business and dilute or harm our reputation and brand recognition. If a dispute arises with respect to any of our intellectual property rights or proprietary information, we will be required to produce evidence to defend or enforce our claims, and we may become party to litigation, which may strain our resources and divert the attention of our management. We cannot assure you that any infringement claims that are material will not arise in the future or that we will be successful in defending any such claims when they arise.

Our efforts to protect our intellectual property or proprietary information and the measures we take to identify potential infringement of our intellectual property may not be adequate to detect or prevent infringement, misappropriation or unauthorized use. Any such misappropriation or duplication of our name, registered/ official addresses, corporate logos or other intellectual property or proprietary information may disrupt our business, distract management and employees, reduce revenues and increase expenses.

45. Our insurance may not be adequate to protect us against all potential losses to which we may be subject.

We maintain insurance for our physical assets such as our office and residential properties against standard fire and special perils (including earthquake). In addition, we maintain a group personal accident insurance as well as Directors' and officers' insurance policy. However, the amount of our insurance coverage may be less than the replacement cost of such property and may not be sufficient to cover all financial losses that we may suffer should a risk materialize. If we were to incur a significant liability for which we were not fully insured, it could have a material adverse effect on our results of operations and financial position.

In addition, in the future, we may not be able to maintain insurance of the types or in the amounts which we deem necessary or adequate or at premiums which we consider acceptable. The occurrence of an event for which we are not adequately or sufficiently insured, or the successful assertion of one or more large claims against us that exceed available insurance coverage, or changes in our insurance policies (including premium increases or the imposition of large deductible or co- insurance requirements), could have a material and adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations, and cash flows.

46. We may not be able to fully comply with insider trading rules and regulations, which could result in criminal and regulatory fines and severe reputational damage. Further, we may fail to detect illegal or improper activities in our business operations on a timely basis, which may have an adverse effect on our reputation, business operations, financial condition, cash flows and results of operation.

We are required to comply with applicable insider trading laws and regulations, including the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Prohibition of Insider Trading) Regulations, 2015, as amended. These laws and regulations require us to establish sound internal control policies and reporting procedures with respect to insider trading. Such policies and procedures require us to, among other things, establish or designate a policy for prohibition of insider trading, which imposes reporting obligations on connected persons who are in possession of undisclosed price sensitive information in relation to the securities of our Company. Further, we are subject to various laws relating to the prevention of other conflicts of interest. Conflicts of interest may exist between, (i) our departments; (ii) us and our vendors; (iii) different customers serviced by us; (iv) our employees and us; or between (v) our customers and employees.

Although we have internal controls and measures in place, there is no assurance that we will always manage such conflicts of interest, including compliance with various applicable laws and regulations. If the controls and measures implemented for detecting or eliminating insider trading or other improper or illegal trading activities which result in conflicts of interest are considered inadequate under applicable laws and regulations by any regulatory, governmental or judicial authority, we may be subject to penal action, freezing or attachment of our assets, imposition of fines, or both. There is no assurance that the controls and measures implemented by us are adequate to detect or eliminate every instance of insider trading in a timely manner or at all. Any such lapse may adversely affect our reputation, business operations, financial condition, cash flows and results of operations.

47. Our results of operations could be adversely affected by any disputes with employees. Further, we are subject to stringent labour laws, thus making it difficult for us to maintain flexible human resource policies, which could have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

As of September 30, 2025, our Company has a workforce of 563 employees. While we believe that we maintain good relationships with our employees, there can be no assurance that we will not experience future disruptions to our operations due to disputes or other problems with our work force, which may adversely affect our business and results of operations.

Further, India has stringent labour legislation that protects the interests of workers, including legislation that sets forth detailed procedures for employee removal and dispute resolution, and imposes financial obligations on employers. This makes difficult for our Company to maintain flexible human resource policies, discharge employees or downsize, which though not quantifiable, may adversely affect our Company's business and profitability. Our Company has a registered trade union under the Trade Unions Act, 1926. Although our Company considers its relations with its employees to be stable, as on September 30, 2025, 2.50% of our employees are unionised and although our Company has not lost any time on account of strikes or labour unrest to date, our Company's failure to effectively negotiate with union or other legitimate union activity could result in work stoppages. Any such work stoppage, though not quantifiable, could have an adverse effect on our Company's business, financial condition and results of operations.

48. Some of the properties taken on lease by us may have certain irregularities in title, as a result of which our operations may be impaired.

Our Company has taken property on lease for its regional office and it is possible that the lease for such property may not be renewed on favourable terms. The property may not have been constructed or developed in accordance with local planning and building laws and other statutory requirements. In addition, there may be certain irregularities in title in relation to some of our Company's owned/leased properties. For example, some of the agreements for such arrangements may not have been duly executed and/or adequately stamped or registered in the land records of the local authorities or the lease deeds may have expired and not yet been renewed. Since registration of land title in India is not centralised and has not been fully computerised, the title to land may be defective as a result of a failure on the part of our Company, or on the part of a prior transferee, to obtain the consent of all such persons or duly complete stamping and registration requirements. The uncertainty of title to land may impede the processes of acquisition, independent verification and transfer of title, and any disputes in respect of land title to which our Company may become party may take several years and considerable expense to resolve if they become the subject of court proceedings. Any such dispute, proceedings or irregularities may have an impact on the operation of our Company's business.

49. This Draft Shelf Prospectus includes certain unaudited financial information, which has been subjected to limited review, in relation to our Company. Reliance on such information should, accordingly, be limited.

This Draft Shelf Prospectus includes certain unaudited financial information, which has been subjected to limited review by our Joint Statutory Auditors, in relation to our Company. This Draft Shelf Prospectus includes limited review report dated November 7, 2025 on the HY 2026 Unaudited Special Purpose Interim Condensed Financial Statements for the half year ended September 30, 2025. As the unaudited financial information prepared by our Company in accordance with Regulation 33 and Regulation 52 of the SEBI Listing Regulations have been subject only to a limited review and as described in Standard on Review Engagements (SRE) 2410, "Review of Interim Financial Information Performed by the Independent Auditor of the Entity" issued by the ICAI, any reliance by prospective investors on such limited review financial information for the half year ended September 30, 2025 should, accordingly, be limited. Any financial results published in the future may not be consistent with past performance. Accordingly, prospective investors should rely on their independent examination of our financial position and results of operations, and should not place undue reliance on, or base their investment decision solely on the financial information included in this Draft Shelf Prospectus.

50. We have, in this Draft Shelf Prospectus, included certain non-GAAP financial measures and certain other selected statistical information related to our operations and financial condition. These non-GAAP measures and statistical information are not measures of operating performance or liquidity defined by Ind AS and may vary from any standard methodology that is applicable across the financial services, industry and therefore, may not be comparable with financial or statistical information of similar nomenclature computed and presented by other financial services companies.

Certain non-GAAP financial measures and certain other statistical information relating to our operations and financial performance like debt-equity ratio, net worth, total debt to total assets and operating margin, have been included in this section and elsewhere in this Draft Shelf Prospectus which are supplemental measures of our performance and liquidity that is not required by, or presented in accordance with, Ind-AS, Indian GAAP and IFRS. We compute and disclose such non-GAAP financial measures and such other statistical information relating to our operations and financial performance as we consider such information to be useful measures of ourbusiness and financial performance, and because such measures are frequently used by securities analysts, investors and others to evaluate the operational performance of financial services businesses. Many financial services businesses provide such non-GAAP financial measures and other statistical and operational information when reporting their financial results. Such non-GAAP measures are not measures of operating performance or liquidity defined by generally accepted accounting principles and should not be considered in isolation or construed as an alternative to cash flows, profit/ (loss) for the years/ period or any other measure of financial performance or as an indicator of our operating performance, liquidity, profitability or cash flows generated by operating, investing or financing activities derived in accordance with Ind AS, Indian GAAP, IFRS and US GAAP. These non-GAAP financial measures and other statistical and other information relating to our operations and financial performance are not standardised terms and may not be computed on the basis of any standard methodology that is applicable across the industry. Therefore, such non-GAAP measures may not be comparable to financial measures and statistical information of similar nomenclature that may be computed and presented by other banks or financial institutions in India or elsewhere.

51. We have not entered into any definitive arrangements to utilise the net proceeds of the Issue towards the objects of this Issue.

We intend to utilize the net proceeds raised through this Issue for the purpose of onward lending, financing / refinancing the existing indebtedness of our Company, and/or debt servicing (payment of interest and/or repayment / prepayment of interest and principal of existing borrowings of our Company), and for general corporate purposes. Our Company has not entered into any definitive agreements for utilization of the net proceeds towards the objects of this Issue.

52. We may become liable for the acts or omissions of external consultants engaged by our Company or our Subsidiaries.

One of our Subsidiaries, i.e., PFCCL, provides consultancy services and undertakes execution of consultancy assignments in the power sector for its clients. For these purposes, it also engages external consultants. Our Company also engages external consultants in the course of its business to assist in the conduct of the bidding process, among others. In the event that any acts or omissions of these external consultants may result in professional negligence or breach of contract, our Company may become liable to its clients or third parties for the acts or omissions of such external consultants, which could have an adverse effect on our Company's business, financial condition and results of operations.

53. There is a significant risk due to changes in environmental norms being followed for the thermal power projects. With our Company's main focus financing of thermal projects, it may pose problems in future.

With the adoption of norms provided for the climate conservation in line with the global parameters there may be risk for the environmental norms being followed for the thermal power projects which is our Company's major focus in financing of power generation projects. This may pose a problem in the future sanctions/ disbursements and also the timely implementation of these power projects. Consequently, any delay in implementation of these projects will have adverse impact on the financials of our Company.

54. Security of our Company's IT systems may fail and adversely affect our Company's business, operations, financial condition and reputation.

Our Company is dependent on the effectiveness of its information security policies, procedures and capabilities to protect its computer and telecommunications systems, and the data such systems contain or transmit. An external information security breach, such as a hacker attack, fraud, a virus or worm, or an internal problem with information protection, such as a failure to control access to sensitive systems, could materially interrupt our Company's business operations or cause disclosure or modification of sensitive or confidential information. Our Company's operations also rely on the secure processing, storage and transmission of confidential and other information in its computer systems and networks. Our Company's computer systems, software and networks may be vulnerable to unauthorised access, computer viruses or other malicious code and other events that could compromise data integrity and security. Although our Company maintains procedures and policies to protect its IT systems, such as a data back-up system, disaster recovery and a business continuity system, any failure of our Company's IT systems as mentioned above could result in business interruption, material financial loss, regulatory actions, legal liability and harm to our Company's reputation. Furthermore, any delay in implementation or disruption of the functioning of our Company's IT systems could disrupt its ability to track, record, process financial information or manage creditors/debtors or engage in normal business activities.

B. RISKS RELATING TO INDIA

55. A slowdown in economic growth in India could adversely impact our business.

Any slowdown in the Indian economy or in the growth of the industry to which we provide financing or future volatility in global commodity prices could adversely affect our borrowers and the growth of their businesses, which in turn could adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

India's economy could be adversely affected by a general rise in interest rates, currency exchange rates, adverse conditions affecting agriculture, commodity and electricity prices or various other factors, including pandemics. Further, conditions outside India, such as slowdowns in the economic growth of other countries, could have an impact on the growth of the Indian economy, and government policy may change in response to such conditions.

A loss in investor confidence in the financial systems, particularly in other emerging markets, may cause increased volatility in Indian financial markets. The International Monetary Fund has provided a list of downside risk factors, including mounting trade tensions, rising interest rates, political uncertainty and complacent financial markets. This and any prolonged financial crisis may have an adverse impact on the Indian economy, thereby resulting in a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

56. Any downgrading of India's debt rating by an international rating agency could have a negative impact on our Company's business.

Our Company is rated by international rating agencies namely, Fitch and Moody's for its foreign currency borrowing (i) Moody's has granted us long term local and foreign currency Issuer rating of "Baa3 Stable", and (ii) Fitch has granted us long-term foreign currency issuer default ratings of "BBB-/Stable".

There can be no assurance that these ratings will not be further revised, suspended or withdrawn by Moody's, or Fitch or that international rating agencies will also not downgrade India's credit ratings.

Any adverse revisions to India's credit ratings for domestic and international debt by international rating agencies may adversely impact our Company's ability to raise additional financing in the international markets, and the interest rates and other commercial terms at which such additional financing is available. This could have a material adverse effect on our Company's business and future financial performance, our Company's ability to obtain financing for providing finance to the power sector.

57. Natural disasters and other disruptions could adversely affect the Indian economy and could adversely affect our business, results of operations, cash flows and financial condition.

India has experienced natural calamities such as earthquakes, tsunamis, floods and droughts in the past few years. Prolonged power outages, spells of below normal rainfall in the country or other natural calamities could have a negative impact on the Indian economy, affecting our business and potentially causing the trading price of the NCDs to decrease. The extent and severity of these natural disasters determine their impact on the Indian economy.

Our operations, including our branch network, may be damaged or disrupted as a result of natural disasters such as earthquakes, floods, heavy rainfall, epidemics, tsunamis and cyclones and other events such as protests, riots and labour unrest. Such events may lead to the disruption of information systems and telecommunication services for sustained periods. They also may make it difficult or impossible for employees to reach our business locations. Damage or destruction that interrupts our provision of services could adversely affect our reputation, our relationships with our customers, our senior management team's ability to administer and supervise our business or it may cause us to incur substantial additional expenditure to repair or replace dam aged equipment or rebuild parts of our branch network. Any of the above factors may adversely affect our business, results of operations, cash flows and financial condition.

58. A decline in India's foreign exchange reserves may affect liquidity and interest rates in the Indian economy, which could adversely impact our Company's financial condition.

A decline in India's foreign exchange reserves could impact the value of the Rupee and result in reduced liquidity and higher interest rates, which could adversely affect our Company's future financial condition. Alternatively, high levels of foreign funds inflow could add excess liquidity to the system, leading to policy interventions, which would also allow slowdown of economic growth. In either case, an increase in interest rates in the economy following a decline in foreign exchange reserves could adversely affect our Company's business, prospects, financial condition and results of operations.

59. Private participation in the power sector in India is dependent on the continued growth of the Indian economy and regulatory developments in India. Any adverse change in policy/ implementation/ industry demand may adversely affect us.

Although the power sector is rapidly growing in India, we believe that further development of this sector is dependent upon the formulation and effective implementation of regulations and policies that facilitate and encourage private sector investment in power projects. Many of these regulations and policies are evolving and their success will depend on whether they are designed to adequately address the issues faced and are effectively implemented. In addition, these regulations and policies will need continued support from stable and experienced regulatory regimes that not only stimulate and encourage the continued investment of private capital into power projects, but also lead to increased competition, appropriate allocation of risk, transparency, and effective dispute resolution. The availability of private capital and the continued growth of the private power sector in India are also linked to continued growth of the Indian economy. Many specific factors in the power sector may also influence the success of power projects, including changes in policies, regulatory frameworks and market structures. Any adverse change in the policies relating to the power sector may leave us with unutilized capital and interest and debt obligations to fulfil. If the Central and state Governments' initiatives and regulations in the power sector do not proceed in the desired direction, or if there is any downturn in the macroeconomic environment in India, our business prospects, financial condition and results of operations could be adversely affected. In addition, it is generally believed that demand for power in India will increase in connection with expected increases in India's GDP. However, there can be no assurance that demand for power in India will increase to the extent we expect or at all. In the event demand for power in India does not increase as anticipated, the extent to which we are able to grow our business by financing the growth of the power sector would be limited and this could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

60. Significant shortages in the supply of crude oil, natural gas or coal could adversely affect the Indian economy and the power sector projects to which we have exposure, which could adversely affect our Company.

India imports majority of its requirements of crude oil. Crude oil prices are volatile and are subject to a number of factors, such as the level of global production, and political factors such as war and other conflicts, particularly in the Middle East, where a substantial proportion of the world's oil and natural gas reserves are located. Future increases in oil prices could affect the Indian economy, including the power sector, and the Indian banking and financial system. High oil prices could also add to inflationary pressures in the Indian economy. Additionally, increases in oil prices may have a negative impact on the power sector and related industries. This could adversely affect our business, including our ability to grow, the quality of our asset portfolio, our financial performance and our ability to implement our strategy.

In addition, natural gas is an important input for power projects. India has experienced interruptions in the availability of natural gas, which has caused difficulties in these projects in the past. India's natural gas demand has been mainly affected by (i) lower availability; (ii) price affordability; (iii) inadequate transmission and distribution infrastructure; and (iv) limited gas import facilities. Continued difficulties in obtaining a reliable and consistent supply of natural gas could adversely affect some of the projects we finance and could impact the quality of our asset portfolio and our financial performance.

Furthermore, the Indian power sector has been suffering generation loss due to a shortage of coal (domestic and imported). Continued shortages of fuel could adversely affect some of the projects we finance and could impact the quality of our asset portfolio, which in turn could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

61. Economic developments and volatility in securities markets in other countries may negatively affect the Indian economy.

The Indian securities market and the Indian economy are influenced by economic and market conditions in other countries. Although economic conditions are different in each country, investors' reactions to developments in one country can have adverse effects on the securities of companies in other countries, including India. A loss of investor confidence in the financial systems of other emerging markets may cause volatility in Indian financial markets and, indirectly, in the Indian economy in general. Any worldwide financial instability could also have a negative impact on the Indian economy, including the movement of exchange rates and interest rates in India.

The global credit and equity markets have experienced substantial dislocations, liquidity disruptions and market corrections. The collapse of the sub-prime mortgage loan market in the United States that began in September 2008 led to increased liquidity and credit concerns and volatility in the global credit and financial markets in following Fiscal years. The European sovereign debt crisis has led to renewed concerns for global financial stability and increased volatility in debt and equity markets. These and other related factors such as concerns over recession, inflation or deflation, energy costs, geopolitical issues, slowdown in economic growth in China and Renminbi (Chinese Yuan) devaluation, commodity prices and the availability and cost of credit have had a significant impact on the global credit and financial markets as a whole, including reduced liquidity, greater volatility, widening of credit spreads and a lack of price transparency in the United States and global credit and financial markets.

In the event that the current difficult conditions in the global financial markets continue or if there are any significant financial disruptions, this could have an adverse effect on our Company's cost of funding, loan portfolio, business, future financial performance and the trading price of any NCDs issued pursuant to the Issue. Negative economic developments, such as rising Fiscal or trade deficits, or a default on national debt in other emerging market countries may also affect investor confidence and cause increased volatility in Indian securities markets and indirectly affect the Indian economy in general.

62. Political instability or changes in GoI could delay the liberalization of the Indian economy and adversely affect economic conditions in India generally, which could impact our financial results and prospects.

Our Company is incorporated in India, derives its revenues from operations in India and all its assets are located in India. Consequently, our Company's performance may be affected by interest rates, Government policies, taxation, social and ethnic instability and other political and economic developments affecting India. The GoI has traditionally exercised and continues to exercise significant influence over many aspects of the Indian economy. Our Company's business, may be affected by changes in the GoI's policies, including taxation. Current macro-economic situations and global conditions might lead to a gradual departure from an accommodative fiscal and monetary policy, which would affect exchange rates and interest rates. Such events could also affect India's debt rating, our Company's business, its future financial performance and the trading price of the NCDs.

63. Difficulties faced by other financial institutions or the Indian financial sector generally could cause our business to suffer.

We are exposed to the risks consequent to being part of the Indian financial sector. This sector in turn may be affected by financial difficulties and other problems faced by Indian financial institutions. Certain Indian financial institutions have experienced difficulties during recent years, and some co- operative banks have also faced serious financial and liquidity difficulties in the past. Any major difficulty or instability experienced by the Indian financial sector could create adverse market perception, which in turn could adversely affect our business and financial performance.

64. Terrorist attacks, civil unrest and other acts of violence or war involving India and other countries could adversely affect the financial markets and our business.

Terrorist attacks and other acts of violence or war may negatively affect the Indian markets in which our securities trade and also adversely affect the worldwide financial markets. These acts may also result in a loss of business confidence, make travel and other services more difficult and eventually adversely affect our business. Any deterioration in relations between India and its neighbouring countries may result in actual or perceived regional instability. Events of this nature in the future could have a material adverse effect on our ability to develop our operations. As a result, our business, prospects, results of operations and financial condition could be materially adversely affected by any such events.

65. There may be other changes to the regulatory framework that could adversely affect us.

We are under the administrative control of the MoP and a number of our activities are subject to supervision and regulation by statutory authorities including the RBI and the SEBI. We are also subject to policies/procedures of GoI departments such as the MoF, MCA and DPE. In addition, our borrowers in the power sector are subject to supervision and regulation by the CEA, CERC and SERCs.

Furthermore, we are subject to changes in Indian law as well as to changes in regulation and Government policies and accounting principles. For instance, the GoI has recently introduced the Code on Social Security, 2020 ("Social Security Code"); the Occupational Safety, Health and Working Conditions Code, 2020; the Industrial Relations Code, 2020 and the Code on Wages, 2019 (the "Wages Code"), which consolidate, subsume and replace numerous existing central labour legislations (collectively, the "Labour Codes"). Certain portions of the Wages Code have come into force upon notification by the Ministry of Labour and Employment. The remainder of these codes shall come into force on the day that the Government shall notify for this purpose. Different dates may also be appointed for the coming into force of different provisions of the Labour Codes. While the rules for implementation under these codes have not been notified, we are yet to determine the impact of all or some such laws on our business and operations which may restrict our ability to grow our business in the future and increase our expenses. For instance, the Social SecurityCode provides that where an employee receives more than half (or such other percentage as may be notified by the Central Government) of their total remuneration in the form of allowances and other amounts that are not included within the definition of wages under the Social Security Code, the excess amount received shall be deemed as remuneration and accordingly be added to wages for the purposes of the Social Security Code. Additionally, the Wages Code prescribes that if payments made by an employer towards certain employment benefits (including gratuity and house rent allowance) exceed half (or such other percentage as may be notified by the Central Government) of the total remuneration, the excess amount shall be deemed remuneration and accordingly be added to wages. The enforcement of these laws could lead to higher employee and labour costs, which in turn could have a detrimental effect on our operational results, cash flow, business, and overall financial health.

Additionally, the Government has enacted the Income Tax Act, 2025, which inter alia proposes to amend the income tax regime and replace the Income Tax Act, 1961, simplify the existing tax regime, introduce changes to inter corporate taxations and introduce new deductions relating to the house property. The proposed effective date of the Income Tax Act, 2025 is April 1, 2026. There is no certainty on the impact that the Income Tax Act, 2025, once enforced, will have on the industry in which we operate or on our business, financial condition and results of operations. Any future amendments in the tax regime may affect the overall tax efficiency of companies operating in India, including ours, and may result in additional taxes becoming applicable. Further, if, as a result of a particular tax risk materialising, the tax costs associated with certain transactions are greater than anticipated, it could affect the profitability from such transactions, which in turn may affect our business and operations.

Uncertainty in the applicability, interpretation or implementation of any amendment to, or change in, governing law, regulation or policy may be time consuming as well as costly for us to resolve and may impact the viability of our current business or restrict our ability to grow our business in the future. We may incur increased costs and other burdens relating to compliance with such new requirements, which may also require significant management time and other resources, and any failure to comply may adversely affect our business, results of operations, cash flows, financial condition and prospects.

We also receive certain benefits and takes advantage of certain exemptions available to us as a public financial institution under Section 2(72) of the Companies Act, 2013 and as a systemically important non-deposit taking NBFC (middle layer) that are also IFCs under the RBI Act. In addition, the statutory and regulatory framework for the Indian power sector has undergone a number of changes in recent years and the impact of these changes is yet to be seen. The Electricity Act puts in place a framework for major reforms in the sector. Furthermore, there could be additional changes in the manner of determination of tariff and other policies and licensing requirements for, and tax incentives applicable to, companies in the power sector. Presently, we are not aware of the nature or extent of any future review and amendment of the Electricity Act and rules and policies issued thereunder, and it is possible that any amendments may have an adverse impact on our business, financial condition and results of operations. Applicable laws and regulations governing our borrowers and us could change in the future and any such changes could adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

66. Direct capital market access by our borrowers could adversely affect us.

The Indian capital markets are developing and maturing and, as such, there may be a shift in the pattern of power sector financing. Financially stronger SPUs might source their fund requirement directly from the market. We have large exposure to SPUs and such changes may have an adverse impact on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

67. Recent global economic conditions have been unprecedented and challenging and have had, and continue to have, an adverse effect on the Indian financial markets and the Indian economy in general, which has had, and may continue to have, a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Recent global market and economic conditions have been unprecedented and challenging with tighter credit conditions and recession in most major economies. Continued concerns about the systemic impact of potential long-term and wide-spread recession, energy costs, geopolitical issues, the availability and cost of credit, and the global housing and mortgage markets have contributed to increased market volatility and diminished expectations for western and emerging economies.

As a result of these market conditions, the cost and availability of credit has been and may continue to be adversely affected by illiquid credit markets and wider credit spreads. Concern about the stability of the markets generally and the strength of counterparties specifically has led many lenders and institutional investors to reduce, and in some cases, cease to provide credit to businesses and consumers. These factors have led to a decrease in spending by businesses and consumers alike and corresponding decreases in global infrastructure spending and commodity prices. Continued turbulence in the United States, Europe and other international markets and economies and prolonged declines in business consumer spending may adversely affect our liquidity and financial condition, and the liquidity and financial condition of our customers, including our ability to refinance maturing liabilities and access the capital markets to meet liquidity needs.

These global market and economic conditions have had, and continue to have, an adverse effect on the Indian financial markets and the Indian economy in general, which may continue to have a material adverse effect on our business and our financial performance.

C. RISKS RELATING TO THE NCDS

68. There has been no active market for the NCDs and it may not develop in the future, and the price of the NCDs may be volatile. The secondary market for debentures may be illiquid; limited or sporadic trading of non-convertible securities of the Company on the Stock Exchange.

The NCDs may be very illiquid, and no secondary market may develop in respect thereof. Even if there is a secondary market for the NCDs, it is not likely to provide significant liquidity. Potential investors may have to hold the NCDs until redemption to realize any value.

The NCDs have no established trading market. There can be no assurance that an active market for the NCDs will develop or be sustained. If an active market for the NCDs fails to develop or be sustained, the liquidity and market prices of the NCDs may be adversely affected. The market price of the NCDs would depend on various factors inter alia including (i) the interest rate on similar securities available in the market and the general interest rate scenario in the country, (ii) the market price of our Equity Shares, (iii) the market for listed debt securities, (iv) general economic conditions, and, (v) our financial performance, growth prospects and results of operations. The aforementioned factors may adversely affect the liquidity and market price of the NCDs, which may trade at a discount to the price at which you purchase the NCDs and/or be relatively illiquid.

69. There is no guarantee that the NCDs issued pursuant to this Issue will be listed on the Stock Exchange in a timely manner, or at all.

In accordance with Indian law and practice, permissions for listing and trading of the NCDs issued pursuant to this Issue will not be granted until after the NCDs have been issued and allotted. Approval for listing and trading will require all relevant documents, including execution of a debenture trust deed and security documents and a certificate to be obtained from the Debenture Trustee, to be submitted and carrying out of necessary procedures with the Stock Exchange. While our Company has not been refused listing of any security during last three financial years and the current financial year by any of the stock exchange in India or abroad, there could be a failure or delay in listing the NCDs on the Stock Exchange for reasons unforeseen. If permission to deal in and an official quotation of the NCDs is not granted by the Stock Exchange, our Company will forthwith repay, with interest, all monies received from the Applicants in accordance with prevailing law in this context, and pursuant to this Draft Shelf Prospectus. There is no assurance that the NCDs issued pursuant to this Issue will be listed on the Stock Exchange in a timely manner, or at all.

70. You may not be able to recover, on a timely basis or recover at all, the full value of the outstanding amounts and/ or the interest accrued thereon, in connection with the NCDs.

Our ability to pay interest accrued on the NCDs and/or the principal amount outstanding from time to time in connection therewith would be subject to various factors inter alia including our financial condition, profitability and the general economic conditions in India and in the global financial markets. We cannot assure you that we would be able to repay the principal amount outstanding from time to time on the NCDs and/or the interest accrued thereon in a timely manner or at all. Although our Company will create appropriate security in favour of the Debenture Trustee for the NCD Holders on the assets adequate to ensure 100% (One Hundred per cent.) asset cover for the NCDs, it is the duty of the Debenture Trustee to monitor that the security is maintained, the realisable value of the assets charged as security, when liquidated, may be lower than the outstanding principal and/or interest accrued on the NCDs, depending on the market scenario prevalent at the time of enforcement of the security. Further, as the NCDs will be secured by way of first pari passu charge through hypothecation of the book debts/receivables (excluding the receivables on which a specific charge has already been created by the Company), any shortfall in our receivables, owing to any factor, including factors beyond our control, could lead to insufficiency of security, at the time of enforcement, which in turn may adversely affect the ability of the NCD holders to receive the amounts secured by the NCDs. Any such shortfall in receivables or failure or delay to recover receivables charged as security in connection with the NCDs could expose the NCD Holder(s) to a potential loss.

71. The rights over the Security provided will not be granted directly to holders of the NCDs.

The rights over the Security securing the obligations of our Company under the NCDs and the Debenture Trust Deed will not be granted directly to the NCD holders, but will be granted only in favour of the Debenture Trustee. As a consequence, NCD holders will not have direct security and will not be entitled to take enforcement action in respect of the security for the NCDs, except through the Debenture Trustee.

72. Payments to be made on the NCDs and Zero Coupon NCDs will be subordinated to certain tax and other liabilities preferred by law. Additionally, you may be subject to taxes arising on the sale of the NCDs and Zero Coupon NCDs.

The NCDs and Zero Coupon NCDs will be subordinated to certain liabilities preferred by law, such as the claims of the Government on account of taxes and certain liabilities incurred in the ordinary course of our business. Further, any sale of NCDs and Zero Coupon NCDs by a holder may give rise to tax liability, see "Statement of Possible Tax Benefits" on page 93.

Pursuant to the notification dated March 11, 2025, issued by Ministry of Finance, Department of Revenue, Central Board of Direct Taxes, the Central Government specified a ten year one month Zero Coupon NCD of our Company to be issued on or before March 31, 2027. Under the provisions of Income Tax Act read with provisions of the Finance Bill (No.2), 2024, presently, any maturity or redemption of Zero Coupon NCDs falls under the definition of 'transfer' as given under Section 2(47) and accordingly, underlying gains/ profit upon maturity is likely to become chargeable to tax under head 'capital gains'. The rate at which tax may be chargeable will be dependent on period of holding for such Zero Coupon NCDs.

Such tax benefit for Zero Coupon NCDs is applicable as on the date of this Issue. However, the same may not be applicable in case of change in taxation laws in future.

73. Any downgrading in our credit rating or the credit rating of the NCDs may affect the trading price of the NCDs and our ability to raise funds.

Crisil Ratings has granted us (a) "Crisil AAA/Stable" rating in relation to our long term borrowing programme, for a limit of ₹ 1,15,000.00 crores, (b) "Crisil A1+" rating in relation to our short term borrowing programme, for a limit of ₹ 15,000.00 crores, and (c) "Crisil AAA; Stable/ A1+" rating in relation to our interchangeable long term/ short term borrowing programme, for a limit of ₹ 10,000.00 crores. ICRA has granted us (a) "[ICRA]AAA (Stable)" rating in relation to our long term borrowing programme, for a limit of ₹ 1,15,000.00 crores, (b) "[ICRA]A1+" rating for our short term borrowing programme, for a limit of ₹ 15,000.00 crores, and (c) "ICRA AAA; Stable /A1+" rating in relation to our interchangeable long term/ short term borrowing programme, for a limit of ₹ 10,000.00 crores. CARE has granted us (a) "CARE AAA; Stable" rating in relation to our long term borrowing programme, for a limit of ₹ 1,15,000.00 crores, (b) "CARE A1+" rating in relation to our short term borrowing programme, for a limit of ₹ 15,000.00 crores, and (c) "CARE AAA; Stable /A1+" rating in relation to our interchangeable long term/short term borrowing programme, for a limit of ₹ 10,000.00 crore. The international credit rating agencies Moody's, and Fitch have granted our Company, the following ratings, (i) Moody's has granted us an issuer rating of "Baa3 Stable", (ii) Fitch has granted us long-term issuer rating of "BBB-/ Stable".

These ratings may be suspended, withdrawn or revised at any time. Any revision or downgrading in the credit rating may lower the trading price of the NCDs and may also affect our ability to raise further debt. For the rationale for these ratings, please see Annexure A of this Draft Shelf Prospectus.

74. Payments made on the NCDs will be subordinated to certain tax and other liabilities preferred by law.

The NCDs will be secured by way of first pari passu charge through hypothecation of the book debts/receivables (excluding the receivables on which a specific charge has already been created by the Company). However, the NCDs will be subordinated to certain liabilities preferred by law such as to claims of the GoI on account of taxes, and certain liabilities incurred in the ordinary course of our transactions. In particular, in the event of bankruptcy, liquidation or winding-up, our assets will be available to pay obligations on the NCDs only after all of those liabilities that rank senior to these NCDs have been paid. In the event of bankruptcy, liquidation or winding-up, there may not be sufficient assets remaining, after paying amounts relating to these proceedings, to pay amounts due on the NCDs. Further, there is no restriction on the amount of debt securities that we may issue that may rank above the NCDs. The issue of any such debt securities may reduce the amount recoverable by investors in the NCDs on our bankruptcy, winding-up or liquidation.

75. The NCDs are not guaranteed by the Republic of India.

The NCDs are not the obligations of, or guaranteed by, the Republic of India. Although the Government owned 55.99% of our Company's issued and paid-up share capital as of September 30, 2025, the Government is not providing a guarantee in respect of the NCDs. In addition, the Government is under no obligation to maintain the solvency of our Company. Therefore, investors should not rely on the Government ensuring that our Company fulfils its obligations under the NCDs.

76. Legal investment considerations may restrict certain investments

The investment activities of certain investors are subject to investment laws and regulations, or review or regulation by certain authorities. Each potential investor should consult its legal advisers to determine whether and to what extent (i) the NCDs are legal investments for it, (ii) the NCDs can be used as collateral for various types of borrowing and (iii) other restrictions apply to its purchase or pledge of the NCDs.

77. The NCDs are subject to the risk of change in law.

The terms and conditions of the NCDs are based on Indian law in effect as of the date of issue of the relevant NCDs. No assurance can be given as to the impact of any possible judicial decision or change to Indian law or administrative practice after the date of issue of the relevant NCDs and any such change could materially and adversely impact the value of any NCDs affected by it.

78. The Issuer, being a listed company, is not required to maintain debenture redemption reserve ("DRR").

The Equity Shares of the Company are listed on BSE and NSE. In accordance with amendments to the Companies Act, 2013, and the Companies (Share Capital & Debentures) Rules 2014, as amended, read with the SEBI NCS Regulations, a listed company (as defined under Companies Act, 2013) is not required to maintain DRR for issuance of debentures. Hence, investors shall not have the benefit of reserve funds to cover the re-payment of the principal and interest on the NCDs.

79. Failure to adequately maintain the debenture redemption fund ("DRF") as required under applicable laws may adversely impact our creditworthiness and ability to raise future debt.

As per applicable provisions of the Companies Act and the rules made thereunder, including the Companies (Share Capital and Debentures) Rules, 2014, as amended, the companies issuing listed debentures may be required to invest or deposit a specified portion of the amount of debentures maturing during the year into a DRF by the prescribed timelines.

Any failure or delay in maintaining the DRF in accordance with applicable regulatory requirements may lead to non-compliance with debt covenants, trigger penalties, increase scrutiny by credit rating agencies and regulators, and adversely affect our ability to raise debt in the future. In addition, such non-compliance may impact investor confidence, affect our credit ratings, and constrain our financial flexibility.

80. There may be a delay in making refund/ unblocking of funds to Applicants.

We cannot assure you that the monies refundable to you/ unblocked in your ASBA account, on account of (i) you not being a successful allottee, (ii) withdrawal of your applications, (ii) our failure to receive minimum subscription in connection with the Base Issue, (iii) withdrawal of the Issue, or (iv) failure to obtain the final approval from NSE for listing of the NCDs, will be refunded to you in a timely manner. We, however, shall refund / unblock such monies, with the interest due and payable thereon (in case of any delays) as prescribed under applicable statutory and/or regulatory provisions.

81. In the event of bankruptcy, liquidation or winding-up, there may not be sufficient assets remaining to pay amounts due on the NCDs.

The NCDs will be subordinated to certain liabilities preferred by law such as the claims of the Government on account of taxes, and certain liabilities incurred in the ordinary course of our business. In the event of bankruptcy, liquidation or winding-up, our Company's assets will be available to pay obligations on the NCDs only after all of those liabilities that rank senior to these NCDs have been paid as per Section 327 of the Companies Act, 2013. In the event of bankruptcy, liquidation or winding-up, there may not be sufficient assets remaining to pay amounts due on the NCDs.

STATEMENT OF POSSIBLE TAX BENEFITS AVAILABLE TO THE DEBENTURE HOLDER(S)

This Annexure is based on the provisions of the Income-tax Act, 1961 ('IT Act') in force as on the current date, after considering the amendments made by the Finance Act, 2025 ('FA, 2025').

Act

This Annexure intends to provide general information on the applicable provisions of the IT Act. However, in view of the nature of the implications, the investors are best advised to consult their respective tax advisors/consultants for appropriate counsel with respect to the specific tax and other implications arising out of their participation in the Portfolio as indicated herein.

Taxability under the IT Act

Section 50AA of the IT Act

Section 50AA of the IT Act provides a special provision for computation of capital gains in case of Market Linked Debenture (MLD). For the purposes of the said section, MLD have been defined in the Explanation thereto to mean a security by whatever name called, which has an underlying principal component in the form of a debt security and where the returns are linked to the market returns on other underlying securities or indices, and includes any security classified or regulated as a MLD by the Securities and Exchange Board of India.

Based on the definition, MLD has the following essential features:

- It is a security in the nature of debt;

- It has an underlying principal component;

- Returns with respect to such security are linked to market returns on other underlying securities or indices;

- And, by way of extension, it is also provided that any security classified or regulated by SEBI as an MLD, shall for the purposes of section 50AA of the IT Act be deemed to be an MLD

The Non-Convertible Debentures (NCDs) issued/ proposed to be issued by the issuer creates a borrower-lender relationship between the issuer and subscriber and to that extent, such NCDs constitute a security in the nature of debt. Further, such NCDs, by their very nature, have a principal component (which is the price at which the subscriber subscribes to such NCDs).

However, the returns with respect to such NCDs (excess of redemption value over the principal component) is a fixed return and is not linked to any market return or underlying security or indices.

Given the same, the NCDs issued by the issuer do not satisfy the first limb of the definition of MLD as provided in the Explanation to section 50AA of the IT Act and thus, such NCDs should not constitute an MLD for the purposes of section 50AA of the IT Act.

The second limb of the definition of MLD which deems any security classified or regulated by SEBI as an MLD, to be an MLD for the purposes of section 50AA of the IT Act, is an independent limb and need to be construed as such. We have been given to understand that, at present, the NCD issued/ proposed to be issued by the issuer is neither classified nor regulated by the SEBI as an MLD and accordingly, the NCDs issued by the issuer should not constitute an MLD for the purposes of section 50AA of the IT Act. However, the said fact-pattern would have to be re-visited in light of any amendment in the law as may be notified by SEBI in future.

A. Common provisions applicable to both Resident and Non-Resident debenture holders:

1. Determination of head of income for the purpose of assessability:

The returns received by the investors from the Non-Convertible Debentures ('NCD') in the form of 'interest' and gains on transfer of the NCD, may be characterized under the following broad heads of income for the purposes of taxation under the IT Act:

- Profits and gains of business or profession ('PGBP');
- Capital gains ('CG'); and
- Income from other sources ('IFOS').

For determining the appropriate head of income (as mentioned above) vis-à-vis the income or loss earned on/ from the NCD, it will be pertinent to analyse whether the NCD are held as 'Investments' i.e. capital asset or as 'Stock-in-trade'.

If the NCD are held as 'Stock-in-trade', interest income as well as gain or loss on its transfer will be assessed to tax under the head PGBP, whereas, if the NCD are held as 'Investments', then the interest income will be assessed to tax under the head IFOS and any gain/ loss on its transfer will be assessed to tax under the head CG (explained in ensuing paragraphs), based on facts of each case.

However, as per section 2(14) of the IT Act, 'capital asset' includes, inter alia, securities held by a Foreign Institutional Investor ('FII') now known as Foreign Portfolio Investor ('FPI') which has invested in such securities in accordance with the regulations made under Securities and Exchange Board of India Act, 1992. Accordingly, such securities, held by an FII, will be characterised as 'capital asset' and classification as 'Stock-in-trade' shall not apply.

The investors may obtain specific advice from their tax advisors regarding the above classification and tax treatment.

2. Taxation of Interest and Gain/ loss on transfer of debentures:

- Taxation of Interest

Income by way of interest received on NCD held as 'Investments' (i.e. capital asset) will be charged to tax under the head IFOS at the rates applicable to the investor after deduction of expenses, if any, allowable under section 57 of the IT Act. These are essentially expenses (not being in the nature of capital expenditure) laid out or expended wholly and exclusively for the purpose of earning the interest income. In case of NCD held as 'Stock-in-trade', interest received thereon will be charged to tax under the head PGBP. Further, any expenditure specifically laid out or expended wholly and exclusively for the purpose of earning such interest income shall be allowed as deduction while computing income under the head PGBP.

The investors may obtain specific advice from their tax advisors regarding the tax treatment of their Interest income.

- Taxation of gain or loss on transfer

(a) Taxable under the head PGBP

As discussed above, depending on the particular facts of each case, the NCD may, in certain cases, be regarded to be in the nature of 'Stock-in-trade' and, accordingly, the gains from the transfer of such NCD should be considered to be in the nature of business income and hence chargeable to tax under the head PGBP.

In such a scenario, the gains from the business of investing in the NCD may be chargeable to tax on a 'net' basis (i.e. net of allowable deductions for expenses/allowances under Chapter IV – Part D of the IT Act).

Based on section 145 of the IT Act, the timing of charging any income to tax would depend on the method of accounting followed by the taxpayer consistently (i.e. cash or mercantile).

Investors should obtain specific advice from their tax advisors regarding the manner of computing business income, the deductions available therefrom and the tax to be paid thereon.

(b) Taxable under the head Capital Gains

As discussed above, based on the particular facts of each case, the NCD may, in certain cases, be regarded to be held as 'Investments' in which case the gains or loss from the transfer of such NCD should be chargeable to tax under the head CG.

In such a scenario, the gains / loss from the transfer of such NCD may be chargeable to tax on a 'net' basis (i.e. net of acquisition cost of NCD, expenditure incurred in relation to transfer of NCD).

Investors should, however, seek specific advice from their tax advisors/ consultants in respect of characterization of capital gains, the manner of computation and the tax to be paid thereon.

3. Period of holding and Capital gain – long term & short term:

As per section 2(29AA) read with section 2(42A) of the IT Act, listed NCD is treated as a long-term capital asset if the same is held for more than 12 months immediately preceding the date of its transfer and consequently, the gain/ loss on transfer of such NCD should be treated as long term capital gain/ loss.

Accordingly, if listed NCD is held for up to 12 months immediately preceding the date of its transfer, the same should be treated as a short-term capital asset and the gain/ loss on transfer of such NCD should be treated as short-term capital gain/ loss.

Without prejudice to the fact that the NCDs to be issued by the issuer are not MLD (as has been concluded at the outset), where, for whatsoever reasons, the NCDs are treated as MLDs, then in such cases, as per the provisions of Section 50AA of IT act, the capital gains arising on transfer or redemption or maturity of such NCDs shall be deemed to be capital gains arising from transfer of a short-term capital asset. Further, in computing the capital gains, no deduction shall be allowed on account of Securities Transaction Tax (STT) paid, if any.

4. Computation of capital gains and tax thereon

Capital gains is computed after reducing from the consideration received for the transfer of the capital asset 'full value of consideration (FVC), the cost of acquisition (CoA) of such asset and the expenses incurred wholly and exclusively in connection with the transfer. The capital gains so computed will be chargeable to tax at the rates as detailed in the ensuing paragraphs.

5. Set off of capital losses

As per section 74 of the IT Act, long-term capital loss incurred during a year can be set-off only against long-term capital gains arising in that year or in subsequent years and cannot be set-off against short-term capital gains arising in that year or in subsequent years. The long-term capital loss remaining after set-off, if any, can be carried forward for eight years immediately succeeding the year in which the loss was first computed, to be for set-off against subsequent years' long-term capital gains.

On the other hand, short-term capital loss incurred during a year can be set-off against both, short-term and long-term capital gains of the same year or of subsequent years. The short-term capital loss remaining after set-off, if any, can be carried forward for eight years immediately succeeding the year in which the loss was first computed, to be set-off against subsequent years' short-term as well as long-term capital gains.

B. Tax benefits available to Resident NCD holders:

- Interest on NCD received by resident NCD holders would form part of their total income and be subject to tax at the applicable rates of tax (Note 1 and 2 below) in accordance with and subject to the provisions of the IT Act.

- Capital gains on transfer of NCD shall be computed by deducting from the FVC, expenditure incurred wholly and exclusively in connection with the transfer and the CoA of the NCD.

As per section 112 of the IT Act, capital gains arising on the transfer of long-term capital assets being listed debentures are subject to tax at the rate of 12.5% (plus applicable surcharge and health & education cess – Note 2 below) on the capital gains calculated without indexing the cost of acquisition

In case of an individual or HUF, being a resident, where the total income as reduced by such long-term capital gains is below the maximum amount which is not chargeable to income-tax, then, such long-term capital gains shall be reduced by the amount by which the total income as so reduced falls short of the maximum amount which is not chargeable to income-tax and the tax on the balance of such long-term capital gains shall be computed at the rate mentioned above.

Short-term capital gains on the transfer of listed debentures, where debentures are held for a period of not more than 12 months would be taxed at the applicable rates of tax (as mentioned in Note 1 and 2 below) in accordance with the provisions of the IT Act.

C. Tax benefits available to Non-Resident debenture holders:

Short-term capital gains will be taxable at the applicable rates of tax (as mentioned in Note 1 and 2 below) in accordance with and subject to the provisions contained therein.

- Under section 115F of the IT Act, long term capital gains arising to a non-resident Indian from transfer of debentures acquired or purchased with or subscribed to in convertible foreign exchange will be exempt from capital gain tax if the whole of the net consideration is invested within six months after the date of transfer of the debentures in any specified asset or in any saving certificates referred to in section 10(4B) of the IT Act in accordance with and subject to the provisions contained therein. Where the new asset is transferred or converted (otherwise than by transfer) into money, within a period of 3 years from the date of its acquisition, then the amount so exempted earlier would be subjected to tax in the year of transfer/conversion.

- Under section 115G of the IT Act, it shall not be necessary for a non-resident Indian to file a return of income under section 139(1) of the IT Act, if his total income consists only of investment income as defined under section 115C and/or long term capital gains earned on transfer of such investment acquired out of convertible foreign exchange, and the tax has been deducted at source from such income under the provisions of Chapter XVII-B of the IT Act in accordance with and subject to the provisions contained therein.

- Under section 115H of the IT Act, where a non-resident Indian becomes a resident in India in any subsequent year, he may furnish to the Assessing Officer a declaration in writing along with return of income under section 139 for the assessment year for which he is assessable as a resident, to the effect that the provisions of Chapter XII-A shall continue to apply to him in relation to the investment income (other than on shares in an Indian Company) derived from any foreign exchange assets in accordance with and subject to the provisions contained therein. On doing so, the provisions of Chapter XII-A of the IT Act shall continue to apply to him in relation to such income for that assessment year and for every subsequent assessment year until the transfer or conversion (otherwise than by transfer) into money of such assets.

- In accordance with and subject to the provisions of section 115-I of the IT Act, a non-resident Indian may opt not to be governed by the provisions of Chapter XII-A of the IT Act. In such a case, long-term capital gains on transfer of listed debentures would be subject to tax at the rate of 12.5% (plus applicable surcharge and cess – Note 2 below) computed without indexation of CoA and the investment income i.e. Interest Income would be taxable as per other provisions of Income Tax Act.

- Interest income and short-term capital gains on the transfer of listed debentures, where debentures are held for a period of not more than 12 months preceding the date of transfer, would be taxed at the applicable rates of tax (as mentioned in Note 1 and 2 below) in accordance with and subject to the provisions of the IT Act.

- Without prejudice to the fact that the NCDs to be issued by the issuer are not MLD (as has been concluded at the outset), where, for whatsoever reasons, the NCDs are treated as MLDs, then in such cases, as per the provisions of Section 50AA of the IT Act, the capital gains arising on transfer or redemption or maturity of such NCDs shall be deemed to be capital gains arising from transfer of a short-term capital asset. Further, in computing the capital gains, no deduction shall be allowed for Securities Transaction Tax (STT) paid, if any.

- Where debentures are held as stock-in-trade, the income on transfer of debentures would be taxed as business income in accordance with and subject to the provisions of the IT Act.

The CPI is primarily factored in by RBI while preparing their bi-monthly monetary policy. At the bi-monthly meeting held in August 2025, RBI projected inflation at 3.1% for FY26 with inflation during Q2FY26 at 2.1% and Q3FY26 at 3.1%, Q4FY26 at 4.4% and Q1FY27 at 4.9%.

Considering the current inflation situation, RBI maintained the repo rate to 5.5% in the August 2025 meeting of the Monetary Policy Committee.

Further, the central bank continued it's stance as 'neutral'. The economic growth outlook for India is expected to maintain momentum, supported by private consumption and continued growth in fixed capital formation. The uncertainty has resurfaced as the temporary pause on US tariff hikes has ended and higher duties on some Indian exports now apply, even though trade talks have resumed.

The RBI has adopted for a non-inflationary growth with the foundations of strong demand and supply with a good macroeconomic balance. The domestic growth and inflation curve require the policies to be supportive with the volatile trade conditions.

1.2.3 GVA in the Industrial Sector

India's industrial sector is expected to grow by 10.8% in FY24, reaching Rs. 31.56 trillion, supported by positive business sentiment, falling commodity prices, and government initiatives like production-linked incentives. In FY25, growth is expected to slow down to 5.9% y-o-y, down from 10.8% in FY24. The growth is driven primarily by manufacturing, and utility services. The slowdown can be attributed to the manufacturing segment likely to grow at 4.5%, lower than the previous year's 12.3%.

In Q1FY26, most sectors showed a slowdown in growth, with Industry declining from 8.5% to 6.3% and Mining & Quarrying dropping sharply from 6.6% to -3.1%. However, Manufacturing maintained robust growth, slightly improving to 7.7%.

1.2.4 Investment Trend in Infrastructure

Gross Fixed Capital Formation (GFCF) is a measure of net increase in physical assets. In FY23, the ratio of investment (GFCF) to GDP remained flat, as compared to FY22 which was at 33.4%. The growth stabilized at 30.4% in FY24 before falling to 29.9% in FY25. The moderation reflects cautious capital spending by both government and private corporations, which has persistently lagged overall GDP growth. In Q1FY26, GFCF as a proportion in GDP, marginally declined to 30.4% as compared to 30.6% in Q1FY25.

Chart: Gross Fixed Capital Formation (GFCF) as % of GDP (At current prices)

Overall, the support of public investment in infrastructure is likely to gain traction due to initiatives such as Atmanirbhar Bharat, Make in India, and Production-linked Incentive (PLI) scheme announced across various sectors.

1.2.5 Industrial Growth

The Quick Estimates of the Index of Industrial Production (IIP) for September 2025 show a growth of 4.0%, remaining unchanged from August 2025. The year-on-year moderation reflects weakness across major segments, primarily due to contractions in electricity, mining, and consumer non-durables.

In September 2025, industrial growth was supported by Manufacturing (4.8%) and Electricity (3.1%). Within manufacturing, notable growth was recorded in basic metals, electrical equipment, motor vehicles, trailers and semi-trailers.

Use-based indices reflected mixed trends, with strong growth in Infrastructure Goods (10.5%), but declines in Consumer Durables and Non-Durables indicating subdued consumption and Capital goods. Manufacturing contributed significantly to overall industrial growth. This was primarily driven by strong performance in segments such as pharmaceuticals, motor vehicles, beverages, and electrical equipment.

1.2.6 Budgetary expenditure on Infrastructure

With the growing population, the long-term need for robust infrastructure is necessary for economic development. This generates the need for massive investments in the development and modernization of infrastructure facilities, which will not only cater to the growing demand but will also ensure competitiveness in the global market.

Some of the key government infrastructure schemes include:

- The government has announced plans for the National Monetization Pipeline (NMP) and Development Finance Institution (DFI) to improve the financing of infrastructure projects

The government has helped the growth of urbanization through a number of schemes and projects, including the Smart Cities Mission, the Atal Mission for Rejuvenation and Urban Transformation (AMRUT), and the Pradhan Mantri Awas Yojana (Urban).

1.2.7 Overview on Key Demographic Parameters

Population growth and Urbanization

The trajectory of economic growth of India and private consumption is driven by socio-economic factors such as demographics and urbanization. According to the world bank, India's population in CY22 surpassed 1.42 billion, slightly higher than China's population (1.41 billion) and became the most populous country in the world.

Age Dependency Ratio is the ratio of dependents to the working age population, i.e., 15 to 64 years, wherein dependents are population younger than 15 and older than 64. This ratio has been on a declining trend. Declining dependency means the country has an improving share of working-age population generating income, which is a good sign for the economy. It was as high as 76% in 1983, which has reduced to 47% in CY24. However, this ratio is expected to rise again to 54% by CY36, driven by an increase in the elderly population as life expectancy improves.

Source: World Bank Database, MOSPI; Note; E- Estimated, F- Forecasted

Despite a projected rise in the dependency ratio to 54% by CY36, India's young and growing workforce, especially in newly urbanised towns, will continue to drive income growth and consumer demand. This presents strong opportunities for sectors like consumer electronics, transportation, and railways. Rising employment, urbanisation, and government investment in rural development and digital infrastructure will further boost demand, while increased tech adoption supports long-term consumption growth across both urban and rural markets.

Source: World Bank Database; Note; E- Estimated, F- Forecasted

The urban population is significantly growing in India. The urban population in India is estimated to have increased from 413 million (32% of total population) in CY13 to 553.5 million (36.9% of total population) in the year CY24. India is undergoing a significant urban transformation, with the urban population projected to rise to 40% by CY36. This shift is driven by factors such as improved living standards, increased employment opportunities in urban areas, and government initiatives aimed at urban development. This rapid urbanisation might necessitate substantial investments in infrastructure, housing, and transportation.

Increasing Disposable Income and Consumer Spending

Gross National Disposable Income (GNDI) is a measure of the income available to the nation for final consumption and gross savings. Between the period FY15 to FY25, per capita GNDI at current prices registered a CAGR of 9.02%. More disposable income drives more consumption, thereby driving economic growth.

With increase in disposable income, there has been a gradual change in consumer spending behaviour as well. Per capita Private Final Consumption Expenditure (PFCE) which is measure of consumer spending has also showcased significant growth from FY15 to FY25 at a CAGR of 9.7%.

1.2.8 Concluding Remarks

Global economic growth faces headwinds from geopolitical tensions, volatile commodity prices, high interest rates, inflation, financial market volatility, climate change, and rising public debt. However, India's economy remains relatively strong, with an IMF forecast of 6.6% GDP growth in CY25 (FY26 according to the fiscal year), compared to the global projection of 3.2%. Key drivers include strong domestic demand, government capital expenditure and moderating inflation.

Public investment is expected to exhibit healthy growth as the government has allocated a strong capital expenditure of about Rs. 11.21 lakh crores for FY26. The private sector's intent to invest is also showing improvement as per the data announced on new project investments and resilience shown by the import of capital goods. Additionally, improvement in rural demand owing to healthy sowing, improving reservoir levels, and progress in south-west monsoon along with government's thrust on capex and other policy support will aid the investment cycle in gaining further traction.

The recent 56th meeting of the Goods and Services Tax (GST) Council announced some major changes in the existing GST structure. The focus is majorly on simplifying it to a two-tiered GST tax structure of 5% and 18%, phasing out the currently existing 12% and 28% slabs. There is also a de-merit tax rate for luxury and 'sin' goods at a 40% tax slab. These changes are typically aimed at increasing the disposable income and in turn boosting consumption, as well as promoting the ease of doing business. The GST rationalization is expected to be a positive step towards economic growth, stimulating private consumption and ease inflationary pressures. The recent revisions in income tax rates, coupled with the reduction in GST, are expected to result in savings of over Rs 2.5 lakh crore, which is likely to further boost the consumption.

The impact of U.S. tariffs on India's export trade is anticipated to be minimal. The engineering goods sector will have a potential U.S. tariff impact, whereas steel industry is affected by the 50% tariffs although the impact is expected to be minimal given the volume of goods exported is less.

On February 13th, 2025, India and US discussed enhancing the U.S.-India trade relationship, with a target to increase bilateral trade from USD 200 billion to USD 500 billion by 2030. As of September 2025, India and the U.S discussions seem "positive and forward looking"

Thus, while U.S. tariffs may have a limited impact on India's exports, ongoing trade negotiations and India's competitive manufacturing advantage position it well for continued growth in global trade.

2. Non-Banking Financial Institutions

2.1 Overview of Non-Banking Financial Institutions

Non-banking financial institutions (NBFIs) comprise a heterogeneous group of financial intermediaries. Those under the regulatory purview of the Reserve Bank consist of

- All-India financial institutions (AIFIs) that include the National Bank for Agriculture and Rural Development (NABARD), the Export Import (EXIM) Bank of India, the Small Industries Development Bank of India (SIDBI) and the National Housing Bank (NHB) are apex financial institutions that play an important role in meeting the long-term funding requirements of agriculture and the rural sector, foreign trade, small industries, housing finance companies (HFCs), NBFCs, Micro Finance Institutions (MFIs) and other specialised segments and institutions.

- Non-banking financial institutions (NBFIs) are government/public/private limited companies that specialise in delivering credit to a wide variety of specific segments, ranging from infrastructure to consumer durables and vehicle financing. Housing finance companies (HFCs) extend housing finance to individuals, co-operative societies, and corporate bodies and lease commercial and residential premises to support housing activity in the country.

- Primary dealers (PDs) came into existence in 1995 and act as market makers in the government securities (G-secs) market, besides ensuring subscription to primary issuances.

Non-Banking Financial Institutions (NBFIs) play an important role in the Indian financial system by complementing and competing with banks, and by bringing efficiency and diversity into financial intermediation. NBFCs have evolved considerably in terms of operations, heterogeneity, asset quality and profitability, as well as regulatory architecture.

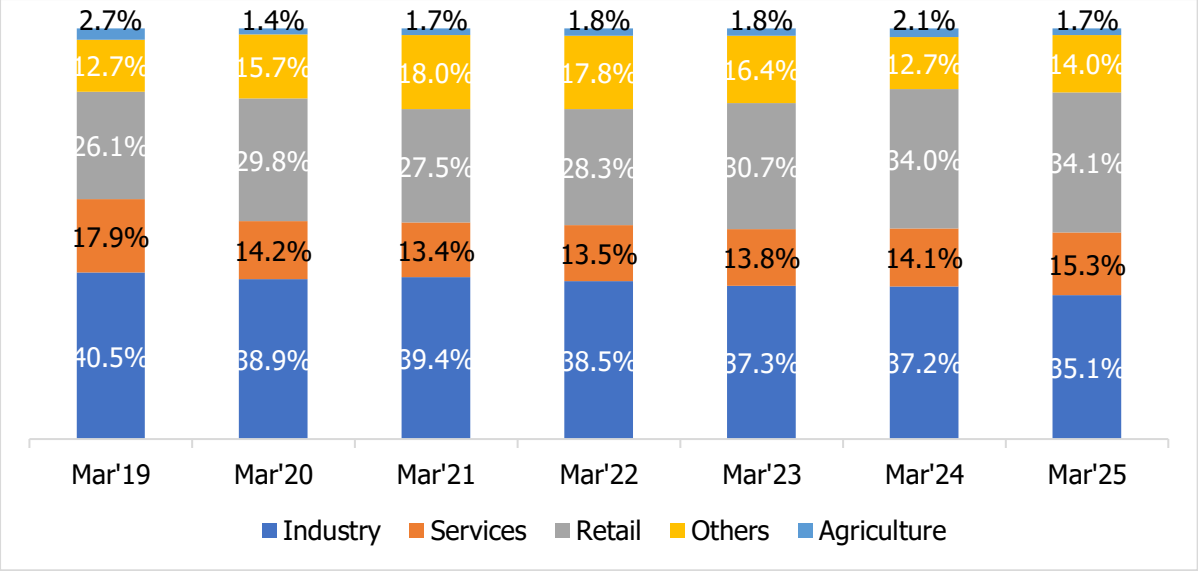
2.3 NBFC Credit Growth

Chart: Gross Credit Deployed by NBFCs



Source: RBI, CareEdge Research

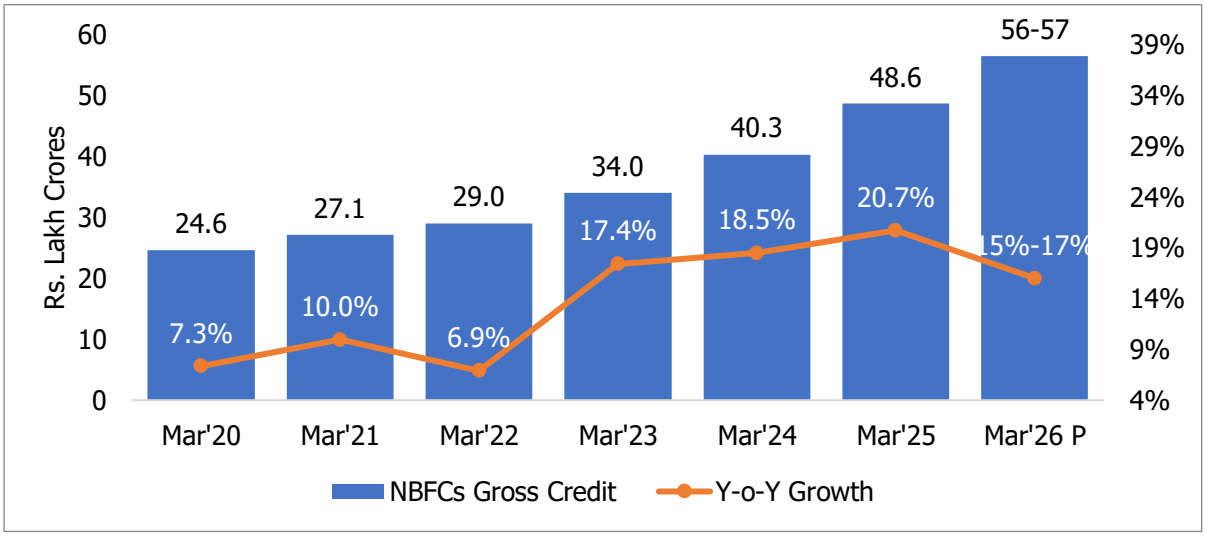
As of Mar-25, the credit growth rate witnessed a significant uptick of 20.7% y-o-y reaching around Rs. 48.6 lakh crores. The continued growth trajectory of NBFCs credit is indicating its importance in India's Financial System. This growth is driven by an increase in demand for retail credit and demand for working capital loans amid fluctuations in commodity prices.

2.4 Sectoral Distribution of NBFC Credit

Chart: Sectoral distribution of NBFCs' credit

Source: RBI, CareEdge Research
Note: Industry includes credit to micro, small, medium and large enterprises.
Retail loans are personal loans for housing loans, consumer durables, auto loans, and other personal loans.
Services include credit towards commercial real estate, retail trade and other such loans
Others include credit deployed towards agriculture and allied activities and other non-food credit

The share of NBFC credit across different sectors from Mar'19 to Mar'25 reveals a notable shift in sectoral distributions. The most significant trend is the gradual decline in credit allocation to the industry sector, which decreased from 40.5% in Mar'19 to 35.1% in Mar'25. While industry continues to hold the largest share of NBFC credit, this downward trend suggests a strategic move by NBFCs to diversify their portfolios and reduce concentration risk in industrial lending.



Retail loans comprise housing loans, vehicle loans, loans against gold, consumer durables loans, and other such personal loans. The retail sector has witnessed a substantial rise in its share of NBFC credit, increasing from 26.1% in Mar'19 to 34.1% by Mar'25. This indicates a clear shift towards consumer-oriented lending.

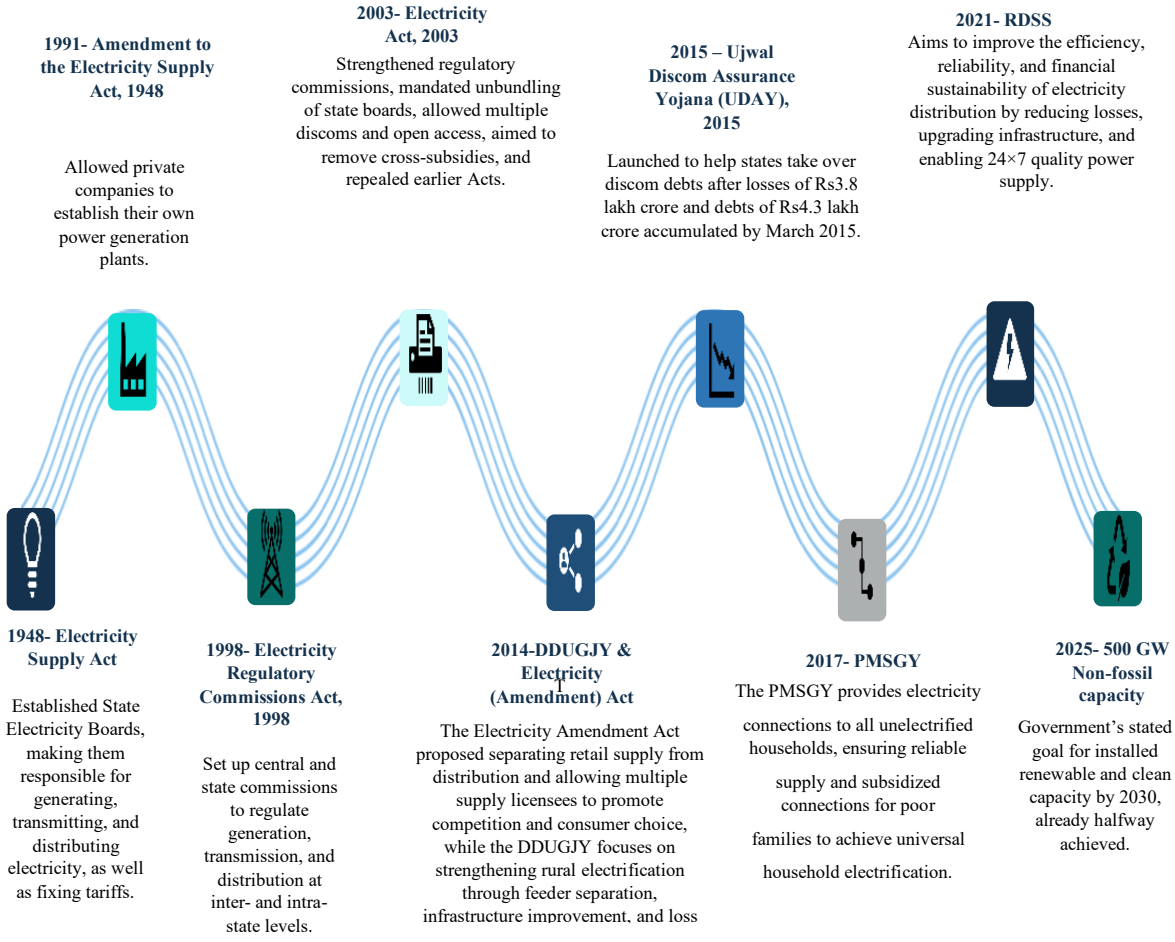
The services sector, after experiencing a sharp decline from 17.9% in Mar'19 to 13.4% in Mar'21, has shown signs of stabilization, with its share recovering slightly to 15.3% in Mar'25.

2.5 Outlook

CareEdge Research estimates NBFCs to grow in the range of 15%-17% y-o-y in FY26. NBFCs are likely to witness moderation in growth amid low growth in retail segment, especially unsecured retail loans primarily and slow middle-class spending.

Chart: Gross Credit Deployed by NBFCs

Source: RBI, CareEdge Research
Note: Data are provisional, P - projected



NBFCs growth largely driven by continued demand for retail credit and growing demand for loans towards service sector. However, NBFCs y-o-y growth of 15%-17% in FY26 can be impacted by marginal decline in funding from banks, amendments in the regulatory framework related to Loan to Value Ratio (LTV) of gold loans and uncertainties surrounding US tariffs. Furthermore, NBFCs' credit growth may face headwinds due to the impact on asset quality especially in the microfinance and unsecured credit segment

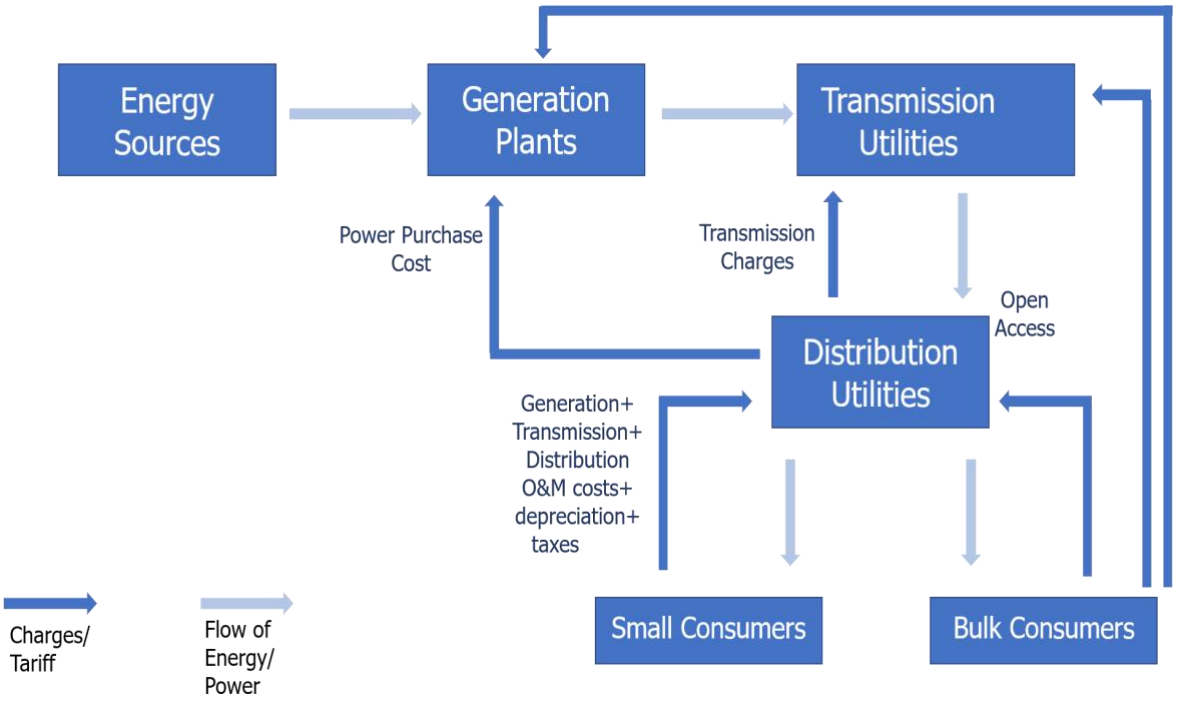
3. Overview of India's Power Sector

3.1 Evolution of Power Sector and Its Structure in India

Power is one of the most critical components for infrastructure development and crucial for the economic growth and well-being of any country. The existence and development of adequate power infrastructure is essential for the sustained growth of the Indian economy.

Chart: Evolution of Power Sector Reforms

The power industry is divided into three segments:



- Generation
- Transmission
- Distribution

Generation is the process of producing electricity from different sources like thermal energy (coal, diesel etc.), nuclear and renewable sources such as sunlight and wind, natural gas, etc. in generating stations or power generation plants. Transmission utilities transport large amount of electricity from power plants to distribution substations via a grid at high voltages. The retail electricity distribution, which is the distribution of electricity to consumers at lower voltages, forms part of the distribution segment.

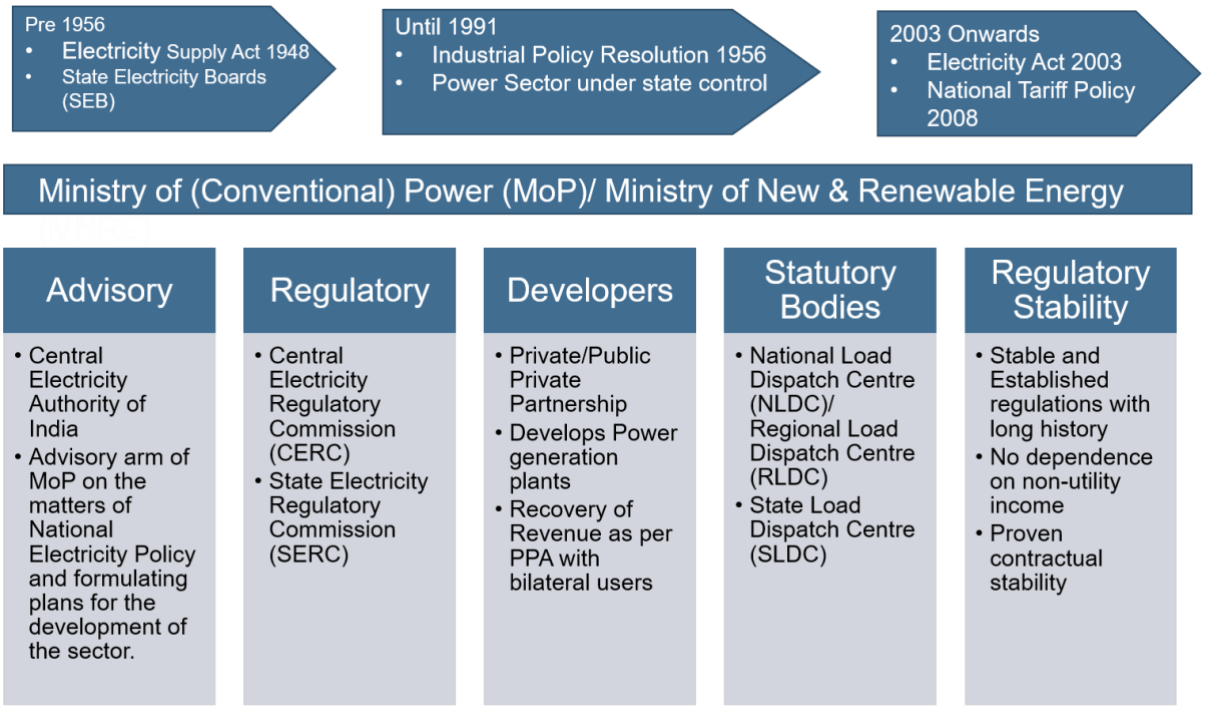
Source: CareEdge Research



Operating and Regulatory Structure

In India, the Electricity Act, 2003 governs the generation, transmission, distribution, exchange, and use of electricity. It also establishes a complex system of bodies to administer the Electricity Act's functions. The Electricity Act, among other things, delicensed all generation activities except hydropower.

The Electricity Act's principal goals are as follows:

- Promoting competition
- Protecting the interest of consumers
- Ensuring electricity supply to all areas along with a rationalization of tariffs
- Ensuring transparent policies and promotion of efficiency

Under the Electricity Act, the CEA as a statutory agency advises the Government of India on policy, safety regulations, and technical standards. The Central Electricity Regulatory Commission (CERC) and the State Electricity Regulatory Commissions (SERCs) draft the regulations and the Government of India (in cooperation with the states and the CEA) develops policies (such as the Nation Tariff Policy and National Electricity Policy) as guidelines.

Electricity generation, distribution, and transmission are regulated and overseen by regulatory bodies at the federal and state levels. They are self-contained entities with responsibilities outlined in the Electricity Act.

The CEA shall perform the following functions and duties:

- Advise the Government of India on matters relating to the national electricity policy, formulate short-term and long-term plans for the development of electrical infrastructure, coordinate the activities of the Central Transmission Utilities (CTU) and the State Transmission Utilities (STU) for the optimal utilization of resources to serve the interests of the national economy, and to provide reliable and affordable electricity for all consumers.

- Advise any state government, licensee, or generating company on such matters to enable them to operate and maintain the electrical infrastructure under their ownership or control in an improved manner and where necessary, in coordination with any other government, licensee, or generating company owning or having the control of another electricity system.

- Make available from time to time the public information related to the rules, regulations, reports, inquiries, and orders made under and by virtue of the Electricity Act and provide for the publication of reports and investigations.

- Advise the appropriate government and the appropriate commission on all technical matters relating to generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity.

- Establish the Central Research Committee which shall advise on matters relating to policy, services provided by licensees, protection of consumer interest, and electricity supply and standards of performance by utilities.

At the Central level, CERC performs the following functions:

- Regulates the tariff of generating companies owned or controlled by the Government of India or State Governments.

- Oversees the tariff of generating companies not allowed other or owned or controlled by the Government of India/ State Government, if such generating companies enter or otherwise have a composite scheme for the generation and sale of electricity in more than one state in India.

- Regulates inter-state energy transmission (including granting of licence) including tariff of transmission utilities.

- Regulate the trading margin for the inter-state trading of electricity, if necessary.

- Performs additional functions as assigned under the Electricity Act.

At the State level, SERCs perform similar functions to CERC:

- Determines tariffs for the generation, supply, transmission, and wheeling of electricity, as well as for wholesale, bulk, or retail sales within the state.

- Regulates the electricity purchase and procurement process of distribution licensees, including setting the price at which electricity is procured from generating companies, licensees, or other sources through agreements for distribution and supply within the state.

- Facilitates the intra-state transmission and wheeling of electricity.

- Issues licenses to individuals or entities seeking to operate as transmission licensees, distribution licensees, or electricity traders within the state.

- Establishes a State Research Committee to provide advice on policy matters, services offered by licensees, consumer interest protection, electricity supply, and utility performance standards.

In relation to the promotion of renewable energy, the Ministry of New and Renewable Energy (MNRE) is the relevant agency of the Government of India for the following matters:

- Solar Energy

- Wind Energy

- Bio-Gas Units

- Hydroelectric Power

- Tidal Energy

- Geothermal Energy

Solar Energy Corporation of India Limited (SECI), a government firm under MNRE's supervision, assists MNRE in implementing and facilitating schemes like as the Jawaharlal Nehru National Solar Mission (JNNSM), wind project schemes, and solar-wind hybrid project schemes.

Power Exchanges:

Electricity trading through Power Exchange (PX) has hitherto been introduced in many electricity markets. In India, there are two exchanges, the Indian Energy Exchange (IEX) and Power Exchange of India Ltd. (PXIL), functioning with guidance from CERC. The electrical market in India has a supply shortfall (in some locations) and is made up of a variety of generation methods. PX is a marketplace where utilities, power marketers, and other electricity providers post price and quantity bids for selling energy or services, and potential customers submit offers to buy energy or services.

Appellate Tribunals:

The Central Government has established an Appellate Tribunal for Electricity (APTEL) for those dissatisfied with an order of the CERC or a state. The APTEL, like the Income-Tax Tribunal and the Central Administrative Tribunal, has the power to overturn or change that order.

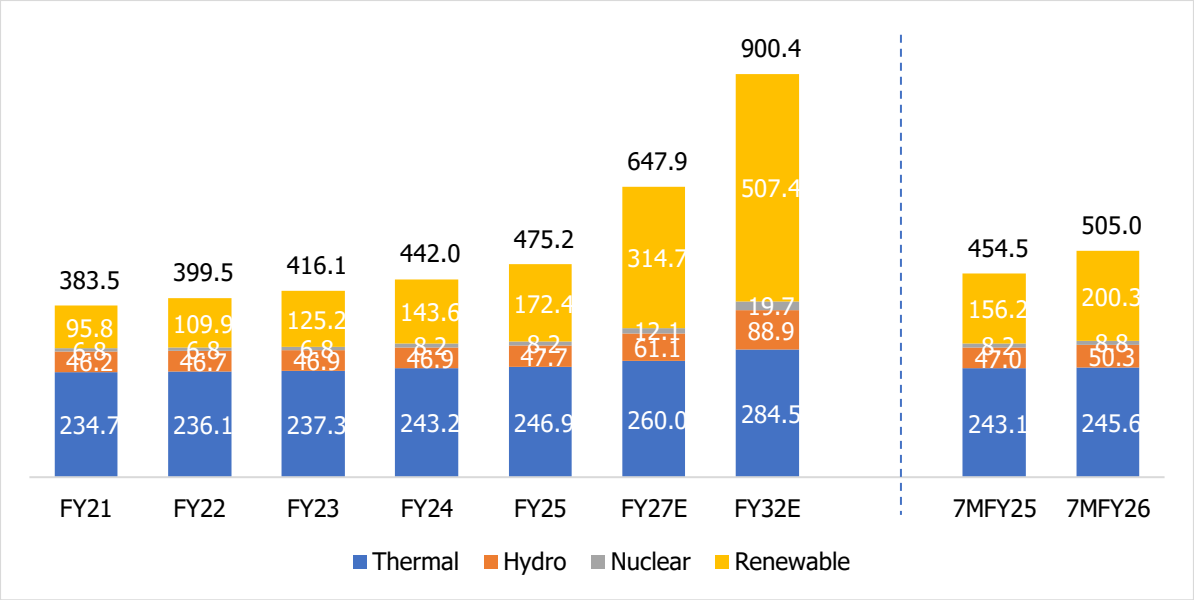
The APTEL comprises a Chairperson who has been a Judge of the Supreme Court or Chief Justice of a High Court, one Judicial Member who has been or qualified to be a judge of the High Court, two technical members who are electricity sector experts and one technical member who is an expert from the petroleum and natural gas sectors. Since its operationalization, the APTEL has been called upon to resolve many complex and path-breaking issues, which has facilitated the development of the power sector as per the intent of the Electricity Act, 2003.

The Electricity (Amendment) Rules, 2024, issued on January 10, 2024, bring sweeping changes into India's electricity sector. The salient features are:

Dedicated Transmission Lines: Organizations like generating companies, captive generating plants, energy storage units, or consumers with a minimum load of 25 MW for inter-state transmission or 10 MW for intra-state transmission are exempt from obtaining a transmission license. The exemption is subject to compliance with governing regulations, technical standards, guidelines, and procedures.

Open Access Charges

- Wheeling Charges: These are determined by the annual revenue requirement for wheeling divided by energy wheeled for the year.
- State Transmission Utility Network Charges: Short-term open access or Temporary General Network Access (GNA) charges are limited to 110% of long-term or General Network Access users.
- Additional Surcharge: This surcharge for open access consumers is limited to the per-unit fixed cost of power purchase. It is designed to decrease linearly over four years starting from the grant date of general network access or open access.



Tariff Reflectivity and Revenue Gap Management: Tariffs are required to be cost reflecting, reducing differences between approved annual revenue needs and estimated revenues.

Exceptions are permitted during natural calamity situations, and any resulting revenue deficit not exceeding 3% of the sanctioned annual revenue requirement. Such deficits are to be settled in up to three equal installments, beginning the next financial year. Deficits at the date of notification of the rules can be settled in up to seven instalments. These amendments aim to streamline the power sector, encourage investments, and enhance operational efficiency

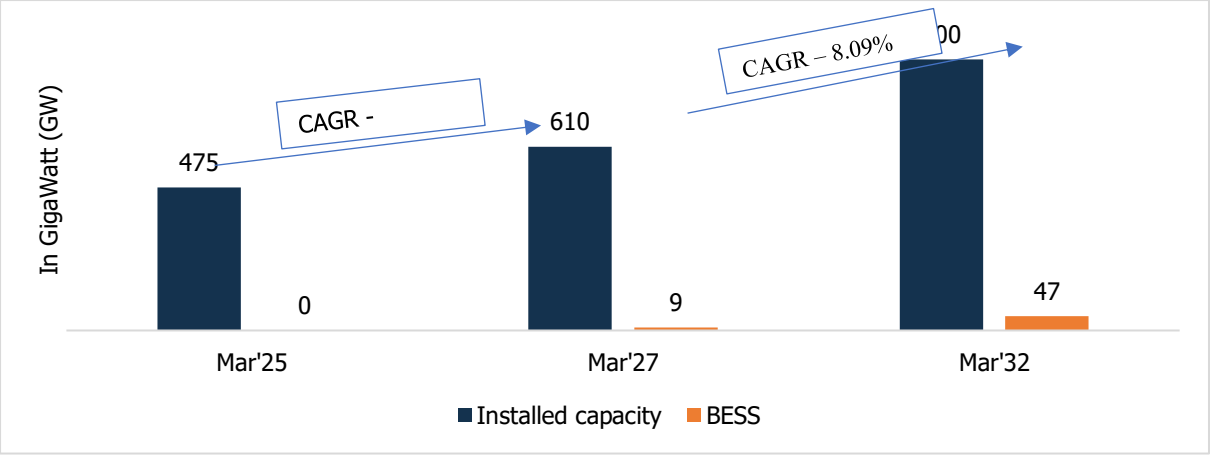
3.2 Trend in All India Installed Capacity

The installed power capacity in India has increased from 383.5 GW in FY21 to 475.2 GW in FY25; it increased by 7.5% y-o-y as of March 2025; India is the world's third-largest producer and third-largest user of energy.

Chart: All India Installed Capacity – Cumulative (In GW)

Source: CEA, CareEdge Research, E - Estimates

As of October 2025, India's installed thermal power capacity stood at 245.6 GW, primarily fuelled by coal, lignite, gas, and diesel. Coal dominates with a share of 88.8%, followed by gas at 8.2%, lignite at 2.7%, and diesel at 0.2%. In terms of overall installed capacity the western region accounted for the highest share at 167.98 GW (33.9%), followed by the northern region (29.1%).



On the clean energy side, renewables (including hydro) have grown sharply, rising from 142.0 GW in FY21 to 250.3 GW in 7M'FY26. Their share in the total installed capacity has increased from 37.3% in FY21 to 49.6% in 7M'FY26, reflecting strong policy support, investments, and the cost competitiveness of solar, wind, and hydro technologies. Hydropower achieved milestone of reaching more than 50 GW in 7M'FY26, while nuclear capacity increased modestly to 8.8 GW.

The forward outlook is ambitious: capacity is projected to rise to 647.9 GW by FY27E and 900.4 GW by FY32E, with renewables expected to exceed 500 GW by FY32, firmly positioning India on a path toward decarbonization and energy security.

3.3 Trend in Capacity Additions

The Indian power sector is witnessing a major transformation in terms of demand growth and energy mix. To ensure that everyone has access to reliable power and sufficient electricity, investments are being carried out to increase the installed capacity and clean energy transition. The government plans to establish a renewable capacity of 500 GW by 2030 and increase the share of non-fossil fuel-based installed capacity to around 50%.
As per National Electricity Plan Vol-2 released in FY24, the installed capacity is expected to grow from 475 GW in March 2025 to around 610 GW by March 2027, growing at a CAGR of around 13.32%. The Battery Energy Storage System (BESS) is expected to gain traction and reach 9 GW of installed capacity. Installed capacity is expected to reach 900 GW by March 2032, growing at a CAGR of 8.09% from March 2027, while the BESS capacity is expected to reach 47 GW.

3.5 Trend in Thermal Power Sector

Conventional power includes power generated from thermal sources i.e. coal, lignite, gas, diesel and nuclear energy. The conventional power generation capacity has increased from 243 GW in FY19 to 255 GW in FY25.

India is majorly dependent on fossil fuels for power generation even as the installed and generation capacity of renewables is increasing. Coal continues to remain the backbone of India's energy mix, contributing 49% to the country's total energy supply as of September 2025 and the third largest among Group of 20 (G20) countries. With abundant local reserves, India has the world's fifth largest proven coal reserves.

3.6 Trend in Investments in Renewable Energy

As per the NEP, total power capacity is expected to increase to 900 GW by FY32 from 416 GW in FY23. The expected investments in the generation section between FY23-FY27 and FY27-FY32 are given in the following table.

3.7 Renewable Energy Capacity Mix

There has been a significant shift globally in the generation capacity mix due to the growing concerns towards the environment and climate change. India is an active participant and has taken initiatives towards sustainable development and cleaner environment including significant additions of renewable energy generation capacity.

The total potential for renewable power in India is estimated at 2,109 GW, compared to an installed capacity of 220 GW as of March 2025. The installed capacity of renewable energy has increased by 86 GW from FY20 to FY25 and the growth momentum has continued in FY26, taking the total RE capacity to 247 GW

Chart: Renewable Energy – Trend in Installed Capacity (In GW)

Note: Small Hydro denotes projects up to 25 MW, Hydro Power Plants denotes projects more than 25 MW

Solar:

India's solar power capacity has seen remarkable growth over the last nine years, rising from 4 GW in March 2015 to 129.9 GW by October 2025, thanks to the efforts of the Ministry of New and Renewable Energy (MNRE). Solar tariffs in India have become very competitive, achieving grid parity. Alongside large-scale grid-connected solar PV projects, off-grid solar initiatives are also being developed to cater to local energy demands.

Solar energy has become a vital part of grid-connected power generation. Various government initiatives, including the National Solar Mission, Solar Park Scheme, Viability Gap Funding (VGF) Schemes, Central Public Sector Undertaking (CPSU) Scheme, Canal and Canal Top Scheme, and the Grid-Connected Solar Rooftop Scheme, have propelled its expansion, making it the fastest-growing renewable energy source.

As reported by the Central Electricity Authority (CEA), there are currently solar projects with a total capacity of 93.7 GW under construction as of October 2025.

Wind:

India has an installed wind power capacity of 53.6 GW as of October 2025 making it the fourth-largest country in the world for wind energy installations. However, the growth in capacity has slowed down in recent years due to several factors, including the limited availability of suitable wind sites, a transition in policy from the feed-in-tariff system to competitive bidding, and the removal of generation-based incentives (GBI) and accelerated depreciation (AD) benefits. According to the CEA, as of October 2025, there are wind projects totalling 26.3 GW currently under construction, along with an additional 28.1 GW of hybrid projects.

Hydro:

India ranks fifth in the world for installed hydroelectric power capacity, boasting a total utility-scale capacity of 50.3 GW as of October 2025. This represents 10.4% of the nation's overall utility power generation capacity. Currently, there are hydroelectric projects in progress with a combined capacity of 14.04 GW, expected to be completed between FY24 and FY27.

Small Hydro

The Ministry of New and Renewable Energy (MNRE) is responsible for the development of Small Hydro Power (SHP) projects, which are defined as hydroelectric plants with a capacity of up to 25 MW. As of October 2025, the total installed SHP capacity is 5.2 GW, as per CEA, with additional projects totalling 4.05 GW currently under construction.

Bioenergy:

Bioenergy and waste-to-energy power generation present significant opportunities, especially in rural areas that lack grid connectivity. As of October 2025, India's total bioenergy-based power generation capacity stands at 11.6 GW. Ongoing projects include gasification-based bioenergy plants with a total capacity of 59.25 MW, along with 227.25 MW dedicated to waste-to-energy and co-generation initiatives.

India has reached a significant milestone in its renewable energy journey, with the country's total renewable energy capacity crossing the 200 GW (gigawatt). This remarkable growth aligns with the country's ambitious renewable energy target of achieving 500 GW from non-fossil sources by 2030. This achievement underscores India's growing commitment to clean energy and its progress in building a greener future. India's total renewable energy installed capacity is expected to be around 596 GW by end of FY32. MNRE increased its budget allocation for FY26 and is at Rs. 265 bn which represents a 50% y-o-y increase, while for FY25 the revised estimate is at Rs. 179 bn

3.8 Electricity Demand, Supply and Generation

Power demand in the country has been on a rise in the past decade, with an exception during FY21 due to the Covid-19 pandemic. Peak energy demand grew at a CAGR of 5.4% from 148 GW in FY15 to 250 GW in FY25, while peak supply grew at a CAGR of 5.3% over the same period. There was a 4.2% y-o-y increase in the power requirement by the country in FY25. However, in FY25, due to high power demands, the peak demand not met was 2 GW and energy not supplied increased to 1,590 MU.

Covid-19 induced lockdown, and restrictions had led to lower demand and generation of electricity since the pandemic had curtailed commercial and business activity. As a result, the first half of FY21 witnessed a decline in power demand. However, with the gradual reopening of the economy despite localized lockdowns, the power demand has continued to gradually rise over the past 3 years. The electricity requirement has grown from 1,274 BU in FY19 to 1,694 BU in FY25. There has been a continuous deficit between electricity requirement and availability in the range of 0.1%- 0.5% between FY19 and FY25.

Chart: Power Demand and Supply Position in India

However, the peak demand not met was around 1.5 GW in FY19 and the average energy not supplied was around 7,070 MU. The peak demands not met, and energy not supplied has been on an increasing trend since and substantially decreased to 2.475 GW and 5,787 MU, respectively, in FY22. However, in FY24, due to high power demands, the peak demand not met was 3.34 GW and energy not supplied increased to 4,112 MU. Whereas the peak demand not met in FY25 was relatively insignificant at 2 MW, while the energy not supplied increased to 1,590 MU. There was a 6.9 % y-o-y increase in the power requirement by the country in FY24. The power consumption and demand were highest in months of March and April due to higher temperatures during the summer season compared to last year.

Electricity generation in India increased from 1,383 BU in FY20 to 1,824 BU in FY25, implying a CAGR of 5.7%. Electricity generation increased by about 5.2% y-o-y to 1824 BU during FY25. Thermal power forms the largest source of power in the country with about 75% of the electricity consumed being generated from thermal power plants. There are different types of thermal power plants, out of which coal based thermal power plants account for highest amount of electricity followed by gas and diesel. Renewable Energy Sources (RES) including solar, wind and hydro are quickly increasing their share, and their contribution has increased from 21.3% in FY20 to 22.1% in FY25. In H1FY26, the total power generation stood at 955 BU. The generation mix, saw a shift, thermal power generation declined from 690 BU to 655 BU, while renewable output rose from 259 BU to 273 BU, and nuclear generation remaining steady at 27 BU.

3.10 PLF of Thermal power plant

The average PLF for thermal power plants declined consistently from FY19 to FY21, driven by subdued demand growth and the gradual increase in renewable generation. From FY22 onward, PLFs rebounded sharply and remained elevated through FY25, supported by strong electricity demand, improved domestic coal availability, and limited additions to thermal capacity. However, from FY26 onward, PLFs have begun to moderate, largely due to lower utilisation of state-owned thermal power plants and the early onset of above-average rainfall, which reduced demand from cooling loads and agricultural operations. Over the next decade, the role of coal-based generation is expected to shift as renewable and storage capacities expand, gradually altering the dispatch pattern and system support requirements for thermal units.

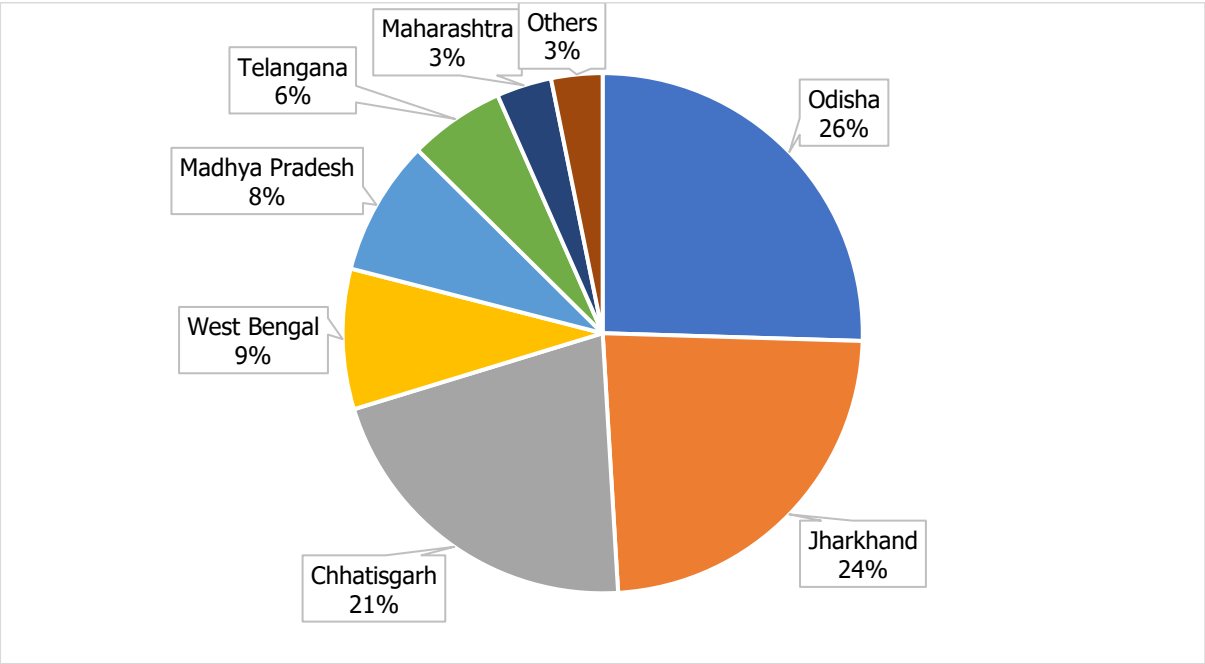
4. Overview of Coal Sector in India

4.1 Overview of Coal industry



Coal is the main fossil fuel of the country and back bone of energy production. Coal-fired power plants meet more than 70% of India's total electricity demand catering to domestic and well as industrial requirement including steel, cement, fertilizer industries and brick kilns.

India's coal sector remains primarily government owned and controlled. Coal production in India has been controlled by the central government since the nationalization of India's coal mines in the early 1970s. However, private sector participation has been on a rise with the auctioning of captive as well as commercial coal mines.

Most coal reserves are found in the eastern and south-central regions of the country. Jharkhand, Odisha, Chhattisgarh, West Bengal, Madhya Pradesh, Telangana, and Maharashtra collectively hold approximately 98% of the nation's total coal reserves. India's coal reserves stood at 389.42 billion tonnes as of 2024. Odisha and Jharkhand have the largest coal reserves of 99.2 billion tonnes and 91.81 billion tonnes followed by Chhattisgarh with 82.7 billion tonnes of reserves.

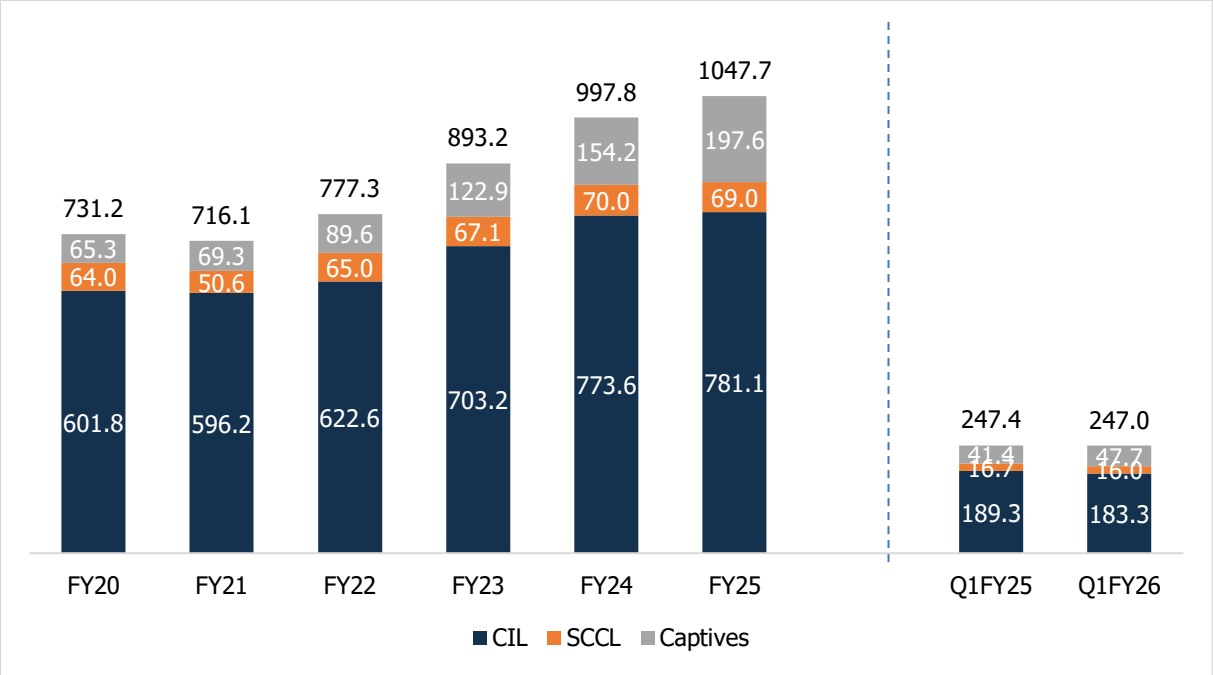
Source: Ministry of Coal

Coal production in India is dominated by Coal India Limited (CIL) and Singareni Collieries Company Limited (SCCL) which accounted for 75% & 7%, respectively of the total coal production in FY25. The remaining 19% was produced by captive players which are owned by both public and private sector players. Earlier the captive miners were not allowed to sell the coal produced in the open market but in October 2021, the government relaxed the norms and allowed to sell up to 50% of the coal produced in the open market.

In the past, the domestic coal production has faced challenges due to delays in getting environment and forest approvals, hurdles in land acquisitions, despite abundant coal reserves. Hence, this resulted in high dependence on imports to meet the domestic demands. However, recently the government has been focusing on reducing dependence on the imports and improving the indigenous coal production.



As a result of this, the domestic coal production has been growing at a CAGR of 7.9% from FY20 to FY25. However, there has been an increasing demand from power and other sectors leading to the increase in imports of coking and non-coking coal as the domestic production is not able to keep with the increasing demand

4.2 Domestic Coal Production

Coal production has grown at a CAGR of 7.% during FY20-FY25. However, in FY21, the sector saw a decline over FY19 due to the pandemic-induced lockdowns and lower-than-expected electricity and fuel demand.

Further, the high growth of 8.5% in FY22 (on the lower base) is attributed to the post-pandemic economic activities which raised the demand for electricity and fuel. Moreover, in FY25, the production increased by 5.1% y-o-y reaching 1047.7 MT, majorly driven by the continual increase in production by Coal India Limited (CIL). Meanwhile, coal imports declined by 8.4%, dropping from 247.4 MT in Q1FY25 to 247.0 MT in the same period of FY26.

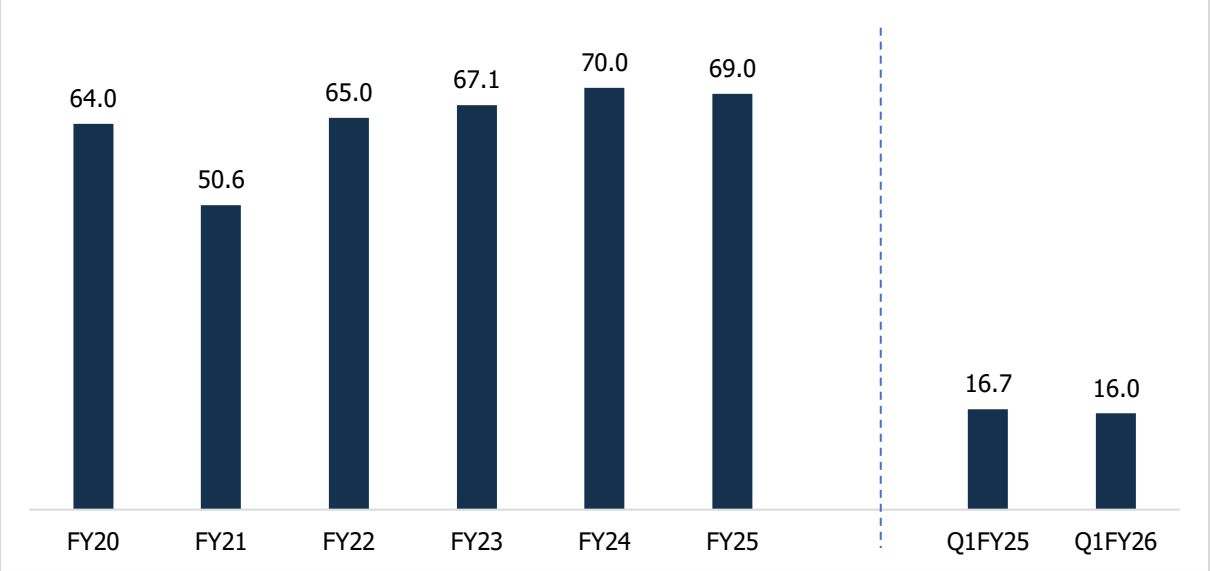
Key Domestic Producers

India's domestic coal production is dominated by Coal India Limited (CIL), a state-owned coal mining corporation established in November 1975. CIL functions through 11 fully owned subsidiary companies in 83 mining areas spread over eight states in India. As of October 2025, CIL has 310 mines, of which 129 are underground, 168 opencast, and 13 mixed mines.

Chart: CIL – Production Trend (In MT)

Source: Ministry of Coal, CareEdge Research

CIL's production has achieved a CAGR of 5.4% during FY20-25. In FY24, production nearly grew by 10% y-o-y. Further, in FY20, CIL contributed to around 82% of the total domestic production. However, with the gradual commissioning of captive mines amidst easing regulations, its share has declined to 75% in FY25.



The Singareni Collieries Company Limited (SCCL)

The Singareni Collieries Company Limited (SCCL) is a government-owned coal mining company jointly owned by the Government of Telangana and Government of India on 51:49 basis. SCCL's primary business is coal mining. In addition, the company has ventured into setting up coal-based power plants, which commenced commercial operations from September 2016.

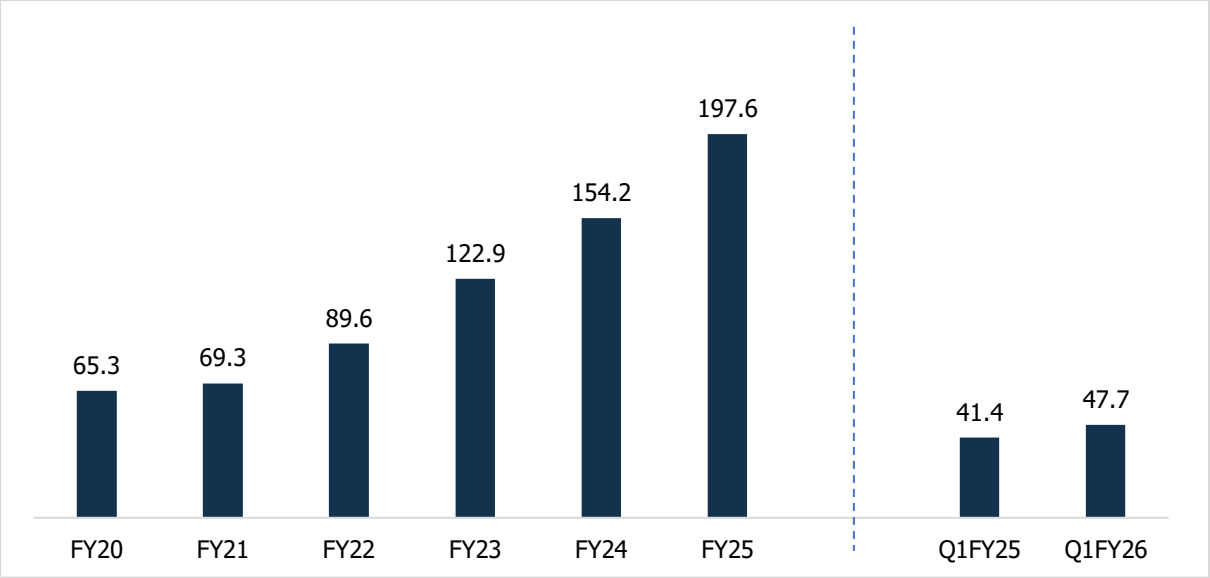
Further, SCCL operates 29 underground mines, and 19 opencast mines situated in 4 districts of northern Telangana, i.e., Khammam, Karimnagar, Warangal, and Adilabad. Its operations are directed toward meeting the linkage requirements of Power (66%), Cement (13.5%), Captive Power (6.6%), Sponge Iron (3.1%), and other customers (10.8%).

Chart: SCCL – Coal Production Trend (In MT)

Source: Ministry of Coal, CareEdge Research

SCCL is India's second-largest coal producer, accounting for 7% of the total domestic coal production in FY25. Its production has grown at a CAGR of 1% over FY20-25.



Captives

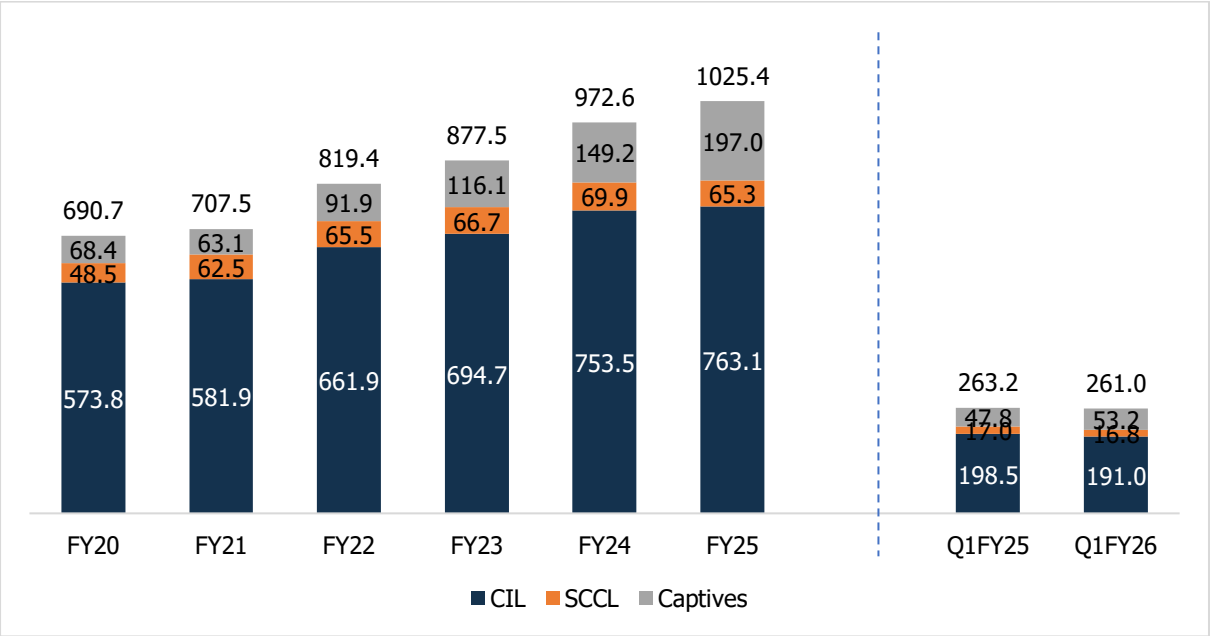
The government permits privately owned end-users (such as electricity generators and companies in industrial sectors like cement) to produce their own coal, by auctioning coal blocks.

Captives producers receive significant support through policy initiatives, notably the amendment to the Mines and Minerals (Development and Regulation) Act, 1957, which allows them to sell up to 50% of their annual coal output in the open market after fulfilling the requirements of their end-use plants. Another key enabler is production under the Mine Developer and Operator (MDO) model.

Captive producers have further benefited from the adoption of mass production technologies, expansion of existing projects, privatisation of coal blocks, the allowance of 100% Foreign Direct Investment (FDI), and operational efficiencies introduced via the Single-Window Clearance system. Collectively, these measures are expected to sustain and enhance domestic coal production over the medium to long term.

Chart: Captive coal Production Trend (In MT)

Source: Ministry of Coal, CareEdge Research



Production from Captives has grown at a CAGR of 25% during FY20-FY25. Also, in FY25, Captives' production grew at a staggering rate of over 29% y-o-y. Further, steady growth in captive coal production is accredited to the pace of commercial mine auctions and the commissioning of auctioned mines. For instance, four new captive mines were commissioned during FY23.

4.3 Review of Coal Dispatch

The end-users of coal use coal for purposes such as electricity generation and steel or cement production. Over the past decade, there has been a significant uptick in dispatch towards the power sector. This is due to increased dependency on coal-based power generation to meet the growing energy demands.

Further, coal is also one of the essential raw materials required for steel and cement production. Hence, timely and effective dispatch of coal to its end-users is essential for ensuring continual business operations.

Chart: Coal Dispatch (In MT)

Source: Ministry of Coal, CMIE, CareEdge Research

Total coal dispatches have grown at a CAGR of 8.2% during FY20-FY25 and crossed 1 billion MT in FY25. The y-o-y growth rate stood at 5.4% in FY25 as compared to 10.8% in FY24. This decline can be attributed to India's self-sufficiency push and reduction in imports.

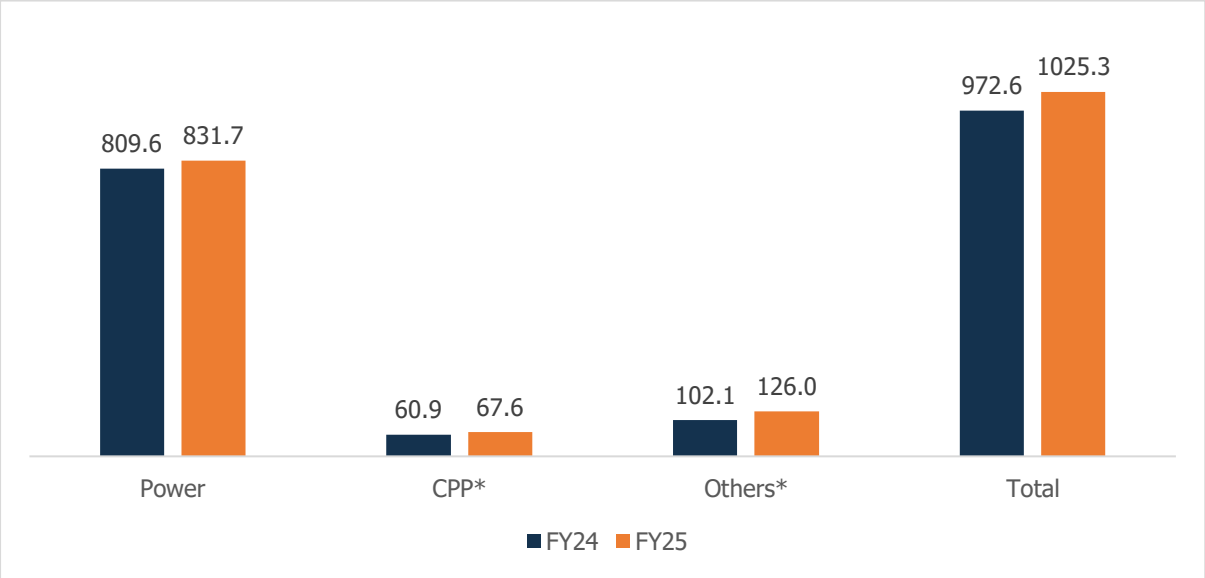
In FY20, the total coal dispatches de-grew by 3.5% y-o-y, due to supply crunch and COVID-19 impact in the last quarter of the fiscal. It further declined by 2.2% in FY21 due to the continual impacts of COVID-19-linked lockdowns and reduced power demands.



However, coal dispatches have recovered over FY20-25. In FY23, the total coal dispatches increased by around 7.1% y-o-y, supported by higher production and a steady increase in the availability of railway rakes during the period.

Further, the power sector accounted for 81% of the total coal dispatches during FY25, from 80% in FY20. This is attributed to increased electricity demands due to seasonal changes and warmer temperatures. Besides, the government has prioritized the power sector for domestic coal dispatches.

Power sector consumed 81% of the total coal supplies during FY25

Total coal despatches during FY25 increased by around 5.4% y-o-y. This growth in despatches was supported by steady increase in availability of railway rakes during the period. During FY25, the aggregate coal despatches to the power sector stood at 831.7 MT i.e. around 81% of the total coal despatches as against 83% during the same period in the previous year. The despatches grew by 11.0% and 23.5% for captive power plants and other sectors respectively.

4.4 Coal Import Scenario

Coal imports have increased at a CAGR of 5% during FY20-FY25. During the pandemic-impacted FY21 and the subsequent year of recovery FY22, India saw a decline in coal imports amid halted operating power plants and overall economic movements. However, in FY23, coal imports surpassed pre-COVID-19 levels of FY20, despite domestic coal production registering an all-time high of 892 MT in FY23.

Chart: Coal Imports in India (In MT)

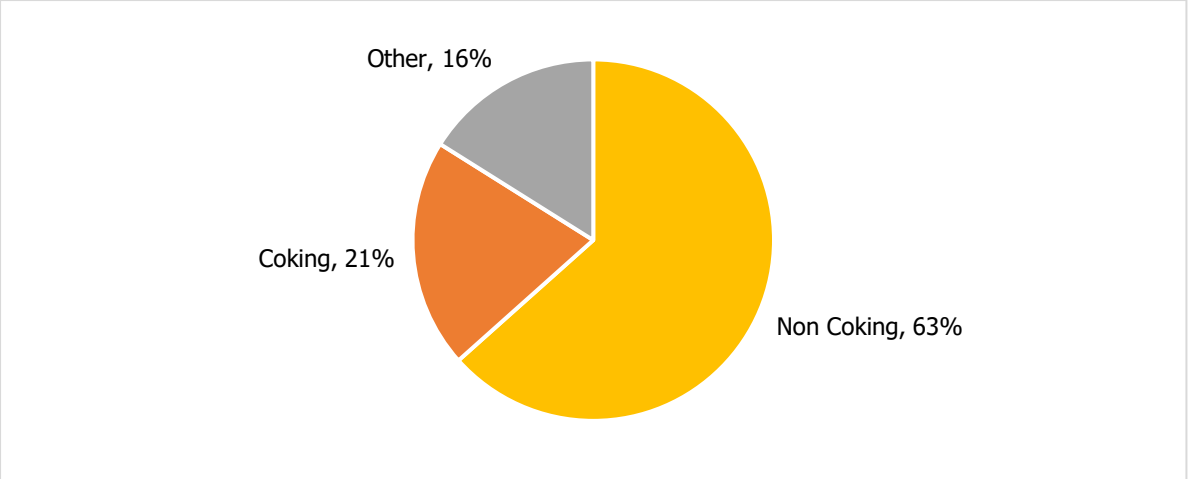
Adani Enterprises Ltd, India Coke and Power Pvt. Ltd and Swiss Singapore Overseas Enterprises Pvt. Ltd. are some of the major coal trading companies in India who imports steam coal, coking coal, petroleum coke and thermal coal from Indonesia, South Africa, USA, Australia and Russia and deliver it to the energy deficit countries. Companies Plealike Steel Authority of India, JSW Steel Ltd, Tata Steel Limited etc. import steel for their internal uses.

Apart from these, local coal trading companies in Gujarat include Shree Chamunda Coal Pvt Ltd., Zenyam Energy Resources Ltd., MCD Coal Pvt. LTD., Naini Coal Company Ltd., etc.

Coking vs Non-Coking Coal



Coking coal, also known as metallurgical coal, is the primary raw material in the steel industry. It is used in coke production and as a fuel and reducing agent in blast furnaces. Coke plays a vital role in the blast furnace, converting iron ore into molten iron, an essential step in steel production.

Further, coking coal has a high carbon content, ranging between 70% to 90%, making it suitable for high-temperature applications. It also has relatively low levels of ash and sulphur. High-quality coking coal produces coke with desirable properties, such as strength and porosity, crucial for efficient iron and steel production. Hence, coking coal is often imported from other countries to meet the quality requirements. India's coking coal imports accounted for nearly 21% of total coal imports in FY25.

Whereas non-coking coal, also known as thermal coal, is mainly used for power generation and different industrial processes/applications requiring heat energy. These include cement production, paper mills, and chemical manufacturing.

The non-coking coal has lesser carbon content, ranging between 45% to 70%, suitable for combustion. It has high levels of ash and sulphur. India needs large quantities of non-coking coal for power generation and to supplement the significant efforts of ramping up domestic coal production. Non-coking coal continues to form a major chunk of coal imports at nearly 63% during FY25.

4.5 Coal Supply Scenario

Coal supply in India has risen from 930.4 MT in FY21 to 1,311.3 MT in FY25, supported by higher electricity demand, stronger mining activity, better transportation infrastructure and increased output from captive mines. Going forward, domestic production will remain the primary source of supply, but coal imports will continue to play a supporting role mainly for blending requirements, coastal power plants and meeting short-term dispatch needs. With domestic output already crossing 1,000 MT and overall coal demand expected to reach 1,400–1,500 MT by 2030, the focus of supply expansion must shift toward increasing mine capacity, easing logistics bottlenecks and ensuring compliance with environmental norms. At the same time, the growing share of renewable energy and storage systems will gradually change the way coal is used, reducing long-term dependence on imports and altering the dispatch pattern of thermal power plants.

4.6 Overview of Coal Based Power Plant

Coal-based power plants continue to play a central role in meeting India's growing electricity demand. As of October 2025, India operates 209 coal-based plants with a total installed capacity of 217.5 GW, and the government plans to add at least 80 GW of additional capacity by FY32. Around 57.95 GW of new coal capacity is already in the pipeline. Major plants such as Vindhyachal, Mundra, Sasan and Tiroda use established steam-turbine technologies, including sub-critical, super-critical and ultra-super-critical systems. These units benefit from assured fuel availability, mature supply chains and strong dispatch reliability. However, they continue to face challenges including high ash content in domestic coal, significant water consumption, emission-control requirements and growing pressure to comply with stricter environmental norms.

Given the intermittent nature of renewable energy, coal-based plants remain essential for providing uninterrupted and firm power supply. The commissioning of newer, more efficient units and the rapid expansion of renewable and storage capacity are gradually changing system operations, requiring coal plants to run more flexibly to complement variable renewable energy and ensure grid stability. As domestic coal production crossed 1,000 MT in FY25, the importance of coal in supporting India's power system remains evident. Over the coming years, coal-based power plants are expected to evolve towards cleaner and more efficient technologies while maintaining a reliable and affordable power supply.

4.7 Domestic Coal Requirements

India's coal consumption has steadily increased in recent years, primarily driven by the country's expanding energy requirements linked to industrialisation, urbanisation, and infrastructure development.

Total domestic coal consumption grew at a CAGR of 4.5% to 1267.58 MT in FY24 from 1,017.25 MT in FY19. This upward trend is expected to continue in the coming years, supported by economic growth, accelerated infrastructure development across the country, and rural electrification initiatives under various government schemes.

Power sector among others is heavily driven by coal as their main fuel, which accounts for more than a third of the total energy consumed in the country, followed by captive power generation in many sectors.

Chart: Sector wise coal consumption in FY24

Source: NITI Aayog

Power: The current power installed capacity i.e. of FY25 is 475 GW out of which 221.8 GW of the capacity is of coal and lignite which makes up to 47% of the total capacity. The energy requirement is expected to grow to 1,907.8 BU in FY27 and 2,473.7 BU in FY32 from the current 1,824 BU in FY25. It is envisaged that to meet the base load requirement of the country in 2032, the required coal & lignite based installed capacity is 283 GW against the present installed capacity of 217.5 GW. Considering this, Government of India proposes to set up an additional minimum 80 GW coal-based capacity by 2031-32. Currently, 26380 MW of thermal capacity is under construction, 11960 MW has been bid out and 19050 MW is under clearance.

Steel & Washery: Steel and washery consists of about 3% of the total coal consumption in India. Steel production processes uses coking coal. According to National Steel Policy 2017, to achieve steelmaking capacity of 300 MTPA (including 181 MTPA through blast furnace route) by FY30, huge volumes of coking coal (~170 MT of domestic raw coking coal) would be required. Since domestic coking coal is of high ash variety and the demand of coking coal in India is much higher than domestic production, about 50 MT coking coal is imported by the country on an annual basis. To improve the availability of coking coal, the government has launched Mission Coking Coal. Under this coking coal is washed to reduce the ash percentage and Indian Prime Coking Coal and Medium Coking Coal (<18% ash) is blended with imported coking coal (~9% ash) before utilization in the Coke Ovens to make Coke for feeding into the Blast Furnace.

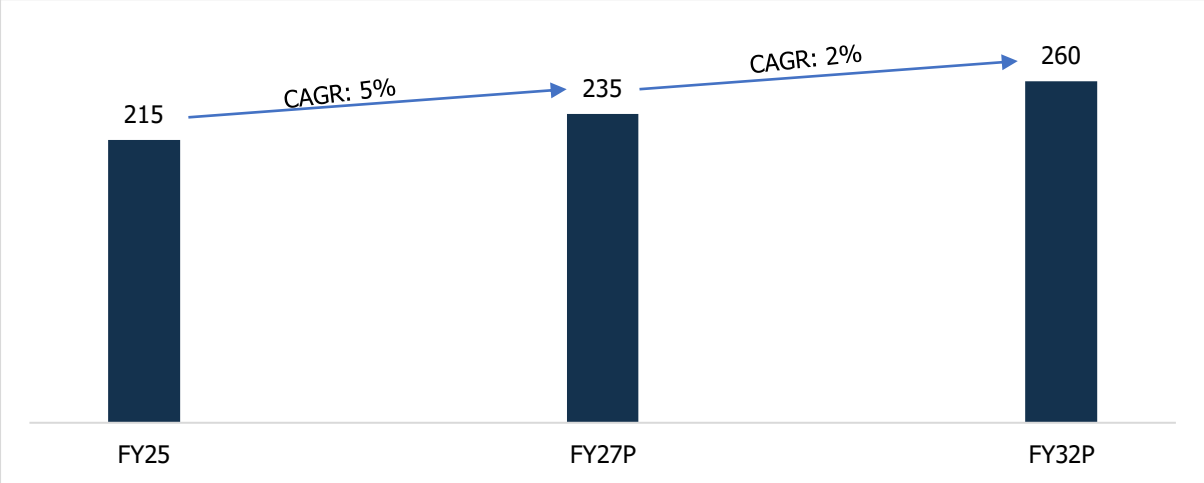
Cement: The cement sector accounted for only 0.7% of the coal consumption in FY25. The cement sector is expected to grow at 8-9% in the coming years driven by the increased focus on infrastructure sector in the country and revival of housing demand. This in turn is expected to pass on the demand to coal sector.



Others: Other sectors include paper, fertilizers, sponge iron etc. also consume coal. These sectors constitute to 23% of the total coal consumption. These sectors are expected to grow by 7-9% in the coming years.

4.8 Coal Based Generation

India's power sector is highly dependent on coal-fired power plants as their primary source of electricity generation, accounting for 68.6% of the country's total power generation as on September 2025. Furthermore, the industrial sector relies on coal as a primary energy source for industrial processes specifically in metal and cement production. While the government's thrust on raising the contribution of power generated from renewable sources is increasing, coal-based power is expected to remain a major source in the near to medium term.

The capacity addition for coal-based power generation is expected to grow at a CAGR of 5% from 215 GW in FY25 to 235 GW in FY27. It is expected to further grow at a CAGR of 2% from FY27 to FY32 to reach 260 GW.

4.9 Trend in International Coal Prices

During the quarter ended September 2025, international coal prices stood at USD 123.8 per tonne for Indonesian coal, USD 110.5 for Australian, and USD 93.1 for South African coal. Although these prices remained comfortably above pre-COVID levels, they were notably lower than the highs recorded in FY23. The decline was driven by strong supply from major producers such as China and Indonesia, reduced import demand from key consuming nations, and a broader global shift toward renewable energy sources. This easing reflects a natural market correction after the sharp price surges witnessed in FY23, which were driven by earlier supply-demand imbalances.

In FY23, average prices for Indonesian, South African, and Australian coal had jumped by 108%, 72%, and 99%, respectively, compared to the previous year. This steep rise was fuelled by the global scramble for energy security amid heightened geopolitical tensions and a significant supply shortage. Despite the subsequent softening of prices throughout FY24, sustained demand—particularly from China and India—kept coal prices elevated relative to pre-pandemic norms. Through Q4 2023, coal prices already reflected a steep year-on-year fall. Indonesian, South African, and Australian coal prices fell by 59%, 63%, and 40%, respectively, vis-à-vis the equivalent quarter of FY23. The fall was much prompted by South African and Colombian coal supplies rising, easing the European market supply squeeze following smaller Russian imports. Coal prices had begun weakening from November 2022, following a long rally since CY21. The rally initially started due to global production restrictions and supply interruption, which was further accelerated by the Russia-Ukraine war during February 2022. The war seriously disturbed coal supplies in Europe, leading to an upward price momentum.

4.10 Overview of the captive coal mining and coal logistics segments

Captive Coal Mining

Coal is produced in India majorly from CIL, SCCL and captive mines which are allocated to both state and private enterprises for the mining and consumption for their own use. Under the Coal Mines (Nationalization) Act, 1973, coal mining was mostly reserved for the public sector. By an amendment to the Act in 1976, two exceptions to the policy were introduced (i) captive mining by private companies engaged in production of iron and steel and (ii) sublease for coal mining to private parties in isolated small pockets not amenable to economic development and not requiring rail transport. Captive coal mining allows companies in sectors like power, steel, and cement to secure their own coal supply to ensure consistent and reliable access to this critical raw material.

For examples: Tata Steels owns West Bokaro Colliery and Jharia Mines in Jharkhand, Steel Authority of India Limited owns Chasnalla Colliery and Jitpur Colliery in Jharkhand, Hindalco Industries have Kathautia Mine and Lohardaga Mines in Jharkhand, JSW Steel have Moitra Coal Mine (Jharkhand) and Gare Palma IV/1 Mine (Chhattisgarh) and Adani Enterprises have Parsa East and Kanta Basan Mine in Chhattisgarh and Talabira II & III Coal Mines in Odisha etc.

The coal mines often contract the operations to a third party i.e. Mine Developers and Operators (MDO). They are responsible for the mining, productions, washing, transporting and dispatching of coal from these coal blocks.

Coal mining in India has undergone significant transformation with the active involvement of Mine Developers and Operators (MDOs), who play a crucial role in enhancing operational efficiency and productivity. MDOs undertake a wide spectrum of responsibilities, including project development, coal extraction, processing, and transportation. By introducing advanced technologies and domain expertise, they streamline operations while ensuring adherence to environmental and regulatory standards.

Prominent MDOs in India, such as Adani Enterprises, Essel Mining, and Thriveni Earthmovers, manage major coal projects like the Parsa Kente Collieries and Pakri Barwadih Coal Mining Project. Their involvement not only boosts coal production to meet the country's energy demands but also fosters economic growth and technological advancement in the mining sector.

India's coal logistics segment constitutes a critical part of the national energy supply chain, encompassing the transportation, handling, and storage of coal from mines to end users. This system operates through multiple modes of transport, including railways, roadways, and coastal shipping. Indian Railways remains the backbone of coal transportation, accounting for approximately 60–65% of total coal movement, due to its extensive network and cost efficiency.

Road transport is used for short-distance and last-mile delivery, providing flexibility in accessing remote locations. Coastal shipping is increasingly being utilized to transport coal to coastal power plants, reducing pressure on the railway network and offering a cost-effective alternative. Additionally, coal handling facilities at major ports and warehouses equipped with advanced technologies ensure efficient unloading, storage, and dispatching of coal. These logistics segments work in tandem to ensure a steady and reliable supply of coal to power plants, steel manufacturers, and other industries across India, supporting the nation's energy security and industrial growth.

4.11 Regulatory Framework

The Government has been taking various initiatives to increase coal availability in India. These initiatives include auctioning of coal blocks for commercial mining, FDI under the automatic route, expansion of existing mines, opening of new mines under CIL and development of evacuation infrastructure.

The Coal Mines (Special Provisions) Act, 2015- This act was implemented to provide for allocation of coal mines and vesting of the right, title and interest in and over the land and mine infrastructure together with mining leases to successful bidders. This step was taken with a view of ensuring continuity in coal mining operations and production of coal, and for promoting optimum utilization of coal resources consistent with the requirement of the country in the national interest.

Currently, under the seventh round of coal block auction under the Act, which commenced in March 2023, about 103 fully explored, partially explored, coking, non-coking, lignite etc. coal mines are being offered. In this round, 35 bids have been received for 18 coal mines.

Mineral Act Amendment 2020- This act was implemented to regulate the development and mining of minerals in a sustainable and environmentally responsible manner. Several amendments have been made to address the changing needs of the mineral sector and to improve the efficiency and effectiveness of the act.

Amendments made under this Act are:

- Ease of end-use restriction: Prior to the amendment, companies acquiring Schedule II and Schedule III coal mines through auctions could use the coal produced only for specified purposes like power generation and steel production. After the amendment the companies are allowed to use the coal produced for any purpose, the amendment also removes a barrier to entry for new companies and foreign investors. This is expected to lead to lower costs and better-quality services for consumers, allowing companies to use the coal for any purpose.

- Amendment in eligibility criteria for participation in auctions: As per the latest amendment in order to participate in auctions of coal and lignite blocks, participants need not possess any prior coal mining experience in India. With this change in criteria the Government aims to attract increased investment from new participants and foreign investors.

- Reallocation of earlier terminated coal mines: As per the latest amendment, the earlier terminated coal mines under can be reallocated through auction or allotment at the discretion of the central government. This ensures continued benefit from resources in the mines that were otherwise left idle. The reallocation of these mines is expected to support growth in domestic coal production and increase efficiency of the coal sector.

Overall, the amendments made in the Mineral Laws (Amendment) Act, 2020 are a comprehensive set of reforms that are aimed at making the coal sector more competitive, efficient, investment-worthy, and transparent. These reforms are likely to benefit consumers, the environment and the economy.

'Mission Coking Coal', August 2021-

This was launched by the Government to provide a roadmap to increase the production and utilization of domestic coking coal in India by 2030. This was taken as measures under "Atmanirbhar Bharat" to reduce coking coal imports and to achieve 140 MT of coking coal production FY2030X. The following measures are taken under this initiative-

- Auction of coking coal blocks- 16 coking coal blocks has been allocated out of which 4 blocks were auction in FY23. This effort is projected to contribute 1.54MT to coking coal production.

- Revival of abandoned mines- Bharat Coking Coal Limited (BCCL) has been inviting agencies and companies to undertake coking coal extraction from abandoned or discontinued BCCL owned mines. LoA has already been issued to 4 mines and other 4 are under process.

- Strategic Collaboration with SAIL- Steel Authority of India Limited (SAIL) and BCCL have signed an MoU to supply 1.8 MT of washed coking coal.

- Auction of Raw Coking Coal- BCCL and Central Coalfields Limited (CCL) has organized auction in June 2023 while Tata Steel secured auction of 50,000 tonnes of raw coking coal from CCL.

- Innovative Greenfield Washeries- The ministry is encouraging establishment of Greenfields washeries or refurbishment of existing BCCL washeries to increase coking coal availability.

- Commercial Auction Scheme, 2020- It was launched in 2020, under which commercial mines are auctioned on revenue sharing basis. Under this, a rebate of 50% on final offer would be allowed for quantity of coal produced before the production schedule date. Also, rebate of 50% on final offer was provided on coal gasification or liquefaction.

As on August, 2023, 86 coal mines have been successfully auctioned under the scheme. Details are as below:

Permitting MDO/Open Market Sale-

The Ministry of Coal has engaged MDOs in coal mines, through open global tenders, and to ramp up domestic coal output to reduce dependence import. The contract period of engagement is for 25 years or life of mine whichever is less.

The state-owned coal miner is currently tracking a total of 15 greenfield projects for implementation through MDOs with investment of around Rs 20,600 crores to be spent on land acquisition, rehabilitation and resettlement issues and railway sidings.

The MDOs would excavate and deliver coal to coal companies in line with the approved mining plan. MDOs is expected to lead to beneficial technology infusion, economically viable operations and increased production. Since contracts offered to them are on long-term basis, allied infrastructure at mine projects also would be developed by these private players. The players are expected to take care of land acquisitions, green clearances and coordination with State and Central Pollution Boards.

Coal India Limited (CIL) has issued letters of acceptance for 7 coal projects to be pursued through engagement of Mine Developer cum operator mode. Cumulatively, these projects have production capacity of close to 100 million tonne per year.

Reopening of Discontinued Mines on Revenue Sharing Modal

There are many operational mines with appropriate volumes and sufficient mineable reserve which were closed for safety reasons and primarily due to unprofitable operations which resulted into difficulty in providing for the wages to the employees.

Discontinued mines results in large amounts of reserves not extracted. Therefore, Ministry of Coal is offering these mines in revenue Sharing model. This is an attempt to bring these abandoned mines back into operation. The private sector is expected to bring efficiency through lower overhead expenses and state-of-the art technology. Subsequently, CIL has offered 20 Mines in Tranche-I and 10 mines in Tranche-II to promote utilization of coal resources in the national interest.

Imported Coal Blending Norms (Till Oct'24)

Blending of imported coal by power plants have been undertaken since 2009. After the Covid-19 pandemic, the power demand increased rapidly leading to higher demand in the thermal power plants. As a result, the coal stock depleted in the power plants. In December 2021, the power ministry advised the state Generation Companies (GENCOs) and Independent power producers (IPPs) to import coal at 4% by weight. During April 2022, there was 12% increase in coal consumption in power plants as compared year on year, so the ministry advised to import coal at 10% by weight in April 2022 to maintain sufficient stock till December 2022.

On January 2023, the power ministry directed the thermal power plants to import coal to achieve imported to domestic coal blending at the rate of 6% for the remaining period of FY23 and H1FY24 which is extended to June 2024. The move is targeted to reduce the coal shortfall in the power plants and build sufficient stock of coal. To ensure uninterrupted power supply during the monsoon, the Ministry of Power extended its advisory, required to maintain adequate coal reserves in domestic coal-based plants and modify the coal blending requirement to 4% by weight until Oct'24.

As on March 2023, the total stock at thermal power plants in the country was 33.3 MT i.e. only 49% of the Normative stock requirement. The coal stocking norms of Central Electricity Authority mandate the power plants to maintain coal stock which varies from month to month basis. The stocking norms are 20 to 26 days in non-pithead plants and 12 to 17 days in pithead plants to ensure sufficient coal stock at power plants to meet demand.

Duty on Coal Imports

Presently custom duty applicable to import of coal is 1% Basic Custom Duty and 1.5% of Agriculture Infrastructure and Development Cess (AIDC) totalling to 2.5%. The same was revised for a short duration with effect from 22nd May, 2022 exempting import duty on coal due to increased coal demand led by increased power demand in the country post- COVID. However, exemption of import duty on coal has been again withdrawn with effect from 19.11. 2022.

Free Trade Agreement- India Australia Economic Cooperation and Trade Agreement-

Majority (96%) of India's import from Australia% consists of raw materials & intermediate goods. About 74% of Australia's export to India is coal out of which 71.4% is coking coal. Under the agreement, India has removed the 2.5% of import duty on high- grade Australian coal. India has also been offered zero duty access to 90% value of products from Australia which includes coal. India has also been offered concessions on Tariff lines of export interest to Australia on coking coal and thermal coal.

4.12 Commercial Coal Mining in India

After decades of public-sector dominance and controls that relegated the private sector to a minority status in coal mining, India initiated commercial coal mining through coal mine auctions in 2020. In June 2020, the auction process for 41 coal mines was launched, which was later reduced to 38 coal mines for commercial mining. This initiative aimed to achieve self-sufficiency in meeting energy needs and boost industrial development.

India concluded its first commercial coal mine auctions in 2020, auctioning a total of 20 coal mines in this first tranche. The states aim to garner a total revenue of Rs 7,358 crores annually from the success of the nation's first-ever commercial mining auction. By March 2023, a total of 87 mines had been successfully auctioned in six tranches. These mines are expected to create about 3 lakh jobs and provide revenue of more than Rs 33,000 crores to the states.

The government responded with a series of calibrated steps. To begin with, a transparent mechanism was established through legislation, the Coal Mines (Special Provisions) Act, 2015, to return the blocks to industry via auctions.

With the progressive allocation of coal blocks, the number of coal blocks available for allocation is declining, while the number of applicants per block in increasing, as the demand for coal keeps increasing. This has made selection of an applicant in respect of a block difficult and vulnerable to criticism on the ground of lack of transparency and objectivity. While efforts are on hand to continuously add blocks to the captive list, it is also expected that the demand for blocks would remain far ahead of supply.

Further, Adani Enterprises also operates the Carmichael mine and rail project near the Queensland coast in Australia. The Carmichael project is a thermal coal mine and rail system that transports coal from the Galilee Basin to countries in Asia, including India. The Carmichael mine has a capacity of 10 MTPA and became operational in the fourth quarter of fiscal 2022.

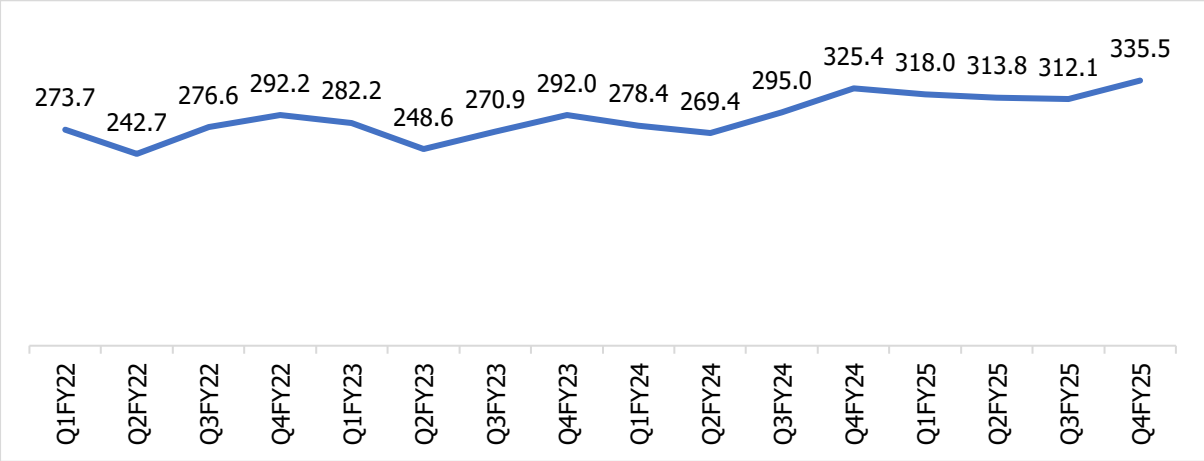
4.13 Risk and Challenges

Dependency on Coal Imports

Despite being one of the largest coal producers of coal in the world with substantial coal reserves, India is highly dependent on imports of high-quality coking coal to meet the demand of the steel industry, which requires specific grades of coal for the metallurgical process.

In FY24, coal imports accounted for approximately 21% of total coal consumption in FY24. This reliance on imports not only elevates production costs but also exerts pressure on the country's foreign exchange reserves, rendering the sector vulnerable to global market fluctuations.

Need for Infrastructure Development



Moreover, the Ministry has already undertaken 102 FMC projects of 1,092 MT at an outlay of Rs 31,367.7 crore out of which 44 projects of 429.5 MT have been commissioned. Out of remaining 58 projects, 11 FMC projects with a capacity of 88 MT will be implemented by FY26 and remaining 47 projects are targeted to be commissioned by FY30.

The Ministry is also developing the Coal Logistics Policy and National Coal Evacuation Plan to address the challenges and reduce the cost of coal logistics in India. While the government is taking initiatives to augment the transportation infrastructure from coal mines, it has to keep pace with the increased domestic production and demand.

Unavailability of Sufficient Rakes

The availability of rakes has been a challenge for the coal mining industry which has led to delay in supply of coal to essential industries such as power. The railways have some constraints in coal evacuation from certain locations of the coal mines. This is majorly due to the distribution pattern of coal companies and far off locations of power plants from the pitheads. When rakes are dispatched to longer distances from the pithead they take longer to come back empty, hence the shortage. The average number of rakes available per day decreased by 3% y-o-y during Q1FY25 due to constraints in railway logistics but increased in Q4FY25 hence indicating uncertainty.

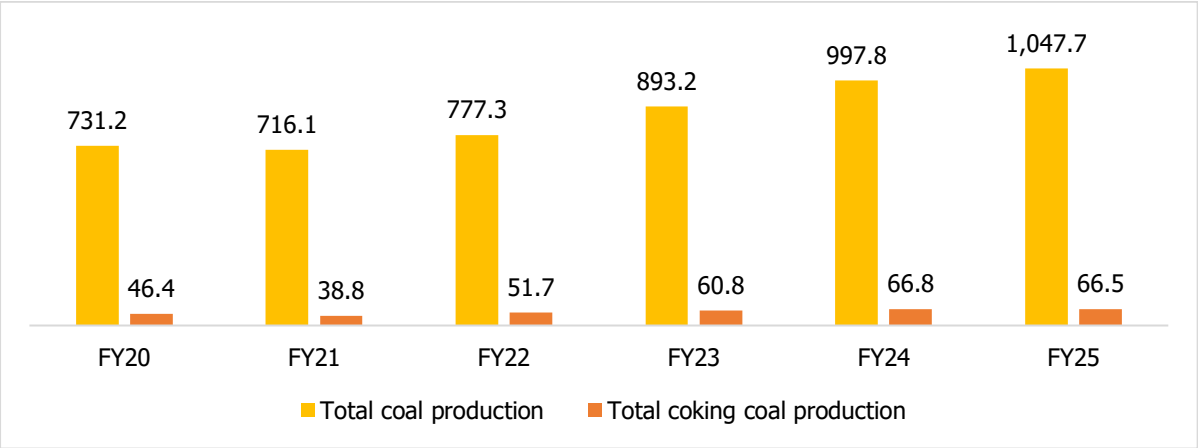
Coal Quality

A large part of India's coal reserve is of Southern Hemisphere Gondwana coal, i.e., it has low calorific value and high ash content. Out of the total proven coal reserves, about 79% of coal is of this type, about 20% is of coking coal quality, and about 6% is of prime coking quality. This means that the average Indian power plant consumes more coal to generate a kWh as compared to when high quality is used.



The Government of India is taking various steps like the periodic re-gradation of coal mines, improved technology, first-mile connectivity for direct conveying of coal on the Belt from Coal surface/face to Rapid loading Silo, installation of Auto Analysers, coal beneficiation, etc. These have led to substantial improvement of coal and the grade conformity has jumped from 51% in FY18 to 69% in FY23.

Lack of Domestic Coking Coal

Coking coal is used to produce coke and then used alongside iron ore and limestone to produce steel and cement, respectively. However, the domestic availability of coking coal is limited when compared with its consumption in India. Accordingly, India is largely dependent on imports for meeting coking coal demand.

4.14 Balancing Coal Demand and Sustainability

Coal remains the dominant fuel in India's energy mix, with the power sector accounting for 82% of total coal consumption, followed by 6% in captive power generation. As energy demand continues to rise, coal usage is expected to increase, especially for electricity generation in regions where renewable alternatives are still underdeveloped

At the same time, environmental concerns and climate commitments are reshaping long-term policy. The government has taken several steps to improve sustainability, including promoting bio-reclamation of mined areas, mandating the use of washed coal to reduce emissions, rationalising logistics through flexible linkage policies, and piloting carbon capture technologies. Under Mission Coking Coal, efforts are underway to reduce import dependence and enhance extraction efficiency. The steady growth in domestic coal supply reflects the need to balance energy security with environmental responsibility.

4.15 Coal Outlook

Domestic coal production has grown steadily over the past two years. In FY25, it surpassed 1 billion MT mark, following 997.83 million metric tons in FY24, a 4.9% increase. Captive and other entities also saw robust growth of about 29%. The domestic coal production is estimated to grow with significant upside potential in the medium term led by ramp up in CIL's production and gradual commissioning of mines auctioned by the Government. The Ministry of Coal, with the help of CIL's expected ramp up in production, targets to produce 1 billion tonnes by FY26 and 1.5 billion tonnes by FY30. The 1 billion tonne already being achieved in FY25.

The Ministry of Coal (MOC) has also approached MoEF&CC to allow coal mines with current environmental clearance to increase production up to 40% without any further assessments and single portal approvals. In line with this, CIL plans to ramp up their production through mine developer cum contractor (MDO) model, increasing use of mass production technologies, new projects and expansion of existing projects, and auction of coal blocks to private companies/PSUs.

India's coal production exclusively from captive/ commercial mines has crossed 100 million Ton (MT) for the first time in FY23. 100% FDI has also been allowed for commercial mining.

The 6th tranche of coal block auctions witnessed healthy participation, including several first-time bidders, reflecting continued private sector interest in the coal mining industry. Government reforms, such as the introduction of commercial coal mining, have been well received by the industry. In March 2023, the 7th round of coal block auctions commenced, offering approximately 106 mines, including fully explored, partially explored, coking, non-coking, and lignite blocks.

Although coal imports have increased compared to the previous year, government initiatives aimed at boosting domestic production are expected to reduce import dependence over the medium to long term. To support this objective, the government has constituted an Inter-Ministerial Committee (IMC) on coal import substitution. The IMC comprises representatives from the Ministry of Coal, Ministry of Power, Ministry of Railways, Ministry of Shipping, Ministry of Commerce, Ministry of Steel, Ministry of Mines, Ministry of Micro, Small & Medium Enterprises (MSME), Department for Promotion of Industry and Internal Trade (DPIIT), Central Electricity Authority (CEA), Coal India Limited (CIL), Singareni Collieries Company Limited (SCCL), Paradip Port Trust, Visakhapatnam Port Trust, and Kolkata Port Trust.

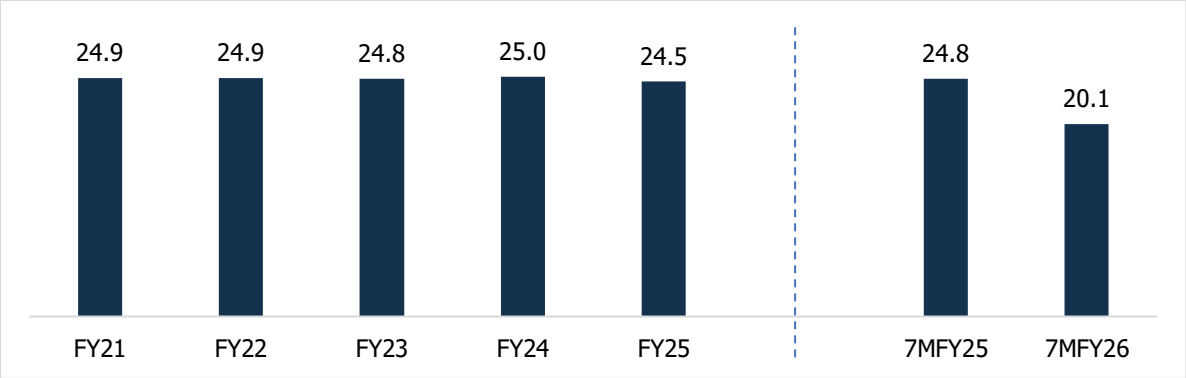
Average annual coal prices dropped in FY25 compared to FY23 and FY24, however, it continued to be higher that previous 5 years' averages as the global demand continues to remain high owing to increased demands specially in China and India.

5. Overview of Natural Gas Sector in India

5.1 Gas Supply position to gas-based power plants

Gas availability to India's power sector has remained structurally weak over the past five years, with total supply falling from 30.1 MMSCMD in FY21 to 15.9 MMSCMD in FY23 and recovering only modestly to 19.8 MMSCMD in FY25. Domestic gas supply has continued to decline, reducing from 18.4 MMSCMD in FY21 to 11.4 MMSCMD in FY25, driven by decreased domestic gas production. RLNG imports have increasingly acted as the balancing source, but high global LNG prices have prevented them from fully meeting the shortfall. With gas supply far below what is needed to operate plants at efficient capacity factors, PLFs for gas-based stations have fallen to some of the lowest levels across the sector. As a result, the gas deficit in the power segment has widened, many plants have experienced nil or minimal generation, and a large share of installed capacity continues to remain stranded or operated only during peak-demand events.

Chart: Gas Supply Position (In MMSCMD)

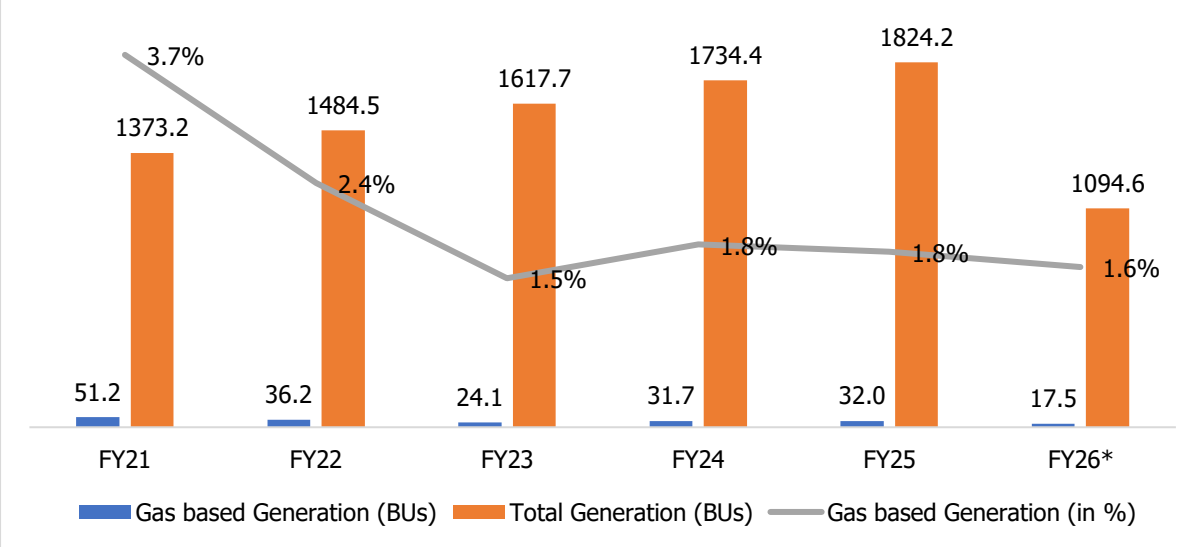


Source: CEA

5.2 Gas based Installed Capacity

India's gas-based installed capacity stayed largely stable at around 25 GW during FY21–FY25. In 7MFY26, however, the operational capacity fell to 20.1 GW as several long-idle plants were phased out from the active fleet. These plants had become inoperable due to limited domestic gas availability, high RLNG prices and consistently low PLFs, making continued operation financially unviable. Going forward, the gas-based capacity that remains on the grid is expected to play a more specialised, system-support role rather than operate as baseload generation. With limited visibility on large-scale, competitively priced gas supply for the power sector, fresh capacity addition is likely to be modest, and policy efforts are instead focused on optimising the utilisation of the existing plants during periods of peak demand and renewable variability to ensure uninterrupted power supply and maintain grid security.

Chart: Gas based Installed Capacity (In GW)



Source: CEA

5.3 Gas based Generation

Generation from gas-based plants fell from 51.2 BUs in FY21 to about 32 BUs in FY25, resulting in gas-based generation's share in the total generation dropping from 3.7% in FY21 to 1.8% in FY25. This decline reflects the limited availability of fuel, preferential allocation of domestic gas to city gas and fertiliser sectors, and the high cost of RLNG, which makes gas-fired power less competitive than coal or renewables for regular dispatch. Consequently, gas-based plants have operated at very low PLFs, with several units running only intermittently or remaining idle for extended periods. Going forward, gas-based capacity is expected to play a supporting rather than baseload role. During periods of peak demand, especially in extreme summers, the government is likely to direct gas-fired plants to ramp up output to help maintain grid stability, particularly during non-solar hours.

Chart: Gas based Generation

5.4 Average PLF of Gas based Capacity

From FY19 to FY21, PLFs remain range bound between 21.8% and 23.0%, supported by relatively better gas availability. However, utilisation deteriorated sharply thereafter, with PLFs declining to 16.3% in FY22 and further to 10.8% in FY23, before recovering modestly to 14.1% in FY24 and 14.6% in FY25. The low PLFs primarily reflects limited domestic gas supply, high RLNG prices, and the prioritisation of limited gas volumes towards other sectors such as fertilisers and city gas distribution. As a result, a significant portion of installed gas-based capacity has either been under-utilised or operated only during peak demand periods.

5.5 Government initiatives to promote Gas based Power Generation

LNG placed under Open General Licence (OGL)	• The government has placed LNG under OGL, allowing gas-based power plants to import LNG freely on negotiated commercial terms. This provides operational flexibility and reduces dependency on restrictive approval-based imports.
Competitive procurement of power from gas-based plants	• DISCOMs and market operators are permitted to procure power from gas-based plants during high-demand periods through competitive routes. This ensures that gas-fired stations are utilised as reliable peaking and balancing resources when the grid is stressed.
Expansion of gas infrastructure (National Gas Grid)	• Investments in pipeline expansion, CGD network growth, and development of new LNG regasification terminals aim to strengthen nationwide gas accessibility. Improved physical connectivity is essential for the revival of gas-based power operations.
Pricing and marketing freedom for deep-water and HPHT gas fields	• Deep-water, ultra-deep-water, and HPHT gas fields have been granted pricing and marketing freedom (subject to ceilings), incentivising enhanced upstream production. Over time, increased domestic output can help reduce fuel shortages for power plants.
Section 11 Directions During Peak Demand	• The government has invoked Section 11 of the Electricity Act to mandate gas-based plants to operate during extreme summer peak periods. These directives ensure additional generation availability despite high RLNG prices.

5.6 Conclusion

India's natural gas–based power segment continues to operate under significant structural constraints, shaped primarily by constant fuel shortages, high RLNG prices, and competing demand from priority sectors such as fertilisers and city gas distribution. Gas availability to the power sector has remained well below requirement, leading to a sharp fall in both absolute generation and utilisation levels. The decline in domestic gas production, coupled with the cost challenges associated with imported LNG, has resulted in consistently low PLFs and left a large portion of the installed fleet stranded or operational only during periods of peak demand.

With effective gas-based capacity declining and utilisation remaining subdued, the segment's role in the national power mix has shifted from baseload generation to a more specialised peaking and grid-support function. Policy interventions such as competitive procurement during peak periods, relaxed LNG import norms and expansion of gas infrastructure etc., aim to improve operational flexibility, but they are unlikely to alter the fundamental economics of gas-fired power in the near term. As renewable penetration accelerates, gas-based plants will increasingly serve as flexible, quick-ramp assets to manage intermittency rather than as major contributors to annual generation.

6. Funding Requirements

6.1 Source wise fund requirement for Generation projects

Chart: Major Sources of Financing for Power financing NBFCs

Source: CareEdge Research

Funding Source	Details
Banks and Financial	Banks and FIs provide loans like working capital and term loans. Competitive interest rates, influenced by credit ratings, help NBFCs attract quality borrowers. In Sep'25, credit to NBFCs reached ~Rs. 15.9

Funding Source	Details
Institutions (FIs)	lakh crore, growing 3.9% y-o-y due to market yield differentials and NBFC asset growth.
Green Bonds	Debt instruments issued to finance climate-friendly projects like renewable energy and waste management. Attract ESG-focused investors. As of Sep 2025, Rs 8,873 crore was raised. Participants include L&T, KPI Green Energy Limited, IREDA, Rattan Indias, Mindspace Business Park. India's green bond market is set for growth.
Commercial Paper (CP)	Short-term, unsecured promissory notes for immediate financial needs like working capital. Issued by highly rated NBFCs with maturities from a few days to one year.
Non-Convertible Debentures (NCDs)	Fixed-income instruments with specified coupon rates and maturity dates. Used to raise long-term capital from the bond market. NCDs can also be issued as green bonds for financing environmental projects.
Equity Financing	NBFCs raise funds through IPOs, QIPs, rights issues, and private equity. This approach supports long-term growth and helps meet increased credit demand.
Multilateral Development Banks (MDBs)	Provide loans and grants to developing countries to foster economic growth and reduce poverty. NBFCs benefit from MDB support for project financing, debt restructuring, and operational improvements.
External Commercial Borrowings (ECBs)	Foreign currency loans from international banks and institutions. The RBI regulates ECBs, setting criteria for eligibility, limits, and permitted uses. NBFCs can issue green bonds as ECBs to attract international investors.
Development Financial Institutions (DFIs)	Specialised in long-term financing for infrastructure and industrial projects. DFIs offer technical assistance, risk management support, and development expertise. NaBFID, established recently, focuses on infrastructure funding, with IREDA being a pioneer in climate finance.
Private Equity & Venture Funding	Private investors fund NBFC growth, especially in the power and renewable energy sectors, driven by increased demand and government incentives for sustainable energy solutions.

6.3 Overview of Infrastructure Financing

India's target of becoming a USD 5 trillion economy by 2027 places strong emphasis on the role of infrastructure development. India's infrastructure financing landscape has strengthened in recent years, supported by regulatory reforms, deeper institutional participation and the growing maturity of operational infrastructure assets. Banks continue to be the dominant source of infrastructure financing, with total exposure rising from Rs 10.95 trillion in FY21 to Rs 13.23 trillion in FY25. The power sector accounts for the largest share of this lending at around 51%, followed by the roads sector at 23%. However, India's expanding infrastructure pipeline across energy, transport, logistics, and urban development has outpaced the capacity of banks to meet long-term financing requirements alone. This has encouraged a shift towards more diversified financing channels such as infrastructure debt funds, pension and sovereign funds, InvITs and instruments like green and sustainability-linked bonds.

Table: Bank Exposure towards Infrastructure segments (Rs Trillion)

	FY21	FY22	FY23	FY24	FY25
Power	5.71	6.11	6.20	6.44	6.83
Telecommunications	1.15	1.30	1.08	1.38	1.19
Roads	2.26	2.70	3.00	3.18	3.11
Airports	0.09	0.07	0.10	0.07	0.09
Ports	0.10	0.09	0.08	0.07	0.06
Railways	0.12	0.11	0.10	0.13	0.14
Other Infrastructure	1.52	1.57	1.67	1.77	1.81
Total Infrastructure exposure	10.95	11.95	12.23	13.04	13.23

Source: RBI

Despite this progress, India still faces a sizeable infrastructure financing gap, requiring innovative capital-mobilisation frameworks and improved risk-allocation mechanisms. This gap will demand higher private-sector participation, stronger credit-enhancement structures and the wider use of blended-finance models. For the power sector, which is entering a phase of accelerated transition driven by renewable capacity addition, transmission expansion and grid-flexibility requirements access to long-tenor, low-cost capital remains essential. Going forward, asset monetisation through InvITs, refinancing of operational assets, and expansion of domestic bond markets are expected to play a larger role in meeting India's power-infrastructure funding needs, while banks and multilaterals continue to support early-stage and strategic projects.

6.4 Conclusion

India's power sector is entering a period of sustained capital expansion driven by capacity growth, energy transition priorities and the need to strengthen grid reliability. Generation capacity is expected to more than double from FY23 to FY32, and this alone requires investments of over Rs 34 trillion across thermal, nuclear, hydro, wind, solar, PSP and storage segments. A large share of this outlay will be concentrated in renewable energy and storage, reflecting the broader shift in the power mix, while conventional capacity continues to receive steady investment to maintain baseload availability.

Meeting these financing requirements will depend on a diverse mix of funding sources. Banks and financial institutions remain central to sector lending, with their exposure to infrastructure rising from Rs 10.95 trillion in FY21 to Rs 13.23 trillion in FY25. However, the scale of upcoming investments exceeds what bank financing can support on its own. This has resulted in greater reliance on alternative channels such as InvITs, infrastructure debt funds, green and sustainability-linked bonds, external borrowings and rising participation from pension, sovereign and private equity investors. These instruments are increasingly critical for refinancing operational assets, funding greenfield projects, and mobilising long-tenor, low-cost capital.

COMPETITIVE STRENGTHS

Our Company believes that the following are our principal strengths:

Comprehensive financial assistance platform focused on the Indian power sector

Our Company provides a comprehensive range of financial products and related advisory and other services to our clients in the power sector, ranging from project conceptualization to the post-commissioning stage, including generation (conventional and renewable), transmission and distribution projects, as well as related renovation and modernization projects.

Our Company also provides clients with fee-based technical advisory and consultancy services for power sector projects through our wholly owned subsidiary, PFCCL. Further, our Company provides various forms of fund-based assistance, including but not limited to long-term project finance, short-term loans, buyers' lines of credit, bridge loans, corporate loans and debt refinancing schemes, in addition to non-fund based assistance, including default payment guarantees and letters of comfort. Our knowledge in the domain of project finance has helped us in strategically expanding our focus areas to include projects that represent forward and backward linkages to core power sector projects, including procurement of capital equipment for the power sector, fuel sources for power generation projects, and related infrastructure development.

Further, one of our Subsidiaries, REC, is engaged in extending financial assistance to the power sector and is an NBFC registered with RBI, and is also registered with RBI as an IFC. Our Company believes that synergies with REC helps us to enhance our product portfolio, de-risk our revenue base, achieve economies of scale, as well as deploy investible funds.

Strategic role in GoI initiatives, and established relationships with power sector participants

Our Company has played a strategic role in the GoI's initiatives for the promotion and development of the power sector in India for more than three decades. Our Company has been involved in the development and implementation of various policies and of structural and procedural reforms in the power sector in India. Our Company has been involved in various GoI programmes for the power sector, including acting as the nodal agency for the ongoing RDSS (including erstwhile Integrated Power Development Scheme (IPDS) and Restructured Accelerated Power Development and Reforms Programme (R-APDRP) subsumed by RDSS) and the UMPP and as a bid process coordinator for the ITP scheme.

In order to address liquidity issues in the power sector value chain, the Government of India mandated our Company and REC to disburse ₹ 90,000 crore to distribution companies (DISCOMs) under the DISCOM Liquidity Package (as defined below). Our Company has disbursed ₹ 52,886.70 crores under the DISCOM Liquidity Package as of September 30, 2025. Further, Ministry of Power (MoP) vide Gazette Notification dated June 3, 2022, notified the Electricity (Late Payment Surcharge and Related Matters) Rules, 2022 (the "LPS Rules"). The LPS Rules provide a mechanism for settlement of outstanding dues of generating companies, inter-state transmission licenses and electricity trading licenses. The LPS Rules provide for clubbing of all outstanding dues as on June 3, 2022 including principal, late payment surcharge etc. into a consolidated amount which can be paid in interest free equated monthly instalments (EMI). The maximum number of such EMIs can be 48 based on the quantum of the total outstanding dues. The LPS Rules also indicate modalities for implementation and also penalties for not making payments, in line with the Re-determined Payment Schedule. Our Company has disbursed ₹ 45,873.62 crores under LPS Rules as of September 30, 2025. Further, the loans sanctioned under both the schemes are secured with unconditional and irrevocable State Government guarantee.

As a result, we believe we have developed strong working relationships with the Central and the State Governments, various regulatory authorities, significant power sector organizations, Central and State power utilities, private sector project developers as well as other intermediaries in the power sector. Our Company believes that our experience in implementing Government policies and programs provide us with industry knowledge that enables us to leverage our project risk assessment capabilities to effectively evaluate projects, structure appropriate financing solutions, develop effective loan disbursement and project monitoring methodologies, as well as provide related advisory services. Our Company believes that this unique positioning enables us to leverage our power sector knowledge, our existing client base and continuing relationships with Government agencies and instrumentalities to be a preferred financing provider for the power sector in India.

Operational flexibility to capitalize on both fund raising and lending opportunities

Our Company has registered with the RBI as an NBFC and have also been classified as an IFC which enables us to be operationally more flexible and effectively capitalize on available financing opportunities.

As an NBFC, we are governed by regulations and policies that are generally less stringent than those applicable to commercial banks, including with respect to liquidity requirements and the requirement to hold a significant portion of funds in relatively low yield assets, such as Government securities and other approved securities and cash reserves.

In July 2010, our Company was classified as an IFC, a distinct category of NBFCs that is primarily engaged in infrastructure financing. Our Company believes that our classification as an IFC enables us to increase lending exposures to individual entities, corporations and groups compared to other NBFCs that are not IFCs. We also believe that this results in significant competitive advantages in providing project financing for large, long-gestation power sector projects. For further information relating to the IFC category of NBFCs, see "Regulations and Policies" on page 220.

Favorable credit rating and access to various cost-competitive sources of funds

STRATEGIES

Continue to leverage industry knowledge and relationships to capitalize on the expected growth in the Indian power sector

We intend to continue to leverage our industry experience and relationships to provide comprehensive financing solutions for power sector projects in India. The Indian power sector has historically been characterized by power shortages and relatively low per capita consumption. Consequently, the GoI has prioritized investment in the power sector in a number of ways, including through: (a) the implementation of the Electricity Act in June, 2003, to address the systemic deficiencies in the Indian power sector and to attract capital for large-scale power projects; (b) the notification of the National Electricity Policy in February, 2005, to accelerate the development of the power sector; (c) the implementation of the Rajiv Gandhi Grameen Vidyutikaran Yojana ("RGGVY") from April, 2005; (d) the launch of the Deen Dayal Upadhaya Gram Jyoti Yojana ("DDUGJY") (under which the RGGVY scheme is subsumed) to increase the pace of rural electrification and to provide access to electricity to all Indian rural households; (e) the metering of feeders and distribution transformers to reduce systems in India's transmission and distribution infrastructure, and (f) the Pradhan Mantri Sahaj Bijli Har Ghar Yojana – Saubhagya, to achieve 'Universal Household Electrification' in India.

On the distribution reforms front, the GoI introduced the Ujjwal Discom Assurance Yojana (UDAY) scheme to turn around DISCOMS in November, 2015. In July 2021, the Government of India launched the Revamped Distribution Sector Scheme. In order to address liquidity issues in the power sector value chain, the Government of India mandated our Company and REC, to disburse ₹ 90,000 crore to DISCOMs under the DISCOM Liquidity Package. Further, MoP notified the Electricity (Late Payment Surcharge and Related Matters) Rules, 2022 (the "LPS Rules"). The LPS Rules provide a mechanism for settlement of outstanding dues of generating companies, inter-state transmission licensees and electricity trading licensees. Although the continued prioritization of the power sector will need to be met by increased funding, there are various investment opportunities in this sector, including investment in power projects, power equipment manufacturing, wind and solar power, coal mining, natural gas, liquefied natural gas, gas pipelines, carbon trading and CDM projects. We intend to employ our industry knowledge and ability to develop, supervise and implement structured financial assistance packages based on specific operational and financial performance standards to assist otherwise financially weak SPUs and public sector projects and improve their financial position. We aim to continue to contribute to the development and implementation of GoI policies relating to the power sector in India and play an integral role in the supervision of the implementation of reforms by SPUs and GoI agencies.

Strategically expand business and service offerings

Consultancy and other fee-based services

Our Company intends to continue to increase our focus on fee-based technical and consultancy services to SPUs, power distribution licensees, IPPs, public sector undertakings and electricity regulatory commissions. Our Company also intends to continue to provide fee-based services for various GoI programs for the power sector in India, including acting as a nodal agency for the UMPP and the ongoing RDSS (including erstwhile IPDS and R-APDRP subsumed by RDSS).

Debt syndication

Our Company intends to increase our focus on debt syndication activities in the power sector. Our Company plans to continue to target debt syndication opportunities. Our Company believes that our technical knowledge and industry experience, project appraisal capabilities, and relationship with commercial banks and other financial institutions enable us to ensure timely completion of such projects.

Broaden loan asset base and borrower profile

Private sector projects

As of September 30, 2025, March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024 and March 31, 2023, 24.17%,22.57%,19.10% and 17.21%, respectively, of our total loan assets were related to private sector projects. We intend to continue to provide financial assistance to private sector generation, transmission and distribution projects to further diversify our borrower profile.

Renewable and clean development mechanism

India witnessed a historic 29.52 GW increase in renewable energy capacity, reaching a total of 220.10 GW by March 31, 2025, largely driven by solar and wind power. We believe that our Company's financial backing has facilitated the development and execution of these projects. The gross loan assets of our Company recorded a growth of 12.81% and 16.56% from ₹ 481,461.88 crores as at March 31, 2024 to ₹ 543,120.41 crores and ₹ 561,208.71 crores as at March 31, 2025 and September 30, 2025, respectively. Our Company's renewable energy loan portfolio surged by 35% year on year, crossing ₹ 80,000.00 crore, thereby significantly boosting its role in India's clean energy transition during Fiscal 2024-25. Our Company has actively funded solar, wind and hydro projects, alongside emerging technologies like green hydrogen and battery storage.

We continue to provide financing for public and private sector renewable energy generation projects. Our total loan assets outstanding with regard to renewable energy projects aggregated ₹ 84,679.00 crores and ₹ 81,031.24 crores as of September 30, 2025 and March 31, 2025, respectively. As of September 30, 2025 and March 31, 2025, 15.09% and 14.92%, respectively, of our total loan assets pertained to renewable energy projects.

Forward and backward linkages to core power sector projects

We have strategically expanded our focus areas to include projects that represent forward and backward linkages to power sector projects, including procurement of capital equipment for the power sector, fuel sources for power generation projects, related infrastructure development as well as power trading initiatives.

Capital equipment manufacturers

The Indian power sector requires augmentation of equipment manufacturing capacities for capital equipment for all segments of the power sector from generation to transmission and distribution. We intend to provide financial assistance to manufacturers of equipment used in the power sector, including transmission and distribution equipment as well as solar and wind energy generation equipment.

Fuel sources and related infrastructure development

The GoI has implemented various reforms for the development of fuel sources for thermal power generation projects, including allocation of coal blocks to public and private sector entities as well as the development of related infrastructure facilities for the transportation of coal and other fuel sources such as natural gas. We provide financing assistance to infrastructure development projects.

Foray into new business segment including infrastructure and logistics financing sector

On August 25, 2022, Ministry of Power has accorded approval to our Company to lend to infrastructure and logistics financing sector to an extent permitted by Government of India. Our Company has accordingly modified MoA, sanctioned projects and made disbursement of ₹ 11,300.31 crores till September 30, 2025 in this sector. Our Company has also signed a MoU with RITES Limited (a public sector undertaking) to explore mutual collaboration for consultancy works in areas, including transport and logistics, energy, water and sanitation, communication, social and commercial infrastructure. RITES will provide expertise for pre-feasibility reports, detailed project reports, transaction advisory, project management services, audits and inspection, while our Company and our Subsidiaries will provide financial assistance for such projects.

Rupee term loans

Rupee term loans accounted for 94.78%, 92.19%, 92.65%, and 94.95%, of our total loan assets as of September 30, 2025 and March 31, 2025, 2024 and 2023, respectively. We generally disburse funds either directly to a supplier of project equipment or services or by way of a reimbursement to the borrower against satisfactory proof of eligible expenditure on the relevant project, or through a trust and retention account.

We generally implement security and quasi-security arrangements in relation to our Rupee term loans.

Our Rupee term loan financings are generally secured in the case of public sector clients, including state utilities, either through a charge on the project assets or by a state government guarantee, or both. In addition to such security or guarantee, most of our loans to central and state sector borrowers provide for an escrow mechanism. For private sector clients, our Rupee term loan financings are secured through, among other things, a first priority pari passu charge on the relevant project assets, collateral such as pledge of shares held by promoters and/or personal or corporate guarantees, as well as trust and retention account arrangements. For further information, see "— Risk Management — Security Risk" on page 177.

Interest rates on Rupee term loans are notified to the borrower from time to time. Typically, there is an option to select interest rates with a reset option after every three or ten years. We believe that our comprehensive credit appraisal and project monitoring processes also result in strong collection and recovery. As of September 30, 2025 and March 31, 2025, 73.52% and 74.35%, respectively, of our outstanding loans to Central and State sector borrowers provide for an escrow mechanism, which ensures that in case of default in payment of dues to us by such borrowers, the escrow agent is required to make available the default amount to us on demand.

Transitional loans

We also provide transitional financing to state sector distribution companies in specified states, as per applicable regulatory guidelines/ limits, to meet any temporary liquidity shortfall they may experience due to various reasons such as non-adjustment of fuel surcharge, inadequate GoI support, cash or revenue gap, insufficient capacity addition or purchase of expensive power so as to provide the distribution companies with an opportunity to resolve their liquidity position over a specified period. We also provide financial support to newly formed power generating companies, transmission companies and distribution companies incorporated out of bifurcation or reorganization of a state in order to meet any liquidity shortfall experienced by such entities during their initial years due to various reasons, such as, inadequate cash flow, immediate payment requirements for purchase of fuel or power, or other revenue expenditure for the operation of the plant, transmission network or distribution network.

Debt refinancing scheme

Under this scheme, we assist borrowers who have borrowed funds from other lending institutions at a higher rate of interest, to refinance their loans at a lower interest rate. The refinancing facility is available only for commissioned projects.

Funding of regulatory assets

We provide loans to distribution companies for the purpose of funding regulatory assets, as per applicable regulatory guidelines/ limits. In order to be awarded a loan under this facility, the borrower needs to provide a state government guarantee and must have a business plan in place. Furthermore, the relevant SERC must specify certain conditions such as a time bound recovery plan and recovery of carrying cost of the regulatory assets, among others.

Corporate loans

We provide corporate loans to entities in the power sector, whether government or private, for the purpose of equity infusion into new power projects or for the acquisition of existing power projects including generation, transmission and distribution projects.

Loans to grid connected solar photovoltaic power generation projects

We provide loans to grid-connected solar photovoltaic power generation projects.

All of the above-mentioned loans are secured which stipulates a package of security measures / covenants to mitigate risks during the construction and post commercial operational date stage of the project. Based on the risk appetite and appraisal of the project, we adopt a combination of the following measures: (a) primary security which comprises charge on project assets and / or state government guarantees; (b) collateral securities which comprises corporate guarantees, personal guarantees of Promoters, pledge of shares, charge on assets / revenues of group/other companies; (c) payment security mechanism which comprises escrow account / letter of credit, trust and retention account; and (d) other covenants which comprises assignment of all project contracts, documents, insurance policies in favour of us, upfront equity requirement, debt service reserve account, debt equity ratio, shareholders' agreements, financial closure, etc.

Liquidity Scheme for DISCOMs under Atmanirbhar Bharat Abhiyan initiative of Government of India ("DISCOM Liquidity Package")

In order to address liquidity issues in the power sector value chain, the Government of India mandated our Company and our subsidiary, REC, to disburse ₹ 90,000 crore to DISCOMs to cover the outstanding dues of the DISCOMs up to March 31, 2020. The loans are secured with unconditional and irrevocable State Government guarantee covering the loan amount along with interest and any other charges towards the loan.

The Electricity (Late Payment Surcharge and Related Matters) Rules, 2022

Ministry of Power notified the Electricity (Late Payment Surcharge and Related Matters) Rules, 2022 (the "LPS Rules"). The LPS Rules provide a mechanism for settlement of outstanding dues of generating companies, inter-state transmission licensees and electricity trading licensees.

The LPS Rules provide for clubbing of all outstanding dues (as on June 3, 2022), including principal, late payment surcharge, etc., into a consolidated amount, which can be paid in interest free equal monthly instalments (EMIs). The maximum number of such EMIs can be forty eight (48) based on the quantum of the total outstanding dues. The LPS Rules also indicate modalities for implementation and also penalties for not making payments, in line with the re-determined payment schedule. The borrower shall provide State Government guarantee as security for the loan. Our Company may also stipulate any additional security, like budgetary allocation, etc., on case to case basis.

Foreign currency resources

We have raised foreign currency funds through syndicated loans, medium term notes, loans from multilateral agencies and other sources such as foreign currency non-resident (bank) loans, which are foreign currency loans for specific end uses (such as infrastructure) and at interest rates linked to benchmarks such as secured overnight financing rate (SOFR), Tokyo overnight average rate (TONA), euro interbank offered rate (EURIBOR) and sterling overnight index average (SONIA). The following table sets forth certain information relating to our outstanding foreign currency borrowings (principal amounts outstanding only), as of the dates indicated:

PFC Projects Limited (Formerly known as Coastal Karnataka Power Limited) (PPL)

PFC Projects Limited ("PPL"), formerly known as Coastal Karnataka Power Limited, was established as a wholly owned subsidiary of our Company on February 10, 2006, for developing an ultra mega power project in Karnataka. On July 1, 2022, its name and charter were amended to allow participation in Lenders' Backed Resolution Plans ("LBRP"). PPL partnered with REC and to submit a resolution plan under CIRP for Lanco Amarkantak Power Limited ("LAPL"). The consortium was initially declared the successful resolution applicant, but later opted out of the challenge process initiated by NCLT, on the condition that incurred costs be reimbursed. IFSC provides a unique platform to access global capital and expertise, which will enable us to provide even more efficient and innovative financing solutions to the clients. Our entry into the IFSC shall open up new business opportunities and establish its global presence.

RISK MANAGEMENT

We have put in place an integrated risk management ("IRM") framework that guides Risk Management at PFC. Our risk management policies and procedures lay emphasis on actively managing and controlling our exposure to various risks.

We have set up a Board Level Risk Management Committee (BLRMC) to monitor various risks, examine risk management policies and practices, and oversee mitigation of risks relating to our operations. Further, in order to augment risk management practices in our Company, our Company has a chief risk officer who is involved in the process of identification, measurement and mitigation of risks.

As a financial institution, we are primarily exposed to the following types of risk:

Credit risk

Credit risk involves the risk of loss arising from the diminution in credit quality of a borrower along with the risk that the borrower will default on contractual repayments under a loan or an advance. We follow a systematic institutional and project appraisal process to assess and mitigate credit risk. These processes include a detailed appraisal methodology, identification of risks and suitable structuring, of credit risk mitigation measures. We use a wide range of quantitative as well as qualitative parameters as part of our appraisal process to make a sound assessment of the extent of underlying credit risk in a project. We evaluate the credit quality of borrowers by assigning risk weightings on the basis of various financial and non-financial parameters. Our lending policies evaluate borrowers' eligibility criteria with an emphasis on financial and operational strength, capability and competence. For further information, see "– Project and Entity Appraisal Process" on page 181.

Although we encourage certain schemes through differential lending rates, the eligibility criteria and our funding decision is guided by the merits of a particular project, and no funds are pre-allocated.

Our key lending terms and conditions are set out in our operational policy statement, which is reviewed from time to time to align it with market requirements. In addition, we place emphasis on funding projects with short lead times as well as on-going projects.

We evaluate the credit quality of all borrowers by assigning ratings on the basis of various financial and non-financial parameters. In addition, we assign an integrated rating (which is a combination of entity rating and project rating) for private sector generation projects. The interest rates, requirement of collateral securities and exposure limits are calculated on the basis of such integrated ratings.

Monitoring of loans

We have developed a project monitoring system following the grant of sanctions and execution of loan documents that monitors and tracks project implementation status and identifies risks where intervention is required to minimize the time and cost overruns and consequent slippages in disbursements. A separate project monitoring unit has been set up to monitor the status of projects based on quarterly progress reports, discussions with the borrowers and/or site engineers during site visits, discussions with relevant officials of the borrowers and other methods. The periodic progress analysis is presented before our Board on a quarterly basis. Such reports broadly cover the major areas of concern impacting the project's implementation and withdrawals from us, major reasons for project delays, age-wise delay analysis, major suppliers and agencies associated with the projects, and the cumulative status of our commitments versus disbursements.

For private sector projects, we typically engage the lender's engineers and financial advisors, which are independent agencies who act on behalf of various lenders and consortium members who provide lenders with periodic reports and information concerning the physical and financial progress status of specific projects based on periodic site visits, visits to borrowers' headquarters, and inspection and review of any relevant documents. Our project monitoring unit reviews the reports submitted by the lenders' engineers and prepares a report broadly covering the physical progress, time and cost overrun estimation and delay analysis. The report is submitted to our senior management and our Board on a quarterly basis.

Appointment of project monitoring agency (PMA)

PMAs are being appointed for private sector projects in lieu of lenders' engineer/ lenders' financial advisor/ lenders' insurance advisor for better coordination, operational efficiency and improved accountability, thereby facilitating better project management and timely implementation of the projects. The PMA shall be responsible for both physical and financial progress review of project inter alia for monitoring and reporting of any deviations from the appraised milestones/ parameters and its impact on the implementation process, review of contracts, including liquidated damages, guarantees etc., reasonability of costs, review of expenditure, trust and retention account monitoring, etc.

Recovery Mechanism

Our recovery mechanism is characterized by the following features that are intended to ensure timely and efficient recovery from our borrowers: intensive follow-up, rebate for timely payments, suspension of further disbursements and sanctions in case of default. The rebate for timely payments is provided to state sector and central public sector borrowers.

In instances where there has been a default by a borrower, we invoke the security and quasi-security arrangements that have been created in relation to the concerned loan, as detailed in "– Risk Management — Security Risk" below. We also encourage payments due from State sector and Central public sector borrowers by offering them a rebate for timely payment. As of half year ended September 30, 2025 and in Fiscal 2025, the total rebate offered by us to our borrowers was ₹ 96.04 crores and ₹ 254.36 crores, respectively.

Security risk

We seek to put in place a number of different security and quasi-security arrangements in relation to the loans that we extend.

Majority of our loans to government sector borrowers are supported by an escrow arrangement. The escrow agreement is typically a tripartite agreement entered into by our Company, the borrower and the bank designated as escrow agent. Under the terms of the escrow agreement, the borrower is required to deposit all of its receivables (from certain centers) into the designated escrow account and the borrower is specifically prohibited from opening any other account for the purpose of collection of revenues without our written consent. In the event of a default in payment by the borrower, the escrow agent, is upon demand by our Company, authorized to pay the amount owed to us from the monies deposited in the escrow account. In addition, the escrow agent is required to submit monthly bank statements of the escrow account to our Company. As of September 30, 2025 and March 31, 2025, 73.52% and 74.35%, respectively, of our outstanding loans to government sector power utilities involve such an escrow mechanism.

In the case of private sector power projects, security is normally obtained through: (i) a first priority pari passu charge on assets; and (ii) a trust and retention arrangement in relation to all of the cash flows of the project pursuant to a trust and retention account agreement ("TRA Agreement"). The TRA Agreement is usually entered into among our Company, the borrower and a bank designated as the account bank. Under the terms of the TRA Agreement, the cash flows of the project are controlled by the account bank which must deal with the cash flows strictly in accordance with the terms of the TRA Agreement. The TRA Agreement specifies the conditions that must be satisfied, on a periodic basis, before funds from the trust account can be used to meet the relevant expense and the manner in which such payments will be made, including payments by way of debt service to our Company throughout the life of the loan. The account bank is not permitted to allow any withdrawal of funds in excess of the approved limits without the prior approval of our Company. The TRA Agreement continues to operate until all of the obligations have been indefeasibly and irrevocably paid by the borrower. The TRA Agreement also specifies the payment waterfall that would apply upon the occurrence of an event of default or a potential event of default in relation to the loan, and which gives priority to the secured lenders.

For private sector borrowers, apart from stipulating the primary security as discussed above, we also stipulate various collaterals inter alia pledge of shares held by the promoters, debt service reserve account, and personal or corporate guarantees. Pursuant to our policy, the structure of collateral is formulated on the basis of an integrated rating, which is a combination of entity (promoter) rating and project rating, and these ratings are the outcome of the appraisal process of the borrower.

Interest rate risk

Interest rate risk is the risk that changes in market interest rates will adversely affect our financial condition. The primary interest rate-related risks that we face are from timing differences in the maturity of our fixed rate assets and liabilities. For example, in an increasing interest rate environment, if our fixed rate liabilities mature prior to our fixed rate assets, we will be required to incur additional liabilities at a higher interest rate, and re-pricing risk, for example, where there is an adverse mismatch between the re-pricing terms of our loan assets and our loan liabilities.

Interest rates are dynamic and dependent on various internal and external factors, including cost of borrowing, liquidity in the market, competitors' rates, movement of benchmarks, such as AAA bond/ GoI securities yields and RBI policy changes. The interest rate risk is managed by the analysis of interest rate sensitivity gap statements and by evaluating the creation of assets and liabilities with a mix of fixed and floating interest rates.

We review our lending rates periodically based on prevailing market conditions, borrowing cost, yield, spread, competitors' rates, sanctions and disbursements. Our incremental Rupee lending interest rates are usually made with either a three-year or ten-year interest reset clause. In order to manage pre-payment risks, our policy is to require a pre-payment premium to be paid by the borrower in case of pre-payment.

We have historically implemented, and may in the future implement, interest rate risk management through the contractual terms of our loans, including pricing terms, maturities, and pre-payment and re-pricing provisions. In addition, all loan sanction documents specifically entitle us to vary the interest rate on the undisbursed portion of any loan.

For additional information on our interest rate risk, see "Risk Factors — Volatility in interest rates affects our Company's lending operations and may result in a decline in our Company's net interest income and net interest margin and adversely affect our Company's return on assets and profitability." on page 44.

Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk is the risk of our potential inability to meet liabilities as they become due. We face liquidity risks, which could require us to raise funds or liquidate assets on unfavorable terms. We manage liquidity risk through a mix of strategies, including forward-looking resource mobilization based on projected disbursements and maturing obligations.

Our company has put in place an 'Asset Liability Management System' and constituted an asset liability management committee (ALCO) headed by the Director (Finance) of our Company. ALCO monitors risks related to liquidity and interest rate and also monitors implementation of decisions taken in the ALCO meetings. The asset liability management framework includes periodic analysis of long-term liquidity profile of asset receipts and debt service obligations. While the liquidity risk is being monitored with the help of asset liability gap analysis, the interest rate risk is managed by analysis of interest rate sensitive gap statements. Such analysis is made on periodic basis in various time buckets and is being used for critical decisions regarding the time, volume and maturity profile of the borrowings and creation of mix of assets and liabilities in terms of time period (short, medium and long-term) and in terms of fixed and floating interest rates.

To ensure that we always have sufficient funds to meet our commitments, our Company maintains sufficient liquidity to meet immediate disbursements and other obligations. At present, surplus funds are invested as per the policy in financial instruments which includes short-term deposits with banks and debt oriented liquid mutual funds, etc.

Foreign currency exchange risk

Foreign currency exchange risk involves exchange rate movements among currencies that may adversely impact the value of foreign currency-denominated assets, liabilities and off-balance sheet arrangements. We have foreign currency borrowings that could expose us to foreign currency exchange rate risk, and we expect to increase our foreign currency-denominated borrowings in the future.

We have developed a policy for management of risks on foreign currency borrowings to manage risks associated with foreign currency borrowings. We manage foreign currency risk and interest rate risks in foreign currency through derivative products (such as currency forwards, options, principal only swaps, interest rate swaps and forward rate agreements) offered by banks who are authorized dealers. Our policy lays down the appropriate systems and controls to identify, measure, monitor, report and manage currency risks, including interest rate risk. Some of the important features of the policy include benchmarks, hedging ratios, open position limits and exposure limits with regard to empaneled banks. In addition, foreign exchange exposures are evaluated on a loan-to-loan basis, and the exposure is managed in accordance with the various parameters defined in the policy. Every month, the details of foreign currency exposure, and open and hedged positions are submitted to the management committee for management of risks on foreign currency borrowings, and such details are submitted every quarter to the Audit Committee and the Board.

As on September 30, 2025, the details of outstanding foreign currency liabilities are USD 7,062.77 million, JPY 2,85,152.00 million, GBP 134.71 million and EUR 1,013.00 million, out of which US$ 7,060.00 million, JPY 2,58,442.48 million, GBP 134.71 million and EUR 725.33 million are hedged. Further, 95.06% of the foreign currency portfolio with residual maturity up to five years has been hedged. As on March 31, 2025, the details of outstanding foreign currency liabilities are USD 7,238.43 million, JPY 2,86,367.42 million, EUR 1,022.61 million and GBP 135.00 million; out of which USD 7,235.00 million, JPY 2,58,442.48 million, EUR 725.33 million and GBP 134.71 million; are hedged. Further, 94.78% of the foreign currency portfolio with residual maturity up to five years has been hedged.

As of September 30, 2025, our foreign currency liabilities that are not hedged by a derivative instrument or otherwise were USD 3.43 million, JPY 26,709.43 million and EUR 288.17 million. As of March 31, 2025, our foreign currency liabilities that are not hedged by a derivative instrument or otherwise were USD 3.43 million, JPY 27,924.94 million and EUR 297.28 million. For additional information on our foreign currency risk, see "Risk Factors — Volatility in foreign exchange and un-hedged foreign currency could adversely affect our Company's financial conditions and results of operations." on page 47.

Operational risk

Operational risks are risks arising from inadequate or failed internal processes, people and systems or from external events. We have established systems and procedures to reduce operational risk as outlined below:

Operational controls in project finance activities. Our operational policy statement and operational guidelines provide a detailed description of the systems and procedures to be followed in the course of appraisal, approval and disbursement of a loan. Various checks and control measures have been built in for the timely review of operating activities and the monitoring of any gaps in the same. A significant proportion of the activities are subject to regular monitoring and auditing, including loan sanctions, disbursements and recovery. In addition, many important activities are monitored on a periodic basis.

Operational controls in treasury activities. Our operational policy statement for the deployment of surplus funds provide a description of operations to be followed including suitable exposure and counterparty limits. Compliance with our guidelines is monitored through internal control and a well-developed audit system including external and internal audits.

Legal risk

Legal risk arises from the uncertainty of the enforceability of contracts relating to the obligations of our borrowers. This could be on account of delays in the enforcement process or difficulty in the applicability of contractual obligations. We seek to minimize legal risk through legal documentation that is drafted to protect our interests to the greatest extent possible.

PROJECT AND ENTITY APPRAISAL PROCESS

The guiding principles of our lending policies are set out in our operational policy statement. We use a wide range of quantitative as well as qualitative parameters as part of our appraisal process to make a sound assessment of the extent of underlying credit risk in a project. We evaluate the credit quality by assigning risk weightings on the basis of various financial, technical and commercial parameters. Our lending policies evaluate borrowers' eligibility criteria with an emphasis on financial and operational strength, capability and competence.

Project appraisal

We follow a separate project appraisal process for private and state or central public sector entities, which primarily involves a techno-commercial appraisal of the project.

Private sector projects. The appraisal process for the private sector involves two stages. Initially, a preliminary appraisal is carried out to scrutinize the basic information submitted by the borrower in the first stage. In the second stage, a detailed appraisal is carried out for shortlisted projects, wherein comprehensive assessment of various techno-commercial parameters are being undertaken.

Public sector projects. A detailed appraisal is carried out for state or central public sector projects, and the project is analyzed based on various parameters, such as, its technical and economic soundness, compatibility with integrated power development and expansion plans of the state. Checks are also carried out to see whether the project has the requisite clearances in place, and is compliant with environmental standards and guidelines.

Detailed project appraisal involves technical and financial appraisal covering the following:

- project purpose, scope and location;
- need and justification supported by relevant studies;
- review of technology;
- forward and backward linkages (including fuel supply and transportation, water availability, power evacuation and sale of power) and their status;
- review of the contractual arrangements for the implementation of the project such as the EPC/package contract(s), sales and marketing agreements i.e. power purchase agreement/concession agreement/TSA etc., fuel supply agreements, fuel transportation agreement and bulk power transmission agreement;
- present status of the project in terms of both physical and financial preparedness;
- regulatory compliance, statutory and non-statutory clearances;
- power evacuation arrangements;
- arrangement for operations and maintenance (O&M) of the plant;
- implementation plan;
- review of cost, financing plan and phasing of expenditure;
- anticipated tangible and intangible benefits;
- identification of various risks and their mitigation; and
- financial modeling and projections, determination of project viability and sensitivity analysis.

Once the analysis has been completed, pre-commitment, pre-disbursement and other conditions are stipulated. As part of the project appraisal process, we evaluate each project and assign scores based on a range of quantitative and qualitative parameters. Quantitative parameters include (a) average debt service coverage ratio; (b) minimum debt service coverage ratio; (c) loan life coverage ratio, and (d) difference between advanced program-to-program communication and levelised cost of generation ("COG"). Qualitative parameters include power off-take structure and payment security mechanisms, long-term fuel supply and transportation agreements and their commercial terms, construction contracts, methodology of award and the commercial terms and experience of the O&M contractor. For central/ state sector projects, security is generally in the form of government guarantees, or a first charge on the existing and/or future assets and/or an escrow account mechanism. Private sector projects are generally secured either by a charge on assets, assignment of project contracts, first charge on all letters of credit, TRA, DSRA, other reserves and other bank accounts that are maintained by the project, and collateral in the form of a pledge over shares, DSRA or corporate or personal guarantees from the promoters.

Following the sanction of a loan to a public sector project, we typically undertake activities such as the completion of the necessary documentation for the sanction, disbursements and project review and monitoring, which involves obtaining progress reports on a quarterly basis, review and analysis of the reports and undertaking site visits as required by the project monitoring unit. Our project monitoring unit reviews the PMA/ lender engineer's report and prepares an exception report based on the same. The exception report is submitted to our senior management and our Board periodically.

Entity appraisal

We follow a systematic entity appraisal process developed separately for public and private sector entities.

Public sector appraisal

We provide financial assistance to public sector borrowers based on entity and project appraisal. As part of our entity appraisal process, we evaluate the entity with reference to a set of financial and non-financial parameters covering financial and operational efficiency and development of the regulatory framework. We categorize state power utilities into six categories, from A++ through to D, based on pre-determined parameters including operational and financial performance of the utilities. SPUs that are incorporated to develop new projects are categorized based on the strength of their respective promoters. The categorization methodology enables us to identify the relative strength and weakness of each entity. These categories are used to determine security requirements and the pricing of loans given to SPUs.

Private sector appraisal

We use a range of quantitative as well as qualitative parameters in our entity appraisal process to assess the ability of the promoter with regard to infusion of promoters' contribution and implementing project. The parameters inter alia assess promoters based on their financial flexibility, market analysis, past financials, group experience, external credit rating. Based on this analysis, the promoters are graded depending upon their performance against pre-determined benchmarks. Further, special category of Promoters whose operations and/or financials are not amenable for assessment, are assigned notional scores in accordance with certain pre-determined criteria. These scores determine the overall grading of the promoters which is referred to as an "entity rating" in our appraisal process. Such entity rating enables us to identify the extent of an advance payment of equity required to mitigate Promoter related risks. The entity rating is combined with a project rating, in pre-defined weightages, to produce an integrated rating for the project.

INSTITUTIONAL DEVELOPMENT ROLE AND GoI PROGRAMS

The GoI and various state governments have undertaken various programs and initiatives for the reform and restructuring of the power sector in India to ensure adequate supply of electricity at reasonable rates, to encourage private sector participation, and to make the Indian power sector self-sustaining and commercially viable. These institutional, structural and procedural reforms are aimed at achieving operational and commercial efficiency, and improved viability of state power utilities; improving delivery of services and achieving cost effectiveness through technical, managerial and administrative restructuring of utilities; creating an environment that will attract private capital, both domestic and foreign, to supplement public sector investment, operating state power utilities in a manner that enables them to generate sufficient returns to meet operational and investment requirements; and achieving energy conservation through integrated resource planning, demand side management and minimizing waste.

We were established as an integral part of, and continue to play a strategic role in, the GoI's initiatives for the development of the power sector in India. We work closely with GoI instrumentalities, state governments and power sector utilities, other power sector intermediaries and private sector clients for the development and implementation of policies and structural and procedural reforms for the power sector in India. In addition, we are involved in various GoI programs for the power sector, including acting as a nodal agency for the UMPP and ongoing RDSS (including erstwhile IPDS and R-APDRP subsumed by RDSS).

A. Ultra Mega Power Projects ("UMPP")

The GoI introduced the UMPP program with the objective of developing large capacity power projects in India in 2005-2006. We have been designated to act as a nodal agency by GoI for the development of UMPPs, each with a contracted capacity of approximately 4,000 MW. These UMPPs, among others, utilize the principle of economies of scale and the mechanisms of supercritical technology to reduce emissions and lower tariff costs.

BUSINESS DIVERSIFICATION INITIATIVES

We expect to continue to play a key role in promoting coordinated and accelerated growth of the power sector in India, and intend to strategically expand our business and service offerings.

Renewable energy and CDM initiatives

The Ministry of Power and the Ministry of New and Renewable Energy have rolled out a slew of reforms to push mainstreaming of energy from green and sustainable sources and achieve the 500 GW target. Regulations governing NBFCs

Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934

As per prescribed law any company that carries on the business of a non-banking financial institution as its 'principal business' is to be treated as an NBFC. The term 'principal businesses has not been defined in any statute, however, RBI has clarified through a press release (Ref. No. 1998-99/1269) issued in 1999, that in order to identify a particular company as an NBFC, it will consider both the assets and the income pattern as evidenced from the last audited balance sheet of the company to decide a company's principal business. The company will be treated as an NBFC if its financial assets are more than 50 percent of its total assets (netted off by intangible assets) and income from financial assets should be more than 50 percent of the gross income. Both these tests are required to be satisfied in order to determine the principal business of a company.

Every NBFC is required to submit to the RBI a certificate, from its statutory auditor within one month from the date of finalisation of the balance sheet and in any case, not later than December 30 of that year, stating that it is engaged in the business of non-banking financial institution requiring it to hold a certificate of registration.

NBFCs are primarily governed by the RBI Act and the Master Circular – Reserve Bank of India (Non-Banking Financial Company – Registrations, Exemption and Framework for Scale Based Regulation) Directions, 2025, as updated, Peer to Peer Lending Platform (Reserve Bank) Directions 2025, Master Direction– Non-Banking Financial Company - Account Aggregator (Reserve Bank) Directions, 2016, Reserve Bank Commercial Paper Directions, 2025, Reserve Bank of India (Non-Banking Financial Companies – Income Recognition, Asset Classification and Provisioning) Directions, 2025, Reserve Bank of India (Project Finance) Directions, 2025 and the Non-Banking Financial Companies Acceptance of Public Deposits (Reserve Bank) Directions, 2025. In addition to these regulations, NBFCs are also governed by various circulars, notifications, guidelines and directions issued by the RBI from time to time.

Although by definition, NBFCs are permitted to operate in similar sphere of activities as banks, there are a few important and key differences. The most important distinctions are:

- An NBFC cannot accept deposits repayable on demand – in other words, NBFCs can only accept fixed term deposits. Thus, NBFCs are not permitted to issue negotiable instruments, such as cheques which are payable on demand; and

- NBFCs are not allowed to deal in foreign exchange, even if they specifically apply to the RBI for approval in this regard.

Types of NBFCs

Section 45-IA of the RBI Act makes it mandatory for every NBFC to get itself registered with the Reserve Bank in order to be able to commence any of the aforementioned activities. The major regulations governing our Company are detailed below:

On November 28, 2025, the RBI issued a Master Circular – Reserve Bank of India (Non-Banking Financial Company – Registrations, Exemption and Framework for Scale Based Regulation) Directions, 2025, as updated. A Revised Regulatory Framework for NBFCs ("SBR Framework"), whereby NBFCs have been categorised into following four layers based on their size, activity, and perceived riskiness by the RBI:

i) NBFC- Base Layer ("NBFC-BL");

ii) NBFC- Middle Layer ("NBFC-ML");

iii) NBFC- Upper layer ("NBFC-UL"); and

iv) NBFC- Top Layer ("NBFC-TL")

The NBFC- BL comprise of (a) non-deposit taking NBFCs below the asset size of ₹ 1,00,000 lakh and (b) NBFCs undertaking the following activities- (i) NBFC-Peer to Peer Lending Platform (NBFC-P2P), (ii) NBFC-Account Aggregator (NBFC-AA), (iii) Non-Operative Financial Holding Company (NOFHC) and (iv) NBFCs not availing public funds and not having any customer interface.

The NBFC- ML consist of (a) all deposit taking NBFCs ("NBFC-Ds"), irrespective of asset size, (b) non-deposit taking NBFCs with asset size of ₹ 1,00,000 lakh and above and (c) NBFCs undertaking the following activities

(i) Standalone Primary Dealers (SPDs), (ii) Infrastructure Debt Fund - Non-Banking Financial Companies (IDF- NBFCs), (iii) Core Investment Companies (CICs), (iv) Housing Finance Companies (HFCs) and (v) Infrastructure Finance Companies (NBFC-IFCs).

The NBFC-UL comprise of those NBFCs which are specifically identified by RBI as warranting enhanced regulatory requirement based on a set of parameters and scoring methodology as provided in appendix to SBR Framework. The top ten eligible NBFCs in terms of their asset size shall always reside in the upper layer, irrespective of any other factor.

The NBFC-TL will ideally remain empty. This layer can get populated if RBI is of the opinion that there is a substantial increase in the potential systemic risk from specific NBFC-UL. Such NBFCs shall move to the NBFC- TL.

As the regulatory structure envisages scale based as well as activity-based regulation under the SBR Framework, the following prescriptions shall apply in respect of the NBFCs:

i) NBFC-P2P, NBFC-AA, NOFHC and NBFCs without public funds and customer interface will always remain in the base layer of the regulatory structure.

ii) NBFC-D, CIC, IFC and HFC will be included in middle layer or the upper layer (and not in the base layer), as the case may be. SPD and IDF-NBFC will always remain in the middle layer.

iii) The remaining NBFCs, viz., Investment and Credit Companies (NBFC-ICC), Micro Finance Institution (NBFC-MFI), NBFC-Factors and Mortgage Guarantee Companies (NBFC-MGC) could lie in any of the layers of the regulatory structure depending on the parameters of the scale based regulatory framework.

iv) Government owned NBFCs shall be placed in the base layer or middle layer, as the case may be. RBI Master Directions define 'NBFC ICC' to mean a company which is a financial institution carrying on as its principal business of asset finance, the providing of finance whether by making loans or advances or otherwise for any activity other than its own and the acquisition of securities.

As on the date of this Draft Shelf Prospectus the Company falls under the category of NBFC-ML, as its asset size has reached/or is above 1,000 crore as per the last audited balance sheet.

Regulatory Requirements of an NBFC under the RBI Act

Net Owned Fund

The current net owned fund requirement for NBFC-ICC is ₹ 10 crore. SBR Directions have incrementally revised the net owned fund requirement for the NBFC-ICC for achieving the net owned fund: (i) that minimum net owned fund requirement of ₹ 5.00 crore) by March 31, 2025; and (ii) ₹ 10.00 crore by March 31, 2027. For this purpose, the RBI Act has defined "net owned fund" to mean:

Net Owned Fund – The aggregate of the paid-up equity capital and free reserves as disclosed in the latest balance sheet of the company, after deducting (i) accumulated balance of losses, (ii) deferred revenue expenditure, (iii) deferred tax asset (net); and (iv) other intangible assets; and further reduced by the amounts representing,

(I) investment by such companies in shares of (i) its subsidiary, (ii) companies in the same group, (iii) other NBFCs; and

(II) the book value of debentures, bonds, outstanding loans and advances (including hire purchase and lease finance) made to, and deposits with (i) subsidiary of such companies; and (ii) companies in the same group, to the extent such amount exceeds 10 per cent of (a) above.

Reserve Fund

In addition to the above, Section 45-IC of the RBI Act requires NBFCs to create a reserve fund and transfer therein a sum of not less than 20% of its net profits earned annually before declaration of dividend. Such a fund is to be created by every NBFC irrespective of whether it is a ND NBFC or not. Such sum cannot be appropriated by the NBFC except for the purpose as may be specified by the RBI from time to time and every such appropriation is required to be reported to the RBI within 21 days from the date of such appropriation.

Maintenance of liquid assets

Under the Master Directions, all Non-deposit taking NBFCs with asset size of ₹10,000 lakh and above (as per their last audited balance sheet), systemically important core investment companies and all deposit taking NBFCs (except Type I) NBFC-ND, Non-Operating Financial Holding Company and Standalone Primary Dealer) are required to comply with the RBI Guidelines on Liquidity Risk Management Framework ("LRM Framework"). The LRM Framework provide that the applicable NBFCs should ensure sound and robust liquidity risk management system, the board of directors of the NBFC shall frame a liquidity risk management framework which ensures that it maintains sufficient liquidity, including a cushion of unencumbered, high quality liquid assets to withstand a range of stress events, including those involving the loss or impairment of both unsecured and secured funding sources. The liquidity risk management policy should spell out the entity-level liquidity risk tolerance; funding strategies; prudential limits; system for measuring, assessing and reporting/ reviewing liquidity; framework for stress testing; liquidity planning under alternative scenarios/formal contingent funding plan; nature and frequency of management reporting; periodical review of assumptions used in liquidity projection; etc. The LRM Framework inter alia, deal with: (i) liquidity risk management policy, strategies and practices; (ii) management information system; (iii) internal controls; (iv) maturity profiling; (v) liquidity risk measurement – stock approach; (vi) currency risk; (vii) managing interest rate risk; and (viii) liquidity risk monitoring tools.

The NBFC shall constitute risk management committee ("RMC") consisting of chief executive officer ("CEO")/ managing director ("MD") and heads of various risk verticals, who shall be responsible for evaluating the overall risks faced by the NBFC including liquidity risk. Further, applicable NBFCs have to constitute asset liability management committee ("ALCO") consisting of the NBFC's top management shall be responsible for ensuring adherence to the risk tolerance/limits set by the board of directors as well as implementing the liquidity risk management strategy of the NBFC.

The CEO/ MD or the Executive Director should head the Committee. The role of the ALCO with respect to liquidity risk should include, inter alia, decision on desired maturity profile and mix of incremental assets and liabilities, sale of assets as a source of funding, the structure, responsibilities and controls for managing liquidity risk, and overseeing the liquidity positions of all branches. In addition to RMC and ALCO, applicable NBFCs shall constitute asset liability management support group ("ALM Support Group"). ALM Support Group consist of the operating staff responsible for analysing, monitoring and reporting the liquidity risk profile to the ALCO. The maturity profile should be used for measuring the future cash flows of NBFCs in different time buckets. Within each time bucket, there could be mismatches depending on cash inflows and outflows. While the mismatches up to one year would be relevant since these provide early warning signals of impending liquidity problems, the main focus shall be on the short-term mismatches, viz., 1-30/ 31 days. The net cumulative negative mismatches in the statement of structural liquidity in the maturity buckets 1-7 days, 8-14 days, and 15-30 days shall not exceed 10 percent, 10 percent and 20 per cent of the cumulative cash outflows in the respective time buckets. NBFCs, however, are expected to monitor their cumulative mismatches (running total) across all other time buckets upto 1 year by establishing internal prudential limits with the approval of the board of directors. NBFCs shall also adopt the above cumulative mismatch limits for their structural liquidity statement for consolidated operations. Other than liquidity risk the applicable NBFC has to currency risk and interest rate risk under the terms of LRM Framework.

In addition to the guidelines laid down under LRM Framework, all non-deposit taking systemically important NBFCs with asset size of ₹ 5,00,000 lakh and above (except Core Investment Companies, Type I NBFC-NDs, Non-Operating Financial Holding Companies and Standalone Primary Dealers) and all deposit taking NBFCs irrespective of the asset size shall adhere to the liquidity coverage ratio guidelines ("LCR Framework"). LRM Framework provides that applicable NBFCs shall maintain an adequate level of unencumbered high quality liquid assets (HQLA) that can be converted into cash to meet its liquidity needs for a 30 calendar-day time horizon under a significantly severe liquidity stress scenario. The liquidity coverage ratio shall be maintained on an ongoing basis to help monitor and control liquidity risk as per the prescribed timelines in progressive manner, as provided below:

For NBFCs with asset size of ₹10,00,000 lakh and above	50%	60%	70%	85%	100%
For NBFCs with asset size of ₹5,00,000 lakh and below ₹10,00,000 lakh	30%	50%	60%	85%	100%

Information with respect to change of address, directors, auditors, etc. to be submitted.

An NBFC-ML is required to inform the RBI, not later than one month from the occurrence of any change in:

- the complete postal address, telephone number/s and fax number/s of the registered/corporate office;
- the names and residential addresses of the directors of the company;

Rating of NBFCs

Pursuant to the RBI Master Directions, all NBFCs with an asset size of above ₹1,000 million are required to, as per RBI instructions to, furnish information about downgrading or upgrading of the assigned rating of any financial product issued by them within 15 days of a change in rating.

Provisioning Requirements

An NBFC-ML, after taking into account the time lag between an account becoming non-performing, its recognition, the realisation of the security and erosion overtime in the value of the security charged, shall make provisions against sub-standard assets, doubtful assets and loss assets in the manner provided for in the Master Directions.

In the interests of counter cyclicality and so as to ensure that NBFCs create a financial buffer to protect them from the effect of economic downturns, RBI vide their circular no. DNBS.PD.CC. No.207/ 03.02.002 /2010-11 dated January 17, 2011, introduced provisioning for Standard Assets by all NBFCs. NBFCs are required to make a general provision at 0.25 per cent of the outstanding standard assets. RBI vide their circular no. DNBR (PD) CC No. 037/03.01.001/2014-15 dated June 11, 2015 raised the provision for standard assets to 0.40 per cent to be met by March 2018. The provisions on standard assets are not reckoned for arriving at Net NPAs. The provisions towards Standard Assets are not needed to be netted from gross advances but shown separately as 'Contingent Provisions against Standard Assets' in the balance sheet. NBFCs are allowed to include the 'General Provisions on Standard Assets' in Tier II Capital which together with other 'general provisions/ loss reserves' will be admitted as Tier II Capital only up to a maximum of 1.25 per cent of the total risk-weighted assets. NBFCs shall after taking into account the time lag between an account becoming non-performing, its recognition as such, the realisation of the security and the erosion over time in the value of security charged, make provision against sub-standard assets, doubtful assets and loss as assets.

The provisioning requirements in respect of loans, advances and other credit facilities including bills purchased and discounted shall be as:

<tr><td>Loss Assets</td><td>In case of loss assets the entire asset shall be written off. If the assets are permitted to remain in the books for any reason, 100% of the outstanding must be provided for.</td></tr>
<tr><td>Doubtful Assets</td><td>(a) 100% provision to the extent to which the advance is not covered by the realisable value of the security to which the NBFC has a valid recourse shall be made. The realisable value is to be estimated on a realistic basis;
(b) In addition to the above, depending upon the period for which the asset has remained doubtful, provision to the extent of 20% to 50% of the secured portion (i.e. estimated realisable value of the outstanding) shall be made on the following basis:
<table><tr><th>Period for which the asset has been considered as doubtful</th><th>% of provision</th></tr><tr><td>Upto one year</td><td>20</td></tr><tr><td>One to three years</td><td>30</td></tr><tr><td>More than three years</td><td>50</td></tr></table></td></tr>
<tr><td>Sub-standard assets</td><td>A general provision of 10% of total outstanding shall be made.</td></tr>

Leverage Ratio Norms

An NBFC-ML shall maintain a leverage ratio of not more than 7 after March 31, 2015. Further, NBFCs which are primarily engaged in lending against gold jewellery (such loans comprising of 50 percent or more of their financial assets) shall maintain a minimum tier I capital of 12 per cent of aggregate risk weighted assets of on-balance sheet and of risk adjusted value of off-balance sheet items.

Asset Classification

>150 days overdue	By March 31, 2024
>120 days overdue	By March 31, 2025

The Bank Finance Circular also lays down the following prudential ceilings for exposure of Banks to NBFCs:

i. Banks' exposures to a single NBFC (excluding gold loan companies) will be restricted to 20 percent of their eligible capital base (Tier I capital). However, based on the risk perception, more stringent exposure limits in respect of certain categories of NBFCs may be considered by banks. Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002 ("SARFAESI")

The SARFAESI Act regulates the securitization and reconstruction of financial assets of banks and financial institutions. The SARFAESI Act provides for measures in relation to enforcement of security interests and rights of the secured creditor in case of default.

The RBI has issued guidelines to banks and financial institutions on the process to be followed for sales of financial assets to asset reconstruction companies. These guidelines provide that a bank or a financial institution or an NBFC may sell financial assets to an asset reconstruction company provided the asset is an NPA. A bank or financial institution or NBFC may sell a financial asset only if the borrower has a consortium or multiple banking arrangements and at least 75% by value of the total loans to the borrower are classified as an NPA and at least 75% by the value of the banks and financial institutions in the consortium or multiple banking arrangement agree to the sale. In addition to the above, a financial asset may be sold by any bank or financial institution where the asset is reported, by the bank financial institution to Central Repository for Information on Large Credit, as an NPA wherein the principal or interest payment is overdue between 61-90 days.

As per the SARFAESI Amendment Act of 2004, the constitutional validity of which was upheld in a recent Supreme Court ruling, non-performing assets have been defined as an asset or account of a borrower, which has been classified by a bank or financial institution as sub-standard, doubtful or loss asset in accordance with directions or guidelines issued by the RBI. In case the bank or financial institution is regulated by a statutory body/authority, NPAs must be classified by such bank in accordance with guidelines issues by such regulatory authority. The RBI has issued guidelines on classification of assets as NPAs. Further, these assets are to be sold on a "without recourse" basis only.

The SARFAESI Act provides for the acquisition of financial assets by Securitization Company or Reconstruction Company from any bank or financial institution on such terms and conditions as may be agreed upon between them. A securitization company or reconstruction company having regard to the guidelines framed by the RBI may, for the purposes of asset reconstruction, provide for measures such as the proper management of the business of the borrower by change in or takeover of the management of the business of the borrower, the sale or lease of a part or whole of the business of the borrower and certain other measures such as rescheduling of payment of debts payable by the borrower; enforcement of security.

Additionally, under the provisions of the SARFAESI Act, any securitisation company or reconstruction company may act as an agent for any bank or financial institution for the purpose of recovering its dues from the borrower on payment of such fee or charges as may be mutually agreed between the parties.

Various provisions of the SARFAESI Act have been amended by the Enforcement of Security Interest and Recovery of Debt Laws and Miscellaneous Provisions (Amendment) Act, 2016 as also the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016 (which amended S.13 of SARFAESI). As per this amendment, the Adjudicating Authority under the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016 shall by order declare moratorium for prohibiting inter alia any action to foreclose, recover or enforce any security interest created by the corporate debtor in respect of its property including any action under the SARFAESI Act.

Further, in accordance with Ministry of Finance notification no. S.O. 856(E) dated February 24, 2020, the eligibility limit for to enforcement of security interest with respect to secured debt recovery by NBFCs (having assets worth ₹ 1,000 million and above) has been reduced from ₹ 10 million to ₹ 5.00 million.

The Code has established an Insolvency and Bankruptcy Board of India to function as the regulator for all matters pertaining to insolvency and bankruptcy. The Code prescribes a timeline of 330 days for the insolvency resolution process, which begins from the date the application is admitted by the NCLT. During this period, the creditors and the debtor shall negotiate and finalise a resolution plan (accepted by 66% of the financial creditors) and in the event, they fail, the debtor is placed in liquidation and the moratorium lifted. The Code stipulates an interim-moratorium period which would commence after filing of the application for a fresh start process and shall cease to exist after elapse of a period of 180 days from the date of application. During such period, all legal proceedings against such debtor should be stayed and no fresh suits, proceedings, recovery or enforcement action may be initiated against such debtor. However, the Code has also imposed certain restrictions on the debtor during the moratorium period such as the debtor shall not be permitted to act as a director of any company or be involved in the promotion or management of a company during the moratorium period.

The Insolvency and Bankruptcy (Insolvency and Liquidation Proceedings of Financial Service Providers and Application to Adjudicating Authority) Rules 2019 ("IBC Rules, 2019")

The Code, which regulates the insolvency resolution process for "corporate persons" previously excluded financial service providers from its purview. With the notification of the IBC Rules, 2019, the provisions of the Code will apply to financial service providers as well, which are subject to modifications and additional conditions as set out in the IBC Rules, 2019. Financial service providers are defined to mean persons engaged in the business of providing financial services in terms of authorisation issued or registration granted by a financial sector regulator under the Code. Shops and Establishments legislations in various states

The provisions of various Shops and Establishments legislations, as applicable, regulate the conditions of work and employment in shops and commercial establishments and generally prescribe obligations in respect of inter- alia registration, opening and closing hours, daily and weekly working hours, holidays, leave, health, termination of services and safety measures and wages for overtime work.

Labour Laws

Our Company is subject to various labour laws that regulate the conditions of work and employment, work hours, safety, protection, working condition, employment terms and welfare of laborers and/or employees. Our Company is, inter alia, subject to the applicable shops and establishments legislations, the Employees State Insurance Act, 1948, the Employees (Provident Fund and Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1952, the Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972, the Minimum Wages Act, 1948, the Payment of Wages Act, 1936, the Payment of Bonus Act, 1965, the Maternity Benefit Act, 1961, the Sexual Harassment of Women at Workplace (Prevention, Prohibition and Redressal) Act, 2013, and the Equal Remuneration Act, 1976. Intellectual Property Intellectual Property in India enjoys protection under both common law and statute. Under statute, India provides for patent protection under the Patents Act, 1970, copyright protection under the Copyright Act, 1957 and trademark protection under the Trade Marks Act, 1999. The above enactments provide for protection of intellectual property by imposing civil and criminal liability for infringement.

LAWS RELATING TO THE POWER SECTOR

In accordance with the Indian Constitution, the authority to regulate the electricity sector vests with both the State and the Central Governments.

The Ministry of Power ("MoP") acts as the administrative ministry governing the Central power sector in the country. The MoP is responsible for the administration of the Electricity Act, 2003, as amended from time to time ("Electricity Act"), the Energy Conservation Act, 2001 as amended and to undertake such amendments to these Acts, as may be necessary from time to time, in conformity with the government's policy objectives. The Central Electricity Authority advises the MoP, inter alia, on electricity policies and technical matters.

Electricity Act, 2003

The Electricity Act is a Central legislation relating to generation, transmission, distribution, trading and use of electricity that seeks to replace the multiple legislations that govern the power sector. The Electricity Act aims to enable measures to be taken for the development of the electricity industry, promote competition, protect the interest of consumers and supply of electricity to all areas, rationalize the electricity tariff, ensure transparent policies regarding subsidies, promote efficient and environmentally benign policies, constitute the Central Electricity Agency and establish the Appellate Tribunal. The most significant reform initiative under the Electricity Act was the move towards a multi-buyer, multi-seller system as opposed to the existing structure which permitted only a single distributor to purchase power from power generators. In addition, the Electricity Act grants the electricity regulatory commissions freedom in determining tariffs. Under the Electricity Act, no license is required for establishing, expanding, operating or maintaining a generating station, if it complies with the technical standards relating to connectivity with the grid, provided that the generating station has submitted a detailed project report. The Electricity Act was amended in 2007 to exempt captive power generation plants from licensing requirements for supply to any licensee or consumer and further amended in 2010 to provide that any developer of a special economic zone ("SEZ") notified shall be deemed to be a licensee under the Electricity Act. It was subsequently amended in 2014 to promote competition, efficiency in operations and improvement in quality of supply of electricity in the country resulting in capacity addition and ultimate benefit to the consumers. The Act was further amended in 2020 and 2022 for further development of the power sector.

Licensing Requirements

Under the Electricity Act, transmission and distribution of, and trading in, electricity require licences from the appropriate Central or State electricity regulatory commissions (respectively, CERCs and SERCs, and collectively, ERCs), unless exempted. CERC has jurisdiction over generating companies owned or controlled by the Government or which have a composite scheme for generation and sale in more than one State. SERCs have jurisdiction over generating stations within State boundaries, except those under CERC's jurisdiction. The respective ERC determines the tariff for supply of electricity from a generating company to a licensee, transmission, wheeling, and retail sale of electricity. All States in India have ERCs in operation.

Generation

Currently, any generating company in India can establish, operate and maintain a generating station if it complies with the technical standards relating to connectivity with the grid. Approvals from the Government, the State Government and the techno-economic clearance from the CEA are no longer required, except for hydroelectric projects. Generating companies are permitted to sell electricity to any licensees and where permitted by the respective SERCs, to consumers. The respective ERCs determine the tariff for the supply of electricity from a generating company to any distribution licensee, transmission of electricity, wheeling of electricity and retail sale of electricity. CERC has jurisdiction over generating companies owned or controlled by the Government and those generating companies who have entered into or otherwise have a composite scheme for generation and sale in more than one State. SERCs have jurisdiction over generating stations within State boundaries, except those under CERC's jurisdiction.

In order to qualify as a captive generating plant, the Electricity Rules, 2005 as amended (the Electricity Rules) require that not less than 26 per cent. of the ownership of the plant be held by a captive user and not less than 51 per cent. of the aggregate electricity generated in such plant, determined on an annual basis, be consumed for captive use. If the minimum percentage of captive use is not complied with in any year, the entire electricity generated is treated as supplied by a "generating company" and benefits available to a "captive generating plant" (such as exemption from payment of certain levies and surcharges) will not apply in such year.

Transmission

Transmission, being a regulated activity, involves the intervention of various players. The Government is responsible for facilitating the transmission and supply of electricity, particularly inter-State, regional and inter- regional transmission.

The Electricity Act vests the responsibility of efficient, economical and integrated transmission and supply of electricity with the Government and empowers it to make regional demarcations of the country for the same. In addition, the Government will facilitate voluntary inter-connections and co- ordination of facilities for the inter-State, regional and inter-regional generation and transmission of electricity. The CEA is required to prescribe certain grid standards under the Electricity Act and every transmission licensee must comply with such technical standards of operation and maintenance of transmission lines. In addition, every transmission licensee is required to obtain a licence from the CERC and the SERCs, as the case maybe.

The Electricity Act allows generating companies open access to transmission lines. The transmission licensee is required to comply with the technical standards of operation and maintenance of transmission lines specified by the CEA. The provision of open access is subject to the availability of adequate transmission capacity as determined by the Central Transmission Utility or the State Transmission Utility. The Electricity Act provides certain principles in accordance with which the appropriate ERC will specify terms and conditions for determination of the tariff. Under the Electricity Act, CERC is vested with the authority to determine the tariffs for inter-State transmission of electricity. A transmission licensee may, with prior intimation to CERC or the SERC, as the case may be, engage in any business for optimum utilisation of its assets, provided that a proportion of its revenues from such business be utilized for reducing its charges for transmission and wheeling.

Trading

The Electricity Act specifies trading in electricity as a licensed activity. This may involve wholesale supply or retail supply. The licence to engage in electricity trading is required to be obtained from the appropriate ERC. The CERC issued the CERC (Procedure, Terms and Conditions for Grant of Trading Licence and Other Related Matters) Regulations, 2009, as amended (Trading Licence Regulations) to regulate the inter-State trading of electricity. The Trading Licence Regulations define inter-State trading as the transfer of electricity from the territory of one State for resale to the territory of another State, and includes electricity imported from any other country for resale in any State of India or exported to any other country subject to compliance with applicable laws and clearance by appropriate authorities. Under the Trading Licence Regulations, any person desirous of undertaking inter-State trading in electricity shall apply to the CERC for the grant of a licence. The Trading Licence Regulations set out various qualifications for the grant of a licence for undertaking electricity trading, including certain technical and professional qualifications, and net worth requirements. Further, a licensee is subject to certain conditions including the extent of trading margin, maintenance of records and submission of auditors' reports. The existing licensees are required to meet the net worth, current ratio and liquidity ratio criteria and are required to pay the licence fee as specified by the CERC, from time to time. The licensees need to submit monthly reports and annual returns on over-the-counter contracts and transaction volumes on a weekly basis.

Tariff Principles

Under the Electricity Act, the ERCs determine the tariff for the supply of electricity by a generating company (as well as for transmission, wheeling and retail sale of electricity). In case of a shortage of electricity supply, the ERC may fix the minimum and maximum tariff for sale or purchase of electricity, pursuant to an agreement entered into between a generating company and licensee or between licensees, for up to one year. The Electricity Act provides that the ERC shall adopt such tariff that has been determined through a transparent process of bidding in accordance with the guidelines issued by the Government. The MoP has issued detailed guidelines for competitive bidding as well as standard bidding documents for competitive bid projects. Under guidelines issued by the MoP, the determination of the tariff for a particular power project depends on the mode of participation in the project, being (i) the MoU route, based on tariff principles prescribed by CERC (cost plus basis, comprising capacity charge, energy charge, unscheduled interchange charge and incentive payments); or (ii) the competitive bidding route, where the tariff is market-based.

Central Electricity Regulatory Commission (Terms and Conditions of Tariff) Regulations, 2024

The Central Electricity Regulatory Commission (CERC) has now issued the Central Electricity Regulatory Commission (Terms and Conditions of Tariff) Regulations, 2024 (hereinafter referred to as "Tariff Regulations, 2024"), which are generally applicable for the tariff period 2024-29. These regulations govern the determination of tariff for a generating station (or a unit thereof) and a transmission system (or an element thereof) by the Commission under section 62 read with section 79 of the Electricity Act, 2003. It is to be noted that specific transitional provisions may apply to projects that were subject to the 2019 Regulations or earlier frameworks, and eligibility criteria for such projects under the 2024 Regulations would need to be carefully reviewed. Furthermore, the Tariff Regulations, 2024, are not applicable to: (a) Generating stations or transmission systems where tariff has been discovered through tariff-based competitive bidding in accordance with guidelines issued by the Central Government and adopted by the Commission under section 63 of the Act; and (b) Generating stations based on renewable sources of energy, whose tariff is determined under the prevailing Central Electricity Regulatory Commission (Terms and Conditions for Tariff determination from Renewable Energy Sources) Regulations (e.g., the 2020 regulations, or any subsequent amendments/replacements). Important provisions as notified in these Tariff Regulations include :

a) Retaining Rate of Return on Equity at 15.50% (for all regulated entities except pump storage hydro projects) and 16.50% (for pump storage hydro projects). However, additional return of 0.5% for timely completion of projects has been discontinued. Further, addition or reduction in ROE, depending upon ability to achieve ramp rate has been introduced.

b) For computation of interest on working capital, receivables reduced from 60 days to 45 days, coal stock reduced from 15 days to 10 days for pit head and from 30 days to 20 days for non-pit head stations.

c) While computing Energy Charge Rate of a coal based generating stations, an additional allowance of 85 kCal/kg on GCV 'as received' on account of variation during storage is allowed.

d) Provision for supplementary capacity charges for additional capitalization and supplementary energy charges, on account of implementation of revised emission standards in existing generating station or new generating station.

e) Provision of special single part tariff introduced so that such tariff may be recovered based on actual dispatch in respect of thermal generating station which have completed 25 years of operation from the date of commercial operation, where the generating company and the beneficiary may agree on an arrangement.

f) Generating Stations which have signed Power Purchase Agreements on or before January 5, 2011, but not achieved financial closure by March 31, 2019, are required to obtain fresh consent from beneficiaries.

g) Introduction of differential rate regime (to be effective from April 1, 2020) during Peak Hours and Off-Peak Hours for recovery of Capacity Charges, including a High Demand Season of three months (continuous or otherwise) and Low Demand Season of remaining 9 months (to be declared by the concerned RLDCs at least six months in advance).

h) Provision of incentive for exceeding specified normative plant load factor at the rate of 65 paise/ kWh for ex-bus scheduled energy during Peak Hours and a 50 paise/ kWh for ex-bus scheduled energy during Off-Peak Hours.

In case of Hydro Generating Stations, the energy charge rate for secondary energy revised from ninety paise per kWh to one hundred twenty paise per kWh.

Central Electricity Regulatory Commission (Grant of Connectivity, Long-term Access and Medium-Term Open Access in Inter-State Transmission and Related Matters) Regulations, 2009

The Central Electricity Regulatory Commission (Grant of Connectivity, Long-term Access and Medium-Term Open Access in Inter-State Transmission and Related Matters) Regulations, 2009 as amended (the CERC Regulations) provide various transmission products, standardize procedures, define timelines and ensure a level playing field between market players. They provide the procedures and requirements for obtaining connectivity to inter-State transmission systems, obtaining medium-term open access and obtaining long-term access. There have been amendments to the CERC Regulations in relation to the appointment of a principal generator on behalf of the renewable energy generating stations. The CERC Regulations were amended on February 17, 2017 changing the definition of long-term access and medium-term open access to extend the right to use inter-State transmission systems (ISTS) for a period exceeding seven years and a period equal to or exceeding three months but not exceeding five years, respectively.

Central Electricity Regulatory Commission (Sharing of Inter-State Transmission Charges and Losses) Regulations, 2020

The Central Electricity Regulatory Commission (Sharing of Inter State Transmission Charges and Losses) Regulations, 2020 as amended (the Inter-State Regulations) implement a point of connection method of sharing the transmission charges of inter-State transmission systems in India for a five-year period, replacing the earlier system of regional postage stamps. These regulations provide that the yearly transmission charges, revenue requirements on account of foreign exchange rate variations, changes in interest rates, and losses will be shared among the users. All the users will be default signatories to the transmission service agreement, which also requires these users to pay the point-of-connection charge, which covers the revenue of transmission licensees. The point of connection tariffs are based on load flow analysis and capture the utilisation of each network element by the users.

Central Electricity Regulatory Commission (Standards of Performance of Inter-State Transmission Licensees) Regulations, 2012

The Central Electricity Regulatory Commission (Standards of Performance of Inter-State Transmission Licensees) Regulations, 2012 as amended (the Standard of Performance Regulations) apply to all the inter- State transmission licensees to ensure compliance with performance standards and to provide for an efficient, reliable, coordinated and economic system of electricity transmission. The Standard of Performance Regulations also covers the methodology for calculating compensation in the case of loss on account of non-adherence.

National Electricity Policy, 2005

The National Electricity Policy was notified on 10 February 2005. This policy aims at accelerated development of the power sector, focusing on the supply of electricity to all areas and protecting interests of consumers and other stakeholders, keeping in view availability of energy resources technology available to exploit these resources, economics of generation using different resources and energy security issues.

National Tariff Policy, 2016

In 2016, the Government, under the Electricity Act, notified the revised National Tariff Policy (the Tariff Policy) that replaced the tariff policy of 2006. The goals of the Tariff Policy are to ensure availability of electricity to consumers at reasonable and competitive rates, ensure the financial viability of the power sector, attract investment to the power sector, promote regulatory transparency, consistency and predictability across jurisdictions, minimize perceptions of regulatory risks, promote competition, ensure operational efficiency, improve the quality of the power supply, promote generation of electricity from renewable sources, promote hydroelectric power generation including pumped storage projects (PSP) to provide adequate peaking reserves, reliable grid operation and integration of variable renewable energy sources, evolve a dynamic and robust electricity infrastructure for better consumer services, facilitate supply of adequate and uninterrupted power to all categories of consumers and ensure the creation of adequate capacity including reserves in generation, transmission and distribution in advance, for the reliability of supply of electricity to consumers. The Tariff Policy mandates that the relevant ERCs must reserve a minimum percentage for the purchase of solar energy equivalent to 8 per cent. of total consumption of energy by March 2022. In order to further encourage renewable sources of energy, the Tariff Policy mandates that no inter-State transmission charges and losses shall be levied until such period as may be notified on transmission of the electricity generated from solar power plants through the inter-State transmission system for sale. For transmission, the Tariff Policy aims to ensure optimal development of the transmission network with adequate margin for reliability, by efficient utilisation of generation and transmission assets and attracting investment providing adequate returns. The benefits of improved efficiency and new technology are passed on to consumers through reduced tariffs. It emphasizes the need for the appropriate regulator to ensure the recovery of all prudent costs when approving the financial restructuring of a transmission company.

The Tariff Policy requires that all future power requirements be procured competitively by distribution licensees except for expansion of pre-existing projects or State Government owned or controlled companies. Regulators must resort to tariffs set by reference to standards of the CERC, provided that the generating capacity expansion by private developers for this purpose is restricted to a one-time addition of not more than 100 per cent. of the existing capacity. Under the Tariff Policy, tariffs for all new generation and transmission projects are decided on a competitive bidding basis.

National Electricity Plan

The Central Electricity Authority has released the National Electricity Plan ("NEP") for the period of 2022-32. The plan includes a review of the last five years (2017-22), a detailed plan for the next five years (2022-27), and a prospective plan for the following five years (2027-32).

The projected peak electricity demand and energy requirement for India are estimated to be 277.2 GW and 1907.8 BU in 2026-27 and 366.4 GW and 2473.8 BU in 2031-32. These projections consider factors like increased adoption of electric vehicles, solar rooftop installations, production of green hydrogen, and the Saubhagya scheme.

The likely installed capacity for 2026-27 is estimated to be 609,591 MW, including 273,038 MW of conventional capacity (coal, gas, nuclear) and 336,553 MW of renewable-based capacity (hydro, solar, wind, biomass) along with battery energy storage system (BESS) capacity.

For 2031-32, the estimated installed capacity is 900,422 MW, including 304,147 MW of conventional capacity and 596,275 MW of renewable-based capacity, excluding potential hydro-based imports, along with BESS capacity.

The NEP aims to achieve a non-fossil based installed capacity of around 500 GW by 2029-30. It projects the share of non-fossil based capacity to increase to 57.4% by 2026-27 and potentially reach 68.4% by 2031-32, compared to the current level of around 42.5% (as of April 2023).

The average plant load factor (PLF) of coal-based capacity is expected to be about 58.4% in 2026-27 and 58.7% in 2031-32.

The plan identifies a storage capacity requirement of 16.13 GW/82.37 GWh in 2026-27, which increases to 73.93 GW/411.4 GWh by 2031-32. This includes pumped storage plants (PSP) and battery energy storage systems (BESS).

The estimated domestic coal requirement is 866.4 million tons in 2026-27 and 1025.8 million tons in 2031-32, with an additional 28.9 million tons of coal imports for plants designed to run on imported coal.

The total fund requirement for generation capacity addition during the period 2022-2027 is estimated to be ₹ 14,54,188 crores, while for the period 2027-2032, it is estimated to be ₹ 19,06,406 crores.

The average emission factor is expected to reduce to 0.548 kg CO_2/kWh_{net} in 2026-27 and 0.430 kg CO_2/kWh_{net} by 2031-32.

Under the Electricity Act, 2003, the Central Electricity Authority is mandated to prepare and notify the National Electricity Plan in accordance with the National Electricity Policy once every five years.

Expectation from the State

States are required to take the following actions:

(i) Bring to the notice of the central government such issues that require assistance from any central ministry or need coordination between various ministries.

(ii) Adopt best practices and emulate other States which have come up with innovative approach in providing electricity to every household.

(iii) Explore possibilities of using renewable energy sources in providing electricity to remote areas where the extension of grid connection is not viable.

(iv) Approach the central government for assistance in arranging gap funding requirement, if any.

(v) Constitute a monitoring team to review progress of the projects regularly.

(vi) Appoint a dedicated nodal officer for regular coordination with the Central Project Monitoring Unit at the Ministry of Power so that central and state government always remain coordinated in fulfilling the mission of 24X7PFA.

(iv) Monitoring of the PFA Programme is being performed entirely through a dedicated web portal.

National Solar Mission

The Ministry of New and Renewable Energy (MNRE) has approved a policy on the development of solar energy in India by the Jawaharlal Nehru National Solar Mission (Mission). The Mission has set the ambitious target of deploying 20,000 MW of grid connected solar power by 2022 and is aimed at reducing the cost of solar power generation in the country through: (i) long term policy; (ii) large scale deployment goals; (iii) aggressive research and development; and (iv) domestic production of critical raw materials, components and products, as a result to achieve grid tariff parity by 2022. The mission will create an enabling policy framework to achieve this objective and make India a global leader in solar energy. The Government has revised the target of grid connected solar power projects from 20,000 MW by the year 2021-22 to 100,000 MW by the year 2021-22 under the Mission.

Master Direction on Treatment of Wilful Defaulters and Large Defaulters dated November 28, 2025

The said master direction aims to promote transparency and fairness in the classification of borrowers as wilful defaulters by lenders, including NBFCs, and to establish a system for sharing credit information about these defaulters to alert other lenders. This directive applies to 'lenders' including all India financial institutions, banks, or NBFCs providing credit to the borrower.

The directions set forth a detailed process for identifying the wilful defaulters, so that the penal provisions are applied in a fair manner and the scope for discretion is obviated, and require a transparent mechanism throughout the identification process, including a role for internal audits. The said master direction also outlines: (a) procedures for reporting and sharing credit information on wilful and large defaulters with CICs; (b) handling of compromise settlements with wilful defaulters; (c) treatment of defaulted loans transferred to other lenders and asset reconstruction companies; (d) approach for accounts resolved under the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016 resolution framework guidelines issued by RBI; and (e) preventive measures that lenders, statutory auditors, and third parties should take to prevent and identify wilful defaults.

Rationale and key rating drivers

Ratings reaffirmation to bank facilities and other instruments of Power Finance Corporation Limited (PFC) takes into account healthy profitability, adequate capitalisation profile and improving asset quality metrics. The ratings continue to draw comfort from the company's strategic importance to the Government of India (GoI) for development of power infrastructure in the country, and its quasi-sovereign status that allows it to mobilise resources from diversified channels at competitive borrowing rates. These rating strengths are, however, partially offset by portfolio vulnerability due to exposure towards the private sector and weak state power utilities (SPUs) and the high sectoral concentration risk.

The rating for the perpetual debt instrument (PDI) factors in PFC's healthy capital adequacy ratio (CAR) of 22.37% as on June 30, 2025 (24.37% as on March 31, 2024), which is comfortably above the regulatory requirement of 15%. The rating for PDI also factors in its healthy profitability with return on average total assets (RoTA) of 3.3% for Q1FY26 and 3.2% in FY25.

Nonetheless, PFC's sector level exposure remains concentrated towards Power sector, given its mandate, with significant exposure to state power utilities (SPUs) having weak financial profile as well as risks associated with its exposure to private sector. Care Ratings Limited (CareEdge Ratings) notes that PFC has started lending towards non-power infrastructure segment, however, the share to that segment remains small.

Rating sensitivities: Factors likely to lead to rating actions

Positive factors - Factors that could, individually or collectively, lead to positive rating action/upgrade:

- Not Applicable

Negative factors - Factors that could, individually or collectively, lead to negative rating action/downgrade:

- Dilution in GoI shareholding pattern and/or in GoI support.
- Significant deterioration in asset quality profile.
- Material weakening in capitalisation profile.

Negative factors (additional) for the perpetual debt - Factors that could, individually or collectively, lead to negative rating action/downgrade:

- Deteriorating capitalisation levels, with cushion over the regulatory benchmark remaining below 5%
- Weakening profitability levels, with RoTA remaining below 1% on a sustained basis

Analytical approach: Standalone

CareEdge Ratings rates PFC on its standalone profile along with factoring, in its sovereign ownership and its strategic importance to GoI.

Outlook: Stable

The Stable outlook on long-term ratings of PFC reflects CareEdge Ratings' expectation that PFC will continue to remain a strategically important entity to the GoI and will continue to play an important role in development of the power sector.

Detailed description of key rating drivers:

Key strengths

Strategic importance to and strong support from GoI

PFC was wholly owned by the GoI till 2007. In 2007, the company launched its initial public offer (IPO) and hence, the GoI's stake in the company reduced to 90% as on March 31, 2007. As on June 30, 2025, the GoI's stake stood at 55.99%. PFC enjoys patronage from and support of the GoI because of the pivotal role that PFC plays in financing power projects for the state and private sectors, being instrumental in strengthening the power infrastructure of the country. PFC and REC continue to be a strategically important entities for GoI, as they are the nodal agencies for GoI schemes, such as the Revamped Distribution Sector Scheme and Ultra Mega Power Projects. The scheme's implementation period is five years (FY22 to FY26) with outlay of ₹3,03,758 crore with an estimated Gross Budgetary Support of ₹97,631 crore from the GoI.

PFC and REC are advised by the Ministry of Power (MoP) to extend their support to distribution companies (discoms) for timely payments of their dues under the Late Payment Surcharge and Related Matters Rules, 2022 (LPS Rules 2022). Loans under LPS are entirely guaranteed by the state government and are to be repaid by discoms to suppliers in 1-4 years, depending on the quantum of loans. MoP initiated a tariff-based competitive bidding process for developing and strengthening transmission system through private sector participation. PFC Consulting Limited, a wholly owned subsidiary of PFC, has been nominated as a bid process coordinator by MoP, GoI, for development of independent transmission projects. CareEdge Ratings notes the company's strategic importance to GoI for developing power infrastructure in India and expects it to continue in future. CareEdge expects PFC to continue to be a crucial engine for financing requirement of power sector entities in India.

Significant market player in the power financing sector

PFC's loan book has grown mutli-fold in recent financial year mainly on account of disbursements through LPS and RBPF. With inception of LPS and Revolving Bill Payment Facility in FY22, picking up the momentum in FY23 - FY25, the company's gross loan book grew by ~13% year-over-year (y-o-y) in FY25 reaching a loan book of ₹5,43,120 crore. With continued growth momentum and ~86% (Y-o-Y) increase in disbursement during Q1FY26 as against Q1FY25, PFCs loan book stood at ₹5,49,786 crore.

As on June 30, 2025, the share of loans to discoms continue to make majority share in the overall loan book with 40%, followed by loans to generation companies (gencos) with 32%, loans to renewable energy (RE) companies with 15%, loans to transmission companies (transcos) with 7% and loans to infrastructure companies and others makes 4% of the book. CareEdge expects share of renewable energy in total AUM of the company to grow in near to medium term which is also expected to dilute share of state backed loans in near to medium term.

PFC forayed in lending to the infrastructure sector. The maximum exposure toward the sector will be 30% of the outstanding loan book subject to two-thirds new sanctions in a financial year towards the power sector. The company's infrastructure loan book is at nascent stage, making 2% loan as on June 30, 2025. PFC's ability to diversify sectors, while keeping its asset quality strong is a key monitorable aspect, as infrastructure lending is a new venture for the company.

With rising share of loans towards RE sector, which are predominantly in private sector, the share of overall loan towards private sector is rising with 23% as on June 30, 2025, from 19% as on March 31, 2024. Consequently, share of overall loan towards government sector is reducing to 77% as on June 30, 2025, from 81% as on March 31, 2024. Going forward, CARE Ratings expects the growth momentum to continue the same trajectory with share of private sector exposure rising gradually.

Diversified resource base

As a quasi-sovereign financial institution (FI), PFC is able to manage a well-diversified resource profile and can mobilise funds at cost effective rates from sources such as external commercial borrowings, international agencies, domestic FIs, long-term bonds, bank loans, commercial paper, capital gains tax exemption bonds, infrastructure bonds, and tax-free bonds.

PFC's borrowings increased by 14% y-o-y to ₹4,65,763 crore as on March 31, 2025, in line with its loan book growth. However, despite marginal increase in loan book, the borrowing of the company reduced to ₹4,60,371 crore. As on June 30, 2025, majority borrowings come from domestic bonds with 57% (56% as on March 31, 2025), followed by rupee term loan from banks with 19% (19% as on March 31, 2025), foreign currency borrowings with 20% (19% as on March 31, 2025), 54EC bonds with 2% (2% as on March 31, 2025), subordinate liabilities with 1% (1%) and balance by CC/OD/line of credit. As on June 30, 2024, PFC's 95% of foreign currency portfolio was hedged mitigating effect of near-term foreign currency fluctuations on PFCs profitability.

Healthy profitability

In FY25, PFC reported profit after tax (PAT) of ₹17,352 crore, up by ~21% y-o-y. During Q1FY26, the company continued to be report healthy profitability with PAT of ₹4,502 crore. PFC's healthy yield on its advances and its ability to minimize its cost of funds by virtue of being a quasi-sovereign entity has led to improvement in NIMs improving from 3.3% for FY24 to 3.6% for FY25. Despite significant increase in its scale of operations, Opex for PFC continued to be in comfortable range in recent years with Opex / ATA of 0.13% for FY25, mainly due to its wholesale lending model and limited manpower/human capital requirement.

With recoveries received from the non-performing assets (NPA) and contained slippages in FY25, credit cost ratio continued to be comfortable at 0.08% for FY25 against negative 0.04% in FY24. Profitability for the company continued to be robust with RoTA of 3.2% for FY25 largely driven by improved NIMs and controlled credit cost. For Q1FY26, RoTA further improved to 3.3% (annualized) driven by negative credit cost.
Going forward, CareEdge Ratings expects profitability to remain healthy with company expecting the recoveries against few of the accounts in NPAs.

Improving asset quality metrics
PFC's asset quality has been improving trend over the years. Owing to resolution through National Company Law Tribunal, write backs and write offs, the company reported reduction in gross NPA (GNPA) ratio to 1.94% as on March 31, 2025, from 3.34% as on March 31, 2024.
Having suffered asset quality issues in the past with GNPA of ~9.4% as on March 31, 2019, PFCs asset quality has improved multi fold in recent financial years. Additionally, the company is maintaining healthy Provision coverage ratio of ~80% on its stage III assets as on June 30, 2025. However, with total PCR of ~2.5% as on June 30, 2025, and lumpy exposure to power sector companies, any slippages from stage II may lead to significant deterioration in asset quality.

Adequate capital position
PFC's gearing level has been improving owing to rise in internal accruals. Gearing improved to 6.4x as on March 31, 2025, from 6.7x as on March 31, 2024. Additionally, PFC has been maintaining capitalisation above regulatory benchmark for CAR and Tier I capital. CAR for the company stood at to 22.4% as on June 30, 2025, providing sufficient room for further growth without substantial equity raise.

Key weaknesses
Sectoral concentration of operations along with high borrower-wise concentration
Owing to its mandate, PFC's operation was concentrated towards power sector. With the company foraying in infrastructure sector with ₹12,881 crore making ~2% gross loan as on June 30, 2025, the diversification of the sector was initiated by PFC. Although, the maximum exposure limit is always restricted to 30% of outstanding loan, subject to 2/3rd new sanctions in a FY towards power sector. Its ability to diversify sectors, while keeping its asset quality strong, is a key monitorable aspect, as infrastructure lending is a new venture for the company. CareEdge expects growth of Infrastructure portfolio to be moderate in near to medium term.

PFC was exempted from following single entity/group exposure norms and concentration limits that are applicable to NBFCs till March 31, 2022. Owing to its business model and strategic importance to GoI, the RBI vide its letter dated August 24, 2022, allowed the existing exposure as on August 24, 2022, to run off till maturity without invoking regulatory violation and conform to RBI credit concentration norms regarding new exposure. As an IFC, the total permissible exposure for lending and investing is 30% of Tier-I capital in case of a single borrower and 50% in case of a single group of borrowers, respectively. Borrower concentration continues to make the company's credit profile vulnerable with top 20 customers contributing ~54% gross loan as on March 31, 2025, down from ~57% of the gross loan as on March 31, 2024. CareEdge Ratings expects the customer-wise concentration to persist going forward. Additionally, as the company grows in renewable energy and Infrastructure segment, CareEdge expects private sector exposure to gradually increase and hence asset quality of these segments shall remain a key monitorable.

Liquidity: Strong
As on March 31, 2025, PFC's liquidity profile remained adequate, with cash and cash equivalents of ₹6,614 crore and investments of ₹6,119 crore (excluding equity investments in subsidiaries, above scheduled collections of ₹93,945 crore to cater to its debt obligations of ₹83,715 crore for the next one year. Per the asset liability management (ALM) statement, there are positive cumulative mismatches across time buckets till 1 year. However, since the assets have a relatively higher tenor as against its borrowings, PFC has negative cumulative mismatches in 3-5 year bucket. To mitigate negative cumulative mismatches, the company has access to sanctioned unutilised bank line of ₹14,768 crore as on March 31, 2025. PFC's liquidity profile is expected to remain comfortable with strong financial flexibility, arising from sovereign ownership and diversified funding profile and undrawn sanctioned bank lines. Gaps between outflows and inflows are partially bridged through cash and investment in government securities and sizeable unutilised bank lines.

Detailed Rationale

Crisil Ratings has assigned its 'Crisil AAA/Stable' rating to the long term borrowing programme of Power Finance Corporation Limited (PFC) and its 'Crisil A1+' rating to the short term borrowing programme of the company. Crisil Ratings has also reaffirmed its ratings on the other debt instruments and bank facilities of PFC at 'Crisil AAA/Stable/Crisil A1+'

The ratings continue to reflect the strategic importance of PFC to the GoI, given the key role the company plays in financing the Indian power sector, and majority ownership by the government. The ratings also factor in strong market position and adequate capitalisation and resource profile. These strengths are partially offset by inherent vulnerability of the asset quality to the weak credit risk profiles of borrowers and significant sectoral and customer concentration in revenue.

The consolidated asset quality has shown sequential improvement led by steady resolution of delinquent private sector exposures. On a consolidated basis, gross non-performing assets (NPAs) and net NPAs were lower at 2.3% and 0.7%, respectively, as on December 31, 2024, versus 3.1% and 0.9% on December 31, 2023. On a standalone basis, gross NPAs and net NPAs stood at 2.7% and 0.7%, respectively, as on December 31, 2024 (3.3% and 0.9% on March 31, 2024)‒as against 3.5% and 0.9% on December 31, 2023. Most of the NPA accounts are under a resolution process/or at advanced stages of resolution. Further, with most of the stress in the private sector recognised, there may not be further large private sector slippages in the near to medium term.

PFC, along with REC Ltd (REC) act as the nodal agency for several Government of India (GoI) backed schemes. In fiscal 2022, GoI had announced late payment surcharge (LPS) scheme to address dues of discoms to generation and transmission companies. PFC has extended financial assistance of Rs 62,528 crore to various distribution companies (discoms) under the rules, to clear their outstanding dues. In the same fiscal, GOI had announced the Revamped Distribution Sector Scheme (RDSS), a reforms-based and results-linked scheme with an outlay of 3.04 lakh crore over a period of five years, which would be available till fiscal 2026. The scheme aims to improve operational efficiencies and financial sustainability of discoms by providing reform-linked financial assistance for strengthening the supply. While this scheme has seen some delay in execution, disbursements under RDSS are expected to substantially increase from fiscal 2026.

Analytical Approach

Crisil Ratings has combined the business and financial risk profiles of PFC and its subsidiaries including REC. Furthermore, Crisil Ratings factors in support from the majority owner, GoI, given the company's key role in financing the Indian power sector.

Please refer Annexure - List of entities consolidated, which captures the list of entities considered and their analytical treatment of consolidation.

Key Rating Drivers & Detailed Description

Strengths:

- Strategic importance to and majority ownership by GoI

  The company plays a major role in implementing government policies, and is important for financing India's power sector, particularly government sector power utilities (84% of the consolidated loan book as on December 31, 2024). PFC is the nodal agency for the development of ultra-mega power projects and the integrated power development scheme, RDSS and LPS and is also the bid process coordinator for the Independent Transmission Projects scheme. It plays a developmental role in channelling finance to meet the power sector's large funding requirement, particularly of state power utilities (SPUs). PFC and REC are also the nodal agencies for channeling finance towards the rural electrification programme under the Deendayal Upadhyaya Gram Jyoti Yojana (formerly known as Rajiv Gandhi Grameen Vidyutikaran Yojana) and Pradhan Mantri Sahaj Bijli Har Ghar Yojana, or Saubhagya scheme, and the National Electricity Fund Scheme. PFC and REC are the lending partners for the announced discom package. In fiscal 2022, GoI announced LPS to address dues of discoms to generation and transmission companies. PFC has extended financial assistance (disbursed Rs 43,176 crore as of December 31, 2024) to various discoms under the rules, to clear their outstanding dues. PFC shall also act as the nodal agency to monitor implementation of these rules.

  GoI remains the majority shareholder, with a stake of 56% as on December 31, 2024. The government supports the company financially and operationally in various ways, including conferring special status to raise capital gains tax exemption bonds. GoI has strong strategic reasons and a moral obligation to support PFC, both on an ongoing basis and in the event of distress, given the latter's role in implementing the government's power sector policies and GoI's majority ownership in the company.

- Dominant market position in the power financing segment

  PFC plays an important role in the Indian power sector, not only by providing finance but also by implementing GoI's power sector policies. The company, at a consolidated level, is the largest lender to the power sector and plays a key role in channeling finance to SPUs. Both PFC and REC have a combined market share of ~40% in power financing. PFC has forayed into newer business opportunities, diversifying its portfolio from conventional energy sector, with more focus on renewable energy and infrastructure & logistic sector. As on December 31, 2024, the transmission and distribution segment comprises ~48% of the loan book on a standalone basis followed by conventional generation (34%), renewable energy (14%) and others (4%). The gross consolidated loan book grew by 12% year-on-year to Rs 10.7 lakh crore as on December 31, 2024, from Rs 9.5 lakh crore a year earlier (Rs 9.9 lakh crore as on March 31, 2024). The share of SPUs in the consolidated loan book stood at 84% as on December 31, 2024. Loans outstanding to SPUs on a consolidated basis stood at Rs 9.0 lakh crore as on this date.

- Adequate capitalisation

  As on December 31, 2024, on a standalone basis, Tier-I CAR and overall CAR stood at 22.1% and 24.2%, (23.2% and 25.4%, respectively, as on March 31, 2024). Capitalisation is expected to remain adequate over the medium term, supported by a demonstrated ability to raise capital through public issues. Networth to net NPA ratio on a standalone basis for PFC stood at 24.6 times as on December 31, 2024; 19.3 times as on March 31, 2024. Accretion to networth is supported by the ability to maintain stable interest spreads and a low operating expense ratio and provision costs. The standalone return on assets ratio was 3.1% and return on equity were 19.5% for the nine months of fiscal 2025 (2.9% and 18.8%, respectively, for corresponding period of previous fiscal). Ability to contain credit costs and hence improve profitability and capitalisation will remain a key monitorable.

- Sufficient resource profile

  Borrowing costs are competitive and the resource base, though wholesale, is diversified. Debt instruments have wide market acceptability, which is also reflective in its average cost of borrowing compared to peers (7.3% for nine months period ended December 31, 2024). The standalone resource profile as on December 31, 2024, comprises bonds (60%), term loans (18%), and other borrowings (3%). The company also has access to foreign currency borrowing, which comprised 19% of the total borrowing as on the same date. As per the board-approved policy for exchange rate risks, PFC has hedged 95% of its total foreign currency borrowing as on December 31, 2024. The company had received government approval in 2017 to raise capital gain bonds under Section 54 EC, which further support the resource profile.

Weakness:

- Inherent vulnerability in asset quality, and significant sectoral and customer concentration

  PFC's asset quality remains inherently vulnerable to the weak credit risk profiles of borrowers. The company caters only to the power sector, with 84% of its consolidated loan book as on December 31, 2024, to government sector power utilities (including generation, transmission, and discoms). SPUs, especially discoms, are an inherently weak asset class because of their poor financial risk profiles. Effective execution of various reform measures is extremely critical for SPUs to produce the desired positive impact, and broad-based political consensus is necessary to implement the much-needed tariff increases to ensure sustained improvement in their performance. NPAs and restructured assets from the SPUs book had risen sharply in fiscal 2017 owing to alignment with the restructuring norms of Reserve Bank of India. However, the downgraded accounts had been paying dues regularly, and a majority of them were upgraded in fiscal 2018. Furthermore, various dispensation schemes by the GOI such as RDSS and LPS have also helped support asset quality for these exposures. Accordingly, NPAs (stage III assets as per IND AS) remained nil from this portfolio as on December 31, 2024

PFC (consolidated) also has 16% exposure to private sector power players, which have remained vulnerable to asset quality risks historically due to issues around fuel availability, challenges with passing on fuel price increases and absence of long-term power purchase agreements. However, due to steady progress in resolution of stressed assets, PFC's asset quality has been on an improving trend with gross NPAs (stage III assets as per IND-AS) of 2.3% as on December 31, 2024 (3.1% as on December 31, 2023), all from its private sector book (on a consolidated basis). As on December 31, 2024, ~14% of private sector loans have been recognised as stage III assets on which the company has a provision coverage of 68% on a consolidated basis.

Liquidity: Superior

The Asset Liability Maturity (ALM) profile as of January 31, 2025 had few mismatches in some buckets upto 1 year, though including unutilized bank lines the inflows are fairly matched with the outflows on cumulative basis. Additionally, debt repayments are well staggered across months, supporting liquidity.

As on January 31, 2025, the company (on a standalone basis) had liquidity cushion in form of Rs. 182 crore of cash and equivalents and Rs 9,529 crore of unutilised cash credit lines against debt obligation of Rs 7,653 crore over the next month. Further, PFC has raised funds of around Rs 57,617 crore in the nine months period of fiscal 2025 through bonds, term loans from banks and capital market instruments.

ESG Profile

Crisil Ratings believes that PFC Environment, Social, and Governance (ESG) profile supports its already strong credit risk profile.

The ESG profile for financial sector entities typically factors in governance as a key differentiator. The sector has reasonable social impact because of its substantial employee and customer base, and it can play a key role in promoting financial inclusion. While the sector does not have a direct adverse environmental impact, the lending decisions may have a bearing on environment.

PFC has a continuous focus on strengthening various aspects of its ESG profile.

PFC Finance's key ESG Highlights:

- ESG disclosures of the company have improved in fiscal 2024 on key environmental and social parameters with a reasonable assurance.
- PFC continues to have sizeable exposure (32% of loan book towards generation companies as on March 31, 2024, as compared to 40% on March 31, 2023) towards fossil fuel projects, which in turn impacts the environment. That said, the company exposure towards renewable projects stood at 10% of loan book as of March 31, 2024
- The company has stated that the total capacity supported on development of renewable energy projects as on March 31, 2024, is at 50 GW
- In fiscal 2024, share of women employees (at 22%) and employee attrition rate ~1%. Further, there was a cessation of the terms of independent directors on its board and no further replacements have been made

There is growing importance of ESG among investors and lenders. PFC commitment to ESG principles will play a key role in enhancing stakeholder confidence, given the sizable share of market borrowings in its overall debt and access to both domestic and foreign capital markets.

Outlook: Stable

Crisil Ratings believes GoI will retain its majority stake in PFC, which will continue to play a critical role in implementing government policies related to financing the Indian power sector over the medium term. The company is also likely to retain its strong position in the infrastructure-financing segment, while maintaining healthy capitalization.

The rating on the perpetual bonds remains sensitive to the capital buffer maintained by PFC over regulatory capital requirements; rating transition on these instruments could potentially be sharper than that on other debt instruments and bank facilities.

Rating sensitivity factors

Downward factors

- Government shareholding declining below 50% and/or diminution of government support
- Significant deterioration in asset quality, thereby impacting profitability and capitalisation

About the Company

PFC was established in 1986 by GoI as an institution dedicated to funding and developing the power sector in India. Until 1996, lending was exclusively to public sector entities. Since then, it has expanded its customer profile to include private sector power utilities and projects. PFC aims to promote balanced and integrated development of the power sector by providing finance to low-cost, efficient, and reliable projects.

In March 2019, PFC completed the acquisition of GoI's 52.6% stake in REC for Rs 14,500 crore. PFC and REC will remain strategically important to the government, which would provide them timely, need-based support. They will continue to play their respective policy roles and will remain the nodal agencies for implementing power sector policies. Further, they are expected to operate all functions independently as they do currently.

On a consolidated basis, PFC reported profit after tax (PAT) of Rs 26,461 crore and total income (net of interest) of Rs 33,213 crore in fiscal 2024 (Rs 21,179 crore and 30,608 crore, respectively in the previous fiscal). On a standalone basis, PFC reported PAT of Rs 14,367 crore and total income (net of interest) of Rs 18,020 crore in fiscal 2024 as against Rs 11,605 crore and Rs 16,383 crore, respectively in the previous fiscal.

About Crisil Ratings Limited (A subsidiary of Crisil Limited, an S&P Global Company)

Crisil Ratings pioneered the concept of credit rating in India in 1987. With a tradition of independence, analytical rigour and innovation, we set the standards in the credit rating business. We have rated over 33,000 large and mid-scale corporates and financial institutions. We have also instituted several innovations in India in the rating business, including ratings for municipal bonds, partially guaranteed instruments and infrastructure investment trusts (InvITs).

Crisil Ratings Limited ('Crisil Ratings') is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Crisil Limited ('Crisil'). Crisil Ratings Limited is registered in India as a credit rating agency with the Securities and Exchange Board of India ("SEBI").

Rationale

While arriving at the ratings, ICRA has taken a consolidated view of the credit profiles of Power Finance Corporation Ltd. (PFC) and REC Limited (REC) as REC is a subsidiary of PFC (collectively referred to as the Group) and the entities are in a similar line of business with strategic importance to the Government of India (GoI) and a common clientele.

The ratings continue to draw significant strength from PFC's sovereign ownership[1], its importance to the GoI, given its role as a nodal agency for various power sector schemes, and the Group's dominant market position in the power sector financing segment with an aggregate loan book of Rs. 10.7 lakh crore as on December 31, 2024. The ratings continue to factor in the diversified borrowing mix, good financial flexibility by virtue of the ownership, adequate liquidity and the established track record of healthy profitability. These strengths are partly offset by the moderate capitalisation with a consolidated gearing of 6.0x as on December 31, 2024.

The Group remains vulnerable to the risks arising from its exposure to a single sector (i.e. power) with high concentration towards the relatively weak state power utilities as well as the vulnerability of its exposure to private sector borrowers. However, the asset quality indicators have shown an improving trend as the gross stage 3 assets stood at 2.7% and 2.3% of the total advances at the standalone and consolidated level, respectively, as on December 31, 2024, supported by negligible fresh slippages over the last three years, resolution of a few stressed accounts and loan book growth.

The Group reported a consolidated return on managed assets (RoMA) of 2.6% in 9M FY2025 (2.7% in FY2024), supported by adequate margins, low operating costs and controlled credit costs.

ICRA believes that prudent capitalisation is a key mitigant against the risks arising from sectoral and credit concentration. In this context, cognisance has been taken of the various Government schemes with PFC and REC as lending partners. The impact on the capitalisation ratios has been cushioned by the lower risk weight applicable to the exposures, backed by state government guarantees. ICRA believes that PFC and REC remain important vehicles for the implementation of the GoI's various power sector schemes. Hence, support will be forthcoming from the GoI if needed.

The Stable outlook reflects ICRA's expectation that the Group will likely remain strategically important to the GoI and will continue to play a major role in various power sector schemes of the Government. Consequently, PFC and REC are likely to retain a dominant position in power sector financing while maintaining adequate profitability, borrowing and capitalisation profiles.

ICRA has reaffirmed and withdrawn the ratings for the Rs. 6,573.66-crore long-term borrowing programme and the Rs. 18,187.48-crore long-term/short-term borrowing programme with no amount outstanding against the rated instruments. The ratings have been withdrawn as per ICRA's policy on the withdrawal of credit ratings.

Key rating drivers and their description

Credit strengths

Majority ownership of GoI; strategic role in implementing various GoI schemes and dominant position in power sector financing – PFC and REC are nodal agencies for the implementation of various GoI schemes aimed at developing the country's power sector, such as PM Suryodaya Scheme, Revamped Distribution Sector Scheme (RDSS) and Integrated Power Development Scheme (IPDS). They remain strategically important to the GoI for achieving its objective of augmenting the power capacity across the country. Further, the GoI remains a majority shareholder in PFC with a stake of ~56%, as on December 31, 2024, and has representation on the company's board. PFC has a skilled management team with the senior team having more than 30 years of experience in power financing. Moreover, the company, along with REC, has maintained a dominant position in power sector financing with a large share of funding to state power utilities. ICRA notes that PFC's acquisition of REC strengthened its position further, while supporting better portfolio diversity, compared to individual entities. At the same time, as PFC and REC are a part of the same Group, sustained challenges in incremental fund-raising owing to the Group's exposure limits for lenders will remain a monitorable. PFC is committed towards maintaining the current market share of 20% in the infrastructure financing segment.

Good financial flexibility and resource profile – The Group enjoys good financial flexibility, given its sovereign ownership, which augurs well for raising long-term funds from both domestic and international financial institutions (FIs) at competitive rates. Given the GoI's support, PFC has been able to raise funds at competitive rates. In the past, it had received approval from the GoI to raise tax-free and 54EC low-cost capital gain bonds, which provide comfort with respect to its financial flexibility and importance to the GoI, its ability to raise low-cost funds and maintain a diversified borrowing profile. The funding mix remains adequately diversified and includes long-term market instruments, foreign currency borrowings, banks and FIs. While PFC is exposed to risks arising from fluctuations in foreign exchange rates, given the sizeable foreign currency denominated borrowings, it has been actively focused on hedging these borrowings. The risk is somewhat mitigated as ~95% of the foreign exchange borrowings (on a standalone basis), with a residual maturity of up to 5 years, was fully hedged as on December 31, 2024.

Established track record of healthy profitability – The yields and cost of funds have remained broadly stable during the year. Nonetheless, the net interest margin (NIM; consolidated) increased slightly to 3.4% in 9M FY2025 from 3.3% in FY2024. Further, nil slippages in the loan accounts and the reversal of the provision on recoveries from the existing stressed assets resulted in negligible credit costs in 9M FY2025 on a consolidated basis. At the same time, operating expenses remained low at 0.1% in 9M FY2025, given the wholesale nature of the business. The consolidated profitability profile remains healthy with a net profit of Rs. 22,157 crore in 9M FY2025 and Rs. 26,461 crore in FY2024, translating into RoMA of 2.6% in 9M FY2025 compared to 2.7% in FY2024. The overall profitability indicators are expected to remain stable going forward as well, supported by business growth and controlled credit costs while margins could face some pressure.

On a standalone basis, the marginal improvement in NIMs, low operating expenses and controlled credit costs resulted in a net profit of Rs. 12,243 crore in 9M FY2025 compared to Rs. 14,367 crore in FY2024. This translated into RoMA of 3.1% in 9M FY2025 compared with 2.9% in FY2024, better than PFC's 3-year (FY2022-FY2024) average RoMA of 2.7%.

Credit challenges

High concentration risk and portfolio vulnerability – The Group's exposure to a single sector (i.e. power), large-ticket loans, the high concentration of exposure towards financially weak state power utilities and the vulnerability of its exposure to private sector borrowers increase the portfolio vulnerability. Both PFC and REC modified their Memorandums of Association (MoAs) in FY2023 to be able to lend to other infrastructure projects as well. As for concentration risk, both PFC and REC are within the concentration limits prescribed by the Reserve Bank of India (RBI). Concentration risk has been declining for PFC over the past few years with the top 20 advances accounting for ~54% of the total advances as on December 31, 2024 compared with 57% as on March 31, 2024 (61% on March 31, 2023).

The Group's asset quality indicators have been improving with the gross stage 3 assets declining to 2.7% and 2.3% of the total advances at the standalone and consolidated levels, respectively, as on December 31, 2024 from 3.3% and 3.0%, respectively, as on March 31, 2024, following the resolution of large, stressed accounts in 9M FY2025. With a provision cover of ~73% and 68%, respectively, the net stage 3 assets stood at 0.7% of the total advances at the standalone as well as the consolidated level as on December 31, 2024. As on December 31, 2024, 11 of the 20 projects under PFC's stressed category, worth Rs. 11,510 crore, are being resolved under the National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT) while the remaining projects, worth Rs. 1,991 crore, are being resolved outside the NCLT. On a consolidated and standalone basis, the entire portion of the credit-impaired assets was from the private sector book as on December 31, 2024, for which the company has made sizeable provisions. Going forward, the Group's ability to grow its loan book, while controlling the credit costs and maintaining the profitability, would be imperative.

Moderate capitalisation – PFC's acquisition of REC had impacted the Group's consolidated capitalisation. While considerable recovery has been witnessed since then, the leverage remains moderate with a consolidated gearing of 6.0x as on December 31, 2024. Comparatively, PFC's capitalisation at the standalone level was characterised by a gearing of 4.9x and a capital-to-risk weighted assets ratio (CRAR) of 24.2% as on December 31, 2024. ICRA believes that prudent capitalisation is a key mitigant against the risks arising out of sectoral and credit concentration. In this context, cognisance has been taken of the various Government schemes with PFC and REC as lending partners. The impact on the capitalisation ratios will be cushioned by the lower risk weight applicable to the exposures backed by state government guarantees.

Environmental and social risks

Given the service-oriented nature of its business, the Group does not face material physical climate risks but is exposed to environmental risks indirectly through its portfolio of assets. However, if the entities or businesses, to which these companies have an exposure, face business disruptions because of physical climate adversities or if such businesses face climate transition risks because of technological, regulatory or customer behaviour changes, the same could translate into credit risks for the companies involved. Such risk is, nevertheless, mitigated by adequate portfolio diversification. With regard to social risks, data security and customer privacy are among the key sources of vulnerability for lending institutions as material lapses could be detrimental to their reputation and invite regulatory censure. Given the nature of their business, PFC and REC's exposure to social risks is limited.

Liquidity position: Adequate

As on December 31, 2024, PFC's asset-liability maturity (ALM) profile, on a standalone basis, reflected debt maturities (including interest) of ~Rs. 1,03,031 crore for the 12-month period ending December 31, 2024, against which its scheduled inflows from advances are expected at Rs. 1,33,334 crore. The company's ALM profile has improved in recent years due to the increase in the share of short-term loans compared with the relatively longer-tenor borrowings, resulting in positive cumulative mismatches across all buckets. The liquidity profile is further augmented by adequate unutilised bank lines and cash and cash equivalents worth ~Rs. 17,946 crore. Further, the healthy financial flexibility, supported by the sovereign ownership and the ability to raise funds at short notice, provides comfort.

Rating sensitivities

Positive factors – Not applicable

Negative factors – ICRA could change the rating outlook to Negative or downgrade the ratings on a change in the ownership and/or in PFC's strategic role or importance to the GoI. Also, a deterioration in the consolidated solvency (net stage 3/net worth) to a level above 40%, on a sustained basis, will be a negative trigger.

The Board of Directors,
Power Finance Corporation Limited

We have reviewed the accompanying Special Purpose condensed standalone interim financial statements of Power Finance Corporation Limited (the "Company") for the half year ended 30th September, 2025 which comprise the Balance Sheet as at 30th September, 2025, Statement of Profit & Loss (including the Statement of other Comprehensive Income), Statement of Cash Flow and Statement of Changes in Equity for the period ended 30th September, 2025 and material Accounting Policies & Summarized Notes to Accounts thereon (together herein after referred as "Special Purpose Standalone Interim Financial Statements") as required by Indian Accounting Standard 34 'Interim Financial reporting' ("Ind AS 34").

Management's Responsibility for the Special Purpose Standalone Interim Financial Statements.

These Special Purpose Standalone Interim Financial Statements, which are the responsibility of the Company's management and approved by the Board of Directors of the Company, in its meeting held on 7th November, 2025, has been prepared in accordance with the recognition and measurement principles laid down in Indian Accounting Standard 34 "Interim Financial Reporting" ('Ind AS 34'), prescribed under Section 133 of the Companies Act, 2013 as amended read with relevant rules issued thereunder and other accounting principles generally accepted in India. These Special Purpose standalone financial statements have been prepared solely for the purpose of updation of GMTN Programme for raising of foreign currency bonds and public issue of taxable bonds of the Company.

Scope of Review

We conducted our review of the Special Purpose Standalone Interim Financial Statements in accordance with the Standard on Review Engagements (SRE) 2410, "Review of Interim Financial Information Performed by the Independent Auditor of the Entity", issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India. This Standard requires that we plan and perform the review to obtain moderate assurance as to whether the Special Purpose Standalone Interim Financial Statements is free of material misstatement. A review of Interim Financial Information is limited primarily to inquiries of Company personnel and analytical procedures applied to financial data and thus provides less assurance than an audit. We have not performed an audit and accordingly, we do not express an audit opinion.

Other Matters

To measure the fair value of loan assets and undisbursed letter of comfort, Expected Credit Loss (ECL) has been calculated as per requirement of Ind AS 109 by an outside agency appointed by the Company. The assumptions (i.e. credit rating/risk score/probability of default etc. with respect to the borrowers) considered in the calculation of ECL are technical in nature, hence, we have relied upon the same.

1 Material Accounting Policy Information

The material accounting policy information in regard to preparation of the Special Purpose Interim Condensed Standalone Financial Statements is given below:

1.1 Basis of Preparation and Measurement

These Special Purpose Interim Condensed Standalone Financial Statements have been prepared on going concern basis following accrual system of accounting. The assets and liabilities have been measured at historical cost or at amortised cost or at fair value as applicable at the end of each reporting period. The functional currency of the Company is Indian

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date, regardless of whether that price is directly observable or estimated using another valuation technique.

Fair value measurements are categorised into Level 1, 2 or 3 as per Ind AS requirement, which are described as follows:

- Level 1 inputs are quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the entity can access at the measurement date;
- Level 2 inputs are inputs, other than quoted prices included within Level 1, that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly or indirectly; and
- Level 3 inputs are unobservable inputs for the asset or liability.

1.2 Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash comprises cash on hand and demand deposits. The Company considers cash equivalents as all short term balances (with an original maturity of three months or less from the date of acquisition), highly liquid investments that are readily convertible into known amounts of cash and which are subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value.

1.3 Financial Instruments

Financial assets and financial liabilities are recognised when the Company becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the financial instruments.

On initial recognition, financial assets and financial liabilities are recognised at fair value plus / minus transaction cost that is attributable to the acquisition or issue of financial assets and financial liabilities. In case of financial assets and financial liabilities which are recognised at fair value through profit and loss (FVTPL), its transaction costs are recognised in Statement of Profit and Loss.

1.3.1 Financial Assets

All regular way purchases or sales of financial assets are recognised and derecognised on a settlement date basis. Regular way purchases or sales are purchases or sales of financial assets that require delivery of assets within the time frame established by regulation or convention in the marketplace.

After initial recognition, financial assets are subsequently measured in their entirety at either amortised cost or fair value, depending on the classification of the financial assets.

(i) Classification and Measurement of Financial Assets (other than Equity instruments)

(a) Financial Assets at Amortised Cost:

Financial assets that meet the following conditions are subsequently measured at amortised cost using Effective Interest Rate method (EIR):

- the asset is held within a business model whose objective is to hold assets in order to collect contractual cash flows; and
- The contractual terms of the asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are Solely Payments of Principal and Interest (SPPI) on the principal amount outstanding.

Effective Interest Rate (EIR) method

The effective interest rate method is a method of calculating the amortised cost of financial asset and of allocating interest income over the expected life. The company while applying EIR method, generally amortises any fee, transaction costs and other premiums or discount that are integral part of the effective interest rate of a financial instrument.

Income is recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss on an effective interest rate basis for financial assets other than those classified as at FVTPL.

EIR is determined at the initial recognition of the financial asset. EIR is subsequently updated at every reset, in accordance with the terms of the respective contract.

Once the terms of financial assets are renegotiated, other than market driven interest rate movement, any gain / loss measured using the previous EIR as calculated before the modification, is recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss in period during which such renegotiations occur.

(b) Financial Assets at Fair Value Through Other Comprehensive Income (FVTOCI)

A financial asset is measured at FVTOCI if both the following conditions are met:

• The objective of the business model is achieved both by collecting contractual cash flows and selling the financial asset; and

• The contractual terms of the asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are Solely Payments of Principal and Interest (SPPI) on the principal amount outstanding.

All fair value changes are recognised in Other Comprehensive Income (OCI) and accumulated in Reserve.

(c) Financial Assets at Fair Value Through Profit or Loss (FVTPL)

A financial asset is measured at FVTPL unless it is measured at amortised cost or FVTOCI, with all changes in fair value recognised in Statement of Profit and Loss.

Business Model

An assessment of business model for managing financial assets is fundamental to the classification of a financial asset. The Company determines the business model at a level that reflects how financial assets are managed together to achieve a particular business objective of generating cash flows. The Company's business model assessment is performed at a higher level of aggregation rather than on an instrument-by-instrument basis.

The Company is in the business of providing loans across power, logisitics & infrastructure sector and such loans are managed to realize the contractual cash flows over the tenure of the loan. Further, other financial assets may also be held by the Company to collect the contractual cash flows.

(ii) Classification, Measurement and Derecognition of Equity Instruments

All equity investments other than in subsidiaries, joint ventures and associates are measured at fair value. Equity instruments which are held for trading are classified as at FVTPL. For all other equity instruments, the Company at initial recognition makes an irrevocable election to classify it as either FVTOCI or FVTPL. The Company makes such election on an instrument-by-instrument basis.

An equity investment classified as FVTOCI is initially measured at fair value plus transaction costs. Subsequently, it is measured at fair value and, all fair value changes are recognised in Other Comprehensive Income (OCI) and accumulated in Reserve. There is no recycling of the amounts from OCI to Statement of Profit and Loss, even on sale of investment. However, the Company transfers the cumulative gain / loss within equity.

Equity instruments included within the FVTPL category are measured at fair value with all changes recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss.

Investment in equity shares of subsidiaries, joint ventures and associates are accounted at cost, less impairment if any.

(iii) Impairment of Financial Assets

Subsequent to initial recognition, the Company recognises expected credit loss (ECL) on financial assets measured at amortised cost as required under Ind AS 109 'Financial Instruments'. The Company presents the ECL charge or reversal (where the net amount is a negative balance for a particular period) in the Statement of Profit and Loss as "Impairment on financial instruments" and as a cumulative deduction from gross carrying amount in the Balance Sheet, wherever applicable.

The impairment requirements for the recognition and measurement of ECL are equally applied to financial asset measured at FVTOCI except that ECL is recognised in Other Comprehensive Income and is not reduced from the carrying amount in the Balance Sheet.

(a) Impairment of Loan Assets and commitments under Letter of Comfort (LoC) & Letter of Undertaking (LoU):

The Company measures ECL on loan assets at an amount equal to the lifetime ECL if there is credit impairment or there has been significant increase in credit risk (SICR) since initial recognition. If there is no SICR as compared to initial recognition, the Company measures ECL at an amount equal to 12-month ECL. When making the assessment of whether there has been a SICR since initial recognition, the Company considers reasonable and supportable information, that is available without undue cost or effort. If the Company measured loss allowance as lifetime ECL in the previous period, but determines in a subsequent period that there has been no SICR since initial recognition due to improvement in credit quality, the Company again measures the loss allowance based on 12-month ECL.

ECL is measured on individual basis for credit impaired loan assets, and on other loan assets it is generally measured on collective basis using homogenous groups.

The Company measures impairment on commitments under LoC & LoU on similar basis as in case of Loan assets.

(b) Impairment of financial assets, other than loan assets:

ECL on financial assets, other than loan assets, is measured at an amount equal to life time expected losses.

(iv) De-recognition of Financial Assets

The Company derecognises a financial asset when the contractual rights to the cash flows from the asset expire, or when it transfers the financial asset along with all the substantial risks and rewards of ownership of the asset to another party. The renegotiation or modification of the contractual cash flows of a financial asset can also lead to derecognition of the existing financial asset.

On de-recognition of a financial asset in its entirety, the difference between the asset's carrying amount and the sum of the consideration received & receivable, and the cumulative gain or loss that had been recognised in Other Comprehensive Income and accumulated in Equity, is recognised in Statement of Profit and Loss if such gain or loss would have otherwise been recognised in Statement of Profit and Loss on disposal of that financial asset.

1.3.2 Financial Liabilities

(i) All financial liabilities other than derivatives and financial guarantee contracts are subsequently measured at amortised cost using the effective interest rate (EIR) method.

EIR is determined at the initial recognition of the financial liability. EIR is subsequently updated for financial liabilities having floating interest rate, at the respective reset date, in accordance with the terms of the respective contract.

(ii) Financial guarantee

A financial guarantee issued by the Company is initially measured at fair value and, if not designated as at FVTPL, is subsequently measured at the higher of:

- the best estimate of expenditure required to settle any financial obligation arising as a result of the guarantee; and
- the amount initially recognised less, when appropriate, the cumulative amount of income recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss.

(iii) De-recognition of financial liabilities

The Company derecognises financial liabilities when, and only when, the Company's obligations are discharged, cancelled or have expired. The difference between the carrying amount of the financial liability derecognised and the consideration paid & payable is recognised in Statement of Profit and Loss.

1.3.3 Derivative Financial Instruments

(i) The Company enters into a variety of derivative financial instruments to manage its exposure to interest rate and foreign exchange rate risks.

(ii) Under hedge accounting, an entity can designate derivative contracts either as cash flow hedge or fair value hedge. The Company designates certain derivative contracts as cash flow hedge or fair value hedge.

(iii) To qualify for hedge accounting, the hedging relationship must meet all of the following requirements:

- There is an economic relationship between the hedged item and the hedging instrument.
- The effect of credit risk does not dominate the value changes that result from that economic relationship.
- The hedge ratio of the hedging relationship is the same as that resulting from the quantity of the hedged item that the Company actually hedges and the quantity of the hedging instrument that the Company actually uses to hedge that quantity of hedged item.

(iv) Cash flow hedge

The hedging instruments which meets the qualifying criteria for hedge accounting are designated as cash flow hedge. The effective portion of changes in the fair value of derivatives that are designated and qualify as cash flow hedges is recognized in Other Comprehensive Income. The change in intrinsic value of hedging instruments is recognized in 'Effective Portion of Cash Flow Hedges'. The amounts recognized in such reserve are reclassified to the Statement of Profit or Loss when the hedged item affects profit or loss. Further, the change in fair value of the time value of a hedging instruments is recognized in 'Cost of Hedging Reserve'. The amounts recognized in such reserve are amortized to the Statement of Profit and Loss on a systematic basis. The gain or loss relating to ineffective portion is recognized immediately in Statement of Profit and Loss.

(v) Fair Value hedge

The Company remeasures the hedged item for fair value changes attributable to the hedged risk (i.e. changes in the benchmark rate). Such fair value hedge adjustment are recognised in the statement of profit or loss at end of every reporting period. The change in fair value of the underlying hedged item on account of attributable hedged risk (benchmark rate) is offset by corresponding change in fair value of the derivative (Fixed to Float IRS).

(vi) Hedge accounting is discontinued when the hedging instrument expires, or terminated, or exercised, or when it no longer qualifies for hedge accounting.

(vii) Derivatives, other than those designated under hedge relationship, are initially recognised at fair value at the date the derivative contracts are entered into and are subsequently re-measured to their fair value at the end of each reporting period. The resulting gain or loss is recognised in Statement of Profit and Loss.

1.4 Offsetting of Financial Assets and Financial Liabilities

Financial Assets and Financial Liabilities are offset and the net amount is presented in the balance sheet when currently there is a legally enforceable right to offset the recognised amounts and there is an intention to settle on a net basis or to realise the assets and settle the liabilities simultaneously.

1.5 Property, Plant and Equipment (PPE) and Depreciation

(i) Items of PPE are initially recognised at cost. Subsequent measurement is done at cost less accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment losses, if any, except for freehold land which is not depreciated. An item of PPE retired from active use and held for disposal is stated at lower of its book value or net realizable value.

(ii) In case of assets put to use, capitalisation is done on the basis of bills approved or estimated value of work done as per contracts where final bill(s) is/are yet to be received / approved, subject to necessary adjustment in the year of final settlement.

(iii) Cost of replacing part of an item of PPE is recognized in the carrying amount of the item if it is probable that the future economic benefits embodied within the part will flow to the Company and its cost can be measured reliably. The carrying amount of the replaced part is derecognized. Maintenance or servicing costs of PPE are recognized in Statement of Profit and Loss as incurred.

(iv) Under-construction PPE is carried at cost, less any recognised impairment loss. Such PPE items are classified to the appropriate categories of property, plant and equipment when completed and ready for intended use. Depreciation of these assets, on the same basis as of other assets, commences when the assets are ready for their intended use.

(v) Depreciation is recognised so as to write-off the cost of assets less their residual values as per written down value method, over the useful lives as prescribed in Schedule II to the Companies Act, 2013, except for cell phones where useful life has been estimated by the Company as 2 years. Residual value is estimated as 5% of the original cost of PPE.

(vi) Depreciation on additions to/deductions from PPE during the year is charged on pro-rata basis from / up to the date on which the asset is available for use/disposed.

(vii) An item of PPE is derecognised upon disposal or when no future economic benefits are expected to arise from the continued use of the asset. Any gain or loss arising on the de-recognition of an item of PPE is determined as the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset and is recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss.

1.6 Intangible Assets and Amortisation

(i) Intangible assets with finite useful lives that are acquired separately are recognised at cost. Cost includes any directly attributable incidental expenses necessary to make the assets ready for its intended use. Subsequent measurement is done at cost less accumulated amortisation and accumulated impairment losses, if any. Amortisation is recognised on a straight-line basis over their estimated useful lives.

(ii) Expenditure incurred which are eligible for capitalisation under intangible assets is carried as Intangible Assets under Development till they are ready for their intended use.

(iii) Estimated useful life of intangible assets with finite useful lives has been estimated by the Company as 5 years.

(iv) An intangible asset is derecognised on disposal, or when no future economic benefits are expected from use or disposal. Gains or losses arising from de-recognition of an intangible asset, measured as the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset, and are recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss when the asset is derecognised.

1.7 Leases

For recognition, measurement and presentation of lease contracts, the Company applies the principles of Ind AS 116 'Leases'.

(i) The Company as a lessee

The Company at inception of a contract assesses, whether the contract is, or contains, a lease. A contract is, or contains, a lease if the contract conveys the right to control the use of an identified asset for a period of time in exchange for consideration. To assess whether a contract conveys the right to control the use of an identified asset, the Company assesses whether

(a) the Company has substantially all of the economic benefits from use of the asset through the period of the lease, and

(b) the Company has the right to direct the use of the identified asset.

The Company at inception of a lease contract recognizes a Right-of-Use (RoU) asset at cost and a corresponding lease liability, except for leases with term of less than twelve months (short term) and low-value assets which are recognised as an operating expense on a straight-line basis over the term of the lease.

Certain lease arrangements include the options to extend or terminate the lease before the end of the lease term. RoU assets and lease liabilities includes these options when it is reasonably certain that they will be exercised.

The right-of-use (RoU) assets are initially recognized at cost, which comprise the initial amount of the lease liability adjusted for any lease payments made at or before the inception date of the lease plus any initial direct costs, less any lease incentives received. They are subsequently measured at cost less any accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment losses. The right-of-use asset is depreciated using the straight-line method from the commencement date over the shorter of lease term or useful life of right-of-use assets.

The lease liability is initially measured at amortised cost at the present value of future lease payments. The lease payments are discounted using the interest rate implicit in the lease or, if not readily determinable, using the company's incremental borrowing rates in the country of domicile of the leases.

Lease liabilities are re-measured with a corresponding adjustment to the related right-of-use (RoU) asset if the Company changes its assessment if whether it will exercise an extension or a termination option.

Lease liability and RoU asset is separately presented in the Balance Sheet. Interest expense on lease liability is presented separately from depreciation on right of use asset as a component of finance cost in the Statement of Profit and Loss. Lease payments for the principal portion are classified as Cash flow used in financing activities and lease payments for the interest portion are classified as Cash flow used in operating activities.

(ii) The Company as a lessor

Leases for which the Company is a lessor is classified as a finance or operating lease. Contracts in which all the risks and rewards of the lease are substantially transferred to the lessee are classified as a finance lease. All other leases are classified as operating leases. For operating leases, rental income is recognized on a straight-line basis over the term of the relevant lease.

Amount due from lessee under finance leases is recognised as receivable at an amount equal to the net investment of the Company in the lease. Finance income on the lease is allocated to accounting periods so as to reflect a constant periodic rate of return on the Company's net investment outstanding in respect of lease at the reporting date.

1.8 Provisions, Contingent Liabilities and Contingent Assets

(i) Provisions are recognised when the Company has a present legal or constructive obligation as a result of a past event, if it is probable that the Company will be required to settle the obligation and a reliable estimate can be made of the amount of the obligation.

(ii) The amount recognised as a provision is the best estimate of the consideration required to settle the present obligation at the end of the reporting period, taking into account the risks and uncertainties surrounding the obligation.

(iii) When some or all of the economic benefits required to settle a provision are expected to be recovered from a third party, a receivable is recognised as an asset if it is virtually certain that reimbursement will be received and the amount of the receivable can be measured reliably.

(iv) Where it is not probable that an outflow of economic benefits will be required or the amount cannot be estimated reliably, the obligation is disclosed as contingent liability in notes to accounts, unless the probability of outflow of economic benefits is remote.

(v) Contingent assets are not recognised in the financial statements. However, contingent assets are disclosed in the financial statements when inflow of economic benefits is probable.

1.9 Recognition of Income and Expenditure

(i) Interest income, on financial assets subsequently measured at amortised cost, is recognized using the Effective Interest Rate (EIR) method. The Effective Interest Rate (EIR) is the rate that exactly discounts estimated future cash receipts through expected life of the financial asset to that asset's net carrying amount on initial recognition.

(ii) Interest on financial assets subsequently measured at fair value through profit and loss(FVTPL), is recognized on accrual basis in accordance with the terms of the respective contract and disclosed separately under the head 'Interest Income'

(iii) Rebate on account of timely payment of dues by borrowers is recognized on receipt of entire dues in time, in accordance with the terms of the respective contract and is netted against the corresponding interest income.

(iv) Income from services rendered is recognized based on the terms of agreements / arrangements with reference to the stage of completion of contract at the reporting date.

(v) Dividend income from investments including those measured at FVTPL, is recognized in Statement of Profit and Loss under the head 'Dividend Income' when the Company's right to receive dividend is established and the amount of dividend can be measured reliably.

(vi) Interest expense on financial liabilities subsequently measured at amortised cost is recognized using Effective Interest Rate (EIR) method.

(vii) Other income and expenses are accounted on accrual basis, in accordance with terms of the respective contract.

(viii) A Prepaid expense up to ₹ 1,00,000/- is recognized as expense upon initial recognition in the Statement of Profit and Loss.

1.10 Foreign Currency Transactions and Translations

Foreign currency transactions are translated into the functional currency using exchange rates at the date of the transaction. At the end of each reporting period, monetary items denominated in foreign currency are translated using exchange rates prevailing on the last day of the reporting period. Exchange differences on monetary items are recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss in the period in which they arise. However, for the long-term monetary items recognised in the financial statements before April 01, 2018, such exchange differences are accumulated in a "Foreign Currency Monetary Item Translation Difference Account" and amortised over the balance period of such long term monetary item.

1.11 Employee Benefits

(i) Defined Contribution Plan

Company's contribution paid / payable during the reporting period towards pension is charged in the Statement of Profit and Loss when employees have rendered service entitling them to the contributions.

(ii) Defined Benefit Plan

The Company's obligation towards provident fund, gratuity to employees and post-retirement benefits such as medical benefit, economic rehabilitation benefit, and settlement allowance after retirement are determined using the projected unit credit method, with actuarial valuations being carried out at the end of each annual reporting period. Actuarial gain / loss on re-measurement of gratuity and other post-employment defined benefit plans are recognized in Other Comprehensive Income (OCI). Past service cost is recognized in the Statement of Profit and Loss in the period of a plan amendment.

(iii) Other long term employee benefits

The Company's obligation towards leave encashment, service award scheme is determined using the projected unit credit method, with actuarial valuations being carried out at the end of each annual reporting period. These obligations are recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss.

(iv) Short term employee benefits

Short term employee benefits such as salaries and wages are recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss, in the period in which the related service is rendered at the undiscounted amount of the benefits expected to be paid in exchange for that service.

(v) Loan to employees at concessional rate

Loans given to employees at concessional rate are initially recognized at fair value and subsequently measured at amortised cost. The difference between the initial fair value of such loans and transaction value is recognised as deferred employee cost upon issuance of Loan, which is amortised on a straight-line basis over the expected remaining period of the loan. In case of change in expected remaining period of the loan, the unamortised deferred employee cost on the date of change is amortised over the updated expected remaining period of the Loan on a prospective basis.

1.12 Material Prior Period Errors

Material prior period errors are corrected retrospectively by restating the comparative amounts for the prior periods presented in which the error occurred. If the error occurred before the earliest period presented, the opening balances of assets, liabilities and equity for the earliest period presented, are restated.

1.13 Income Taxes

Income Tax expense comprises of current and deferred tax. It is recognised in Statement of Profit and Loss, except when it relates to an item that is recognised in OCI or directly in equity, in which case, tax is also recognised in OCI or directly in equity.

(i) Current Tax

Current tax is the expected tax payable on taxable income for the year, using tax rates enacted or substantively enacted and as applicable at the reporting date, and any adjustments to tax payable in respect of earlier years.

Current tax assets and liabilities are offset when there is a legally enforceable right to set off the recognised amounts and there is an intention to settle the asset and liability on a net basis.

(ii) Deferred Tax

Deferred tax is recognised on temporary differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities in the financial statements and the corresponding tax bases used in the computation of taxable income. Deferred tax is measured at the tax rates based on the laws that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the reporting date, based on the expected manner of realisation or settlement of the carrying amount of assets / liabilities. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are offset when there is a legally enforceable right to set off current tax assets against liabilities, and they relate to income taxes levied by the same tax authority.

A deferred tax liability is recognised for all taxable temporary differences. A deferred tax asset is recognized for all deductible temporary differences to the extent that it is probable that future taxable profits will be available against which the deductible temporary difference can be utilized. Deferred tax assets are reviewed at each reporting date and are reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that the related tax benefit will be realized.

1.14 Earnings Per Share

Basic earnings per equity share is calculated by dividing the net profit or loss attributable to equity shareholders of the Company by the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the financial year.

To calculate diluted earnings per share, the net profit or loss for the period attributable to equity shareholders and the weighted average number of shares outstanding during the period are adjusted for the effects of all dilutive potential equity shares.

1.15 Expenditure on issue of shares

1.16 Dividends

Final dividends are recorded as a liability on the date of approval by the shareholders and interim dividends are recorded as a liability on the date of declaration by the Board of Directors of the Company.

1.17 Business Combination under Common Control

A business combination involving entities or businesses under common control is a business combination in which all of the combining entities or businesses are ultimately controlled by the same party or parties both before and after the business combination and that control is not transitory.

Business combinations involving entities or businesses under common control are accounted for using the pooling of interest method as follows:

- The assets and liabilities of the combining entities are reflected at their carrying amounts.
- No adjustments are made to reflect fair values, or recognize new assets or liabilities. Adjustments are made only to harmonize material accounting policy information.
- The financial information in the financial statements in respect of prior periods is restated as if the business combination has occurred from the beginning of the preceding period in the financial statements, irrespective of the actual date of the combination.

The balance of the retained earnings appearing in the financial statements of the transferor is aggregated with the corresponding balance appearing in the financial statements of the transferee. The identity of the reserves is preserved and the reserves of the transferor become the reserves of the transferee.

The difference, if any, between the amounts recorded as share capital issued plus any additional consideration in the form of cash or other assets and the amount of share capital of the transferor is transferred to capital reserve and is presented separately from other capital reserves.

1 Group's Material Accounting Policy Information

The Group's material accounting policy information in regard to preparation of the Special Purpose Interim Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements is as given below:

1.1 Basis of Preparation and Measurement

These Special Purpose Interim Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements have been prepared on going concern basis following accrual system of accounting. The assets and liabilities have been measured at historical cost or at amortised cost or at fair value as applicable at the end of each reporting period. The functional currency of the Group is Indian Rupees (₹) except for PIFIL, whose functional currency is USD.

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date, regardless of whether that price is directly observable or estimated using another valuation technique.

Fair value measurements are categorised into Level 1, 2 or 3 as per Ind AS requirement, which are described as follows:

- Level 1 inputs are quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the entity can access at the measurement date;
- Level 2 inputs are inputs, other than quoted prices included within Level 1, that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly or indirectly; and
- Level 3 inputs are unobservable inputs for the asset or liability.

1.2 Basis of Consolidation

The Special Purpose Interim Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements incorporate the financial statements of the Company and its subsidiaries (collectively referred as the "Group"). The Group has investment in joint venture entity and associates which are accounted using equity method (except when the investment is classified as held for sale) in these Special Purpose Interim Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements.

The financial statements of Subsidiaries, Joint Venture and Associates are drawn up to the same reporting date as of the Company for the purpose of Consolidation.

(i) Subsidiaries:

A subsidiary is an entity over which the Company has control. The Company controls an entity when the Company is exposed to, or has rights to, variable returns from its involvement with the entity and has the ability to affect those returns through its power to direct the relevant activities of the entity. Subsidiaries are fully consolidated from the date on which the Company obtains the control (except for Business Combinations under Common Control).

The Company combines the financial statements of its subsidiaries on a line by line basis, adding together like items of assets, liabilities, equity, income and expenses. The carrying amount of the Company's investment in each subsidiary and the Company's portion of equity of each subsidiary are eliminated. Intercompany transactions, balances, unrealised gains on transactions between the Company and subsidiaries are eliminated. Unrealised losses are also eliminated unless the transaction provides evidence of an impairment of the transferred asset.

Non-controlling interests (NCI) represent the proportion of income, other comprehensive income and net assets in subsidiaries that is not attributable to the Company's shareholders. Non-controlling interests are initially measured at the proportionate share of the recognised amounts of the acquiree's identifiable net assets. Subsequent to acquisition, the carrying amount of non- controlling interests is the amount of the interest at initial recognition plus the non-controlling interests' share of subsequent changes in equity.

The Special Purpose Interim Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements are prepared using uniform accounting policies consistently for like transactions and other events in similar circumstances and are presented to the extent possible, in the same manner as the Company's Standalone Financial Statements except as otherwise stated. When necessary, adjustments are made to the financial statements to bring their accounting policies in line with the Group's material Accounting Policies.

If the Company loses control over a subsidiary, it derecognizes the assets and liabilities of the subsidiary and any related NCI and other components of equity. Any interest retained in the former subsidiary is measured at fair value at the date the control is lost. Any resulting gain or loss is recognized in Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss.

(ii) Joint Venture and Associates:

A Joint Venture is a joint arrangement whereby the parties that have joint control of the arrangement have rights to the net assets of the arrangement. Joint control is the contractually agreed sharing of control of an arrangement, which exists only when decisions about the relevant activities require unanimous consent of the parties sharing control.

An Associate is an entity over which the Company has significant influence. Significant influence is the power to participate in the financial and operating policy decisions of the investee but is not control or joint control over those policies.

The results and assets and liabilities of Joint Venture or Associates are incorporated in these Special Purpose Interim Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements using the equity method of accounting, except when the investment or a portion thereof, is classified as held for sale, in which case it is measured at lower of their carrying amount and fair value less cost to sell. Under the equity method, an investment in a Joint Venture or Associate is initially recognised in the Consolidated Balance Sheet at cost and adjusted thereafter to recognise the Group's share of the profit or loss and other comprehensive income of the Joint Venture or Associate. Distributions received from a joint venture/ associate reduce the carrying amount of the investment.

Upon loss of joint control over the Joint Venture or significant influence over the Associate, the Company measures and recognises any retained investment at its fair value. Any difference between a) the carrying amount of the Joint Venture or Associate upon loss of joint control or significant influence respectively and b) the fair value of the retained investment and proceeds from disposal is recognised in Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss.

1.3 Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash comprises cash on hand and demand deposits. The Group considers cash equivalents as all short term balances (with an original maturity of three months or less from the date of acquisition), highly liquid investments that are readily convertible into known amounts of cash and which are subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value.

1.4 Financial Instruments

Financial assets and financial liabilities are recognised when the Group becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the financial instruments.

On initial recognition, financial assets and financial liabilities are recognised at fair value plus/ minus transaction cost that is attributable to the acquisition or issue of financial assets and financial liabilities. In case of financial assets and financial liabilities which are recognised at fair value through profit and loss (FVTPL), its transaction costs are recognised in Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss.

1.4.1 Financial Assets

All regular way purchases or sales of financial assets are recognised and derecognised on a settlement date basis. Regular way purchases or sales are purchases or sales of financial assets that require delivery of assets within the time frame established by regulation or convention in the marketplace.

After initial recognition, financial assets are subsequently measured in their entirety at either amortised cost or fair value, depending on the classification of the financial assets.

(i) Classification and Measurement of Financial Assets (other than Equity instruments)

(a) Financial Assets at Amortised Cost:

Financial assets that meet the following conditions are subsequently measured at amortised cost using Effective Interest Rate method (EIR):

- the asset is held within a business model whose objective is to hold assets in order to collect contractual cash flows; and
- The contractual terms of the asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are Solely Payments of Principal and Interest (SPPI) on the principal amount outstanding.

Effective Interest Rate (EIR) method

The effective interest rate method is a method of calculating the amortised cost of financial asset and of allocating interest income over the expected life. The Group while applying EIR method, generally amortises any fee, transaction costs and other premiums or discount that are integral part of the effective interest rate of a financial instrument.

Income is recognised in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss on an effective interest rate basis for financial assets other than those classified as at FVTPL.

EIR is determined at the initial recognition of the financial asset. EIR is subsequently updated at every reset, in accordance with the terms of the respective contract.

Once the terms of financial assets are renegotiated, other than market driven interest rate movement, any gain / loss measured using the previous EIR as calculated before the modification, is recognised in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss in period during which such renegotiations occur.

(b) Financial Assets at Fair Value Through Other Comprehensive Income (FVTOCI)

A financial asset is measured at FVTOCI if both the following conditions are met:

- the objective of the business model is achieved both by collecting contractual cash flows and selling the financial asset; and
- the contractual terms of the asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are Solely Payments of Principal and Interest (SPPI) on the principal amount outstanding.

All fair value changes are recognised in Consolidated Other Comprehensive Income (OCI) and accumulated in Consolidated Reserve.

(c) Financial Assets at Fair Value Through Profit or Loss (FVTPL)

A financial asset is measured at FVTPL unless it is measured at amortised cost or FVTOCI, with all changes in fair value recognised in Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss.

Business Model

An assessment of business model for managing financial assets is fundamental to the classification of a financial asset. The Group determines the business model at a level that reflects how financial assets are managed together to achieve a particular business objective of generating cash flows. The Group's business model assessment is performed at a higher level of aggregation rather than on an instrument-by-instrument basis.

The Group is primarily in the business of providing loans across power sector, logistics & infrastructure sector and such loans are managed to realize the contractual cash flows over the tenure of the loan. Further, other financial assets may also be held by the Group to collect the contractual cash flows.

(ii) Classification, Measurement and Derecognition of Equity Instruments

All equity investments other than in subsidiaries, joint ventures and associates are measured at fair value. Equity instruments which are held for trading are classified as at FVTPL. For all other equity instruments, the Group at initial recognition makes an irrevocable election to classify it as either FVTOCI or FVTPL. The Group makes such election on an instrument by instrument basis.

An equity investment classified as FVTOCI is initially measured at fair value plus transaction costs. Subsequently, it is measured at fair value and, all fair value changes are recognised in Consolidated Other Comprehensive Income (OCI) and accumulated in Consolidated Reserve. There is no recycling of the amounts from Consolidated OCI to Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss, even on sale of investment. However, the Group transfers the cumulative gain/loss within consolidated equity.

Equity instruments included within the FVTPL category are measured at fair value with all changes recognised in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss.

(iii) Impairment of Financial Assets

Subsequent to initial recognition, the Group recognises expected credit loss (ECL) on financial assets measured at amortised cost as required under Ind AS 109 'Financial Instruments'. The Group presents the ECL charge or reversal (where the net amount is a negative balance for a particular period) in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss as "Impairment on financial instruments" and as a cumulative deduction from gross carrying amount in the Consolidated Balance Sheet, wherever applicable.

The impairment requirements for the recognition and measurement of ECL are equally applied to financial asset measured at FVTOCI except that ECL is recognised in Consolidated Other Comprehensive Income and is not reduced from the carrying amount in the Consolidated Balance Sheet.

(a) Impairment of Loan Assets and commitments under Letter of Comfort (LoC) & Letter of Undertaking (LoU):

The Group measures ECL on loan assets at an amount equal to the lifetime ECL if there is credit impairment or there has been significant increase in credit risk (SICR) since initial recognition. If there is no SICR as compared to initial recognition, the Group measures ECL at an amount equal to 12-month ECL. When making the assessment of whether there has been a SICR since initial recognition, the Group considers reasonable and supportable information, that is available without undue cost or effort. If the Group measured loss allowance as lifetime ECL in the previous period, but determines in a subsequent period that there has been no SICR since initial recognition due to improvement in credit quality, the Group again measures the loss allowance based on 12-month ECL.

ECL is measured on individual basis for credit impaired loan assets, and on other loan assets it is generally measured on collective basis using homogenous groups.

The Group measures impairment on commitments under LoC & LoU on similar basis as in case of Loan assets.

(b) Impairment of financial assets, other than loan assets:
ECL on financial assets, other than loan assets, is measured at an amount equal to life time expected losses.

(c) Financial assets are written off by RECL either partially or in their entirety only when it has stopped pursuing the recovery or as directed by the order of the Judicial Authority.

A write-off constitutes a derecognition event. The Company may apply enforcement activities to financial assets written off/ may assign / sell loan exposure to ARC / Bank / a financial institution for a negotiated consideration.

Recoveries resulting from the Company's enforcement activities are recorded in statement of profit and loss.

(iv) De-recognition of Financial Assets
The Group derecognises a financial asset when the contractual rights to the cash flows from the asset expire, or when it transfers the financial asset along with all the substantial risks and rewards of ownership of the asset to another party. The renegotiation or modification of the contractual cash flows of a financial asset can also lead to derecognition of the existing financial asset.

On de-recognition of a financial asset in its entirety, the difference between the asset's carrying amount and the sum of the consideration received & receivable, and the cumulative gain or loss that had been recognised in Consolidated Other Comprehensive Income and accumulated in Consolidated Equity, is recognised in Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss if such gain or loss would have otherwise been recognised in Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss on disposal of that financial asset.

1.4.2 Financial Liabilities

(i) All financial liabilities other than derivatives and financial guarantee contracts are subsequently measured at amortised cost using the effective interest rate (EIR) method.

EIR is determined at the initial recognition of the financial liability. EIR is subsequently updated for financial liabilities having floating interest rate, at the respective reset date, in accordance with the terms of the respective contract.

(ii) Financial guarantee
A financial guarantee issued by the Group is initially measured at fair value and, if not designated as at FVTPL, is subsequently measured at the higher of:
• the best estimate of expenditure required to settle any financial obligation arising as a result of the guarantee; and
• the amount initially recognised less, when appropriate, the cumulative amount of income recognised in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss.

(iii) De-recognition of financial liabilities
The Group derecognises financial liabilities when, and only when, the Group's obligations are discharged, cancelled or have expired. The difference between the carrying amount of the financial liability derecognised and the consideration paid & payable is recognised in Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss.

1.4.3 Derivative Financial Instruments

(i) The Group enters into a variety of derivative financial instruments to manage its exposure to interest rate and foreign exchange rate risks.

(ii) Under hedge accounting, an entity can designate derivative contracts either as cashflow hedge or fair value hedge.

(iii) To qualify for hedge accounting, the hedging relationship must meet all of the following requirements:

- there is an economic relationship between the hedged item and the hedging instrument.
- the effect of credit risk does not dominate the value changes that result from that economic relationship.
- the hedge ratio of the hedging relationship is the same as that resulting from the quantity of the hedged item that the Group actually hedges and the quantity of the hedging instrument that the Group actually uses to hedge that quantity of hedged item.

(iv) Cash flow hedge

The hedging instruments which meets the qualifying criteria for hedge accounting are designated as cash flow hedge. The effective portion of changes in the fair value of derivatives that are designated and qualify as cash flow hedges is recognized in Other Comprehensive Income. The change in intrinsic value of hedging instruments is recognized in 'Effective Portion of Cash Flow Hedges'. The amounts recognized in such reserve are reclassified to the Consolidated Statement of Profit or Loss when the hedged item affects profit or loss. Further, the change in fair value of the time value of a hedging instruments is recognized in 'Cost of Hedging Reserve'. The amounts recognized in such reserve are amortized to the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss on a systematic basis. The gain or loss relating to ineffective portion is recognized immediately in Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss.

(v) Fair Value hedge

A. In respect of PFC

PFC remeasures the hedged item for fair value changes attributable to the hedged risk (i.e. changes in the benchmark rate). Such fair value hedge adjustment are recognised in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss at end of every reporting period. The change in fair value of the underlying hedged item on account of attributable hedged risk (benchmark rate) is offset by corresponding change in fair value of the derivative (Fixed to Float IRS).

B. In respect of RECL

In line with the recognition of change in the fair value of the hedging instruments in the Consolidated Statement of Profit & Loss, the change in the fair value of the hedged item attributable to the risk hedged is recognised in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss. Such changes are made to the carrying amount of the hedged item and are adjusted in Effective Interest Rate in the period when the hedging instrument ceases to exist. If the hedged item is derecognised, the unamortised fair value is recognised immediately in Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss.

(vi) Hedge accounting is discontinued when the hedging instrument expires, or terminated, or exercised, or when it no longer qualifies for hedge accounting.

(vii) Derivatives, other than those designated under hedge relationship, are initially recognised at fair value at the date the derivative contracts are entered into and are subsequently re-measured to their fair value at the end of each reporting period. The resulting gain or loss is recognised in Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss.

1.4.4 Embedded Derivatives

An embedded derivative is a component of a hybrid instrument that also includes a non-derivative host contract with the effect that some of the cash flows of the combined instrument vary in a way similar to a stand-alone derivative. An embedded derivative cause some or all of the cash flows that otherwise would be required by the contract to be modified according to a specified interest rate, foreign exchange rate, or other variable, provided that, in the case of a non-financial variable, it is not specific to a party to the contract.

Derivatives embedded in all host contracts are accounted for as separate derivatives and recorded at fair value if their economic characteristics and risks are not closely related to those of the host contracts or if the embedded derivative feature leverages the exposure and the host contracts are not held for trading or designated at fair value though profit or loss. These embedded derivatives are measured at fair value with changes in fair value recognised in profit or loss, unless designated as effective hedging instruments.

1.5 Offsetting of Financial Assets and Financial Liabilities

Financial Assets and Financial Liabilities are offset and the net amount is reported in the Balance Sheet when currently there is legally enforceable right to offset the recognised amounts and there is an intention to settle on a net basis or to realise the assets and settle the liabilities simultaneously.

1.6 Property, Plant and Equipment (PPE) and Depreciation

(i) Items of PPE are initially recognised at cost. Subsequent measurement is done at cost less accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment losses, if any, except for freehold land which is not depreciated. An item of PPE retired from active use and held for disposal is stated at lower of its book value or net realizable value.

(ii) The expenditure incurred on improvement of leasehold premises is recognised at cost and is shown as "Leasehold Improvements" under PPE.

(iii) In case of assets put to use, capitalisation is done on the basis of bills approved or estimated value of work done as per contracts where final bill(s) is/are yet to be received / approved subject to necessary adjustment in the year of final settlement.

(iv) Cost of replacing part of an item of PPE is recognized in the carrying amount of the item if it is probable that the future economic benefits embodied within the part will flow to the Group and its cost can be measured reliably. The carrying amount of the replaced part is derecognized. Maintenance or servicing costs of PPE are recognized in Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss as incurred.

(v) Under-construction PPE is carried at cost, less any recognised impairment loss. Such PPE items are classified to the appropriate categories of property, plant and equipment when completed and ready for intended use. Depreciation of these assets, on the same basis as of other assets, commences when the assets are ready for their intended use.

(vi) Depreciation is recognised so as to write-off the cost of assets less their residual values[#] as per written down value method[*], over the useful lives as prescribed in Schedule II to the Companies Act, 2013, except following:

Nature of PPE	Life of PPE
Cell phones	2 years (in case of PFC & PFCCL)
Lease hold improvement[(1)]	Lease period or their useful lives whichever is shorter (in case of PFCCL)

[#] Residual value is estimated as 5% of the original cost of PPE.

[*] Depreciation is provided using Straight line method by RECL

[(1)] Leasehold Improvements are amortised on straight line basis

(vii) Depreciation on additions to/deductions from PPE during the year is charged on pro-rata basis from/up to the date on which the asset is available for use/disposed (charged for full month if asset is in use for more than 15 days in case of RECL).

(viii) An item of PPE is derecognised upon disposal or when no future economic benefits are expected to arise from the continued use of the asset. Any gain or loss arising on the de-recognition of an item of PPE is determined as the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset and is recognised in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss.

(ix) Capital expenditure directly attributable for Smart metering project are initially shown in 'Capital work-in-progress' (net of contribution from client) and capitalised as PPE when it is ready for use. Depreciation on items of PPE in smart metering project is recognised on pro-rata basis on Straight Line Method over the useful life of assets not exceeding project implementation period of 99 months.

(x) Items of PPE costing up to ₹ 5000/- each are fully depreciated, in the year of purchase.

(xi) The cost of PPE under construction at the reporting date is disclosed as 'Capital work-in-progress'. The cost comprises purchase price, borrowing cost if capitalization criteria are met and directly attributable cost of bringing the asset to its working condition for the intended use. Any trade discount and rebates are deducted in arriving at the purchase price. Advances paid for the acquisition/ construction of PPE which are outstanding at the Balance Sheet date are classified under 'Capital Advances.'

1.7 Investment property

Recognition and measurement

Investment property are properties held to earn rentals and/or for capital appreciation.

Investment properties are measured initially at cost, including transaction costs. Subsequent to initial recognition, investment properties are measured at cost less accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment loss, if any. The depreciation is charged on straight-line method over the useful life of the assets as prescribed under Part 'C' of Schedule II of the Companies Act, 2013.

Derecognition

Investment properties are derecognised either when they have been disposed of or when they are permanently withdrawn from use and no future economic benefit is expected from their disposal. The difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset is recognised in profit or loss in the period of derecognition.

Reclassification to / from investment property

Transfers are made to (or from) investment property only when there is a change in use. Transfers between investment property and owner-occupied property do not change the carrying amount of the property transferred and they do not change the cost of that property for measurement or disclosure purposes.

Fair value disclosure

The fair value of investment property is disclosed in the notes. Fair value is determined by an independent valuer who holds a recognised and relevant professional qualification and has recent experience in the relevant location and category of the investment property being valued.

1.8 Intangible Assets and Amortisation

(i) Intangible assets with finite useful lives that are acquired separately are recognised at cost. Cost includes any directly attributable incidental expenses necessary to make the assets ready for its intended use. Subsequent measurement is done at cost less accumulated amortisation and accumulated impairment losses, if any. Amortisation is recognised on a straight-line basis over their estimated useful lives.

(ii) Expenditure incurred which are eligible for capitalisation under intangible assets is carried as Intangible Assets under Development till they are ready for their intended use. Advances paid for the acquisition/ development of intangible assets which are outstanding at the balance sheet date are classified under 'Capital Advances'.

(iii) Estimated useful life of intangible assets with finite useful lives has been estimated by the Group as 5 years. In case of PFCCL, life is estimated as 36 months.

(iv) An intangible asset is derecognised on disposal, or when no future economic benefits are expected from use or disposal. Gains or losses arising from de-recognition of an intangible asset, measured as the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset are recognised in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss when the asset is derecognised.

1.9 Leases

For recognition, measurement and presentation of lease contracts, the Group applies the principles of Ind AS 116 'Leases'.

(i) The Group as a lessee

The Group at inception of a contract assesses, whether the contract is, or contains, a lease. A contract is, or contains, a lease if the contract conveys the right to control the use of an identified asset for a period of time in exchange for consideration. To assess whether a contract conveys the right to control the use of an identified asset, the Group assesses whether (a) the Group has substantially all of the economic benefits from use of the asset through the period of the lease, and (b) the Group has the right to direct the use of the identified asset.

The Group at inception of a lease contract recognizes a Right-of-Use (RoU) asset at cost and a corresponding lease liability, except for leases with term of less than twelve months (short term) and low-value assets which are recognised as an operating expense on a straight-line basis over the term of the lease.

Certain lease arrangements include the options to extend or terminate the lease before the end of the lease term. RoU assets and lease liabilities includes these options when it is reasonably certain that they will be exercised.

The right-of-use (RoU) assets are initially recognized at cost, which comprise the initial amount of the lease liability adjusted for any lease payments made at or before the inception date of the lease plus any initial direct costs, less any lease incentives received. They are subsequently measured at cost less any accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment losses. The right-of-use assets are depreciated using the straight-line method from the commencement date over the shorter of lease term or useful life of right-of-use assets.

The lease liability is initially measured at amortised cost at the present value of future lease payments. The lease payments are discounted using the interest rate implicit in the lease or, if not readily determinable, using the Group's incremental borrowing rates in the country of domicile of the leases.
Lease liabilities are re-measured with a corresponding adjustment to the related right-of-use (RoU) asset if the Group changes its assessment if whether it will exercise an extension or a termination option.
Lease liability and RoU asset is separately presented in the Balance Sheet. Interest expense on lease liability is presented separately from depreciation on right of use asset as a component of finance cost in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss. Lease payments for the principal portion are classified as Cash flow used in financing activities and lease payments for the interest portion are classified as Cash flow used in operating activities.

(ii) The Group as a lessor

Leases for which the Group is a lessor is classified as a finance or operating lease. Contracts in which all the risks and rewards of the lease are substantially transferred to the lessee are classified as a finance lease. All other leases are classified as operating leases. For operating leases, rental income is recognized on a straight line basis over the term of the relevant lease.

Amount due from lessee under finance leases is recognised as receivable at an amount equal to the net investment of the Group in the lease. Finance income on the lease is allocated to accounting periods so as to reflect a constant periodic rate of return on the Group's net investment outstanding in respect of lease at the reporting date.

1.10 Assets/ Disposal Groups held for sale

Non-current Assets are classified as held for sale if their carrying amount will be recovered principally through a sale transaction rather than through continuing use and the sale is highly probable. A sale is considered as highly probable when such assets have been decided to be sold by the Group; are available for immediate sale in their present condition; are being actively marketed for sale at a price and the sale has been agreed or is expected to be concluded within one year of the date of classification. Such non-current assets are measured at lower of carrying amount or fair value less cost to sell.

Non-current assets are not depreciated or amortised while they are classified as held for sale. Non-current assets held for sale are presented separately from other assets in the Consolidated Balance Sheet.

Where the Group is committed to a sale plan involving loss of control of an entity, it classifies investment in the entity (i.e. all the assets and liabilities of that entity) as held for sale.

1.11 Provisions, Contingent Liabilities and Contingent Assets

(i) Provisions are recognised when the Group has a present legal or constructive obligation as a result of a past event, if it is probable that the Group will be required to settle the obligation and a reliable estimate can be made of the amount of the obligation.

(ii) The amount recognised as a provision is the best estimate of the consideration required to settle the present obligation at the end of the reporting period, taking into account the risks and uncertainties surrounding the obligation.

(iii) When some or all of the economic benefits required to settle a provision are expected to be recovered from a third party, a receivable is recognised as an asset if it is virtually certain that reimbursement will be received and the amount of the receivable can be measured reliably.

(iv) Where it is not probable that an outflow of economic benefits will be required or the amount cannot be estimated reliably, the obligation is disclosed as contingent liability in notes to accounts, unless the probability of outflow of economic benefits is remote.

(v) Contingent assets are not recognised in the Special Purpose Interim Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements. However, contingent assets are disclosed in the Special Purpose Interim Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements when inflow of economic benefits is probable.

1.12 Recognition of Income and Expenditure

(i) Interest income on financial assets subsequently measured at amortized cost, is recognized using the Effective Interest Rate (EIR) method. The Effective Interest Rate (EIR) is the rate that exactly discounts estimated future cash receipts through expected life of the financial asset to that asset's net carrying amount on initial recognition.

(ii) Unless otherwise specified, the recoveries from the borrowers of RECL are appropriated in the order of (i) costs and expenses of RECL (ii) delayed and penal interest including interest tax, if any (iii) overdue interest including interest tax, if any and (iv) repayment of principal; the oldest being adjusted first, except for credit impaired loans and recalled loans, where principal amount is appropriated only after the complete recovery of other costs, expenses, delayed and penal interest and overdue interest including interest tax, if any. The recoveries under One Time Settlement (OTS)/ Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code (IBC) proceedings are appropriated first towards the principal outstanding and remaining recovery thereafter, towards interest and other charges, if any.

(iii) Interest on financial assets subsequently measured at fair value through profit and loss (FVTPL), is recognized on accrual basis in accordance with the terms of the respective contract and is disclosed separately under the head 'Interest Income'

(iv) Rebate on account of timely payment of dues by borrowers is recognized on receipt of entire dues in time, in accordance with the terms of the respective contract and is netted against the corresponding interest income.

(v) The Group uses the principles laid down by Ind AS 115 to determine that how much and when revenue is recognized, what is the nature, amount, timing and uncertainty of revenues etc. In accordance with the same, revenue is recognised through a five-step approach:

a. Identify the contract(s) with customer;
b. Identify separate performance obligations in the contract;
c. Determine the transaction price;
d. Allocate the transaction price to the performance obligations; and
e. Recognise revenue when a performance obligation is satisfied.

Revenues are measured at the fair value of the consideration received or receivable, net of discounts and other indirect taxes.

In Cost Plus Contracts - Revenue is recognised by including eligible contractual items of expenditures plus proportionate margin as per contract;

In Fixed Price Contracts – Revenue is recognised on the basis of stage of completion of the contract. The Group has assessed that the stage of completion is determined as the proportion of the total time expected to complete the performance obligation to that has lapsed at the end of the reporting period, which is an appropriate measure of progress towards complete satisfaction of these performance obligations under Ind AS 115.

Estimates of revenues, costs or extent of progress toward completion are revised if circumstances change. Any resulting increases or decreases in estimated revenues or costs are reflected in profit or loss in the period in which the circumstances that give rise to the revision become known by management.

(vi) Revenue from consulting services, in connection with development of Independent Transmission Projects (ITP) and Ultra Mega Power Projects (UMPP) taken up as per the directions from the Ministry of Power, Government of India, is recognized on completed contract method basis i.e. when the ITP /UMPP created for the project is transferred to a successful bidder evidenced by share purchase agreement. The expenses incurred on development of these projects which are not recovered as direct costs are recovered through billing manpower charges at agreed charge out rates decided by the management.

(vii) Income from Smart Metering services of PFCCL are recognised when bills for meter rent is raised to the clients and right to receive such income is established. Income from project development management agency charges (PDMA) during project implementation period is recognized over the period of contract.

(viii) The sale proceeds from Request for qualification (Rfq) documents for Independent Transmission Projects (ITPs) and Ultra Mega Power Project (UMPPs) are accounted for when received.

(ix) Income from short /medium term bidding of power and Coal Flexibility Scheme is recognised when letter of award (LOA) is issued to the successful bidder.

(x) Dividend income from investments including those measured at FVTPL, is recognized in Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss under the head 'Dividend Income' when the Group's right to receive dividend is established and the amount of dividend can be measured reliably.

(xi) Rental income from investment property is recognised on a straight-line basis over the term of the lease.

(xii) Interest expense on financial liabilities subsequently measured at amortized cost is recognized using Effective Interest Rate (EIR) method.

(xiii) Other income and expenses are accounted on accrual basis, in accordance with terms of the respective contract.

(xiv) A Prepaid expense up to ₹ 1,00,000/- is recognized as expense upon initial recognition in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss.

1.13 Foreign Currency Transactions and Translations

(i) Foreign currency transactions are translated into the functional currency using exchange rates at the date of the transaction.

At the end of each reporting period, monetary items denominated in foreign currency are translated using exchange rates prevailing on the last day of the reporting period. Exchange differences on monetary items are recognised in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss in the period in which they arise. However, for the long-term monetary items recognised in the Special Purpose Interim Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements before April 1 2018, such exchange differences are accumulated in a "Foreign Currency Monetary Item Translation Difference Account" and amortized over the balance period of such long term monetary item.

(ii) Financial statements of foreign operations whose functional currency is different than Indian Rupees are translated into Indian Rupees as follows:

(a) assets and liabilities for each Balance Sheet presented are translated at the closing rate at the date of that Balance Sheet;
(b) income and expenses for each income statement are translated at average exchange rates; and
(c) all resulting exchange differences are recognised in other comprehensive income and accumulated in equity as foreign currency translation reserve for subsequent reclassification to profit or loss on disposal of such foreign operations.

1.14 Borrowing Costs

Borrowing costs consist of interest and other costs that the Group incurred in connection with the borrowing of funds. Borrowing costs that are directly attributable to the acquisition and/ or construction of a qualifying asset, till the time such a qualifying asset becomes ready for its intended use, are capitalized. A qualifying asset is one that necessarily takes a substantial period to get ready for its intended use.

All other borrowing costs are charged to the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss on an accrual basis as per the effective interest rate method.

(v) Loan to employees at concessional rate

Loans given to employees at concessional rate are initially recognized at fair value and subsequently measured at amortised cost. The difference between the initial fair value of such loans and transaction value is recognised as deferred employee cost upon issuance of Loan, which is amortised on a straight-line basis over the expected remaining period of the loan. In case of change in expected remaining period of the loan, the unamortised deferred employee cost on the date of change is amortised over the updated expected remaining period of the loan on a prospective basis.

In respect of RECL

(i) Defined Contribution Plan

A defined contribution plan is a plan under which the Company pays fixed contributions in respect of the employees into a separate fund. The Company has no legal or constructive obligations to pay further contributions after its payment of the fixed contribution. (ii) Defined benefit plan

The Company has an obligation towards gratuity, Post Retirement Medical Facility (PRMF), Provident Fund (PF) and Other Defined Retirement Benefit (ODRB) which are being considered as defined benefit plans covering eligible employees. Under the defined benefit plans, the amount that an employee will receive on retirement is defined by reference to the employee's length of service, final salary, and other defined parameters. The legal obligation for any benefits remains with the Company, even if plan assets for funding the defined benefit plan have been set aside. The Company's obligation towards defined benefit plans is determined using the projected unit credit method, with actuarial valuations being carried out at the end of each annual reporting period. The liability recognized in the statement of financial position for defined benefit plans is the present value of the Defined Benefit Obligation (DBO) at the reporting date less the fair value of plan assets. Management estimates the DBO annually with the assistance of independent actuaries.

Actuarial gains/losses resulting from re-measurements of the liability/asset are included in Other Comprehensive Income.

(ii) Deferred Tax

Deferred tax is recognised on temporary differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities in the Special Purpose Interim Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements and the corresponding tax bases used in the computation of taxable income. Deferred tax is measured at the tax rates based on the laws that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the reporting date, based on the expected manner of realisation or settlement of the carrying amount of assets / liabilities. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are offset when there is a legally enforceable right to set off current tax assets against liabilities, and they relate to income taxes levied by the same tax authority.

A deferred tax liability is recognised for all taxable temporary differences. A deferred tax asset is recognized for all deductible temporary differences to the extent that it is probable that future taxable profits will be available against which the deductible temporary difference can be utilized. Deferred tax assets are reviewed at each reporting date and are reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that the related tax benefit will be realized.

3. Key Audit Matters:

Key audit matters ("KAM") are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the Standalone Financial Statements of the current year. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the Standalone Financial Statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

We have determined the matters described below to be the key audit matters to be communicated in our report. For each matter below, description of how our audit addressed the matter is provided in that context:

Sr. No.	Key Audit Matter	Auditors' Response
(i)	Impairment of financial instruments - Loan Assets and Undisbursed letter of comfort In this regard, the Company follows a Board approved methodology wherein assessment for allowance is carried out by an External Agency for Impairment based on certain guidelines and procedures in respect of criterion/framework classifying the assets into various stages depending upon credit risk and level of evidence of Impairment. Impairment loss measurement requires use of statistical models to estimate the Probabilities of Default (PD), Loss Given Default (LGD) and Exposure at Default (EAD). These models are key driver to measure Impairment loss. The key indicators underlying for assessment of impairment allowance are appraised on the ongoing basis by the management. The most significant areas where we identified greater levels of management Judgments are: Significant Increase in Credit Risk (SICR) – Company has classified SICR based on the indicator defined in Ind AS, estimate the Probabilities of Default (PD), Loss Given Default (LGD) and Individually assessed Stage 3 carrying value. The carrying value of loans and advances to borrowers may be materially misstated if individual impairments are not	Our audit procedures included: • The Company has availed services of an External Agency for assessment of ECL, whose report has been provided to us. Also, loan balances were verified basis external confirmation from the borrowers and assessed quality of the borrower based on recovery and other criteria as per the credit policy of the Company. • Reviewed the underlying assumptions and broad methodology of ECL assessment. • Components and calculations in the study for impairment allowance carried out by the independent expert have been test checked, discussed with the management and relied upon by us. Also, our audit procedure in this regard is limited since certain appropriately estimated based upon certain assumptions, future cash flow and asset valuations. Considering the effect of these matters, as part of our risk assessment, we determined that the value of Expected Credit Loss (ECL) has a high degree of estimation & uncertainty. In view of the significance of the amount of loan assets out of total assets in the Standalone Financial Statements, impairments of loan assets have been considered as key audit matter in our audit. [Refer Note No. 40.1.2 and 40.1.3 to the Standalone Financial Statements read with Note No. 5.3.1 (iii) and Note.6.2 (ii)]	parameters of study being considered confidential have not been shared by the aforesaid expert. We considered the credit impairment charge and provision recognized and the related disclosures to be acceptable & satisfactory.

(ii)	Fair Valuation of Derivative financial instruments The Company enters into derivative contracts in accordance with RBI guidelines to mitigate its currency and interest rate risk in accordance with currency risk management policy approved by the Board of Directors of the Company. Derivative contracts are either categorized at Fair Value through P&L (FVTPL) or under cash flow hedge (Hedge Accounting). Mark to market gain/loss on derivatives categorized at FVTPL is recognized in Statement of Profit and Loss and that of Hedge Accounting is recognized in the Other Comprehensive Income. We consider the valuation of the derivative financial instruments and hedge accounting as a key audit matter due to material exposure and the fact that the inappropriate application of these requirements /assumptions / estimate by contracting	Our audit procedures included: The Company has availed services of an independent expert for preparation of a model for derivative accounting as per Ind AS 109. Discussed with management to have an understanding of its perception and also reviewed policy of the Company for risk management. 4. Information other than the Standalone Financial Statements and Auditor's Report thereon:

The Company's Board of Directors is responsible for the preparation of the other information. The other information comprises the information included in the Director's Report including Annexures to Director's Report, Management Discussion and Analysis, Business Responsibility Report and Sustainability Report and Report on Corporate Governance (collectively referred to as "other information") but does not include the Standalone Financial Statements and our auditors' report thereon. The above-referred information is expected to be made available to us after the date of this Auditor's report.

Our opinion on the Standalone Financial Statements does not cover the other information and we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

In connection with our audit of the Standalone Financial Statements, our responsibility is to read the other information identified above when it became available and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the Standalone Financial Statements or our knowledge obtained during the course of audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated.

If, based on the work we have performed, we concluded that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact, we have nothing to report in this regard.

5. Responsibilities of Management and those Charged with Governance for the Standalone Financial Statements:

The Company's Board of Directors is responsible for the matters stated in section 134(5) of the Act with respect to the preparation of these Standalone Financial Statements that give a true and fair view of the financial position, financial performance (including comprehensive income), changes in equity and cash flows of the Company in accordance with the Ind AS and other accounting principles generally accepted in India. This responsibility also includes maintenance of adequate accounting records in accordance with the provisions of the Act for safeguarding of the assets of the Company and for preventing and detecting frauds and other irregularities; selection and application of appropriate accounting policies; making judgments and estimates that are reasonable and prudent; and design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls, that were operating effectively for ensuring the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, relevant to the preparation and presentation of the Standalone Financial Statements that give a true and fair view and are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the Standalone Financial Statements, the Board of Directors is responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

The Board of Directors is also responsible for overseeing the Company's financial reporting process.

6. Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Standalone Financial Statements:

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the Standalone Financial Statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with SAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these Standalone Financial Statements.
As part of an audit in accordance with SAs, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the Standalone Financial Statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.

- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances. Under section 143(3)(i) of the Companies Act, 2013, we are also responsible for expressing our opinion on whether the Company has adequate internal financial controls system in place and the operating effectiveness of such controls.

- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.

- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the Standalone Financial Statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.

- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the Standalone Financial Statements, including the disclosures, and whether the Standalone Financial Statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

Materiality is the magnitude of misstatement in the Standalone Financial Statements that, individually or in aggregate, makes it probable that the economic decisions of a reasonably knowledgeable user of the Financial Statements may be influenced. We consider quantitative materiality and qualitative factors in (i) Planning the scope of our audit work and in evaluating the results of our work: and (ii) to evaluate the effect of any identified misstatements in the Financial Statements.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the Financial Statements of the current year and are therefore, the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditor's report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

7. Other Matters

The comparative data for the year ended 31st March, 2024 included in the Standalone Financial Statements have been audited by the other joint statutory auditors; whose audit report dated 15th May, 2024 expressed unmodified opinion on the comparative Standalone Financial Statements. Our opinion is not modified in respect of this matter.

Annexure C to the Independent Auditors' Report on the Audit of the Standalone Financial Statements

(Referred to in Para 8 III(f) under the heading 'Report on other Legal and Regulatory Requirements' of our report of even date to The Members of Power Finance Corporation Limited on the Standalone Financial Statements for the year ended 31st March, 2025)

Report on the Internal Financial Controls with reference to Standalone Financial Statements under Clause (i) of Sub-section 3 of Section 143 of the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act")

We have audited the internal financial controls with reference to the Standalone Financial Statements of Power Finance Corporation Limited ("the Company") as of 31st March, 2025 in conjunction with our audit of the Standalone Financial Statements of the Company for the year ended on that date.

1. MANAGEMENT'S RESPONSIBILITY FOR INTERNAL FINANCIAL CONTROLS

The Company's management is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India ('ICAI'). These responsibilities include the design implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business including adherence to Company's policies the safeguarding of its assets the prevention and detection of frauds and errors the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records and the timely preparation of reliable financial information as required under the Act.

2. AUDITORS' RESPONSIBILITY

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's internal financial controls with reference to Standalone Financial Statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting (the "Guidance Note") and the Standards on Auditing, issued by ICAI prescribed under Sub-section 10 of Section 143 of the Act, to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls over financial reporting were established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the internal financial controls system over financial reporting and their operating effectiveness. Our audit of internal financial controls over financial reporting included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the Standalone Financial Statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Company's internal financial controls system over financial reporting.

3. MEANING OF INTERNAL FINANCIAL CONTROLS OVER FINANCIAL REPORTING

A Company's internal financial control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of Standalone Financial Statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A Company's internal financial control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the Company; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of Standalone Financial Statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the Company are being made only in accordance with authorisations of the Management of the Company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorized acquisition, use, or disposition of the Company's assets that could have a material effect on the Standalone Financial Statements.

4. INHERENT LIMITATIONS OF INTERNAL FINANCIAL CONTROLS OVER FINANCIAL REPORTING

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls over financial reporting, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls over financial reporting to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial control over financial reporting may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

5. OPINION

In our opinion, the Company has, in all material respects, an internal financial controls system over financial reporting and such internal financial controls over financial reporting were operating effectively as at 31st March, 2025, based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India.

5 Material Accounting Policy Information

The material accounting policy information in regard to preparation of the Standalone Financial Statements is given below:

5.1 Basis of Preparation and Measurement

These Standalone Financial Statements have been prepared on going concern basis following accrual system of accounting. The assets and liabilities have been measured at historical cost or at amortised cost or at fair value as applicable at the end of each reporting period. The functional currency of the Company is Indian Rupees (₹).

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date, regardless of whether that price is directly observable or estimated using another valuation technique.

Fair value measurements are categorised into Level 1, 2 or 3 as per Ind AS requirement, which are described as follows:

- Level 1 inputs are quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the entity can access at the measurement date;
- Level 2 inputs are inputs, other than quoted prices included within Level 1, that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly or indirectly; and
- Level 3 inputs are unobservable inputs for the asset or liability.

5.2 Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash comprises cash on hand and demand deposits. The Company considers cash equivalents as all short term balances (with an original maturity of three months or less from the date of acquisition), highly liquid investments that are readily convertible into known amounts of cash and which are subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value.

5.3 Financial Instruments

Financial assets and financial liabilities are recognised when the Company becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the financial instruments.

On initial recognition, financial assets and financial liabilities are recognised at fair value plus / minus transaction cost that is attributable to the acquisition or issue of financial assets and financial liabilities. In case of financial assets and financial liabilities which are recognised at fair value through profit and loss (FVTPL), its transaction costs are recognised in Statement of Profit and Loss.

5.3.1 Financial Assets

All regular way purchases or sales of financial assets are recognised and derecognised on a settlement date basis. Regular way purchases or sales are purchases or sales of financial assets that require delivery of assets within the time frame established by regulation or convention in the marketplace.

After initial recognition, financial assets are subsequently measured in their entirety at either amortised cost or fair value, depending on the classification of the financial assets.

(i) Classification and Measurement of Financial Assets (other than Equity instruments)

(a) Financial Assets at Amortised Cost:

Financial assets that meet the following conditions are subsequently measured at amortised cost using Effective Interest Rate method (EIR):

- the asset is held within a business model whose objective is to hold assets in order to collect contractual cash flows; and
- The contractual terms of the asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are Solely Payments of Principal and Interest (SPPI) on the principal amount outstanding.

Effective Interest Rate (EIR) method

The effective interest rate method is a method of calculating the amortised cost of financial asset and of allocating interest income over the expected life. The company while applying EIR method, generally amortises any fee, transaction costs and other premiums or discount that are integral part of the effective interest rate of a financial instrument.

Income is recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss on an effective interest rate basis for financial assets other than those classified as at FVTPL.
